He was divorced in New York in 1918 by Beth Sully Fairbanks, who he had married in 1907. Douglas, Jr., is their son.

A little over a year later, Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, a native of Toronto, were married here in a secret ceremony. For years, their romance was considered ideal by all Hollywood. Their manajon, "Pickfair," was the scene of some of the film colony's most famous parties.

But in 1933, Miss Pickford announced their separation. A year later, Lord Ashley won a divorce from Lady Ashley, the former Sylvia Hawkes, British actress, naming Fairbanks as co-respondent.

Pickford Sues

Early in 1935, Miss Pickford sued for divorce, climaxing frequent reports, as often denied, of a reconciliation.

Much of the talk of ending their separation was the outgrowth of frequent business conferences regarding the affairs of United Artists, in which they were associated. But on Jan. 14, 1936, Miss Pickford was given a final decree and less than two months later Fairbanks and Lady Ashley were married in Paris.

Miss Pickford later wed Charles (Buddy) Rogers, actor and orchestra leader.

Fairbanks rose to his greatest fame after his marriage to Miss Pickford. He began producing as a member of the Famous Players-Lasky and later United Artists, in which he was associated with D. W. Griffith, Miss Pickford and Charles Chaplin.

His greatest personal successes of the period were "Robin Hood," "The Mark of Zorro," "The Thief of Bagdad," "Don Q, Son of Zorro" and "The Three Musketeers." All were characterized by his leaps from ever-present danger.

Among his efforts after talking pictures arrived were "Taming of the Shrew," in which he was starred with Miss Pickford, "Reaching for the Moon" and "Mr. Robinson Caruso." In 1933, he joined Alexander Korda in London to make "The Private Life of Don Juan." Since then he had been off the screen.

He disposed of his interest in United Artists in 1937 but had recently indicated he was considering a return to producing.

Started At $2000.

Fairbanks attained such popularity on Broadway that when David Wark Griffith persuaded him to enter the movies he began at $2,000 a week.

After he began producing, he created a sensation with "The Three Musketeers, a $700,000 spectacle.

He spent freely to develop original ideas. He devoted half a year to research and production on "Robin Hood," which has been revived many times. "Thief of Bagdad" was fantastic, imaginative and thrilling. The sets and effects of the "flying carpet" cost many thousands of dollars.

Fairbanks pioneered color pictures. He imported three European specialists and spent large sums experimenting with the new process before he screened "The Black Pirate."

He chose "The Iron Mask," a sequel to "The Three Musketeers" for his talkie debut. He again appeared as the dashing D'Artagnan.

In 1932 Doug learned—as what vacationist doesn't—that other fellow isn't much interested in stories of his travels. He filmed his own tour, "Around the World in 80 Minutes.' The public was pretty cold to scene after scene of Doug posing in various costumes with native backgrounds. Fairbanks conceived the happy idea of cutting the travelogue to 40 minutes. It made money.

Last Months Quiet

In contrast to his career, his life in recent months had been quiet and retiring. He was seen occasionally at Hollywood functions and only last Saturday, in the best of spirits, attended a football game.

Fairbanks loved travel, and his ocean jaunts after he wed Mary Pickford carried them frequently to far places.

Their marriage was considered idyllic. They formed the chief argument that marriage and screen careers could be simultaneously successful. But six years ago, rumors began to circulate that all was not well between them. Finally Mary confirmed them, and sued for divorce, charging "grievous mental suffering" and declaring that her married life for several years had been "increasingly unhappy."

Friends said Doug's frequent "vacations away from home" might have been a reason for the rift.

Only a few months later, Hollywood was surprised when Lord Anthony Ashley-Cooper Ashley filed suit for divorce in London against Lady Ashley, a former musical comedy star.

Later that year he won a divorce, after making charge of misconduct between the actor and his wife "at various places and various dates." A man named Edwards, identifying himself as Fairbanks' former private secretary, testified that the actor and Lady Ashley had used adjoining bedrooms in a country home in May 1,934.

They were reported together at various French resorts and finally, early in 1935, they left with friends on a South Seas cruise. Then, in midsummer, she reached Vancouver, B.C. Doug flew from Hollywood to meet her, returned, then went east and joined her for the trip to England. They were married the following March.

Recreation Meeting

FAIRMOUNT, Dec. 12—(ENS).— The Y.P.U. was held on Thursday evening with a good attendance in spite of the disagreeable weather. Miss Betty Allin and Stanley Allin, recreation conveners, took charge of the meeting and an enjoyable evening was spent playing progressive crokinole.

Jean Fair and Ned Ballantyne gaining the highest points, won the prizes, while Mildred Ballantyne and Stanford Brown took the consolation. Lunch was served at the close.

Mrs. A. Driver Is Re-elected

BETHANY, Dec. 12 — (ENS). — Mrs. Ross Carr extended the hospitality of her home on Tuesday afternoon to the Women's Association of the United Church, when they met for their regular monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. A. Driver, occupied the chair.

The opening and devotional part was in charge of Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke.

After singing the W.A. theme song and repeating the Lord's Prayer, a Christmas hymn was sung. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. T. J. Jackson and Mrs. M. Weatherilt gave the Thoughts on the Lesson.

Rev. Mr. Ferguson led in prayer. Mrs. Driver took charge of the business part of the meeting.

Reports were given by the different groups as follows:

Group 1.—Mrs. F. Thompson, convenor, reported $9.56 raised from the Sunshine bags.

Group 2.—Miss Elsie Richardson, convener; $10.35 realized from the travelling apron.

Group 3—Mrs. W. Rowland, convener; $11.65 made from quilting a quilt and sponsoring a travelling apron.

Mr. Ferguson was in the chair for the election of following officers:

President, Mrs. A. Driver; Vice-President, Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke; Secretary, Mrs. Jean Bigelow; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Ross Carr; Treasurer, Mrs. Herb Fallis; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; Press Secretary, Mrs. Thorndyke; Pianist, Miss L. Thompson; Assistant Pianist, Mrs. Thorndyke; Parsonage Committee, Miss E. Richardson; Mrs. Jones, Miss Will Rowan, Mrs. Jamieson, Miss McMullen; Flower Committee for placing flowers in the church: Miss L. Thompson, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Harvey Fallis, Mrs. Beer, Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Jones.

Conveners of the different groups will be the same as last year.

Committee to look after the perennial border on the church lawn: Mrs. Weatherilt, Mrs. Waddel, Mrs. Ginn and Mrs. Ryley.

A special vote of thanks was tendered the officers of last year, and to all the members who had worked so faithfully throughout the year.

Owing to the lateness of the hour part of the program was dispensed with. Lunch was served by the hostess and her committee namely: Mrs. Herb. Fallis, Mrs. Milton Wright, Miss Tanner and Mrs. W. A. Thorndyke.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Carr for her kind hospitality.

The last of the answers to the Bible contest put on by Mrs. Driver were handed in, and Mrs. (Rev.) Ferguson was found to be the winner. She was presented with a beautiful calendar.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Tully of Smith township, were guests on Sunday of Mr. W. Tully.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Earle and family and Mrs. J. H. Earle attended service at Springville on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Finlay Clarke, who has been with Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarke, has joined her husband in St. Catharines.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cathcart were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison.

We are glad to see Mr. E. Kelk at church again after the recent painful accident which he had.

The officers of the Y.P.U. will be installed at the morning service next Sunday when Rev. J. F. Everson will speak on "What Can Youth Do?"

Trent River

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Inkster were recent visitors at Bobcaygeon with the former's mother.

A committee of five members of the war workers organization went to Campbellford Tuesday afternoon to meet the executives of Campbellford and Seymour Township Red Cross workers, to receive full instructions on working on materials for Red Cross work. They plan to distribute yarn and other necessities this week to those who have volunteered to help in this worthy cause.

To Aid Hospital

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 12.—(E.N.S.)—Rotarians will make their customary grant to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto it was announced at their noon-day luncheon held in the St. Lawrence Hotel on Monday. Speaking on the matter Rotarian H. B. Longmore M.D. urged that a generous donation be made to the hospital which had on more than one occasion been of great service to the club by supplying surgical treatment from some of the best doctors in Toronto free of charge to patients they had sent in for treatment. F. G. DeCarrol, local electric contractor was welcomed as a new member.

Chest Wheezing Means Bronchitis

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a dry, harsh, hacking cough accompanied with a rapid wheezing and feeling of tightness across the chest.

There is a rising of phlegm, especially in the morning. This phlegm is at first of a light color, but as the disease progresses becomes yellowish or greenish, and is sometimes streaked with blood.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucus, and help nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Bank's Lending Activities of Great Public Service

Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce Hear Encouraging Report of Bank's Progress During Year—Personal Loans Number 185,000, Aggregating $27,000,000 in three years—Ordinary Loans for year numbered 155,352. President Logan Says Canada's Increased Economic Weight will Tip Scales in Allies Favor.

At the Annual Meeting of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. A. E. Arscott, General Manager, presented one of the strongest financial statements in the Bank's history. After reviewing the changes in the Bank's position for the year ending 31st October which accounted for an increase of over $80,000,000 in assets to a total of $745,650,000, Mr. Arscott addressed the meeting as follows:

155,352 ORDINARY LOANS

The number of borrowers during the year, not including loans made by the Personal Loan Department, totals 155,352 and our analysis shows that of these 142,405, or 91.66 per cent. of the total, borrowed individually $2,000 or less. In dealing with this feature I should like to mention that each of our managers has a fixed limit up to which he may make loans without reference either to the Superintendent of the district in which he is located or to Head Office, as the case may be. The great majority of our branch managers may lend up to $2,000 without reference to any senior officer, and many managers in the larger communities, who have had longer experience, are accorded higher limits. It will be noted, therefore, that a great percentage of our loans is made by the managers on their own responsibility. This is a complete answer to the allegation which has frequently been made that loans generally are so closely under the supervision of head office authorities that managers are prevented from lending where their knowledge of local conditions convinces them a loan could safely be made.

PERSONAL LOAN DEPARTMENT

Our Personal Loan Department, inaugurated a little over three years ago for the purpose of lending under the Budget Saving Plan, has in that period made 185,000 individual loans aggregating over $27,000,000. Our analysis of these loans as at the end of October shows them to have been used for the following purposes:—

Purpose of Loan	% of Total Amount
Medical, Dental and Hospital Bills	12.36
Consolidation of Debts	30.11
Taxes, Insurance Premiums and Mortgage (Principal and Interest) Payments	8.73
Education	5.77
Household Expenses, Furnishing, etc.	19.14
Miscellaneous, including Clothing, Coal, Store Bills, etc.	32.89
	100.00

Our classification also shows that the occupations of the borrowers has been as follows:—

	% of Total Number
Wage Earners and Artisans	37.83
Office, Clerical and other non-manual Workers	28.50
Managers, Superintendents, Foremen	10.69
	100.00

The results achieved in the Personal Loan field are gratifying not only because the Bank's business has been increased but, also, because the arrangement has proved to be a great help to those requiring small advances which can be repaid from savings over a period of a year. Many borrowers by being able to consolidate immediately pressing obligations have been relieved of financial worries, while others by borrowing funds necessary for medical treatment have improved their health and efficiency.

We have had many letters of appreciation from those who have borrowed under our Personal Loan plan and the figures given you today clearly indicate how well this service has been received.

I should like to draw attention again, as I did last year, to the fact that the loaning of small amounts is by no means confined to the Personal Loan Department, which is a specialized service. As I have already told you, there were as well 142,405 borrowers who obtained regular banking loans from the branches in amounts of $2,000 or less, the total so advanced being $42,864,000.

DEPOSIT'S HIGHEST IN BANK'S HISTORY

Our Total Deposits at $662,708,000 are the highest in the history of the Bank and show an increase over last year of $84,695,000. Deposits not bearing interest show an increase of $26,561,000. Deposits bearing interest an increase of $7,786,000. We have over a million depositors and you will be interested to know that over 90 per cent. are represented by accounts of $1,000 or less.

The Statement which I have just reviewed in comparison with that of last year represents not merely one year's progress of this institution but its development over a period of seventy-two years. During that long terms the Bank has been safely guided through several economic and political crises, including the Great War of 1914-18 and the subsequent years of severe deflation and readjustment which the world had then to undergo. It is, therefore, a matter of great satisfaction that there is in the Bank to-day the accumulated strength of many previous years of sound direction, coupled with experience in such abnormal world events as have prevailed. This combination of stability and experience is typical of the Canadian banking system as a whole.

In my report last year I mentioned that with the co-operation of a great many industrialists across Canada we had constructed an industrial production index in an effort to provide an accurate measure of current business conditions. I am glad to say that this index, which is published in the Bank's Monthly Commercial Letter, has accomplished what we had hoped and that it has gained wide recognition by independent organizations in their study of Canadian economy. It is of particular interest just now when the country's large and diversified economic system is being transferred to a war basis.

GENERAL BUSINESS

The changes which have taken place in Canadian business this year seem to be of an unprecedented nature. The country, I think, has never in any comparable period had such a sharp rise in general business as has occurred since last spring. Industrial activity in November was at a record peak, having advanced by 33 per cent. from the low point of the winter of 1938-39. In the months prior to September business was strongly progressive but was accelerated following the outbreak of the war by the stimulus derived from a rush by manufacturers, traders and the general public to accumulate stocks of commodities, in many cases beyond current requirements. Now that the first effects of war influences have passed I expect to see an upward trend in Canadian business and that it will continue in that general direction for the duration of the war. I should like, however, to sound a note of warning to those engaged in industry that while the demands for foodstuffs, munitions and other war materials will increase as long as the war lasts, if production is not well planned we are likely to encounter in the post-war period greater difficulties than we have ever experienced. On the other hand, if sound judgment is exercised and speculative commitments avoided the painful losses of the readjustment period which is bound to follow the war will be greatly lessened.

PRESIDENT S. H. LOGAN'S ADDRESS

Meeting though we are under the shadow of another great war, I do not propose to review the political events leading up to its outbreak. Germany's contemptuous disregard of solemn pledges, of international law, of the rights of other nations and of world opinion has caused a general feeling of revulsion against her. Few outside her own borders will question where the guilt lies for the present conflict and all the sacrifices it entails.

For some time prior to this war, however, a notable change had been taking place in world economy which calls for more attention that it has yet received. I refer to an evident reversal of the policy of extreme nationalism and economic self-efficiency which was adopted by many countries as a means of self-preservation under the conditions created by the Great Depression. It is tragic that Germany should have failed to recognize, or perhaps deliberately ignored, this change in sentiment. Instead of adjusting her policies to the new trend and giving her people the opportunity to exercise their undoubted talents in a constructive manner and so satisfy essential needs which had long been denied them, she condemned them to greater privation and the whole world to the dislocation and sufferings of a major war.

GREAT ECONOMIC CHANGE

A year ago I outlined to you an economic transformation since 1929 which had shifted Canada from a predominantly agricultural base to one distributed between agriculture, mining and manufacturing. Summarizing the analysis which supported that statement, it was concluded that mining and manufacturing (including forestry) accounted for about 60 per cent. of the net value of national production, as compared with less than 50 per cent. ten years previously. The proportion contributed by agriculture had, however, declined from more than one-third to 20 per cent. and could not be expected to rise above one-quarter even in a period of good crops and fair prices.

We can reasonably regard this greatly enlarged economic organization as of such importance as to add considerably to the strength of the Allied cause in this conflict. In fact, the increase in Canadian productivity accounts in considerable degree for the greater margin of economic superiority of the British and French Empires over Germany today as compared with that existing in 1914-18, which proved to be the decisive factor in that conflict. Within these Empires there is produced more than one-third of the world's supply of such essential war materials as the major non-ferrous base metals and manganese, over 90 per cent. of the nickel, about one-quarter of the raw cotton and wood pulp, nearly one-fifth of the tungsten, 60 per cent. of the rubber, 40 per cent. of the tin and approximately half of the wool and gold. Germany is deficient in all the commodities I have mentioned, and in that entire region from which she now can draw, that is to say, the neutral section of Continental Europe including Russia, there is less than 15 per cent. of the world's supply of petroleum and cotton, not more than one-fifth of the production of wool and gold, scarcely measurable quantities of tin, tungsten and nickel and no natural rubber.

We cannot estimate accurately the economic weight of Canada which will help to tip the scales in the Allies' favour unless we realize to the full how greatly our industrial position has changed to conform to the highly mechanized methods of this war.

GREATER INDUSTRIAL CAPACITY

The capacity of manufacturing plants here is not only at least 10 per cent. greater than in 1929, but actually half as large again as in 1918, when we made our supreme war effort by an abnormal utilization of industrial equipment. But even these figures do not adequately portray the growth of Canadian industry. Now there are not only many more factories and mills, but a greater variety of industrial products and a larger proportion of fully manufactured goods flowing from a more extensive territory. An example is afforded by the industrialization of the Prairie Provinces which, once regarded as suitable only for agricultural purposes, now have about 2,500 processing plants of all kinds with an annual production value of $250,000,000, nearly as large an amount as the yearly average derived from the farms of Saskatchewan in the banner period of 1926-29.

MINING AT PEAK

As I pointed out at least year's meeting, we owe much of the recent industrial development of Canada to mining. While as a result of a moderate recession in some metallic industries early in 1939, this year's value of minerals may not break the record of 1937 ($457,000,000) the productive capacity of mining is actually at an all-time peak.

It is gratifying that Canada's production of gold now exceeds, for the first time, an annual rate of five million ounces, with a value of nearly $200,000,000, an amount not far short of that which this country may have to spend for war purposes during the next year.

Mobilization of our economic resources has in the last three months proceeded, between British and Canadian governmental authorities and business interests, in a spirit of general co-operation beyond that attained during the earlier part of the Great War, when the Allies engaged in individual and in considerable degree competitive rather than co-operative buying in Canada and the United States. However necessary, skilful and extensive the emergency measures to effect this mobilization, I do not think it could have been undertaken without considerable disturbance to trade and greater public hardship had not the business organization been of the flexible type characteristic of private enterprise. Indeed, there would be no such highly developed system to play a leading part in this serious situation of the constructive influence of private enterprise had been lacking in the last twenty years.

A WORD OF CAUTION

One of the main problems before us is to maintain the vitality and flexibility of this system, which is made up of a great many more small interests than of large corporations and institutions. It should not be taken for granted that governmental authorities in assuming the heavy responsibilities devolving upon them at this momentous stage of our history contemplate absolute and permanent direction of the national economy. But past experience shows that emergency measures can become fixtures. This economic system, upon which so many hopes of victory rest, should not be exploited merely to test extreme politico-economic theories. We need now, and we shall need in the future, all the progressiveness and resilience of which this wealth-producing organization has shown itself capable in the past. It is therefore of the utmost importance that it be not rigidly bound by unnecessary controls and that it be released from all necessary war-time controls as soon as possible after the restoration of peace. Then, we should have the creation of new, self-supporting enterprises and of a greater national income to help to carry the heavier debt which we must assume, as well as to provide a higher standard of living for our people. For both such worthy purposes we shall need new capital, which will be available in the required volume only if we preserve economic democracy.

It may be thought that Canada's participation in orders for war materials has so far been small in proportion to her productive capacity. The fact should not be overlooked, however, that considerable demands have already been made upon some of our industries for a war which as yet seems only in the preparatory stage. Furthermore, these demands are more likely to expand in the near future than to contract.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

I should not leave you with the impression that the prospect of an active business year ahead rests solely upon a large armament and war trade. Normal business has been stimulated by the removal of some of the handicaps present a year ago, by the near-record crops recently harvested which have raised farm purchasing power by about 10 per cent. during the past twelve months, and by a spectacular record in export trade. Already, before the declaration of war, Canada had been able to improve her position in foreign trade to the extent that the volume of exports for the 12 months ending August last was approximately one-third greater than that of the previous twelvemonth.

COOPERATION PLEDGED

The resources of the Bank available to serve the legitimate credit requirements of the agricultural, commercial, industrial and financial groups of the community in the much greater effort they will be called upon to make as the war proceeds in everincreasing scale and intensity, are fortunately much larger than they were in 1918. Needless to say, the Bank pledges its loyal co-operation with the Dominion Government and other public authorities in all measures deemed necessary for the successful prosecution of the war.

City Officials Continuing Airfield Search

Mayor Hamilton and the members of the special committee appointed by the council to survey properties that might be acceptable to aviation engineers for an air field spent several hours Monday afternoon in the country adjacent to the city. They went back to the area south of the Peterborough-Port Hope highway and reaching off to the vicinity of the Hydro line of steel towers.

The committee with City Engineer Parsons has obtained the help of E. A. Chalmers, county engineer, in an effort to obtain necessary information as quickly as possible.

Official opinion around the city hall has hardly recovered from the deflation of the council's hopes after the frank explanation of J. J. Duffus, M. P., in respect to the type of country which the government's engineers are demanding as essential to a field for the training of young airmen.

The rolling country in the Peterborough townships with their variety of woodland and swamps, Mr. Duffus told the council, is not likely to meet with approval of engineers, but the committee has refused to give up hope. If they can't get the main field which they have been seeking, they will be content with a secondary field for advanced training.

Opinion has been forming here of late that the government's choice is more likely to go to the flat lands south of Lindsay, but the publishing of that sentiment is not likely to be welcomed by members of the council who are clinging to their hope and also to the efforts into which they have injected all the promptness and despatch they could muster.

It will be recalled that a year or so ago a violent wind storm swept across the southeastern section of Victoria county, and including Lindsay, all the way to Omemee and the Peterborough-Emily township border. A contributing factor in the cyclonic sweep of that storm was considered to have been the extensive area of level land over which it passed with little or no obstructions in the form of woods and hills. There has been an intimation locally that Victoria is likely to get an air field, but it is known that engineers have looked over that country, and comparisons with the Peterborough countryside have not tended to strengthen belief of the council's committee that its earlier designs are likely to be realized.

The Rambling REPORTERS

CAN OPENER RETURNS

Some of the can openers in use today are such little fellows they are easily misplaced around the house. It was so in a George street home recently. It wasn't on the nail, it wasn't in the drawer of the kitchen table. It wasn't any place. And that was bad. On the day when the garbage man gathered their wares and when the empty receptacle was being brought in the missing can opener was found resting on the lid of the can. An observant and honest man on the garbage wagon receives the thanks of the house. —K.

SUNDAY DINNER

A turkey hen—small—was not considered sufficient for Sunday dinner in one Peterborough home, so a good-size chicken was also secured. The turkey was sent to the butcher for cleaning, and he reported in due time he did not like the look of the thing. Something suspicious about the liver and the people might not like to use it. With that warning he delivered it. Hen and turkey were placed in the ice-box. The lady of the house explained matters and it was agreed the best thing would be to toss the turkey hen in the furnace. So the husband on the first trip downstairs to do some stoking reached in the box and picked out what the thought was the turkey hen and in it went; that was the one safe way. After which the lady of the house, inspecting the prospects for Sunday dinner, discovered that the turkey hen was still in the refrigerator and the good chicken had gone into the furnace.—A.R.

Chance To Play Santa Claus

There is a wide-open chance for Peterborough folk to play Santa Claus this Christmas for a former local family which is making a brave fight to wrest a living amid pioneer conditions in Ontario's northland.

Some years ago the family of John and Mrs. Harvey was assisted to participate in the back-to-the-land movement that was going on at that time. The Harveys were established near Costello P.O., in the Charlton area of Northern Ontario, and there they have been making a home for themselves. It has not been easy going; there are many discouraging conditions and many folks less stouthearted than the Harveys long since gave up the struggle and returned to the south. The Peterborough family has stuck, however.

Naturally there is not much ready cash in the treasury and with Christmas just around the corner there is little available for St. Nicholas to distribute. There is an eight-year-old girl in the family and she could do very nicely with a ski suit for outdoor play in a land where the thermometer really goes down and with a pair of skates size 12½ or 1, "second-hand will be splendid even if they do need a bit of fixing." A pair or skates is also required for a lad of twelve, size 6 or 5½.

Omemee Ladies' Aid Re-elects Officers

OMEMEE, Dec. 12 (ENS)—The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid was held at the manse. The meeting opened with devotional exercises suitable for the Christmas season. Very encouraging reports were presented, and it was decided to purchase a quantity of hymn books for the church. Plans were made to hold a social in the form of a "pot luck" supper later in the month.

It was unanimously agreed that the executive who had carried on so efficiently for the past year remain in office.

Following the meeting the usual social hour was enjoyed.

THREE HOUSES TO GO.

The demolishing of one of the three houses opposite the plant of Canada Packers is under way, a preliminary step in the clearing of the ground south of the old C. P. R. freight sheds, on the west side of George street, and extending to Townsend street, for the eventual widening of that section of the street. This was one of the projects before the council earlier in the year, and the present razing is an indication that the work is to be carried out.

PURSES UNCLAIMED

Several ladies' purses picked up on the street and held for some time await owners at the police station. It is suspected that these purses had been stolen from their original owners and emptied by sneak thieves. They were as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard when recovered.

BUYING SNOW PLOUGH

The Little Lake Cemetery board ordered yesterday a snow plow for use as a truck attachment in keeping the roads in the cemetery open throughout the winter.

FRAMES FOUND

It was reported to the city police today that the frames of two bicycles had been found hidden behind a bush in Smith township. These are thought to be the remains of two wheels stolen here last week. The thieves had evidently stripped the wheels off the bicycles and thrown the rest of the machines away.

SEEKS CLUB NAMES.

Ted Roberts, 595 Runneymede road, Toronto, enquires through the Examiner whether there are any members here of the Green Island Hunt Club. He came upon a frame building in Memesagamesing Lake near Port Loring and was told that it was owned by a group of Peterbzorough sportsmen. Mr. Roberts wishes to communicate with any member of that club.

CAFE REOPENS.

Paris Cafe opened today after extensive remodelling which included a new vitrolite front and neon sign. The cafe is now one of the smartest on George Street, and its modern interior with new booths and lighting system gives it a smart appearance. Hum Hoy, the owner, states the Paris Cafe has been catering to Peterborough people for 22 years.

NO CITY CASES

There were no city cases on the docket at police court this morning for the first time in weeks. The cold weather must have kept everybody at home last night for it was one of the quietest of the year in police circles.

FEWER TOYS RECEIVED.

Firemen today reported a slight drop in the number of toys that reached the fire hall up to three o'clock this afternoon, and expressed the hope that there would be an increase until Friday when their 10-day drive closes. Old toys will be welcomed at any hour of the day or night, and the number must be kept at a high daily figure if toys are to be provided every needy child in Peterborough on Christmas morning.

HIS BOOKER SKATES.

F. D. Kerr, K. C., slung his skates over his shoulder this morning, bringing them down town to be sharpened for a new season. They are a pair of Henry Booker skates, probably imported from Germany, and twenty-five years ago every young man and boy wanted a pair of those skates. Since then Canadian skates-makers are turning out a product that ranks with the best in the world, but still those Kerr "Booker's" are old associates that are not to be tossed aside. These are the same skates Mr. Kerr sped to work on one morning last winter.

WAR BULLETINS

Received By Examiner Over Canadian Press Leased Wire

PARIS —(AP)— Military advices reported today German patrols in three sectors had been driven back from French advance posts on the Western Front with hand grenades. Despite rain and heavy fog, the German scouting units were reported particularly active near the Moselle River on the extreme northern flank and in the Saarbrucken and Bitche sectors. The quiet along the southern Rhine front was broken by brisk rifle fire.

LONDON—A prize court today officially seized as property of the crown four German vessels captured by the Royal Navy. They were the 13,615-ton liner Cap Norte, the 2,337-ton steamship Hannah Boge, the 1,375-ton steamship Bianca and the Elvira III, a small auxiliary yacht.

BERLIN—(AP)—Minor Allied artillery fire and isolated German reconnaissance flights over England yesterday were reported by the German high command. Its communique today said: "East of the Moselle, slight artillery annoyance fire aimed at the region in front of the fortification. The air forces carried out individual scouting flights against Britain."

CALGARY—(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Calgary police intensified their hunt today for the two German aliens who escaped from the Kananaskis internment camp Thursday. The men were reportedly seen yesterday 14 miles west of Calgary. S. Copithorne, rancher of the Springbank district, told police he saw two men running through the brush on his ranch at dusk.

LONDON — (CP) — The British steamship Middlesbro, 989 tons, was reported by her captain today to have struck a submerged object or gone aground on the east coast of England last week. The crew of 15 was rescued and landed Saturday.

CAIRO—(AP)—While British and Egyptian forces hold joint manoeuvres a "state of emergency" will be in effect in lower Egypt and the Suez canal zone for 21 hours beginning at noon today. The war games will test both military and civilian defence arrangements. A blackout tonight was ordered for the entire area.

STOCKHOLM—(AP)— The Swedish government announced today it had ordered 500,000 gas masks which already are being distributed to air raid precautions units. Many citizens have purchased their own masks.

MILAN —(AP)— Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia today reported a French warship took 11 German midgets off the Italian liner Saturnia Dec. 4 for internment as prisoners of war. The midgets were on their way home from the New York World's Fair. Ten women members of the troupe were allowed to proceed to Genoa.

LONDON —(CP)— British coastguards last night battled stormy seas off the east coast of England to reach a lifeboat from a ship sunk four days ago in Germany's submarine warfare. When they reached the boat it appeared to be empty but they took it in tow. As the boat was beached, out jumped a hungry black cat, mascot of the ill-fated ship.

LONDON — (CP) — A Reuters news agency dispatch from Moscow today said it was reported reliably that since beginning of the Finnish conflict Russia had recalled to the colors reservists who were released after occupations of Eastern Poland.

HELSINGFORS — (AP) — Nigel Allan, acting British vice consul, resigned today to form a foreign legion mainly of Britons to fight for Finland. He had been active in moving British subjects from Finland. The British consulate has moved to Bjorneborg on the west coast of Finland.

War 25 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press)

DEC. 12, 1914—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Liberal leader and former Premier, emphasized there must be "no drawing back" in the Empire's fight against German aggression and ideals. Turkish troops abandoned Beirut in Syria, fearing Allies' advance.

J. C. Huggins Wins Regent Photo Nite

J. C. Huggins 178 Dalhousie street caused a lot of dismay at the Regent Theatre last night in being selected for the "photo nite" award of $185. The cheque for that amount will be presented to him by the management next Monday night.

When fortune fell into his lap in the theatre audience Mr. Huggins, a young unmarried man, was pleasantly surprised but showed no flutter of excitement.

"I certainly can make good use of the money," he remarked to one of the members of the staff. "I didn't come here every Monday night, but I didn't miss many of them since the Photo Nite series began."

Mr. Huggins has been a resident of Peterborough fourteen years, living with his parents.

"I just could imagine that I'd be selected, but you never know your luck," he said.

Tea shipped from Hong Kong, China, in the last year was valued at $7,000,000.

Haliburton Man Born In Peterboro 103 Years Ago

LINDSAY, Dec. 12.—"I attribute my longevity to the old adage, 'Early to bed and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise,' and I also generally manage to take an apple a day to keep the doctor away," states George Roche, centenarian of Harburn Township, Haliburton County, who celebrated his 103rd birthday Monday.

Mr. Roche was born in Peterborough and as a young man was engaged in the lumbering business, the pioneer industry of the time. He was cook in the shanties and to this day hunters state that they have never tasted better food than his.

Among those early pioneer experiences none was more thrilling than the cruise by raft, which he made from Haliburton, down through the lakes and streams and into the broad waters of the St. Lawrence River until he reached the city of Quebec.

He reads his newspaper daily, especially the news concerning the activities of the Conservative party. During the last provincial election, he not only cast his vote, but attended many political meetings.

Mr. Roche still takes a keen interest in his personal appearance, when he drives into the village of Haliburton, five miles from his home, he generally wears a dignified black derby. He has not been able to do heavy work during recent years, but delights in poking around the farm and doing light chores. He retires at nine o'clock and gets up in the winter at six a.m. and five in the summer. He has resided in Harburn Township for almost half a century and for the past few years has made his home with a stepson, James Orr. He has been a regular attendant at church, even the most inclement weather failing to stop his observance of Sunday.

Lumberman Is Given 30 Days For Wood Theft

Thirty days in jail was the sentence imposed on Henry Sararas in police court this morning after Magistrate E. A. Gee had found the sixty-year-old lumberman guilty of the theft of a quantity of hardwood, the property of Fred Johnston, Young's Point.

John A. Bradshaw defended Sararas while the prosecution was in charge of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C.

Fred Johnston testified that he owned two lots in Smith township near Lovesick Lake. He had seen Sararas on his property some time ago and the accused was loading a truck with wood, ash, oak, basswood and maple. Sararas had no right to cut hardwood there and witness told him not to take the wood away. Sararas replied that he had cut the wood and was going to have it. Johnston said that some seven oaks had been cut down, some of them in a grove that he had been trying to preserve. Sararas said that he did not know who had cut the oaks but afterwards admitted cutting trees. At the time he saw him Sararas finished loading the truck and the wood had been hauled away.

Saw Fresh Stumps

To Mr. Bradshaw Johnston said that he had seen fresh stumps on his property and the wood that he saw had been fresh cut.

Fred Mace, Burleigh Falls, told of Sararas asking him to skid a load of oak and elm logs on Fred Johnston's property and of his doing so.

Herb. Doig, North Monaghan, testified that he had bought a load of oak and elm logs from Sararas paying $8 for them.

R. D. McConkey, 366 Mark street said that Sararas had owed two months rent to a Mr. Stevens and the latter had authorized him to collect. Subsequently Sararas had asked him if he would take a couple of loads of wood to apply on the rent and witness had gone out to a place near Burleigh Falls that he afterward learned was Fred Johnston's property and secured two loads of wood for which he allowed Sararas $7 on his rent.

Mr. Bradshaw uncorked a surprise by calling Fred T. Tuggey as the first defence witness and questioning him about a previous case in which Sararas had been charged with breaking and entering Tuggey's property and had been acquitted. Tuggey said that he had brought some land on Lovesick Lake from Fred Johnston as a summer place but said that he had not been talking to Johnston about the present case.

Trying To Get Rid of Him

Pressed as to his experiences with Sararas witness said that Sararas was still on his property.

"I am trying to get rid of him," said the witness.

"That is what I wanted to get out," replied Mr. Bradshaw.

Defence counsel asked the witness if he had ever seen Sararas cutting wood on Johnston's property, Tuggey replied in the negative.

"To tell the truth," he said, "I have never seen him doing anything."

"I have a suspicion that the present case was started" began Mr. Bradshaw when he was interrupted by an objection from Crown Attorney McElderry that was sustained by the court.

Edward Pearson, overseer for the W. J. Bell Paper Company said that the company had bought the basswood on Johnston's property and Sararas had been in his employ. Accused's duty was to cut the basswood and take it out to the road and he had been told that he could have the tops for his own use. He was also told to clean up the slash but had been given no permission to do anything about the hardwood.

Admits Cutting Trees

Sararas told of working for Pearson and said his instructions had been to clear up the property as a measure of fire protection. He said that the only maple trees he had cut down had been some that had been damaged by basswoods falling upon them while the oaks he had cut were worm-eaten and rotten. He said that when Johnston had seen him loading the truck he had offered to pay him $6 for the wood.

Mr. Bradshaw asked for acquittal on the ground that no guilty intent had been shown but Magistrate Gee found the accused guilty, although he also found that the value of the stolen wood was less than $25.

Crown Attorney McElderry told the court that the accused was on suspended sentence on a charge of vagrancy at Bancroft where he said Sararas had gone int othe home of some old age pensioners and refused to leave.

Magistrate Gee also reminded the accused of a court order in a previous action for wages, remarking that his reputation for paying did not seem to be very good.

In sentencing Sararas to thirty days he warned him not to come before him again. "You will not get off so lightly another time," the Magistrate said.

Double Tragedy

ELIZABETH, Pa., Dec. 12— (AP) —County detective Frank Ritz, reported that Scoutmaster Daniel Hackett, 29, accidentally killed Norval Harrison, 15-year-old boy scout, then shot himself to death in remorse over the tragedy. The victims were inseparable companions, said Ritz.

Obituary

JAMES HAMILTON LAWSON.

The funeral of James Hamilton Lawson was held on Wednesday, Dec. 6th from his residence, Mount Pleasant. Mr. Lawson died at Kingston with pneumonia.

Deceased was born in Shettleston, Glasgow, Scotland in 1890, youngest son of the late David Lawson and Margaret Hamilton. He came to Peterborough in 1920, where he was blacksmith at the Canadian General Electric Co., later moving to the country.

He was a life member of the Masonic Order of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Honey. Interment in Emily Presbyterian cemetery.

Left to mourn are his wife, three sons, David, William, Alexander, and three daughters, Margaret, Florence and Mary, also four brothers in Scotland, John, Alexander, William and Robert.

The pallbearers were members of the Masonic Order, William Greig, Geo. Hooton, Garnet Shield, Hubert Lowes, Chester Best and Aubrey Bland.

Rural Elections New Year's Day

Municipal elections throughout the province will all be held on New Year's Day, and nominations on Friday, December 22, and the period for formal qualifications ending on Saturday.

As already reported, nominations in the city will be in the morning and evening—Mayoralty, Board of Education and Utilities Commission.

In North Monaghan township the nominations will again be held at the Court House in the evening. The change from the township location was made last year and municipal veterans expressed the opinion that the attendance was the smallest in the last 25 years.

Nominations in the other townships and villages will be at the usual time, Friday, December 22, from 1 to 2 p.m. The only comment heard from the county scene of late was an intimation that H. B. Rye was back in form again and some of the neighbors across the border have been wondering whether "he has anything up his sleeve." Incidentally his friends are all delighted that he has been around and active and interested in things again.

One of the ratepayers of the township commented recently that this year's council headed by Warden Milby had done " a real good job."

Shipping Board Elects Officers

Sale of livestock by the U.F.O. shipping board during the year amounted to approximately $50,000 according to the financial statement at the annual meeting of the board Saturday. Officers elected for the coming year are: Stanley Higgins, Lakefield, president; James Shield, North Monaghan, vice-president; and Chas. S. Brown, Douro, secretary. E. H. Brown is shipper for the Board which is composed of representatives from U.F.O. Clubs.

Livestock was shipped from Lakefield and Peterborough to Canada Packers and the Toronto market. The Board reported a reserve of $250, and a satisfactory year's business.

Blue Bombers Are Given Royal Welcome

WINNIPEG, Dec. 12—(CP) — Thousands of Winnipeg's sport loving fans crowded the Canadian Pacific Railway station this morning to greet the Blue Bombers, returning joyfully from Eastern Canada with their second Dominion Rugby crown.

Tumultous scenes of 1935 when the first rugby laurels came West on Bomber's shoulders, were repeated as the special train brought back the players who downed Ottawa Roughriders 8-7 in the 1939 final. Accompanying the Bombers was a throng of supporters who witnessed the Ottawa classic.

A welcoming committee with E. L. Isard, former Winnipeg club president as chairman, handled the ceremonies which marked the return of the city's sport heroes. As Bombers stepped from the train at nine o'clock they were met by civic officials and Manitoba Government representatives who extended remarks of congratulations amid a terrific din of cheering and shouting.

A victory parade was soon underway through downtown Winnipeg with the players in two large buses, each in a seat where the window bore the player's name. Leading the parade was the 38-piece Sea Cadet Band.

Thousands of enthusiastic fans lined the windy parade route which led the players to a breakfast banquet. The cheering crowds included children who risked the wrath of school teachers to welcome the Dominion champions home.

At the banquet were the wives and sweethearts of the players, members of the Winnipeg rugby club executive, representatives of sporting circles and public officials.

Lieutenant-Governor W. J. Tupper, Premier John Bracken, Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg and Mayor John McLean of St. Boniface, breakfasted with the champions.

LAKE FROZEN OVER.

Winter took complete possession of Little Lake during the night as the weather retreated into the lower registers from freezing point. Its color and restless movement were gone this morning, and unless there is some relaxing of winter's rigor, the water will be cut off from the south end scene until Spring. The ice extended up to the C. P. R. bridge.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR SEASON AT CHURCH PUCK LOOP MEETING

Jos. Dunkerley Is Returned As Loop Prexy

Eight churches were represented at last night's annual meeting of the Church Hockey League in the Y.M.C.A. They were: George Street, St. Paul's, St. Andrew's, Murray Street, Trinity, St. James'. All Saints and Park Street, with a total of 17 delegates on hand. Officers were elected and general business handled in a good meeting.

Following is the list of officers for the 1939-40 season: Hon. Presi., Rev. F. W. Craik; past president, Lloyd Parnall; president, Joe Dunkerley; vice-president, George Beauclerc; secretary - treasurer, Don Charlton; assistant secretary, Bob Ainslie. It was a re-election for the president, and also for the secretary-treasurer for his sixth term. Gordon Clegg retired from the vice-presidency, with the former assistant secretary succeeding him. New blood was introduced with Bob Ainslie, member of Park Street teams for years, becoming assistant secretary.

Broke Even

After the president opened the meeting, the treasurer's report was presented by Don Charlton. The league started with a $2.57 balance, with receipts $32.25, and interest three cents. As expenditures totalled $32.30, the league dropped just two cents on the year ,and has a balance of $2.55.

The past president, Lloyd Parnall, conducted the election of officers.

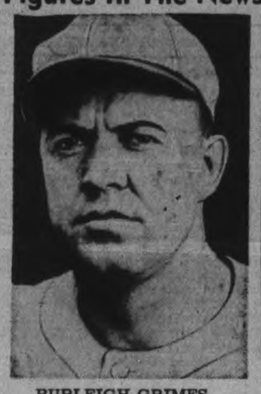
An hour's discussion of rules followed, with few changes made. The entry date was set for December 26, with some discussion about allowing in late entries. The fees were left at $2.25 for seniors and juniors, and $1.75 for juveniles and bantams. A motion to raise the juvenile section age limit a year fell through. Ages are' Bantams under 15 by Jan. 1, 1940; juveniles under 17, and juniors under 20.

League Rules

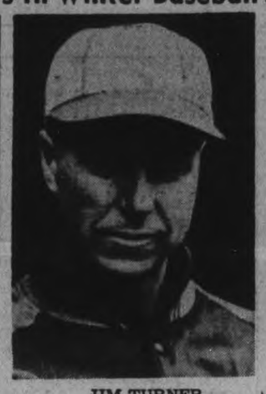
It was agreed by the gathering that O.H.A. rules again would be followed, with but two exceptions: (a) no penalty shot rule will be used, and (b) bodychecking will not be permitted in the centre zone for bantam and juvenile players. In an amendment to the protest rule, it was decided that the team protested against must have time to submit a defence.

The lists of rules and regulations, along with entry forms, will be sent to all prospective teams, and it is expected the schedule will open between Christmas and New Year's.

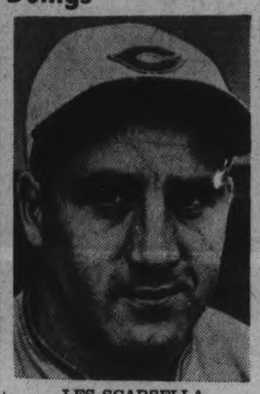
Figures In The News In Winter Baseball Doings



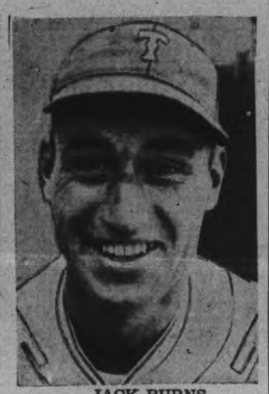
BURLEIGH GRIMES



JIM TURNER



LES SCARSELLA



JACK BURNS

Unless Burleigh Grimes makes another connection, Montreal Royals will pay him $10,000 next year for doing nothing. "Boiling Boily" had a two-year contract with the Royals as manager, but the club released him. His team finished seventh this year and he had been expected to stick.

Boston Bees and Cincinnati Reds got together and exchanged Jim Turner, pitcher, and Les Scarsella, first baseman, the Reds tossing in some cash with Scarsella, who hasn't had a chance to do anything but pinch-hit in two years, with Frank McCormick not missing a game at first for the National League champions. Turner was a 30-year-old freshman sensation with the Bees three seasons back, but was hampered with injuries last year and posted a disappointing record. With the Reds, he will be back under his old boss, Bill McKechnie.

One of the best fielding first basemen in the game, Jack Burns has been traded by Toronto to San Francisco Seals in a straight swap for Harley Boss, another first sacker. Burns started as first baseman with the Leafs, was promoted to manager and then shunted back with the arrival of Tony Lazzeri.

Jerry Blanchard Defeats Gagnon

MONTREAL, Dec. 12—(CP) —Jerry Blanchard of Cornwall, scored a clean cut victory over Joe Gagnon of Montreal in an exhibition 118-pound boxing bout here last night. The bout went five rounds.

Gagnon, Canadian bantamweight champion, was pounded hard in the early rounds and went down for a count of three in the third. He rallied in the closing rounds but Blanchard's margin was too great to overcome.

In another five-round bout, Schoolboy Berthiaume of Montreal defeated Hec Latreille of Cornwall by decision. The boxers weighed 175 pounds.

No entry of teams was asked for last night, but the presence of St. Andrew's and St. James' with prospective entries was encouraging. St. John's and Mark Street, although not represented, sent word they would be entered in one or more sections.

Presentations Made At Club Banquet

The members of the G. Whitaker Club and staff with their wives and friends were entertained on Monday night at a most enjoyable and successful supper dance at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

There was an attendanec of about 50 including Messrs. and Mesdames G. Monkman, C. V. Elliott, J. T. Hornsby, J. Wild, A. Radford, F. Roberts, H. Willis, T. Jones, G. Haig, J. Hawthorne, R. Park, F. Smith, B. Bailey, R. Howarth, T. B. Jones, D. Mackie and H. Trethewav, the Misses Brownlee, Brethel and D. Rutter and Messrs. W. A. Brown, J. Wheater, A. Hamilton, G. Colbran, F. Dyer, P. Dyer, E. Curtin, B. Roberts, C. H. Ireson, A. O. Phillips, G. Caird, W. MacKerran, R. Hanbridge, C. Duffus and J. Lewis.

After the earlier part of the evening had been spent in dancing and cards the company sat down to a turkey supper with Mr. Gordon Monkman, the president of the club in the chair. After some impromptu harmony of a distinctly Yorkshire flavor the Royal toast was drunk with enthusiastic loyalty.

The chairman briefly referred to the club's success in winning the R. H. Stuart trophy, which was in evidence and expressed his thanks to the ladies for their work in entertaining outside teams and to the press for reports of matches.

He then presented awards for success in the field last season, batting honors going to F. Smith who scored 411 runs and B. Roberts 265. The bowling award went to G. Colbran who bore the brunt of the bowling last year while A. Pagett received the prize for the most improved player.

Mr. C. V. Elliott briefly eulogised the work of the secretary treasurer, A. Radford and made a presentation to him. The latter then presented the thanks of the party to Mr. Monkman which was tendered with enthusiastic musical honors.

Dancing was then resumed and at a later hour a most enjoyable party broke up.

Goodyears Beaten Twice In A Row By St. Catharines By 5-4 Score

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 12—St. Catharines Saints proved it was no flash-in-the-pan victory they scored over Toronto Goodyears last Friday night when they duplicated the performance here last night to win 5 to 4 over the vaunted Tiremen while 4,500 fans in the Garden City Arena roared themselves hoarse.

The triumph gave St. Catharines leadership of the O.H.A. Senior "A" league for the first time in history. The teams were deadlocked for top spot prior to Monday's game. Saints staged a thrilling third period comeback to win out after getting behind 2 to 1 in the first period and remaining on the short end until the start of the final frame.

Loose defensive work paved the way for all three goals scored in the opening period. Paul Mundrick got the first of three goals he gleaned during the night on a play with Benson and O'Brien at 5:20. St. Kitts equalled six minutes later when Rombough broke through on a sortie with Doran and Backor, but the Tiremen again forged to the front when Inglis converted King's pass at 17:20. Slambang hockey was the order throughout the period, and also during the scoreless second session. One penalty was meted out, with Imlach getting the rest for tripping Mocha with only forty seconds remaining.

Thrilling Action.

Captain Red Reynolds set up the play for the equalizer two minutes after the start of the final frame, passing to Rudy Pilous for the goal. Play was wide-open and thrilling with Goodyears turning on the power and hemming in the Saints for minutes on end, and the determined homesters counter-attacking just as powerfully. Reynolds and Mocha teamed to give Boyd the opening for the third St. Catharines goal halfway through the final session. Boyd flipped the disc over the prostrate Mortimer to give Saints the lead for the first time and the crowd littered the ice with programs. Play was held up, but when it resumed Goodyears soon levelled the count. Benson snared the puck inside the Saints' blue line, snapped a pass to Mundrick, and the latter whipped it home. Billy Mocha snared a pass from the blue line and relayed it to Pilous behind the Goodyear defense for the tie-breaking goal. Again the fans littered the ice with programs, etc.

Inglis Knocked Out.

Goodyears were pressing hard at this stage. Inglis broke clear, but was shoved into the goal post and was knocked out for a spell. West was given a penalty on the play, but Forder performed sensationally while he was off to hold the Tiremen at bay.

The daring tactics cost Goodyears a goal and probably the game, as Reynolds broke clear and though chased by Draper, kept ahead to outguess Mortimer and lift Saints ahead by 5 to 3.

Goodyears then frantically repeated their tactics of last Friday by sending every man up, and it paid dividends when Imlach and Benson started a crossfire passing play, and Mundrick finished it off for his third goal with four minutes to go.

From then on it was desperate puck battling, with Saints breaking away periodically and Goodyears flashing everything they had to bore in for the tying tally, but again they were beaten by the single goal that stepped the Corrigan Clan into undisputed leadership of the senior circuit.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. —(AP)— New Orleans cuties went wild over Billy Conn who attended a Collegiate dance there Saturday night with Moon Mullins, the ex-Notre Dame grid star....Frank Thomas of Alabama, has nixed an offer of an interest in the club, plus a fat contract to coach Brooklyn's football Dodgers .... Dan Topping, Dodger owner, still hopes he can make Nile Kinnick change his mind about pro football.

Leo Kagan of Iowa State Teachers College, was king for a day, anyway....We had no sooner chronicled that he was United States' football's No. 1 iron man (with a record of 650 consecutive minutes) than two South Carolina rebels pop out to knock him off his perch.... John Edwards, end, and Moffatt Long, centre for Erskine College, have played through 19 consecutive battles, or 1,140 minutes each.... Who's next?

British soccer fans now must take their gas masks to all games. Well, some of those over here smell, too ....Coley Welch, Maine's promising middleweight, socks so hard his sparring partners wear catcher's breast protectors.

Agony column.

Fight Probe On Without Thomas

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(AP).—After conducting a three-hour hearing on the alleged "fake fights" of Harry Thomas, the Illinois State Athletic Commission adjourned until to-day to hear testimony from Arch. Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, which published Thomas' charges.

Thomas charged he was forced to "throw" his fights with Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, and Tony Galento, New Jersey contender. Thomas did not attend Monday's meeting.

Only one of the five invited witnesses — Nate Lewis of Chicago, manager of Thomas — appeared. Lewis said he had "some information" to disclose to the commission, but preferred to wait until the return of his counsel from California.

Edward Breen, First Assistant Attorney-General, said Governor Henry Horner had instructed Attorney-General John Cassidy to institute criminal proceedings if the evidence warrants.

Joseph Triner, chairman of the commission, reported that two registered letters addressed to Thomas asking him to appear for the hearing, were returned marked "refused." One of the letters had been opened, however, Triner said.

Lee Carroll of Chicago, a friend of Thomas ,identified a published letter which he said Thomas wrote him before the Schmeling fight, in which Thomas said he would "lay down," and not to bet on his chances. Thomas wrote he was supposed to lose in the fourth round—"that was the only condition under which I could get the match."

A sworn statement from William McPartland, judge of the Schmeling-Thomas fight in New York Dec. 13, 1937, to the effect that Thomas had fought his best, was read into the record, along with a statement from Thomas O'Keefe, referee of the Galento-Thomas bout in Philadelphia Dec. 14, 1938. O'Keefe described the bout as a "terrible thing to look at from a spectators' viewpoint," but he believed it was on the square.

Lou Marsh Trophy

Three women's names are prominent among the nominations for the Lou Marsh Memorial Trophy, Jeanette Dolson, designated as Canada's outstanding woman athlete; Mrs. Dorothy Walton, winner of the all-England badminton championship and the only Canadian ever to capture the honor, and Mary Rose Thacker, the 17-year-old Winnipeg girl who is the reigning Canadian and North American figure-skating champion.

Others nominated include:

Bob Pirie, the first Canadian swimmer ever to hold an American swim mark. At Honolulu, Hawaii, Pirie defeated the great Japanese swimmer Namaka and smashed the 200-metre record set by Johnny Weismuller in his prime. Pirie, who also won the 100-metre event at Honolulu, was termed "the best white swimmer ever to visit the Hawaiian Islands" by Soichi Sachomoto, coach of the Maui swimming team, winner of the American championship. Pirie holds every Canadian free-style swimming record from 100 yards to 2 miles, inclusive.

Larry O'Connor, West End Y.M.C.A. hurdling ace, who equalled the world's record for the hurdles in the U.S.A. last winter. O'Connor is the winner of the Norton Crow Memorial Trophy and his list of achievements is formidable.

Johnny Loaring, Windsor's track star; Harry Hurst and Joey Gagnon, Montreal boxers, and Tony Golab, Ottawa rugby star, are among other prominent names submitted to the committee. The award will be announced early in the new year. The committee will hold its first meeting today in the Star Building.

Is Given Decision

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 12. —(AP)— Sammy Secreet, Pittsburg welterweight, boxed his way to a five-round decision over Cliff Beckett, Hamilton, Ont., in a fast windup bout of an amateur fight card here last night.

SPORTS—DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

A week ago we suggested a Pickle Bowl or some similar spectacle to the Rose Bowl in the U.S.—the annual New Year's Day grid game. And now cometh word by air mail (really via carrier pigeon) that there'll be a Snow Bowl tilt this New Year's in Chatham. Bewixt grid teams of Chatham and Tilbury. They're drilling now and bleachers will be erected in case enough football fans have recovered from hangovers and helpings of turkey to take in the sight. We trust for the sake of our Chatham pioneers that an Arctic breeze isn't toting sub-zero misery over a gridiron blanketed in snow for the occasion. It is a worthy idea but the red woollens weather of Canada isn't conducive to summer, or even autumn, games that late in the year. Or can one call New Year's Day very late in the year?

* * * * * *

Ontario Athletic Commission has mailed us a book of rules and regulations, particularly pertaining to boxing and rassiin'—pro and amachoor, if there's much difference! You folks who have viewed modern pro grappling may be amazed to learn that the thing actually has rules, but so the books says. And who are we to argue with Chairman Lionel Conacher, Mitch Hepburn, et al? F'rinstance, Rule 74 solemnly states that (a) no contestant shall refuse to obey referee's instruction, (b) handle, push, strike, kick, threaten or interfere with referee, (c) administer a strangle hold with hands, arms, legs or ropes, (d) tangle any part of a rival in the ropes re "hanging", (e) kick an opponent with foot or knee —and (f), (g), (h), etc., gouge, scratch, bite, bend fingers, and so on. Ad nauseam.

* * * * * *

What Next, Prithee?

Yessir, believe it or not, Mister Ripley, but they actually plaster those rules into print. And who the blinkety blazes pays the slightest attention to 'em? Not the rasslers, referees or fans, that's a celluloid cinch. Maybe the Commish does. They even make it illegal to fight outside the ring. Or to remove a guy's tights! Golly, are we ever blushing But, thank our sainted Aunt Matilda's stars, the rasslers don't quite get around to that bit of roguish disrobery—if we may be permitted. Rasslers are also warned not to do anything to excite the fans—for Heaven's sake! But enough of this balderdash. However, the boxing rules are okay, and it's a good little booklet to have. If only for the laughs out of the grapple rules in it.

Our junior O.H.A. puck group has its schedule meeting in Port Hope tomorrow night. Five clubs will be on deck, Cobourg, Oshawa, Port Hope, Lindsay and Peterborough. With W. N. Moore of Port Hope the convener. Dunno who is representing the local Colts yet. Some of these clubs will hold out for a "C" rating in an interlocking schedule with such surefire "B" clubs as Oshawa and Peterborough. There was some little mention made of a possible "B" group of Kingsway, Aurora, Oshawa and the Colts—but such distances might as well have been so many light years to the moon. Lakefield has given no indication of wishing to compete ere playdowns arrive. The Colts, at least, ought to rake in some oughday this season with some Friday eve frays at home. When it's payday in the mines, the fans flock out to puck tilts.

"How strong is that darned Oshawa team, anyway?" That was the accusing question local moguls were asked at the intermediate "A" schedule session in Port Hope the other day. The Quinte and Fliers' delegates feared the ex-senior "A" squad greatly and blamed the Petes for bringing Oshawa in. "Well, they're just so weak," replied Bill Jackson, "that they won't enter the group at all. Claim they can't round up a team good enough to compete with our teams." And the other gees promptly subsided and said no more. They are funny folks, at times—yasuh.

* * * * * *

Speaking the other day of last Friday's fray, ye Oshawa scribe scribbles: "The Generals were much improved Friday against Peterborough. Incidentally, the Liftlock City team is a smart squad, too. They'll make a real showing in intermediate 'A' company. Their forwards are nearly all on the small side but they have plenty of speed and individual skill, while Harding is a real classy netminder, and their rearguard showed plenty of power. The game was very fast and pleasing to watch. Both teams turned on full speed and the Generals—with some games under their belts and more workouts—lasted better. They had their only big edge in the third period when the visitors tired noticeably."

Church Loop Business

Officers named at last night's annual Church Puck Loop session were: Hon. Pres., Rev. F. W. Craik; past president, Lloyd Parnall; president, Joe Dunkerley; vice-prexy, George Beauclerc; secretary-treasurer, Don Charlton; assistant secretary, Bob Ainslie. Closing date for entries was set at Dec. 26th, and 'tis hoped to start the schedule before New Year's. Fees are $2.25 for seniors and juniors, and $1.75 for juveniles and bantams. Age limits are bantams under 15 by Jan. 1st, juveniles under 17 and juniors 20. O.H.A. rules will be used except that there'll be no penalty shots, and the bantams and juveniles cannot bodycheck in the centre zone. Loop broke even financially last year. Other dope is in elsewhere.

In order that the first round of play in the Girls Basketball League be completed this month, games billed for Jan. 5th have been moved up and will be announced later. Rest of the first-round tilts are: Friday, Dec. 15th—that's this coming Friday—St. John's vs. Quaker Aces, Westclox vs. "Y" Gym, and Orfuns vs. Quaker Debs. Guess they start about 7.45. Dec. 18th (which is next Monday) Quaker Debs play the "Y" Gym gals at seven p.m.; and Wednesday, Dec. 20th, Aces meet Westclox at 6.30 and St. John's tangle with Orfuns at 7.30 o'clock. The "Y" Gym lasses are still bubbling like rare vintage after their nifty upset victory over the potent Orfuns last Friday by one (or was it two?) points. Ought to be some big doings down at the Y.W. come Friday e'en.

Six years ago tonight, Irving (Ace) Bailey of Toronto Maple Leafs, was rushed to hospital with a severe brain concussion following a collision on the ice during a hockey game in Boston. He was crashed by Eddie Shore of Boston Bruins, who was immediately struck by Red Horner, team-mate of Bailey. The accident ended Bailey's playing career.

Would Like Farmer

SARNIA, Dec. 12.—(CP).— With world affairs in such an ominous state, Sarnia Imperials are not likely to give too early thought to next season and the strengthening of their team on the chance that football will still be on the sports cards, but there have been glances cast in the direction of one or two players, it was learned to-day. One of these is Nick Paithowski, who holds down the centre job for Queen's, and who may return to Sarnia on completing his university course this summer. Another is Jimmy Farmer, erstwhile Western player, and member of this year's Argonaut squad. However, Imperial officials say plans for 1940 will be left in abeyance for the spring at least.

ARMSTRONG AWARDED BOUT WITH GARRISON IN 7th ROUND

Hostak Retains Middleweight Crown In Bout

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12.—(AP)—To-day is Henry Armstrong's 27th birthday and the world's welterweight champion has something to celebrate.

Last night Henry returned to the form that won him his big following and the nickname "Hammerin' Hank" as he pounded Jimmy Garrison of Kansas City, to the floor in the seventh round for a technical knockout.

Celebrating without a birthday is Al Hostak, the Seattle slugger, who retained his world's middleweight crown by flattening Eric Seelig, of New York in the first round.

The Armstrong and Hostak bouts topped the 14th annual Cleveland News' Christmas show.

Garrison held Armstrong fairly even in the first two rounds of their scheduled 10-round title bout with jabbing lefts.

By the sixth, however, Armstrong had drawn blood from both Garrison's eyes. In the seventh he dropped Jimmy with a right for a nine and then waded in both hands as Garrison arose. Jimmy went down again at 1:19, and Referee Benny Leonard said "enough." Armstrong weighed 136¾ and Garrison 141.

Hostak, the National Boxing Association champion, made his first appearance east of the Mississippi an impressive one by knocking out Seelig in 1:21 of their scheduled 15-rounder. He blasted Eric to the canvas for nine with a left hook to the jaw and then down for keeps with a flurry of lefts and rights. Hostak weighed 159 and Steel 160.

Dave Castilloux of Montreal, pounded out a clean-cut six-round decision over Mike Gamiere. At 132, Castilloux spotted Gamiere 4½ pounds. Castilloux and Gamiere stood toe to toe for six rounds. The Canadian's dynamite right landed on Gamiere's chin a dozen times before the game Clevelander went down for a count of nine in the second round.

In the last round, 15 seconds before the bell, the Montrealer landed a crashing right on Gamiere's jaw. The Canadian followed up swinging rights and lefts to the head, sending Gamiere down with only five seconds of the fight remaining.

Snead Is Now Ready To Make Comeback

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 12—(AP)— If pro tournament golfers are moaning today, the chances are that they have just heard the news—Samuel Jackson Snead has lost the misery in his back.

For three carefree months the professional brigade marched merrily along the circuit without being annoyed by Snead the slugger.

Now he's fit again, minus three bad teeth that poisoned his system, and ready for a comeback Thursday in the $10,000 Miami open, the tournament in which two years ago he scored a record 267, just 13 below par.

"Soon as I click off a few birdies and get my confidence back I'm gonna be tough to beat," Sam grinned.

Drop-Kicker Receives Grid Trophy

Voted in more than one poll of coaches, players and writers, the outstanding football player of the year in United States, Nile Kinnick, University of Iowa halfback, is seen here, RIGHT, as he received the Heisman Memorial trophy. The trophy, one of many such in circulation across the line, is awarded by a New York club. Kinnick was a running, passing and kicking threat for 60 minutes of his team's games, as well as employing with telling effect that gridiron rarity, both here and across the line, the drop-kick.

Alice Marble Is Named As The Outstanding Woman Athlete Of 1939 By Wide Margin

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Encountering no more opposition than she met on the tennis courts this year, Alice Marble was named by sports experts in the United States today as the outstanding woman athlete of 1939.

Rolling up he widest margin ever compiled by a winner in the nine-year history of the Associated Press annual poll, Miss Marble was named No. 1 on the ballots of 54 of the 63 experts who voted.

There was strictly no competition for California Alice. The year's Wimbledon and United States champion polled a total of 167 points. Far back, in second place, was the United States women's golf champion, Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

The 1938 winner, Patty Berg, whose golf hopes for the year were shattered by an appendectomy, was third, with 31 points.

On the Tennis Carpet

WAYNE SABIN GENE MAKO

Something of a novelty in tennis circles came to the fore when the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced that it had suspended from tournaments and matches under its auspices the pair of racquet-wielders shown here. Their suspension was for alleged violation of the amateur rules and their case will come up before the association executive when it meets in February. Violations of the strict amateur code are notorious among the travelling tennis amateurs.

Melvyn Hanson To Quit Canadian Football While At Peak Of Career

By RALPH ALLEN

Melvyn (Give the Ball to Fritzie) Hanson will give it right back next year, he says, terminating the most electrifying career in the history of Canadian football while new peaks beckon and a forty-yard run through the broken field still means another insurance sale.

There is no means of proving he won't change his mind by next fall, but the little man who was so there meant every word when he announced in Ottawa Saturday night, "That's my last game."

Hanson's prancin' three days ago made as vital a contribution to Winnipeg Blue Bombers' second Canadian football championship as it made to their first in 1935. For this and several hundred yards of equally good reasons the pressure which will be brought to bear on him to reconsider his retirement plans is apt to be at least as terrific as the melancholy news itself. At 27 the Golden Ghost of Perham, Minn., is still reaching for fresh and gaudy heights, still making fairly rational adults desecrate the dictionary in the name of the juvenile proposition that he is the most astonishing American since Abraham Lincoln, which he unquestionably is.

Worthless Argument

To debate this point with any Westerner is as futile as to argue religion with a priest. We all know it's silly to say Hanson is a greater running halfback than Conacher or Batstone or several dozen other estimable individuals whom we have never seen, but we propose to go on saying it just the same until long after the opposition has run out of breath, reason and sanity itself.

Hanson is quitting football through good and practical motives. He has built up a thriving business connection, partly through innate intelligence and partly through its capacity for winning publicity without being spoiled by it. It is whispered his 1939 income will be close to $5,000. Quaint as it will sound to those who know, he did not come to Winnipeg for the climate, nor play football there for the exercise, he has reached the stage where he feels he can no longer afford to play football.

Rides Out On Crest

Beyond that he is beginning to wonder, as his constituents have wondered for five years, how much longer those 220-pound linesmen can continue to drop on his vulnerable though resilient 155 pounds in groups of from three to nine without causing something to give. Above all, he is actuated by the determination to make his exit on a smash line—to ride out on the crest. There's a tragic line in spirt, "He was good when he had it," and nobody ever has to spell things back to Melvyn.

Whether they ever Give the Ball to Fritzie again or not, those five words will remain the hallowed paean of the Western sport long after Melvyn has worn out his fountain pen signing grateful Monday morning quarterbacks to twenty-year endowments. When a bibulous breadwinner drops the rent money shooting crap and arrives home to find an angry wife standing off the bailiff, a mother-in-law with a broken leg and a baby with the croup, he need never be at a loss for suggestions provided he's a season ticket holder at Winnipeg's Osborne Stadium.

"Give the ball to Fritzie," he croaks, "just give the ball to Fritz."

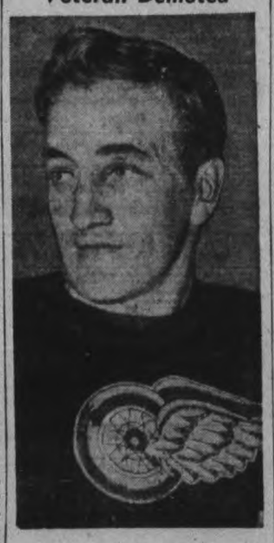
Veteran Demoted



A fleeting figure in the National league since he broke in with Ottawa Senators in 1925-26, Hec Kilrea, ABOVE, had his string broken at last when Detroit Red Wnigs shipped him down to their Indianapolis farm team in the Int.-Am. league. He was playing his sixth season with the team, for the past couple of seasons in a utility role. The Wings make many shuffles in a season but Kilrea will be back for tonight's game.

Paying The A.A.U.

Few groups in sport have the opprobrium heaped on their heads that falls to the lot of Amateur Athletic Union officials, both here and across the line. Maybe the critics will ease up a trifle now—at least in United States. Officials there chose Miss Mitzi Strothers, ABOVE, to preside at their annual convention in Florida as "Miss A.A.U."

Boston Bruins' Kraut Kids Line Is Rated Among The Best

By The Canadian Press

Now that Boston Bruins are back on the winning trail after a slow start, it would appear to be about time for those famed Kraut Kids, Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart—to start the levelling out process in their point making.

The clock-like precision and cohesion of this line, rated as one of the best in the National Hockey League, was demonstrated best last season by the fact that at the end of the schedule Schmidt, Bauer and Dumart finished only three points apart. Schmidt had 15 goals and 17 assists; Bauer had 13 goals and 18 assists and Dumart was credited with 14 goals and 15 assists.

Another indication of the great team-work among them was their record about three weeks from the end of the 1938-39 schedule. At that time Schmidt and Bauer each had 13 goals and 15 assists, while Dumart had one goal less and the same number of assists. There wasn't another line in the league to display such consistency.

Therefore it might be a good idea for the rest of the N.H.L.—particularly the Detroit Red Wings, who meet up with the Bruins tonight—to keep a cautious eye on the doings of the Kraut line. Schmidt is the line leader now with five goals and four assists, while Bauer has two goals and has aided in four. Dumart is way off the mark compared to his companions with only one goal and a helping hand in three.

The Bruins will be clashing with a Detroit squad that has lost its last five games. Manager Jack Adams, already forced to promotions and demotions in an attempt to strike a winning combination, has further worries in the shape of injuries to Eddie Wares and Syd Howe. With Wares and Howe out, Adams has called up Hec and Kenny Kilrea, and Joe Fisher.

Texas Aggies Champs

NEW YORK, Dec. 12—(AP) —The Texas Aggies, southwest conference kingpins, are the football team of the year in the opinion of 116 sports editors and football experts who participated in the final associated press ranking poll of the season. The Aggies polled 1,091 votes. Tennessee, second a week ago, fell more than 100 points behind with 26 first-place votes and a 970-points total. Southern California came in with a third-place total of 891.

ENGAGEMENT

The engagement is announced of Victoria Elizabeth, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. McNamee, to Lawrence Russell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. McQuade of Omemee. The wedding to take place quietly early in January.

DIED

RAYNER, Mrs. Warren.—At Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, December 11, 1939, Mrs. Warren Rayner, 182 Armour Road. Resting at the Funeral Home of Lane and Eano, Hunter Street, and funeral will be held from there Wednesday, December 13, at 2 p.m., to the Little Lake Cemetery; Rev. M. C. Parr officiating.

IN MEMORIAM

BOWLER.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mary Ethel Foley, beloved wife of Milton H. Bowler, who passed away December 12, 1936.

God knew that she was suffering
And the hills were hard to climb.
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
The Golden Gates were open,
A gentle voice said "Come";
With farewells unspoken,
Our dear mother entered Home.
—Ever remembered by her Husband and Children . .

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Samuel Johnston and daughter, Gwendolyn, wish to thank the staff of the Nicholls Hospital, also the attending doctors and all those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars during their bereavement.

Trade With States Highest Since 1929

OTTAWA, Dec. 12 — (CP). — Statisticians looked back through records today and found that only once since 1926 have Canada's monthly exports to the United States exceeded the volume exported in October. Likewise, imports from that country were exceeded only twice.

Exports to the United States were $48,090,000, exclusive of gold, compared with $27,994,000 in October, 1938, and $49,005,000 in October 1929. Imports rose to $60,444,240 from $38,488,813 in the same month last year while in October, 1929, they were $77,000,000.

Of Canada's total imports of $79,053,266 in October from all countries, the United States supplied almost three quarters.

Contributing to the large increase in imports from the United States in October was the gain in iron and its products which advanced to $21,575,000 from $12,579,000 in October, 1938.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT TRUMPS ARE FOR

TRUMPS HAVE many more uses than merely to prevent opponents from running their suits against you or ruffing out your losers. One of their most valuable powers is to aid you in setting up winning cards in your side suits, through ruffing enough rounds which the enemy can win, until finally you find yourself in possession of the only outstanding card or cards in such suits.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West began this deal with 1-Diamond, North bid 2-Diamonds to compel game in some other suit and show no diamond losers, East made a perfunctory double and South bid 2-Spades, which North lifted to 5-Spades. South then bidding 6-Spades. The diamond K lead put the declarer into action on a neat plan for separate use of trumps.

The lead was ruffed in dummy, the club honors taken and the club 3 led. East ruffed with the 7 and South over-ruffed with the 10. The diamond queen, covered by the A, was trumped, then the club 6 ruffed with the 5 when East discarded. The diamond J now was good for a heart discard and the diamond 9 covered by the 10 was trumped with the spade K. The spade 4 fell to the A of East, who did not like to lead into the heart tenace. So he returned the diamond 6, which South ruffed with the spade Q. The spade J settled West's second trump, then the heart A was taken, followed by the good club 8, which had been set up by ruffing. Thus the necessity for the heart finesse was avoided, though it would have worked.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

After West leads the club K and switches to the heart 10 on this deal, how should East play in his effort to defeat 4-Spades, and why?

Plan Meeting Chamber Of Agriculture

Preparations for the annual meeting of the Peterborough County Chamber of Agriculture were discussed by directors in the office of P. C. Paterson, last night, with Reeve James Gifford presiding.

The date and details of the program for the annual meeting were finally left to the executive. Members of the county council present were Reeves W. Anderson, John McColl, Allan B. Mann and Gifford and Deputy-Reeve M. H. Johnston of Otonabee. Other directors expressed appreciation of the leadership given by the county council in its support of agricultural organization and the leadership given this year that was largely helpful in bringing about the formation of the first county branch of the Dominion and Ontario Chambers. And it was hoped that the council of 1940 would continue to manifest an active interest in the same direction.

Others Interested.

In its venturing into the new field of the Chamber of Agriculture, Peterborough county has been followed by six other counties, and it was reported that a preliminary meeting is being planned in Durham in the near future, that some Northumberland farmers are considering similar steps, but that Hastings, Victoria and Ontario counties have not yet approached the idea of a new deal in the marketing of farm products.

One of the gratifying facts mentioned last night was that farm commodity groups in this county have loyally rallied to the support of the Chamber which is still in the primary stage of organization.

Information Campaign.

Farm work intervened during the summer months, and then came the war at the beginning of September further to distract attention from the necessity of organization of agricultural commodity groups and rural opinion and interest as a whole into one body that would be in a position to represent the industry as a whole.

One of the subjects to be discussed at the forthcoming annual meeting will be a plan of enlisting the main body of farmers and especially those who are not affiliated with any of the present groups. It was suggested that a series of local meetings could be held throughout the county during the winter and early Spring, and some of the speakers are likely to be drawn from the county membership.

The extension of information is one of the problems facing the directors, and it is to that end that meetings in the small communities are proposed. The interest of farm women will also be sought, and for the annual meeting invitations will be sent to the Women's Institutes of this county. It was also suggested that other women in sections of the county where Institutes are not operating would also be welcomed.

The directors are recommending that the membership fee for those farmers outside the commodity groups be only twenty-five cents.

Buckhorn Couple Is Given Shower

HALL'S BRIDGE Dec 12—(ENS)—A very enjoyable evening was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones on Wednesday, when a number of friends and neighbours gathered and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Dixon a miscellaneous shower. A number of useful gifts were presented to the young couple who were married on Saturday. Games commenced about 8 o'clock and continued until approximately 9.30 when a little bridal procession took their places under a decorated arch of pink and white streamers with bells. After singing a very suitable selection the little bride and groom proceeded to the living room, returning later with a beautiful decorated and heavily laden basket of shower gifts, while the basket was being carried in, each little flower girl, escorted the bride and groom to their chairs under the arch, then taking their places by their side. A few words of congratulations were given by Mrs. Bruce Hall, after which Malcolm thanked each and every one for their kindness, and courtesy and their many useful gifts. The crowd responded with "For they are Jolly Good Fellows."

The little bridal procession under the direction of Mrs. J. Gillespie Mrs. Neil Windover and Mrs. B. Hall looked very pretty in their costumes. The part of bride and groom being taken by Bobby and Elva Gillespie, the little bride being dressed in white with bridal veil. The little Misses June Windover and Jean Hall, dressed in blue and pink acted as flower-girls.

A very rainty lunch was served by the host and hostess, after which the remainder of the evening was spent in games conducted by Mrs. H. A. Shearer and Mrs. J. Gillespie.

All join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dixon all happiness and prosperity through the years to come.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James and daughter Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. McQuaig and daughters Roberta and Phyllis from Omemee.

Another Peterborough Man Praises Syntona Highly

Improves Action of Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. Rids System of Impurities and Excess Acids That Often Cause Headaches, Rheumatic Pains, Sleeplessness and Lowered Resistance.

Convincing proof of the excellent results that are to be had by taking a treatment of Syntona is found in the many sincere reports received from local men and women who have used this pure herbal compound. Hundreds of former sufferers are delighted at the way Syntona goes to the root of their troubles and soon has them feeling like different persons. Some of these have given public statements so others might read them and be benefitted also. Here, for example, is the experience of Mr. Patrick Curran, 169 London Street, Peterborough, as reported recently:

"My system was badly rundown. My appetite was poor enough, but the little food I did eat only soured in my stomach and caused gas, bloating, belching and heartburn. There were awful gas pains in my side and chest that kept me awake nights and made me feel unrested and miserable right from the beginning of each day. I was subject to frequent headaches and a dull ache and lame feeling in my back.

"That is the condition I was in when I began taking Syntona, and I was surely glad to find that my system responded to this medicine almost from the first few doses. It settled my stomach so my food digested well without all that misery after eating and my bowels became regular. Then, gradually the soreness and lameness left me. I sleep well now and I arise mornings feeling rested and ready for the day's work. It is a great relief to feel this well again, so I am only too glad to recommend Syntona to others."

Every ailing, rundown, nervous person in Peterborough or vicinity is cordially invited to call at Elliott's Drug Store, 393 George Street, and learn the plain, truthful facts about Syntona. Make up your mind to begin taking it to-day. See how it can help you, too.—(Advt.)

Bancroft

Mr. P. A. Kellar received the sad news Monday evening of the death of his father at Ceylon, Ontario. Funeral was held at White Lake, Cemetery, Madoc, interment being made in family plot there.

Dr. S. S. Lumb, reeve of Bancroft, and Mrs. Lumb were in Belleville last week; the former attended county council.

Patrons Warned To Improve Curing Room

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 12 (ENS)—Dairy Instructor W. J. Moore of Peterborough was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the I.X.L. Cheese Company, whose sixteen patrons he told would have to repair the curing room floor and also make provision for a surer supply of water before being granted a licence to operate during the coming year. The suggestions he made to patrons were in line with the Government's desire to improve the quality of cheese. Mr. Moore spoke briefly of the bonus on quality which had helped many factories to bring their receipts above those for last year despite a somewhat lower average price for cheese. The year 1940 will be the last one in which companies will be permitted to use hoops of various sizes. By 1941 all factories will be using hoops 15in. in diameter. He suggested also that cheese should all be made to a standard height of not less than 18 inches. If they are high enough the curd won't have to be pounded down, and as a result they will last longer.

Emphasizing the importance of having cheese that is properly cured the speaker urged the installation of an artificially cooled curing room while the Government was still offering to pay one-half of its cost. The results show by factories which have already taken advantage of this offer clearly show that the balance of the cost would soon be paid for by the bonus. Most important part for the producer is to keep the milk properly cooled with ice or water until it reaches the factory. If it is not properly cooled the cream may be seen to stick in patches on the rim of the lid and no amount of stirring will make it go back into the cheese since the milk must then be heated to from 94 to 96 degrees.

Bonus of $109.17.

President R. McCulloch called upon J. D. Mills, manager of the Bank of Montreal in Campbellford, who also addressed the meeting briefly. The annual report of the factory was presented by the secretary, Mac Waddell, who stated the total bonus for the season had amounted to $109.17. The total amount of milk delivered to the factory was 684.005 pounds, which produced 54,525 pounds of cheese, or an average of 12.2 pounds of milk per pound of cheese. The average price received for cheese was 12¼ cents and for butter fat 24.2 cents. Butter fat totalled 21,798.89 pounds and the total paid to patrons including the bonus was $5,197.76.

Robert McCulloch was re-elected president, and Ralph Rutherford auditor for the coming year. Other officers were: Thomas Campbell, secretary; Wiliam McKenzie, Douglas Rutherford, Howard Clarke, and Charles Clarke, directors.

STUPID MILITARY TACTICS.

BOSTON, Dec. 12 — (AP). — Rear-Admiral Harry E. Yarnell today described Japanese bombing of Chinese cities as "perfectly stupid as a military performance" and declared it had done more "to unify China than any other one thing."

Yarnell, former commander of the United States Asiatic Fleet and now retired, expressed belief that Japan's war aim was removal of all European and American interests from Eastern Asia, but said he did not think "the Chinese will accede to any settlement of the war involving the Japanese remaining in their country."

Turning Out Armaments For Canada's Army

Working swiftly, quietly and efficiently, skilled workmen are busily engaged in various parts of the Dominion turning out munitions for Canada's army. Workmen are shown, TOP, placing the high explosive in shells which will be used by Canada's artillery. Much of the work done in these modern munitions plants is done by girls, and this girl, BOTTOM LEFT, is working on bullet casings. Girls working in the plants take lunch, BOTTOM RIGHT, not in restaurants or canteens but in what they know as "department 46."

Canadian Ammunition Factories Busy Massing Shells All Sizes

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

When the first Canadian division goes into action against the enemy a steady procession of brown boxes will follow it laden with compressed death in the form of rifle cartridges, and shells of all sizes.

Now and for months past certain factories, including government arsenals have been busy piling up a store of ammunition. These plants operate without fuss or fanfare. Thousands of people live nearby and pass them daily without knowing what goes on inside.

One of the important cogs in Canada's munitions-producing establishments is rarely seen by any but the few hundred people who work within its green-and-grey camouflaged walls. Set in the midst of an evergreen forest, among snow-capped mountains, it is the place where harmless metal shapes are filled with explosive charges and transformed into death-dealing instruments.

There every kind of projectiles, including the aerial bombs, are filled. There may be found the latest thing in equipment, not only for work, but for the comfort and health of the workers.

Each of the buildings is capable of being enlarged to double or triple its present size. They contain a restaurant, a first aid centre with trained nurses in attendance, bright tile washrooms, shower baths and individual lockers for all employees.

One of the most important functions in a filling plant is the weighing and measuring of the explosives. Each charge must be exactly right. All through the process of manufacturing is a constant drive for precision. The testing machines used on rifle ammunition, for instance, reject a round which varies as much as 10 grains (about 1-3 ounce) either above or below the standard weight.

Everything Exact

The explosive comes on big spools and is cut, measured and weighed by employees. Each piece must be the exact length prescribed. It is cut with a sharp knife, fixed on a measuring device. For larger projectiles the pieces of explosive are bound in bundles. The brown stuff is explosive only when confined. In the open air it burns as quietly as a candle wick.

For firing the bigger shells, such as 60-pounders, the explosive bundles are about a foot long and are wrapped in canvas covers with red flannel ends. These charges go into the breaches of the big guns behind the shells and provide the motive power which carries the heavy projectiles over a range of four or five miles.

T.N.T. is delivered to the filling plant in the form of a powder in boxes and melted there. The resulting brown fluid is poured into the high explosive shells and allowed to solidify. Over the solid explosive the nose of the shell, containing a cap or exploder is screwed on.

When melted T.N.T. gives off noticeable fumes but like cordite it is not dangerous except when confined to a narrow space. Workers handling T.N.T. wear masks to avoid inhaling too much of the fumes and visit the first aid room twice a day each day for a glass of milk.

There is one key job in Canada's war establishment for which no youth need apply. The job is nameless and the man who holds it must be nameless.

The duties are the mixing of chemicals to make the explosives for ammunition. Mainly it is the preparation of fulminate from which cap compositions are made.

This man works alone in a clean, bright suite of rooms in the arsenal. The entrance is guarded and while the mixer works not even the highest military or civil official may enter. He is one man who must not be disturbed under any circumstances.

The chief qualification for the position is an equable temperament and it is thought the required temperament comes only with middle age.

"There is no danger except from carelessness," said an official of the arsenal.

Warsaw WMS Holds Christmas Meeting

WARSAW, Dec. 12—(ENS).—The United Church W.M.S. met on Wednesday afternoon led by Mrs. G. G. Taylor who followed the Christmas program. Mrs. David Tucker sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and all joined in the chorus. Mrs. Wilkinson sang during the offering and Mrs. Harold Ray read from the leaflet. Mrs. Stuart Clydesdale leader of D group followed the program. Mrs. Harlod Payne also Mrs. Robert Moore gave short readings, Mrs. Arthur Payne sang. Mrs. Taylor thanked the members for their co-operation during the year. She lighted a small candle, later Mrs. Clydesdale lighted a tall red candle and after a few words all present rose in their places, took their candle and each lighted it from the first lighted one. After extinguishing and putting down their candles, the members seated themselves on the side facing a tea table covered with a lovely white linen cloth which was decorated with a Christmas tree and pretty appointments and presided over by Mrs. G. G. Taylor and Mrs. Arthur Payne who were assisted by Mrs. Weller, Mrs. David Tucker, Mrs. Harold Rae, and Mrs. Allan U. Payne. A really sumptuous afternoon tea was served and a merry time was spent.

OBITUARY

FRASER AYLSWORTH

BONARLAW, Dec. 12—(ENS). — There passed away very suddenly in Belleville General Hospital, Fraser Aylsworth, age 77 years, a prominent resident of Madoc village. Mr. Aylsworth was born in Madoc township, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aylsworth.

When a young man he was admitted to the profession of land surveying and during his many active years he was a leading member of the Provincial and Dominion Land Surveyors Associations, being a past president of the Dominion Association. Mr. Aylsworth spent most of his life in Madoc and Hastings county except for a few years spent in Western Canada.

He served as reeve of Madoc village and for many years a member of the council. He did valuable work for the county of Hastings in surveying road construction.

In politics he was a staunch Liberal and in the federal election in the year 1930 he was the unsuccesful Liberal candidate in North Hastings in opposition to Dr. A. T. Embury, Conservative candidate.

Surviving him are his widow, who prior to her marriage was Miss Louise Brereton of Toronto, one daughter, Miss Grace Aylsworth, R.N., Niagara Falls, N.Y., two brothers, Mr. John Aylsworth of Edmonton, Alberta, James Aylsworth, who resides on the Aylsworth homestead, Madoc township, one sister, Miss Jennie Aylsworth, Madoc village.

THOMAS LEGROW.

MARMORA, Dec. 12—(ENS). — The funeral of the late Thomas Legrow was held on Sunday afternoon. A service was conducted at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. William R. Gray where the remains were resting, by Rurola Dean A. B. Caldwell. St. Paul's choir in attendance with Mrs. L. R. Rundle at the organ led in the singing of "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me." Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell gave a short comforting address on the text John 14.2 "If it were not so I would have told you."

Interment was made in Marmora Protestant cemetery. The pallbearers were S. C. Boyd, Lewis Phillips, Dan Shannon, Stanis Bertrand, George Aunger and Archie McComb.

WILLIAM KEARNS

ENNISMORE, Dec. 12—(ENS). — The funeral of the late William Kearns who died in a Toronto hospital during the earlier part of the week was held on Thursday morning from his late residence in Emily township to St. Martin's Church, Ennismore at ten o'clock. Reverend V. J. Gilogly, parish priest, celebrated at the funeral mass, and also officiated at the prayers in St. Martin's cemetery where interment took place.

The late Mr. Kearns who had been a resident of both Emily and Ennismore townships, was a lifelong member of St. Martin's parish. The deceased was held in high esteem in this immediate neighborhood, and was of a disposition that gained for him many friends who mourned his passing.

Pall-bearers were six neighbors: Vincent Franks, James Davis, Patrick McAuliffe, Frank Crough, Martin McAuliffe and Wilfrid Carroll.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. Leo Kearns, Mr. and Mrs. William Kearns, William Kearns, Jr., Margaret Mary Kearns and Peter Flood, all of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McQuaig and children of Toronto have been visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Robson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis entertained a number of friends and neighbors Friday night to a dance at their home. A most enjoyable time was spent.

$5,000 Voted Campbellford Town Council

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 12 — (ENS)—A motion to pay over to the town the balance of the $5,000 grant for the current year was passed at the monthly meeting of the Water and Light Commission. The $3,000 grant will according to the motion be taken from the surplus of the electric light and power department. Mayor F. F. Long brought up the matter of the lighting charge for the cenotaph which he declared the council felt should be borne by the Commission and on motion the bill for $25 was cancelled for the current year. Commissioner C. H. Davidson presented a by-law authorizing the chairman and secretary to execute two leases that have been submitted by the Department of Transport relative to the extension of the transmission line from the highway bridge to the fire hall also the lease for operating the acquired line crossing over the Trent Canal that supplied the paper mill with electrical energy from the transmission line on the Grand Road in Campbellford. Following passing the accounts the meeting adjourned. Chairman J. O. Benor presided.

Car Brushed Aside By Passing Train

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 11. — (ENS).—For the second time in less than forty-eight hours a motorist tangled with a train at a level crossing here. Though it wasn't the same crossing there was just as much damage done to the car as in the previous encounter on Thursday. R. Young had left his house at daybreak on Saturday morning and had driven north on Centre street to the level crossing where he declared he neither saw nor heard the train. He nearly made it as the locomotive just caught the rear end of his car back of the wheel.

2 German Planes Visit England; Both Get Away

LONDON, Dec. 12 — (CP). — An unidentified 'plane believed to have been a German Heinkel bomber fled Monday when British fighting planes rose to attack after it was discovered flying at a high altitude over Yorkshire.

This morning fishermen about a mile off the southeast coast saw a German bi-motored airplane come out of the clouds, fly over a town, and then turn southeastward over the English channel.

The fishermen clearly saw a Swastika on the plane.

No air raid alarm was caused by either plane, and no shot was fired.

WELCOME SERVICE STATION OPERATOR ROBBED

One Suspect Is Captured After Biggest Man Hunt In District In Many Years

Bandits' Car Wrecked Near Springville When Trying To Elude Police
Posse Follows Tracks In New Fallen Snow

Suspected of having been one of the three armed bandits who through the night held up a service station at Welcome and kidnapped the night attendant, Lloyd McPherson, 18, of Moncton, N.B., was found crouching in the loft of an abandoned barn in a clearing in the woods on the 10th Concession of Cavan at 10.30 o'clock this morning. He was placed under arrest by Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher of the city police and Chief Constable E. C. Richards of Millbrook, and brought to Peterborough.

McPherson's arrest followed one of the biggest man hunts in this district in years.

Accomplices Escape.

It came after two other men, allegedly his accomplices, had eluded a cordon of city and provincial police and made their way into Peterborough, where the trail was lost.

The three bandits, driving a stolen car, had at 4.30 o'clock this morning roared past two city police officers who tried to flag them down near Springville, and then had failed to negotiate a sharp turn on Highway 28 north of Scott's Corners, their car crashing into a guard rail. The trio fled on foot, two travelling in a northwesterly direction across country and the third, said to have been McPherson, going in a southerly direction.

Provincial Traffic Officer Lloyd McClure and City Contable Gordon K. Hardy trailed the third man through his foot prints in the snow for some miles and then were fooled for a short time when he walked backward across a road. They, however, picked up the trail later and followed him to a road leading from Springville. Detective Meagher, Provincial Constables Silvester and Sutherland, Chief Richards and the latter's driver, W. White, joined in the hunt and Meagher and Richards finally followed the foot prints to the barn in the woods, where they found McPherson. The youth at first stated that he had spent the night in the barn, but when it was pointed out that his shoes were still wet with snow, admitted that he had just arrived there. He was very tired from his ramble across country.

Robbed Operator.

A short time previous to the dash of the bandits past the police near Springville, the trio in an automobile that had been stolen at 10.30 o'clock Tuesday night from William Gage of Hamilton stopped in front of the Shell Oil station at Welcome on Highway 2, and ordered gas and oil. As the night operator, Roy Beckett, finished servicing the car two of the men who had got out of the machine flashed revolvers on him, took $3 out of his pocket and between $4 and $5 from the service station till, ordered the attendant to get into their car and drove across from Welcome to Dale, turning north on Highway 28.

After travelling a short distance north the holdup men stopped their machine and ordered Beckett to get out. Then they sped away toward Peterborough. Beckett hurried to a telephone and notified Provincial Traffic Officer McKellar at Port Hope of what had happened and he in turn warned Peterborough police at 3.50 o'clock to look out for the wanted trio.

Sergeant John Thompson and Constable W. A. Clarke immediately rushed out Highway 28 and near Springville stopped their machine ready to head off the fugitives. They had stopped a truck to inquire news as to the holdup car when suddenly a machine travelling at very high speed loomed in sight. The officers tried to flag the oncoming car down with their flashlights and Constable Clarke fired

No Trace Found Of Two Men Still At Large

Although the city and surrounding countryside have been thoroughly combed by provincial and city police since early this morning in search of the two bandits wanted for a holdup at Welcome, no trace had been found of the fugitives early this afternoon.

Lloyd McPherson, the third member of the gang was being held in custody here waiting to be taken to Cobourg where he will be tried.

McPherson, weary from his long tramp across country, fell asleep in his cell after a noon day meal. To an Examiner reporter shortly before he said that they had not no-

House Huddles In Guarded Secret Session

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (CP Cable). The House of Commons to-day went into its first secret session since the last war. The House of Lords also met in camera.

At precisely 4 p.m. Prime Minister Chamberlain rose, glanced around the crowded galleries and said:

"Mr. Speaker, I beg to draw your attention to the fact that strangers are present."

The House roared with laughter. The Speaker put a motion to ask that strangers withdraw and shouts of "Aye" started the secret session.

Extra supplies of refreshments were laid in. Included were "secret sandwiches," the secret of which, members discovered, was that they were made with Macon—the new mutton bacon.

Even the attendants who stoke the open fires in the lobbies were excluded. The fire-keeping being left to assistant sergeants-at-arms.

David Lloyd George, Liberal, who had a prominent role in stepping-up munitions production as Prime Minister during the latter years of the last war, was expected to take a prominent part in today's arguments.

Edward Leslie Burgin, Minister of Supply, indicated his line of argument for the Government when he said yesterday "Britain's war effort is the greatest ever made in world history." He disclosed orders placed by his department in the war's first 94 days totalled £208,000,000 (about $813,000,000).

Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood also will speak for the Government.

Visitors will be admitted to the galleries for the question hour, after which the speaker will order all non-members to leave. Policemen and commons employees will inspect all halls in the building. The doors of the galleries will be locked.

The session is to end not later than 11.30 p.m. (6.30 p.m. est).

Police Arrest Alleged Bandit

Lloyd McPherson, 18, of Moncton, N.B., arrested in an abandoned barn in Cavan township as a suspect in the holdlp of a Welcome service station and the kidnapping of the night attendant, is shown in the guard-room of the Police Station here just after being brought in by a police posse this morning. Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher, who with Chief Richards of Millbrook, arrested McPherson, is taking the handcuffs off the prisoner.

New RAF Patrols Fly In Waves Over Nazi Bases

LONDON, Dec. 13 (CP) — The Royal Air Force used a new war technique today to scotch the German mine menace.

The air ministry announced aerial "security patrols" had been maintained throughout the night over mine-laying and aircraft bases in Heligoland Bight.

The flights in wave after wave of fast fighters were made over four main German North Sea bases at the Islands of Sylt, Borkum and Norderney and Heligoland itself.

Indicating the system might become general, a ministry spokesman said there was "obviously a lot behind it," but that the press must draw its own conclusions.

Aside from a brief communique reporting that the patrols were "continuously maintained," the ministry declined to supply details.

(Heligoland, an island in the North Sea, lies 45 miles northwest of the mouths of the Elbe and Weser rivers. It and its bight, or bay, are an important link in Germanys naval defence.)

British radio listeners saw in the air ministry communique a possible explanation for sudden cessation of broadcasting by Bremen and Hamburg stations last night.

The stations faded out during programs of English language news bulletins and remained silent until early this morning.

(Planes could orient themselves by picking up a radio station's broadcasts.)

Watchdog System

Aviation sources said the British planes acted as "watch-dogs" to prevent German mine-laying planes from taking off, the idea being to nip mine-laying at the source instead of confining counter measures to defence patrols and attacks on the Nazi base.

One aviation expert said the patrol planes probably were long-range reconnaissance fighters. There was no indication whether the patrol dropped bombs, or met resistance.

903 Centres Will Receive Province's Annual Gift

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP) — The Province of Ontario to-day is sending out its annual dividend to the 903 municipalities in the form of a subsidy of one and one-half mills on the dollar of the general assessment.

Since this practice of passing dividends on to the municipalities was instituted there has been distributed to the municipalities a sum in excess of $10,000,000. This distribution goes to 27 cities, 147 towns, 156 villages, 2 commissions and 571 townships.

Cheques were being mailed today. As an example of the size of some of the cheques the following figures are given: Toronto $1,343,475, Hamilton $247,239.28, London $124,295.85, Windsor $141,751.92, Ottawa $234,206.01, St. Thomas $22,704.99.

The practice was started three years ago when the Ontario Government took over from the municipalities the right to tax income.

Why Didn't We Sink The Bremen? Is Cry As Heated Dispute Rages In Britain On Sub Skipper Letting Code Save Liner

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (CP Cable). — The Daily Express' biggest frontpage story today carried the headline: "Why Didn't We Sink the Bremen?"

It asked a question on the lips of most London editors, to judge from the morning newspapers.

The news story in the Express included the German version that the submarine was chased away by Nazi planes. The newspaper asked: "Shall the navy be praised or blamed for their restraint in this matter?"

It went on: "That is the question which aroused controversy last night. Naval opinion in this country is unanimously on the side taken by the submarine commander."

The newspaper quoted two admirals supporting this view. It also quoted a section of international law which recognizes the right to sink a merchant ship persistently refusing to stop.

As an argument for the other view an editorial paragraph in the paper asks:

"One, if the Bremen was armed why wasn't she called on to surrender, so that if she refused she could have been sunk?

"Two, if the Bremen wasn't armed why wasn't she taken prisoner?"

Under the heading: "The riddle of meeting a British submarine," the Daily Mail calls the story "The New Mystery of the Bremen."

It goes on to say: "It is not clear what would have been the position, if the Bremen ignored an order to heave to—if any such order was given."

Editorially the paper asks: "Why wasn't she at least crippled? Isn't she in fact a legitimate object of attack?"

Under a heading: "Admiral Hush Wouldn't Talk," the News Chronicle told of the vain attempts of newspaper men to obtain additional information concerning the Bremen story.

"The public which read the Admiralty statement asked obvious questions," it said.

Other newspapers, featuring the mystery of the Bremen's escape, suggested that her superior speed, and the fact that she might have been in neutral territorial waters, may have had something to do with it.

On the other hand, on every side today you could find people who were loss concerned with legal technicalities and more concerned with striking resounding blows at Germany. They also emphasized the psychological effect on the German nation of the 51,731-ton liner's successful adventure.

Wreck Of Russian Fish Ship Sees 700 Drown Or Freeze

WAKKANAI, Hokkaido, Japan, Dec. 13.—(AP).—More than 700 Russians, including women and children, were missing today and believed drowned or frozen to death in the wreck of the Russian steamship Indigirka on the treacherous coast of Hokkaido.

The Japanese ship Karafuto Maru arrived here with 395 survivors from the crowded Russian fishing service vessel which went aground in a blizzard yesterday on the east coast of Hokkaido, northernmost of the main Japanese islands.

Survivors, most of whom were suffering from exposure, said the ship carried about 1,100 persons, fishermen, many accompanied by wives and children, and a crew of 39.

(The scene of the wreck is on one route between fishing stations on the Kamchatka Peninsula and Vladivostok.)

Survivors said the Indigirka sent out one SOS before huge waves smashed her wireless room. Because of the blinding snow she was unable to give her position accurately.

The storm held possible rescue ships in port throughout yesterday.

The survivors said they did not know the fate of their missing comrades.

The Indigirka was a ship of only 2,690 tons, but vessels plying between the northern fishing ports and Vladivostok often carry large passenger lists.

Last Minute News Flashes

MONTREAL (CP)—Three constables and a sergeant of the Montreal Police Department were ordered to preliminary enquiry Dec. 19 at arraignment today on charges of stealing $400 worth of merchandise from a city drugstore.

BERLIN (AP) — Exact whereabouts of the liner Bremen remained a military secret today. Announcement by the North German Lloyd Line office at New York that the Bremen docked at Bremerhaven after her trip from Murmansk was believed to be part of a campaign to hide the ship's real whereabouts. Kiel is held the likely port as a raid there is less likely than on the more exposed Bremerhaven.

Reds Branded By League As Aggressors

Ouster Seen Tonight; May Ask U.S. To Assist Finns

GENEVA, Dec. 13 (AP)—A 13-nation committe of the League of Nations today adopted a resolution condemning Soviet Russia as an aggressor and containing an implied demand that Russia be ousted from the league for invading Finland.

The resolution, which was then submitted to the league assembly, which may act on it tonight, incorporated a report drawn up by a sub-committee "inviting" league members to give Finland all possible aid.

In addition it was suggested that non-member nations such as the United States might be asked to join in helping Finland if the League of Nations council desires.

The report now goes to a special 13-nation committee considering the Russian-Finnish conflict before being submitted to the league assembly and then to the council.

Only Majority Needed

Approval of the part naming Russia an aggressor and suggesting aid to Finland seemed certain since only a majority vote of the assembly is necessary. Action on expulsion of a member requires a unanimous council vote, and Cfina, a member of the council, is indebted to Russia for aid against Japan.

The sub-committee also condemned Russia as a violator of the league covenant and recommended putting the entire technical staff of the league—its economic, health and financial experts—at Finland's disposal.

Rodolfo Freyre, Argentine delegate, told the Assembly his government's decision to resign is "unalterable" so long as Russia is a member.

His address was heard after the Assembly learned officially of Russia's refusal to accept the League's offer to mediate her war with Finland.

"The League has no doubt lost all coercive force," Freyre declared, "but there still is one gesture that it has to make, one gesture that it cannot refuse to make, unless it is prepared to resign its function in the spirit of a truly suicidal defeat."

Russia's Stand.

Rejection of the League's offer to mediation came last night from Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff on grounds that Russia was not in a state of war with Finland.

In a telegram to Joseph Avenol, Secretary-General of the League, Molotoff said:

"The government of Soviet Russia thanks you, Monsieur President, for the kind invitation to take part in

Freeing Drunk Driver Stirs Probe By Conant

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Prompt actio nto clear up the situation created by the decision of Judge Proulx at Sudbury who released on suspended sentence a man convicted of drunken driving, was promised today by Attorney General Gordon Conant.

"It was a very disturbing judgment because it certainly upsets the practice followed in the courts since the provision of a jail penalty without the option of a fine for drunken driving came into effect. I have asked that a full report on the case be prepared and I will certainly take some action to clear up the situation without delay," Mr. Conant said.

Baltimore, Dec. 13 (AP)

FOR the 60th time in six years Louis Berman hoped today the correspondence law course he studied in a prison cell would lead to freedom from a life term for murder.

Under a statute permitting him to seek a writ of habeas corpus from every circuit judge in the state at least once, he filed his petition before Judge William Loker of St. Mary's county. The previous 59 attempts were unsuccessful, but each time the state provided a car, chauffeur and guard to take him to court from the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore.

Berman was sentenced in 1928.

Cannot Win War With Dope Press Protests

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(CP Cable)—The Daily Mirror, in an editorial spread across two pages, today charged the press is being kept short of news and that the British people are being lulled to sleep by official "dope."

It alleged that a "widespread campaign is being waged to magnify trivialities into events of importance and to acclaim success where none in fact has occurred."

Under the headline "we can't win the war with dope," the Mirror printed a number of huge headlines from recent editions of British newspapers dealing with the crash of a single German plane.

"This event is heralded as a portent of the swiftly approaching hour when we shall claw Goering's armada from the skies," the paper said. "The ministry of information join in this sorry game of subterfuge and national humbug. They help in the vast conspiracy of make-believe, whereby everything ends happily ever after."

The newspaper scored "stories vibrant with good cheer" that Germany is cracking up and the German army dissolving. It said that by reading the press one "could be led to believe that all that is needed is for Prime Minister Chamberlain to get up and say: 'Germans! Lay down your arms. Defeat stares you in the face. Victory is ours.'"

Messages in support of the paper's stand were printed. They included telegrams from Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal party in the House of Commons, and Dingle Foot, Liberal, Colonel James Baldwin-Webb, Conservative, and Herbert Morrison, Labor.

Cruiser Sinking Believed Hoax

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(CP Cable). —The Admiralty today declared it had no knowledge of a Buenos Aires report that the British cruiser Achilles had been sunk by the German armored ship Admiral Scheer.

The Buenos Aires report said the engagement took place in the South Atlantic off Uruguay.

Red Massing To Crush Finnish Force

Russia Said Angered By Stubborn Finnish Defence

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 13—(AP). —The Finnish Telegraphic Agency circulated a report to-day that Soviet Russia—irked by Finland's resistance—is massing 1,500,000 first-line soldiers for a crushing blow.

This array of manpower—nearly equal to the male population of Finland and perhaps double the number of men now engaged on both sides of the war—would be supported by 1,000 planes, the agency said.

The major thrust, according to the agency, is expected in the Karelian Isthmus, where Finns, entrenched in the zig-zag line of fortifications called the Mannerheim Line, have fought off Red invaders since the war started 14 days ago.

The source of the report was not specified. The agency merely said such information had come into its hands.

Another Red Drive Halted.

Word of the imminent broadening of the Red campaign followed closely upon a Finnish communique yesterday reporting that Finnish troops and planes had smashed a large-scale offensive on the Karelian Isthmus and Eastern, or Lake Lagoda, fronts.

Apparently the eastern phase of the Russian drive was part of a wide flanking manoeuvre against the

Germany Exults As Bremen Reaches Home

BERLIN, Dec. 13—(AP).—Germans exulted today over the safe arrival of the $20,000,000 liner Bremen in a home port, despite the approach of a British submarine to within torpedo range.

Commodore Adolf Ahrens brought the 51,731-ton vessel from Murmansk, Soviet Russia, where it had sought refuge during the early days of the war.

A high command communique last night said, "The fast liner Bremen arrived home from overseas. The Navy Department had taken measures to bring the ship home safely. Among them, airplanes were detailed to give the ship the necessary protection.

"A British submarine in the North Sea attempted to attack the Bremen. One of the planes sent to protect the Bremen forced the submarines so far under water that the attack was thwarted."

(It was only after the British Admiralty had disclosed that a British submarine had approached the Bremen but refrained from attacking her in contravention of the rules of sea warfare that the German command issued the information on the subject.

(The first Nazi version was that a German plane happened to come along and chased the submarine away. Later this was amended to say that the Bremen was protected by planes.)

Although the port of arrival was not mentioned, belief was expressed the Bremen is in Bremerhaven.

F D R Must Accept 3rd Term To Save U.S., Says Davies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP) — Joseph E. Davies, United States Ambassador to Belgium, reaffirmed his support of President Roosevelt for a third term after a White House call to-day and declared he believed "America is in jeopardy as it certainly has not been in our generation and probably not since its institution."

The Ambassador said that it was not a matter of personal desires for a third term that should be considered now but a question of "who is the best man to keep America out of this thing when the whole world is on fire."

He added that he knew for certain that the President did not want another term.

"I know he doesn't want it," Davies said. "But I don't think this is a time to consider the personal wishes of any man."

He reported to the President to-day on the "general European situation" but said that this situation was changing so rapidly from day to day it was almost impossible to get a definite impression of it.

Earlier, after a call on State Secretary Cordell Hull, Davies told reporters that "nothing short of a miracle can prevent the war from being a long and bitter one."

Leningrad Turns Its Churches To War Hospitals

MOSCOW, Dec. 13. — (AP) — Churches in Leningrad were converted into military hospitals today as a steady stream of Red army casualties from the Finnish fronts overtaxed the city's regular hospital facilities.

While Tass, Soviet news agency, distributed without comment Russia's rejection of the League of Nations' mediation offer in the Finnish dispute, newspapers gave glowing reports that Finns welcomed Russian "liberators" in the army-occupied sections.

Workers in Great Britain, the United States and Sweden, the newspapers said, welcomed the new Communist-headed Finnish "people's government" set up at the border village of Terijoki. Red Star, organ of the army, said workers throughout the world looked to the Soviet Union for leadership.

On the diplomatic front, speculation was aroused by the arrival of Dr. Joseph Tiso, president of Slovakia, on an undisclosed mission.

Snow, Sleet Lash Maritimes Area

HALIFAX, Dec. 13.—(CP) —Maritimers began to clear highways and repair communication facilities today after snow and sleet drove down on sections of the seaside Province, bringing the worst weather of the winter.

Nine inches of snow choked Prince Edward Island highways while some Nova Scotia roads were also blocked by yesterday's storm. Sleet and rain borne by a northwest wind partially crippled telegraph and telephone services in Nova Scotia. In Shelburne, 10 American fishing schooners anchored when gales and heavy seas drove them into port.

Tobacco Driver Slain On Street

VANCOUVER, Dec. 13.—(CP).—Police to-day retraced the tobacco route of W. D. Nash in hopes they would find a motive for the slaying of the 39-year-old Hudson's Bay Company driver, shot down at a North Burnaby intersection after an apparent struggle in his truck with an unknown assailant yesterday.

There was only a few dollars in his pockets, police said, when Nash jumped from the cab of his truck, staggered as a bullet struck him in the back, and collapsed beside the car of a following motorist.

From the owners of a grocery store—the last on Nash's route—investigators learned the driver sometimes had as much as $2,000 in his possession after completing his tobacco deliveries.

On one point police were satisfied. The slayer was in the truck when Nash drove away from his last call, A. W. Fiddler's grocery store on Sperling avenue in adjoining North Burnaby district.

New Plane Plant

MONTREAL, Dec. 13 — (CP). — An airplane plant scheduled to turn out machines for the British Air Ministry is near completion at nearby St. Hubert. Built for Canadian Associated Aircraft, the plant already has started turning out parts for Handley Page "Hampden" bombers.

A similar plant is being erected at Malton, Ont.

Demand for Hitler's "Mein Kampf" has been greater than the supply in Johannesburg, South Africa, since the European war started.

Japan Will Seek Russ Market If U.S. Bars Pact

TOKYO, Dec. 13—(AP).—Yakichiro Suma, Japanese Foreign Office spokesman, confirmed today that Japan would open negotiations with Soviet Russia, January 10, looking toward a trade treaty, but said hopes still were held for a new treaty with the United States.

The present pact has been denounced by the United States, effective January 26.

Suma admitted the Russian market "at present" was insufficient to replace that of America, but said, "if she cannot buy from one country, Japan should turn to another."

He contended that non-existence of a treaty with the United States would be "harmful both to Japan and the United States, materially and psychologically."

For example, he said, "78 per cent of California's whole trade is concerned with Japan.

Suma declined to say whether he meant Japan would restrict trade with the United States, or whether increased tension with the Far East would result. He said, however, trade would be possible under a non-treaty condition.

Outpost Battles Keep Poilus Busy

PARIS, Dec. 13 — (AP). — The French reported to-day that heavily reinforced German patrols had been repulsed in attempts to capture three French outposts in the salient east of the Warndt Forest, centre of western front activity between the Moselle and Rhine Rivers.

Outpost fighting is becoming more general, the French said, with six sectors affected in the past 24 hours.

They asserted the heaviest fighting lasted several hours near the Warndt Forest when the Germans attacked with artillery support. Isolated French posts of about 30 men were said to have held off 100-man attacking units with hand grenades until French field artillery was brought into play, forcing the Germans to withdraw leaving numerous dead.

To-day's high command communique reported merely "patrol activity in the central part of the front."

South-eastern France experienced a 45-minute air raid alarm beginning at 9.55 a.m. The all-clear signal followed.

Lakefield Y.P.U. Elects Miss Burgess

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 13 (ENS). — Miss Helen Burgess was elected president for 1940 of the Lakefield United Church Young People's Society, when it met for the last meeting of 1939. Rev. G. F. Kelly conducted the recreational period which preceded the worship and business period. It was decided to have the meetings on Tuesday nights instead of Mondays as in former years.

Officers elected were: Vice-President, Clayton Bullock; secretary, Ralph Jackman; treasurer, Muriel Bullock; roll-call secretary, John Carveth; pianist, Helen Kelly, assistant, Mary Alice Renwick; convenetrs, Christian Fellowship, Rev. G. F. Kelly; Missionary, Mrs. G. F. Kelly; Citizenship, L. Minshall; Christian Culture, Clayton Bullock; Recreation, Rev. G. F. Kelly; besides the president, Miss Helen Burgess.

During the evening refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Keene To Operate Old Skating Rink

KEENE, Dec. 13—(ENS)—A meeting was held in the Keene town hall Monday for the purpose of deciding whether or not to use the old skating rink this winter and, what amount of repairs would be necessary to make it safe for skaters.

F. A. Eason acted as chairman and after much general discussion it was decided to make temporary repairs which would make the building safe and then this open the rink for skating this winter.

A committee comprised of Dr. Wright, D. D. Brown, Peter Mather, H. Reid and Fred Whalen was formed to handle business matters.

Plans are still being discussed regarding a new rink for Keene in the future.

250 Lose Battle To Save Store

CORNWALL, Ont., Dec. 13—(CP). —More than 250 villagers and farmers from the surrounding district fought a losing fight for two hours this morning in an effort to save Lyall Arbuthnot's store and post office at North Field Station, 15 miles northwest of here, from destruction by fire. Loss was estimated at about $7,000, partly covered by insurance.

Volunteer brigades from nearby Newington and Avonmore aided in battling the blaze, which originated in the store and destroyed the main building, a large store house and a barn.

All mail was saved from the post office, but destruction of equipment made it impossible to prepare letters for rural delivery today.

Former Page Boy Found Shot At Home

OTTAWA, Dec. 13.—(CP)—Curtis Fortin, 21-year-old former page boy in the House of Commons, was found shot to death in the bathroom of his home here early today.

The youth, a native of Cornwall, Ont., was found by members of his family who rushed to the bathroom when they heard a shot. The door was locked and had to be forced open. The boy was lying on the floor with a .22 calibre rifle nearby.

Coroner W. T. Shirreff decided an inquest would not be necessary.

Blackout Victim

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (CP Cable). —Leading Aircraftsman John Naylor, 19, came safely through one of the daring raids by the Royal Air Force on the German Heligoland naval base.

Granted a few days' leave, young Naylor dashed home to Marlow, in Buckinghamshire, to show his parents a piece of shrapnel which struck his plane during the attack.

And in the blackout last night he was killed when his car collided with another in Epping Forest.

Only One Survivor

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Believed to be the sole survivor of a crew of 26 of a Danish vessel sunk by a submarine a Danish sailor was picked up to-day by an Aberdeen trawler.

He had been adrift on a raft for four days and when found was clutching the body of a dead officer.

He failed to name his vessel before lapsing into unconsciousness, but said she had been sunk last Saturday.

Dangerous Job Facing Engineer Corps

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, Dec. 13.—(CP' — Should the First Canadian Overseas Division ever have to advance after a retreating enemy one of the most delicate tasks will fall to the Royal Canadian Engineers.

Theirs will be the responsibility of locating and destroying the land mines and "bobby traps" left by the enemy for the purpose of injuring and delaying advancing troops.

An essential part of the training of engineers is to school at least a number of men in the art of placing and finding hidden explosives. The art was developed to a high degree in the last war.

It is a desperate game of "find the button" in which the penalty for an error may be death. The engineers assigned to clear out explosives must pit their observation and wit against those of the enemy engineers who preceded them over the same ground.

"Bobby traps' are inviting looking places, such as billets, dugouts, or stores of food which blow up at a step on a stone or a touch on a door latch. Land mines are underground explosive charges.

Being Taught The Tricks.

Men of the Royal Canadian Engineers Training for the First Division at Exhibition Park hear a lot about booby traps and land mines these days. By lecture and demonstration they are steadily acquiring knowledge designed to save their own lives and those of other Canadian soldiers on the battlefield.

Hunting land mines and booby traps, however, is but a small part of the responsibility of the R. C. E. They are the work troops and the technicians of an army. Their importance in this war is greater than in other conflicts because of more mechanical transport and other advances in the application of modern science and invention to military use.

The first engineers unit in the non-permanent active militia was formed in Toronto about 1901 by the late Lieut-Col. D. W. Lang, after in charge of the Officers' Training Corps at the University of Toronto. It was the second field company, which now forms part of the First Division. The Second Field Park Company also in the First Division, has a shorter non-permanent history as it was formed only two years ago.

Find 2 Dead In Ruins 3 Days After Blaze

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Dec. 13.—(AP) —Fire and police officials sought today to unravel the mystery of how two persons died in a rooming-house fire and why their bodies remained undiscovered for three days in the partially burned building.

A police detective found the bodies —those of a man and a woman—in the clothespress of an upper-storey room yesterday. They were identified as James Kenneth Bennett, 38, a roomer, and Mrs. Harriet Shannon Greaves, 34.

They apparently sought refuge in the closet from the smoke which filled the buildnig's top floors Saturday night. There were evidences they tried to batter open another door leading out of the closet to a back stairway. It was locked.

Genoa Heads Hold American Woman

GENEVA, Dec. 13—(AP).—Reports received here today said that a woman identified by her papers as Miss Mary Dingman, prominent resident of Geneva and head of the Women's International Disarmament and Peace Committee, had been detained by Italian police at Milan.

Miss Dingman was active in the campaign for sanctions against the league's discussions on the Italian-Ethiopian war. She left here recently to return to the United States by way of Genoa. The reports gave no reason for the detention, but the woman was said to have in her possession a copy of a French newspaper banned in Italy.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Buoyancy on outside markets prompted excellent buying on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and boosted wheat futures prices 2⅞ to 2¾ cents. Values rose steadily throughout the strong session and at the close december wheat was quoted at 83½, May 87¾ to ⅞, and July 88¾ to ¾ cents.

General buying by speculators and export houses boosted coarse grain prices in a fairly brisk pit. An advance of about seven cents by flax values featured the bullish trend. Cash wheat trade was quiet apart from limited purchases of the lower grades by eastern mills.

17 Die In Nazi Wreck

HAGEN, Germany, Dec. 13 — (AP). — Seventeen persons were killed and 41 were injured last night when two passenger trains collided here. The cause of the accident was still unexplained to-day.

(This was the seventh of a series of railway disasters in Germany since the outbreak of war. A total of 123 persons have been killed and more than 158 injured. Last Sunday 18 persons were killed when a passenger train struck a bus near Linz.)

AIR RAID CHIEF.

QUEBEC, Dec. 13—(CP). — Appointment of J. Gordon Ross, Quebec City broker, as air raid precaution officer for Quebec Province was announced here today. He succeeds Georges Leveille, private secretary to former Premier Maurice Duplessis. Ross, named by the Quebec Government working in co-operation with the Dominion Government, said he plans to visit Ottawa "probably next week" in connection with his new duties.

Wheat Shipping Books Close On Hectic Fall

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 13—(CP). Lakehead insurance brokers today prepared to close their books midnight on one of the most ctic seasons in Great Lakes eighting history.

Even though weather conditions ntinue favorable, indications are at sailings from the Lakehead ll come to a virtual standstill nen insurance on ships and carreases at midnight.

Demand for tonnage space has topped off and during the week ded December 8 only 12,000,000 shels of grain were cleared from anadian Lakehead ports In the evious week 26,000,000 bushels re shipped.

Steady movemnt of barley and eaper feed grains by rail is anicipated this winter to Eastern Canda mills and Atlantic seaboard orts An early indication of the sumption of this method of shipng was hinted at this week on innipeg Grain Exchange where alers are credited with buying ts for all rail shipment to mills the East.

Western Canada's 1939 wheat yield as estimated at 450,000,000 bushels largest since 1928 when 544,000,000 shels were grown on the Prairies

The rush to ship Western wheat to e head of the lakes for clearance East before freeze-up startring the last half of August. ners had delivered only 11,000,bushels up to August 19 but by tober 13 this total had risen to 6,000,000 bushels.

eup Forces Embargo

Canada's two trans-continental ilways were forced to place an mbargo on wheat and coarse grain ipments from the Prairies to the kehead until the congested stor-e condition subsided. The reriction on grain shipments lasted om October 15 until November 18. The mammoth shipments to the kehead propelled Great Lake ves-l companies to shipping record unualled for more than 10 years.

During November more than 300 rgoes of grain sailed from the kehead. The eastbound freights carried approximately 60,000,000 shels of wheat and almost 10,000,000 shels of coarse grain.

This represented the heaviest ipping figures for any November nce 1928, when 401 cargoes conining 90,000,000 bushels of wheat d 20,000,000 bushels of coarse ains checked out of Canadian kehead ports.

Key To $1,500,000 n Shopping Bag

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—(AP)—Distribution of a $1,500,000 estate hangs a pencil-marked brown paper opping bag worth less than a nny.

The bag had lain for three years a tin box. But it may spell wealth r an elderly carpenter whose wife's usin died in the basement of her rooklyn home October 30, 1934.

The bag was offered yesterday true copy of the last will of s Louise Herle, 74-year-old reuse who had amassed a fortune ring her solitary life—for her real ll was missing.

The carpenter, Edward Schindler, ld the story of the 'paper bag ll' in Surrogate's Court. His wife ed last February.

In September, 1931, Schindler id, he and his wife paid Miss erle a visit. The elderly woman ked them to search among her attered belongings for a mortge, then went out shopping.

As the couple hunted, they discovered an envelope marked "last will of Louise Herle." Hurriedly, the wife snatched up a bag from the floor and, in the dimly lighted basement room, copied the will which left $100,000 to charities and the remainder of the estate to Mrs. Schindler and four cousins.

They put the copy away. Then Miss Herle died. Her will could not be found.

But a month later, the couple turned the paper bag will over to Attorneys, and the present court proceedings resulted.

Dumbell Stars "Good As Ever"

TORONTO, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Three stars of the old Dumbells, just as good as they were 20 years ago when they filled theatres across Canada, starred in a new Canadian war-time revue, "Chin-Up," which opened at the Royal Alexandria Theatre here last night, and will be taken soon on tour.

Ross (Marjorie) Hamilton, a little heavier than "she" was in the post-war years; Pat Rafferty, who hasn't seemed to age a bit; and a baldish but still strutting Red Newman stole the show from a cast of good-looking dancing girls and boys.

Marjorie; revived, "O Johnny" Rafferty was as terrific as ever in "Always a Bridesmaid," and Newman sang, "O, It's a Lovely War," just as comically as he did in the old days.

The first-night audience, liberally sprinkled with uniformed men, indicated the entertainment tastes of soldiers in this war won't be much different from what they were last time.

Volunteer Brigade

HASTINGS, Dec. 12 — (ENS). — When a car belonging to Dan Smith caught fire on Front street Saturday night here, a number of passersby formed a volunteer brigade and extinguished the rapidly growing flames with the aid of sand and water. The machine is believed to have caught fire when it backfired after Mr. Smith had stopped it in front of Reeve Kelley's office. No great damage was done and the machine was able to proceed again under its own power.

If Hitler Is Worried

Strange stories continue to come from European points, and Brussels sends the latest. It has to do with peace talk, and that in itself is strange because the war has not really made much progress in any direction yet. The Brussels despatch is more or less a repetition of rumors which have been abroad recently saying that Germany is anxious for peace with the Allies.

That in a general way is the basis of the report from Brussels. The plan is that Italy is to act as the negotiating party for Berlin and feel out the Allies. It is mentioned that Germany is prepared to restore such of Poland as is in her possession with the exception of the corridor which leads to Danzig. Germany is prepared to have Czechoslovakia revert to the standing of its former nationhood with the exception of the Sudeten area which was ceded at Munich, and it is also suggested that Austria might take a vote to see whether that nation desires to stay in or out of Germany.

In return for these concessions Germany desires that united action be taken to deal with Russia and prevent the spread of communism toward the west.

It should be carefully noted that the Examiner is presenting this information not as a fact. It is in no way official, and for the moment can be regarded only as a rumor. London has heard of it before and London pays little attention to it. The world has not yet forgotten the years of recurring nightmares through which it lived when Hitler was sitting firm in the saddle and blasting the nerves of the world. The world is not at all of the mind that it desires to return to that condition.

Neither Hitler nor Germany nor any German leader can come before the world today and point the finger at Stalin as the man who started the Russian rampage culminating in the damnable attack upon Finland. Stalin probably had all his moves in mind but he feared to make them because he was certain he would be attacked by Britain and France. He had to have some method of playing safe first and he found it when he started dealing with Ribbentrop who negotiated on behalf of Hitler. It would suit Hitler splendidly to know that Russia would do nothing while Poland was being crushed, and it would suit Stalin equally well to be certain he could reach out and take his share at the same time without ever having to fight for it.

How far that non-aggression pact went toward guaranteeing aggression and invasion no person knows apart from those who signed the document.

But this much is known: After Stalin and Molotoff had found themselves in possession of that document they knew they were free to go ahead and trample where they most desired.

Before that agreement came into existence Stalin would not have dared make a move. He was bound down by fear of consequences and it was Hitler's plan which removed that fear from him.

The Examiner is certain it is making an accurate and fair statement when it contends that it was Hitler who opened the door and turned Stalin loose.

Today the madman must realize what he has done. He has succeeded in bringing about a Russian attack on Finland, and that has appealed to the sympathy and righteous horror of the entire world, and it is possible — indeed probable — that Germany does not like it.

Hitler has also done the thing which in his previous blindness he could not or would not see. He has opened the way for communism to spread to the west; he has brought Russia in as a neighbor along a wide German border; he has allowed Russia to move in next to East Prussia as well.

It is necessary to remember this—that prior to the Berlin-Moscow pact the frontiers of these two nations touched not at all. There were other lands in between as buffer states and in this way Hitler could keep a clear line between his people and communism. He could fight the thing as something which was at least many miles distant. Today that has all been changed and Hitler was the man who with the aid of Ribbentrop engineered the change which Hitler now dreads.

If Hitler is actually now thinking in terms of his new danger then it is something about which he should be allowed to worry. He it was who made the bed and if Stalin is now crowding him uncomfortably he is not feeling any worse about it than he caused the rest of the world to feel for years past.

Quite true it is that at the moment the fate of Finland has captured the interest of the world, but the world is not at all likely to forget that before Finland came into the picture, and before Stalin was loosed upon the earth, Hitler and his Nazi designs had been giving the world shivers and shakes which it is not likely to forget. If Hitler craves opportunity to undo that which he has brought to pass there is nothing to hinder him making the first move. If in the meantime he is worried then that is pretty much his own business.

There's a Difference

Plainly the sense of justice has not vanished from Canada. Since the outbreak of the war 46 interned enemy aliens have been released, and more than 100 other appeals are presently under review.

The plan is that an alien enemy has the privilege of writing out his own appeal within thirty days after having been seized. That is handed to the officer in charge of the camp and in turn it is sent for review to Ottawa. If the individual can show that he has been attending to his own business and not working for some foreign country—this time Germany—he has a good chance of securing release after which he has to report at intervals to the authorities.

There is nothing like that in Germany. When one goes to a concentration camp there he remains. No appeal would be considered from a British subject. In Britain the right of appeal is being more generally observed than at the outbreak of the war. War has not crushed the idea of justice.

Parking The Gum

Without having much knowledge of what the Mayor of a city the size of New York had to do, one might submit an intelligent guess that he would be a busy man with his time well occupied. No doubt about it, but Mayor LaGuardia took time out recently to start a campaign to try and rid his city of the effect of gum chewers.

The civic cleaning department was weary of removing wads from subway stations and cars. Restaurant keepers have felt the same way for a long time. One gentleman in the business informed the Examiner that although he sold gum it was a nuisance getting rid of it from under chairs and tables.

That is one reason why they do not sell gum in the tuck shops on ocean liners. New York's Mayor has the promise of the gum makers that they will help him by advertising that the original wrappers be retained and the used gum placed therein instead of stuck here, there and all over. It seems to be a sensible idea.

As It Was On The Tenth

We notice where several townships employ two tax collectors. We do not know whether there has been any general change, but on the Tenth Concession the payment of taxes used to come about the 14th of December. It was something of which a good deal was said on Lot 4 long before the great day arrived. The whole household used to feel slightly relieved after that eventful day passed and grandfather always made the announcement that the farm was safe for another year. Truth is there wasn't much debt on the Tenth because life was rather primitive, tastes were simple and wants were few.

But it was grandfather who did the financing in the place. About the one exception was the eggs, and he never paid much attention to poultry or what became of the proceeds. But he would start mentioning the approach of tax day about the time the harvest was being taken in. He mentioned it again on the day in fall when a couple of pigs would be killed. About the only time he didn't mntioned it was when the sheep were being dipped and sheared in the spring, although with him the process was referred to as "cluppin'."

When the kitchen range was moved in from the summer shed for the winter and an elbow and a couple of lengths of pipe were on the list of things needed grandfather would look serious and say something about the day for paying the taxes. The hired man once suggested he could sink a new post in cement and in that way keep the gate at the end of the lane from sagging, but he was reminded that more things than that might sag around the place if the tax money was not put away.

About the only exception grandfather would ever make would be if he heard of something new which was good for a horse when it started showing signs of broken wind as though it were headed for a spell of heaves. Tax day seemed to grow a trifle dim in the face of such tragedy. When grandfather started tinkering with bottles and dope at the bench in the drive shed we knew well enough there was some horse trading in the offing and he figured he might get enough to boot to add to the tax money rather than diminish the amount in hand.

There was an air of accomplishment about grandfather after he paid over the tax money. He was physical evidence of the comforting fact that some person was standing between Lot 4 on the Tenth Concession and the grasping world on the outside. Grandfather had a way of creating the impression that tax money was not wisely spent. Possibly the mud was deep along the Tenth in spring and fall and that may have been the tap root of his injured outlook.

Possibly it is the same today. After the 14th of December passed the pressure seemed to ease a trifle and the serious business of doing a little something about Christmas had opportunity to find expression. But tax day remains in memory as a thorn in the flesh—of grandfather.

Days Of Boer War

There are plenty of people who have a fair enough recollection of the days of the South African war. That was the big news in a copy of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review of January 15, 1900. The paper was left at the Examiner office today. The relief of Ladysmith was something which was near at hand, although it remained in that state of suspension for some time. A despatch from Holland said the young queen, Wilhelmina, was distinctly pro-Boer, and had written to the Pope, the Kaiser and the King of Italy to see if they could not have the war in South Africa stopped.

There were censors in that war too. One London correspondent says he could keep on writing good stories for a week "were it not for the strict censorship which fetters me."

Apart from war news it was advertised that a dinner could be secured in Woodstock for 15 cents; beer and liquor were then being advertised in the newspapers; a tailor was advertising suits made to measure for $12, and several stores used much of their space to advertise corsets, and the illustrations cause one to conclude they were rather formidable. Dairy butter was 20 to 25 cents; wheat was 65 cents and oats 29.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Windsor claims there are roses blooming there in December. Of course they are pretty smart at making the paper ones now.

Applications have been made for 8,000 changes in the Toronto voters' list, and the boys in the committee rooms are going to have busy evenings figuring how that crowd will vote.

Three men were arrested in Toronto for shop-breaking after a neighbor heard strange noises. The moral of the story seems to be not to make strange noises.

Chinese records show that Japanese bombed United States property 150 times in China, killed 24 and wounded 25 U.S. citizens. So what becomes of the isolationist theory?

The government of Spain denounces Stalin for invading Finland and Spanish officers are seeking opportunity to go and fight for Finland. And so far we have noticed no person going to the aid of Stalin.

Edna Best and Herbert Marshall of the movies are going to be divorced, and each announces in advance details of the next wedding. Strange that these people with some dirty work in sight do not prefer to attend to it quietly instead of parading it at the cross roads.

SECURITY

(By A.H.R.)

¶ My neighbor seems so much afraid,
I fear of flimsy stuff he's made,
he hears things in the night; and then he grabs his walking stick, and moves in jerky steps and quick, to see that all is right.

¶ Before he ever starts for bed, he has odd notions in his head, they're stuck there firmly blocked; of windows he has half a score, he tries each one and then the door, to see that they are locked.

¶ And just before he starts upstairs,
he stops a while and then he glares,
for something bothered him; he peers around and then he looks, like what's done in detective books, when some one's getting in.

¶ He started spending money too, took quite a while before 'twas through, he went down to the store; the newest window locks he bought, paid cash right down and took the lot, new wrinkles for the door.

¶ He told me what the stuff had cost, more money than most men have lost,
he's fixed the cellar too; so when he goes to bed at night, he feels that everything's all right, sleeps like he ought to do.

¶ His wife just scoffs at all this stuff, because on money he is tough, she scrimps on every meal; no burglar with a loaded gun, around their place would ever come—there's nothing fit to steal.

Stalin Made A Monkey Out Of Adolf Hitler

THERE APPEARS to be general agreement that Stalin has made somewhat of a monkey out of Germany's Hitler. The New York Herald Tribune presents the case under review this way:

The organ of the Comintern in Moscow has made the ominous discovery that Rumania is in dire need of a mutual assistance pact with the Soviets.

King Carol's country requires Russian help just as badly as did Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Finland. With the first Finnish dead as yet scarcely buried, with the first wreckage of Russian benevolence hardly cleared from the street of Helsingfors, Stalin is already detecting more "oppressed brothers" in Bessarabia and weeping in sympathy for the Rumanians, about to be precipitated into war—by the "Anglo-French imperialists," of course.

One can only fall back on the Walrus, the Carpenter and the Oysters:

"I like the Walrus best," said Alice, "because, you see, he was a little sorry for the poor oyster."

"He ate more than the Carpenter, though," said Tweedledee. "You see, he held his handkerchief in front, so that the Carpenter couldn't count how many he took."

Did the Carpenter (or should one say the paperhanger?) see all the oysters his friend with the black walrus mustache was marking out for his own?

The British have supplied evidence that the Baltic, perhaps with the Swedish iron mines and an Atlantic port, were a part of the deal; from the relative silence of the German press they are clearly not a very palatable part, but the Germans are swallowing it.

Could Hitler, however, have thrown in the Balkans as well? It seems incredible, especially when one recalls the Italian end of the axis; and it seems no less so when one finds the "Voelkischer Boebachter" broadly hinting that it would be nice if Stalin would go to war with Turkey by way of the Caucasus, which is far off on the other side of the Black Sea and safely out of everybody's way.

It sounds almost like a direct answer when Moscow hints back that it likes the Rumanian oyster much better. But if a march on Constantinople is really to be initiated before the march to the Atlantic is even fairly begun, did Hitler get anything out of the deal at all?

We shall not know definitely until some new revolutionary government again opens up the secret archives.

But meanwhile one can think back to the atmosphere of midsummer, and remember that there were few in Germany then who believed that the Polish affair would ever come to war with the West.

The Stalinazi alliance was not to secure assistance against a war that was anticipated; it was to present to the West so crushing a combination of strength that all possibility of war would be averted.

If it had worked, Hitler would not only have been the greatest man in Europe, but with his military power disengaged could easily have controlled any Russian advance. For such a position it was worth while to give away practically everything, and perhaps Hitler did so.

But it didn't work; and perhaps Stalin, who had been in close contact with the British and French for three months, knew before hand that it wouldn't.

As it turns out, Hitler's armies are not disengaged, and he is not the greatest man in Europe.

If Stalin wishes to "rescue" Bessarabia and the Rumanians, as well as straddling the German life line in the Baltic, there is nothing Der Fuehrer can do about it—nothing, except first to crush the West.

With every Russian encroachment upon his rear, the pressure upon him for total war and total victory in the West becomes greater, for only so can he now regain the command which the Stalinazi pact was to give him without effort. It is a conclusion which raises no pleasant prospect for next spring—but most of us have learned by this time that this is not a pleasant world.

To The Editor

PROTESTS CLOSING RINK

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—It is with genuine regret that we learn that the skating rink at Jackson's Park is to be discontinued this winter, and our regrets will be shared by hundreds of adults and children.

It was indeed a pleasure to go there and see whole families enjoying themselves in the healthy Canadian pastime of skating. Persons who had not been on skates for years were seen instructing their youngsters, and the value of these associations between parents and children is far above the trifling amount it would cost the authorities to run the rink again this winter.

The rink was also the means of some splendid advertising for the city. Visitors from Toronto have been known to go home and tell their friend that if they wanted to see a skating rink in a setting that outrivalled anything that Hollywood has ever produced, go to Peterborough and on a moonlight night, go skating in Jackson's Park.

We are sure that if most of the City Council are not too old, they would see that such a rink is a decided asset to the community and they would use their powers to re-establish it.

We are also sure that if the Examiner were to publish again their stories of last winter about the rink, it would produce the desired results to the satisfaction of skaters and spectators alike.

• A Hyena Could Understand

IT BRINGS back the dear old days of twenty-odd years ago to see a German statesman hunting with ant-like industry for the wrong thing to say, turning over and patiently rejecting a multitude of things that are only partially wrong and only mildly insulting to the rest of the human race, trying to think what will offend neutral nations most and not being satisfied with anything short of perfection in that line, and finally hitting on it and broadcasting it to his country and the world with a bland and complacent smile.

Then it was Bernhardi and Treitschke, seasoned with a dash of Nietzsche and a soupcon of Hegel. This week it was Dr. Hans Frank, Governor General of what used to be half of Poland and head of the academy for what used to be German law. What is justice? asks Dr. Frank, just as Pontius Pilate once asked What is truth? Well, justice as he sees it certainly is not a blinded lady with a sword in one hand and a pair of scales in the other. It is more like an aviator coming down low over a city square and blowing the terrified civilian crowds to kingdom come. It is perfectly all right for an aviator to do this, under Dr. Frank's system of thought, because Pale phantoms of objective justice do not exist for us any more.... The transition from the normal status of National Socialist legal thinking to thinking in terms of the law of war is being accomplished without grave upheavals...The Fuehrer now has placed us in a world of reality filled with values that are independent of formal rules....The decisive principle is, who is stronger, who is more determined, who has better nerves?

It is perfectly all right for a big nation to invade a little nation and ravage its cities and fields. It is perfectly all right to break the laws of war, except in cases where an inescapable retaliation might be too costly. The new law, the basis of the new National Socialist justice, is the law of the jungle. It can be understood by the most elementary minds. It could be understood by a hyena. It is understood by that great and noble friend of oppressed mankind, Comrade Stalin.

But, after all, it has been said before. It was said in 1914, and a footnote added, in 1919, in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles. — New York Times.

• To See More Of This District

MR. H. B. COWAN when in Washington became acquainted with H. B. Marshall of Hagerstown, Maryland, a regular summer visitor in the Minden district. Mr. Cowan afterward forwarded to Mr. Marshall a copy of the Examiner Tourist edition, and received the following comment by way of answer:

I deeply appreciate your going to all the trouble to have the annual vacation edition of your home town newspaper sent to me, but feel certain would have felt more than repaid, if you could have seen the enthusiastic reception it received. The "Examiner" was a bit delayed in reaching its destination; making a circuitous tour out to Hagerstown, Indiana—probably wanted to see some of those farms out that way that Padgett writes about. The splendid pictures (I'm almost positive one of them is our own Moore's Lake), the interesting articles about more than one familiar spot, and even the advertisements were enjoyed to the utmost; next best to being there in person. The next time I am up that way, I will most certainly swing east far enough to see your Peterborough.

Here are a few excerpts from the Dorset Highway item with my unworthy comments:

"One reaches Rosedale, hamlet at junction of Cameron and Balsam Lakes." The lock master, here, is a congenial chap, veteran of the last war, who dug his discarded cookstove out from under tons of hay to give to us for our cottage.

"Coboconk is next," and that's the name that sounds so fantastic to the folks down here.

"Then Norland, a small village on Gull River. Here is a busy sawmill" and its owner is easy going Sam Bryant. In the extensive (?) business section is found the general stores of Watson and LeCraw, blacksmith shop, Valantine's garage, Riverview Inn and the municipal quoits stadium.

"From Norland to Moore's Falls is five miles" and I have made the round trip afoot and via rowboat on several occasions and would add, the miles go by unnoticed with so much to catch the eye.

"Once in a while some old timer will regale his listeners with his version of the lost bonanza" and isn't it the truth! Old Jack Martin who had the farm next to our place, has often spoken of the legendary silver mine in the Miner's Bay vicinity. There may have been some mineral found thereabout, years ago that was mistaken for silver, as the Canadian government sunk a not-so-deep shaft on East Moore's Lake (separated from Moore by a diminutive peninsula) during the World War and obtained an "ite" used in processing steel. This abandoned shaft is but a short distance from Miner's Bay.

"Minden the next settlement is a clean well-kept little village" but I remember it more for the clean well-kept little dining-room in one of their hotels. The meal was scrumptious but the petite waitress had to be watched with eagle eye, or one would reach the dessert course in a famished state. She would say, "anything I can get yuh?" while at the same moment attempt to make away with your still well filled plate. I departed with flying colors though, or more correctly speaking, with pockets bulging—and the home-made cookie platter bare.

I found the article regarding the Indians interesting, particularly as I was fortunate enough to find, half-buried in the sand on Moore's north shore, a hard, slate hued, five inch fragment of an Indian skinning knife with a razor sharp edge. There is no stone of its nature found in that locality and I understanding the nearest source of any is somewhere near Lake Erie. The spot were it was discovered was at one time a camping ground used by the Red Men; with the lake slowly wearing the bank away, no doubt, many more relics will be uncovered in the future. An Indian grave can be seen nearby.

You mentioned in your letter that the late fall is the time to see the northern woods. So, also, says Frank Martin, Jack's brother, fond of deer hunting like yourself; seldom fails to bag his deer each season, generally in the Victoria Lake area. He has repeatedly invited us up for the hunting but we have never made it. I would like to see the country with the mosquitoes gone — the pesky creatures."

NOTES FOR WOMEN

PREMIER GODBOUT has promised to give women the right to vote in provincial elections for the first time in Quebec's history.

When he does, he will have given final vindication—in so far as the Dominion is concerned—to a long struggle for the female franchise that achieved its goal only during and after the World War. It is much closer to us than we often realize, accustomed as we are to not only the orientation of the politician's guiles to a new field, but to the Agnes Macphails, the Mrs. George Blacks and others who have contributed no little bit to the color (which is always needed) of our public life.

What effect, if any, women have had in the direction of efficiency in administration is shortly something for the women themselves to explain. Whatever qualities they lack, energy is not one of them. Nor is zeal. — Hamilton Spectator.

EXPLOSIVE CHILDHOOD

A thirteen-year-old British boy has invented a new type of aerial bomb which is being favorably considered by the ministry of supply. While his schoolmates played cricket and rugby, the youngster put his mind to the weapon.

War's influence is all-enveloping. No generation can escape its impact. The thought of a thirteen-year-old's scientific bent that gets expression in a death-making instrument is not a happy one. Again we find emphasis for the hate of the tragic picture portraying man's elimination of man.

Polish Diplomat Reaches U.S. After 3 Escapes

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—(AP. — An erstwhile Polish diplomat who was believed to have been killed three months ago appeared mysteriously in New York yesterday with an amazing story of his adventures.

Fleeing from beleaguered Warsaw, he nearly was buried alive in an aerial bombing, fought with two Polish regiments, was captured by Russians and talked his way out, was captured twice by Germans and escaped both times.

The man is Edward Kulikovsky, press liaison man in the Warsaw Foreign Office before the war started. He formerly was Polish Consul-General in Chicago and First Secretary of the Polish Embassy in Washington.

A train which carried Foreign Office officials out of Warsaw, September 6 was bombed six time in four hours. Some reports mentioned Kulikovsky as a victim.

Instead, he related to-day, he was buried in bricks and debris while dashing for a bomb-shelter, and saw the train pull out without him.

"At that time, I was young in war and ashamed to yell," he said. "Later I learned to yell like hell even when the bombs fell nowhere near me."

Separated From Battalion

He walked two days, finally found a Polish army unit and helped its members throw lighted cans of gasoline at German tanks.

He was separated from the battalion in a forest and pedalled on a bicycle until he found another Polish "regiment"—sixty men.

"Danger is nothing," he said, compared with the feeling of being alone."

Still in civilian clothes, he was captured near the Rumanian frontier by Russians. He told them he was "just a clerk." What did his father do "He was just a clerk, too"—so they let him go.

He found a horse and started riding toward Warsaw, through broken, haggard banks of Russian troops. Outside Warsaw, Germans captured him, and with 4,000 other Poles he spent two days in a shelterless camp in pouring rain.

Then, with two other men, he risked a bullet (" . . . better than pneumonia . . . "), ducked through the barbed wire, escaped into Warsaw, found his own car, became a taxi driver and started smuggling food from the country into the city.

On November 19, the Germans caught up with him, pressed him into labor service, but he escaped again.

Lumberman Gashed By Flying Axe Head

TWEED, Dec. 13—(ENS).—Archie Cunningham, an employee of the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Co., of Massanoga, in the Township of Effingham, suffered a badly gashed cheek while engaged in logging operations at the camp. With a companion, he was cutting logs when the head flew off his companion's axe, striking him on the cheek and inflicting a wound which required ten stitches to close. The injured man was brought to Tweed, where he was given medical attention.

Delbert Caul, Stoco, appeared in county police court on Tuesday, on two charges of violations of the Highways Traffic Act. No evidence was adduced in the first charge of reckless driving and the charge was dismissed. On a second charge of careless driving, Caul pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. The accused was allowed one month in which to pay the fine.

Modern Batteries Snuggle Ancient As Coast Bristles With Guns

By JACK TRACY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

With Canada's Atlantic Coast Defence, Dec. 12 — (CP). — Old artillerymen will tell you that life in the coast defence forts isn't as it used to be.

Along the ramparts that guard Canada's eastern shores, modern guns poke their muzzles out over the sea, but deep below them lie fortifications more than a century old. Batteries bristling with heavy cannon and anti-aircraft guns, and ancient redoubts with rusting muzzle-loaders stand side by side.

On a tour of the eastern forts, this reporter saw present-day gunnery and the way it was done when despatches about the Crimean War were news.

The old guns have not been fired for decades, and they are left in their emplacements as reminders of the past. When they were new, gunnery was not the exact science it is to-day.

The old weapons, weighing many tons, were swung about their positions on rails, while husky artillerymen pulled ropes that controlled them. It took still more beef to elevate or depress their muzzles.

As a contrast, a slight young artillery officer manoeuvred one of the modern cannon. With one hand he twirled a wheel and the heavy piece swung about noiselessly on its barbette. An easy twist on another wheel and the big muzzle swung skyward.

Day Of Instruments

Young artillerymen who were schoolboys when the war broke out are learning that gunnery is no longer a sort of tug-of-war. This reporter saw them in lecture rooms where officers explained delicate instruments and taught them the science of ballistics.

Later they put their knowledge into practice on a mighty coast defence battery. Gun crews were called up, numbered off—each number corresponding to the man's action station—and they rushed to their places at the guns.

Directions were telephoned from the battery command, the big muzzles were swung into position and the gun crews went through the motions of loading and firing their weapons.

Gunnery is no longer a matter of lining a target up in the sights and firing. The target—or an enemy ship—may be at such a distance the gunners cannot see it.

For this reason, all the brainwork is carried on at the position finder. This is at a considerable distance from the batteries and in an elevated position. The position finder is a telescope containing a set of crossed hairs. It swings about a platform above a map of the waters surrounding the battery. When the target is lined up in the cross-hairs, a pointer on the telescope marks the exact position of the target on the map.

When the position finder is dead on the target, directions are transmitted automatically to the gun crews. All that the gunners have to do is read from dials the distance which they must depress or elevate their guns, or swing them about.

Snug Living Quarters

Even the living quarters of the artillerymen of the second Great War are different from those at the older forts. Now gunners sleep in iron cots in warm barracks smelling of fresh paint and new-cut wood.

Deep in the dungeons of the older forts can be seen the hooks from which gunners of another day suspended their hammocks. They ate their meals from tables hung from the ceiling in the same room. When meal time was over the table could be hoisted out of the way. Now they eat in separate mess halls from tables scrubbed spotlessly clean.

The old forts remind the young artilleryman that once precautions were taken against landing parties. Around these ancient ramparts, moats were dug. Loop-holes are cut in the granite walls for musketry. The walls are built in such a way that soldiers defending the fort could enfilade a landing party which tried to cross the moat.

An Ultimatum

London, Dec. 13 (CP)

THE "German freedom party" in a broadcast picked up here today sent a 100-day "ultimatum" to Adolf Hitler to "restore Germany to the German people" within that time or else forfeit his life.

"If you submit you can leave Germany alive," the announcer said, addressing himself to Hitler. "If not you will be killed at the expiration of the ultimatum.

"This ultimatum to Hitler is not a vain threat. Our arrangements are made. Hitler, you will not escape. It is up to you to decide."

London Play Centre Shapes For Canadians

LONDON, Dec. 13—(CP Cable).—Machinery was set in motion at a luncheon at the historic Canada Club today to provide a recreation centre for the Canadian troops when they arrive. Hon Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, disclosed ap option had been taken on a lease for a bulding a "small stone's throw" from Canada House

Mr Massey spoke after the chairman of the group, Sir Edward Peacock, explained the club was formed about the time Napoleon finished his career and had played part in every war since Today, he said, members wanted to play a part.

Arriving unexpectedly after Mr. Massey's speech Anthony Eden, secretary of state for the Dominions, expressed the "deep sense of gratitude that the Government and every section of the people of these islands feel towards Canada for the really magnificent contribution they are making in the common cause—in the military effort. In the air, in the really fine coporation your navy is giving, and in the economic and financial sphere."

Mr. Eden said Canada is "giving us help for which we never can adequately express ou appreciation" and warned against underestimating the task confronting the Empire.

"I do not believe there was any time in our history when we have had more serious difficulties to overcome, but if that is true, it is no less true that in the unity of the nations of the British Commonwealth is the final guarantee of victory," Mr. Eden declared.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Welsh Factories Booming Again

CARDIFF, Wales, Dec. 13—(CP).—Smoke is puring from countless stacks in the once-depressed areas of South Wales but figuratively the sun shines because of the "golden era" produced by a wartime industrial boom.

Thousands of persons who once left the area because they had no jobs are now returning. Labor Minister Ernest Brown took note of the situation in the House of Commons by declaring that "rather than there being a flight from that country, there is now a flight to it."

Since September, workers' wage envelopes have swelled by £50,000 ($225,000) a week. More money is being spent in the industrial valleys than at any time during the last 10 to 15 years.

It's going to be a great Christmas in the former valleys of desolation. Housewives are paying long-standing debts to grocers and butchers. Shopkeepers are sharing a bumper Christmas trade.

Day and night, blast furnaces roar, prducing material for armaments. The Ebbw Vale Works, re-equipped at a cost of £8,000,000 ($35,600,000) are the most modern in the world and record outputs have been reported weekly.

The prosperity is widespread. Every Welsh-owned ship is in service and a big drop in unemployment in the ship-repairing industry has taken place.

McDERMID & JURY

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Remedy at Home

Quick Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them an effective, dependable remedy for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well known for its effect on throat membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough remedy, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

MARLBOROS AND NATIVE SONS OPEN JUNIOR SERIES WITH WINS

Involved In American League Deal

This is the time of year when baseball trades and rumors of same are one of the chief topics in the sports sphere, and here are a couple of principals in one of the bigger deals made so far, in which Chicago White Sox traded Outfielder Gerald (Gee) Walker, shown ALONGSIDE, to Washington Senators for Taft Wright, ABOVE, also an outfielder, and Pete Appleton (nee Jablonowski), a pitcher. Walker was formerly one of Detroit's most popular ball players before going to the Sox this time two years ago. Last year was the second worst of his nine-year major league career. Wright has only been up two years, batting .350 and .309.

Chicago Scribe Ward In Fight Probe

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 — (AP). — Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, which first published charges by heavyweight Harry Thomas that he engaged in "faked" fights with Max Schmeling and Tony Galento, told the Illinois State Athletic Commission yesterday that a fourth person was present when the alleged Schmeling "deal" was made in a Chicago hotel.

Ward refused to give the individual's name because, he said, it would be a violation of his word.

In his charges, Thomas had said he and Nate Lewis, his manager, had met with Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling, in a Chicago hotel room in October, 1937, and arranged for the German to win by a knockout.

Ward said another person was there, and that he would give the name only if the case reached the courts. Schmeling won the fight by a knockout on December 13, 1937.

Ward also said he would turn over to the Commission one of two affidavits by Thomas, retaining one containing the name of the fourth person.

The hearing was adjourned until December 18. Ward was the only witness in to-day's two-hour session.

Young Rangers And Varsity Put Up Fights

Marlboros and Native Sons, the favorites, opened the Big-Six Junior "A" hockey season with victories at Maple Leaf Gardens last night, but the two stubborn underdogs, Young Rangers and Varsity, earned the admiration of the slim patronge.

Hal Cotton's Dukes turned impending defeat into a 4-3 triumph over Wildey's Warriors by scoring three goals in the final period, while Native Sons, after frittering away an early lead, came back to beat Varsity, 5-4. Both games were decided in the final minute.

Davidson Features.

Blond Alec Davidson, former Young Ranger star, proved to be the chief thorn in Ed Wildey's side. Davidson, playing centre for the Dukes, led the successful closing drive, scoring two of the three goals and assisting in the third. He sniped the winning goal with only 51 second remaining.

It was a heart-breaker for Wildey to lose. He was shy on reserve strength, but his Blackshirts outskated and outplayed Marlboros in the first two periods, and thoroughly deserved their 3-1 lead. Cliff Simpson sniped the only goal of the first period, and added a second early in the middle session before Gillespie scored for the Dukes. Akery sent Rangers two up shortly after the Marlboro goal. In the final period, Rangers weakened and the Dukes came on to grab the verdict.

Varsity Came Close

Native Sons, the S.P.A. Trophy winners, entered the final frame ahead 4-2. Varsity, improving right along, tied it up with a pair of quick goals just past the 15-minute mark, but Chick Webster scored with a backhander from a difficult angle two seconds before the final bell to give the Sons victory. The Sons were shorthanded when Webby cashed the clinching goal.

Webster and Percival were the best of the Natives, but the team did not show the same fight that characterized its surprising play in the S.P.A. series. Walter Halder and Wright starred for Jimmy McPherson's Blues. Those "T" kids will be heard from before long.

A serious eye injury to Audy DesRoches, Varsity winger, marred the game. He was clipped accidentally by Percival's stick and suffered a bad cut on the lower right eyelid. He was removed to St. Michael's Hospital for examination.

Max Berger Wins Over Wes Ramey

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 (CP) Maxie Berger of Montreal won an eight-round decision over Wesley Ramey of Grand Rapids, Mich., last night, before a capacity crowd of 14,000 at the Bronx Coliseum. Berger weighed 141½; Ramey 134¾.

It was Berger's fourth bout with Ramey in ten months and evened the count at two victories apiece. Maxie made good use of a left hook that put Ramey on the floor in the seventh round.

Berger was slow getting started, but toward the end of the second round brought his left into play and began to work on Ramey over the left eye with a hard right-hand blow.

The fourth, fifth and sixth rounds were packed with action with neither man showing to advantage. Then Maxie started to war Ramey down with his punching and succeeded in dropping the Michigan fighter with a left hook just as the bell rang, ending the seventh round.

Summerhill Grabs Scoring Leadership

NEW HAVEN, Conn. Dec. 13. — (AP) — Bill Summerhill of New Haven Eagles captured the individual scoring leadership of the International-American Hockey League today with a total of 25 points.

Joe Fisher of Indianapolis trailed by a single point in the league's weekly statistical summary and Tony Hemmerling of New Haven held third place with 20 points.

Pete Bessone of Pittsburgh increased his penalty time to 36 minutes to remain at the head of the league's "Bad man" division.

Mercantile Loop

The Mercantile Bowling League held a successful turkey roll last night at Duffus'. Turkeys were won by Miss M. Parker of the Agnew-Surpass team with ladies' high three score of 707, and Tom McArthur of Maher's with 799 for men's high three. Blind score winners were: Leroy Smith of Zeller's with 130; William Jeffries of Warne's with 173, and Harry Wells of Warne's with 204.

This is a mixed league composed of these teams: Neill's, Warne's, Zeller's, F. & G. Stores, Scott's, Habocos, Agnew-Surpass, Pratten's, Maher's and Mason's.

Remember When—

For the first time in his 13-year ring career, Paulino Uzcudun was knocked out in a heavyweight boxing match at New York four years ago tonight when he met Detroit's Joe Louis, then two years from the world title The Basque battler lasted four rounds against the Brown Bomber who that year met and defeated Bob Pastor, later his unsuccessful challenger for the title, in a 10-round bout.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

There's a movement afoot across the line to have William Dineen's monicker engraved in the baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown. Along with Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth and the rest. It would be the first time a big league umpire ever was so honored—the guessers usually being lucky if they are not remembered. Dineen, retired now and living in Syracuse, was probably the greatest and most popular of the umps, and he was also a star player in his day. Started twirling back in 1895 in Toronto, then hopped to Washington. Played later with Boston Nationals and then with Boston Red Sox of the American League. Won the deciding game of the world series in '03. Winding up his mound work with St. Louis Browns, Dineen went into the umping business. He was a friend of Art Johnston (of the city) in his Toronto days and told Nagle Phelan last summer he'd like to come over to this district for the deer hunt. But Dineen didn't make it this fall.

* * * * * *

Flooding has started at the Brock St. arena, with Pat Cullen and Shocky Mein, Sr., getting an icy foundation on the rough floor and hoping the weather doesn't soften up too much now. Other work is being done at the old palais d'ice, too, including new lighting equipment. The light system will provide a third more brilliance than was the case last season, and the glare in the eyes of balcony inhabitants will be removed. Which is okay-doke for the press and a lot of fans. Thos. Brown and J. Lavis, partners, have charge of the arena for the winter and, with the phone being connected up shortly, clubs and loops interested in making rink arrangements can do so. Not till after the Petes' and Colts' schedules are out, though.

* * * * * *

Those Pesky Assists

N.H.L. referees, according to Andy Lytle of the Star, have certain printed instructions to aid 'em in their work. One special rule covers the manner in which assists are to be given. This rule says assists are not to be handed out to players when the movement begins beyond the centre ice spot in the rink. In other words, the only time a pass counts as an assist is when it occurs in the half of the rink where the goal is scored. A player may dodge around a couple of guys near his own blue line and slip the disc then over to a teammate, the latter taking a few strides and scoring with a long drive—but the puckist who made the pass for him does not get an assist. Since he was back of centre ice when he passed.

* * * * * *

Without knowing of this referee's ruling, we had adopted this system and used it over a year. Both in lacrosse and hockey. Too many cheap assists, so we figured no one rated an assist except in the latter half of the rink. Then, usually just one guy—if any—got credit for an assist, unless two figured in the passing right in around the defence or the goal. After all, the players are out on the frozen aqua to play hockey and naturally they all figure indirectly in a goal, but why cheapen the scoring records—or the game itself—by handing out assists on passes which don't directly aid in parking the black biscuit in the twine tepee? The lads are gonna earn their assists as far as we're concerned—and when there is any doubt, no one will get credit at all! Golly, aren't we tough?

On The Oshawa Front

Petes had a good workout in Oshawa last gloaming, Coach Frank Buckland concentrating on correcting errors shown by the locals in their recent game with Oshawa Generals. Ray Harding was the only absentee, having to work—and Earl McNabb and Shorty Roberts attended to the goalie chores. Roberts was an ace goalie with Red Indians in the T.H.L. right up until he came here a week or so ago, being transferred on his job. Following their regular practice, the puckists engaged in a short but rather hectic scrimmage. The gang will go to Oshawa again Friday e'en, attending the Marlboro-Generals' scheduled joust and then having a late workout themselves. A few more drills on foreign ice and the hockeyists may have ice here to wind up their practices.

* * * * * *

After getting several squawks from rival senior "A" clubs, the O.H.A. sub-committee will meet Thursday to discuss doings in Niagara Falls. The Catracts—who eliminated the Petes and nearly maimed 'em last spring in senior "B" playoffs—have a rather screwy setup. Admitting they had a number of imports with no visible means of support this semester, they then seek and obtain permish to use Ted Olliver and Oy Allen long after the import deadline had passed. Local puck management last year, when in the Falls, had several of the Cataracts chasing 'em to obtain work for those players here—the lads claiming they had no work all winter in the Big Roar city and the financial pickings were slim. No wonder so many of them left as soon as the rains came.

* * * * * *

Rootin', Tootin' Rex

Speaking of the Falls, we met Rex Stimers there a year ago and he grinned and remarked: "Say, I took an awful panning from transplanted Peterborough hockey fans in St. Catharines after I broadcast the first Falls-Petes' game in your town. I sort of faked it, getting a running account of the game by wire to St. Kitts and then filling in with my own imagination. Next day, all kinds of phone calls came in from hot Peterboro' fans. They told me Red Creighton wasn't a 200-pound defenceman but a 150-pound forward, that Kingdon wasn't on the ice when I had him in a big fight, and so on. Stimers is sports broadcaster in that district—and is an out-and-out rooter for district teams during his air tirades. As Ted Reeve remarks: "It is the way he roots for his home team that makes you enjoy the broadcast. In fact, you get jumping up in the front room and hollering back at him before it is over!"

* * * * * *

The last two Ontario towns have dropped out of the Can.-Am. pro ball league, Ottawa and Cornwall turning their franchises back to the circuit. Guess they weren't making any dough. So now the five-year old loop will consist of Amsterdam, Ogdensburg, Utica, Oswego, Gloversville, Rome and probably two more N'Yawk State squads. This is the circuit that Knotty Lee helped to organize when he left here five years ago, the Petes' ex-coach taking over the coaching job at Ogdensburg, where he is still engaged. Pro ball over a period of time doesn't seem to pay in Canada — this country going in naturally for hockey as its big sport.

Double Features New Rage In Cage Game

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.— (AP). — The double feature still may be a headache to movie magnates, but to college basketball it is about the biggest innovation since the introduction of level floors.

And it's a growing young giant of an idea that may sweep the country—like bingo. So much so that the graduate manager who offers only one game on a given night is likely to be as unpopular as a civet cat at a lawn party. Basketball fans are demanding twice as much basketball a night as they used to get.

That's what Ned Irish, former New York sports writer, who introduced the highly-successful double bills at Madison Square Garden, believes will be one of 940.'s major cage trends.

And he is in a pretty good position to know, for his double offerings last year attracted an average of 14,000 customers a night for 14 nights—exclusive of the 50,000 who sat three nights to watch the Metropolitan basketball writers' tournament.

* Irish points out double-headers are growing in popularity in such basketball hotbeds as Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Chicago, Baltimore and White Plains, N.Y.

Eagles Outscore Stars By 3-1

(By the Canadian Press.)

A lot of credit for the fine showing of New Haven Eagles in the International-American Hockey League this season must go to Coach Jimmy Ward. The former National Hockey League star has succeeded in his first coaching job with a team that isn't changed a lot from the club that fared rather poorly last season.

The Eagles ran up their ninth victory in 16 games last night by defeating Syracuse Stars 3-1 at Syracuse last night. The victory left the Eagles two points behind the Eastern section-leading Providence Reds. New Haven has a chance to go into a tie with the Reds tonight when they meet Pittsburg Hornets in the only scheduled Intam game.

Ward's men spotted the Stars a first period goal by Jackie Keating and then wiped out this deficit with two scores in the last minutes of the same session. George Patterson evened it up at 17:00 and Tony Hemmerling put the Eagles ahead to stay at 18:58 on a pass from Bill Summerhill, the league's leading point-maker.

With only four minutes to go in the third period Bob McCully put the game away for the Eagles by sinking a penalty shot behind Goalie Bill Beveridge.

Two Of The Leading N.H.L. Leaders

DICK IRVIN

PETE LEPINE

One of the features of the first few weeks of the National League race this season has been the play of Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, who have run one-two most of the way so far. The coaches of the only two teams representing Canadian cities left in the major puck loop are shown here, Irvin, one of the least-publicized of all coaches, in his ninth season as Leaf leader, and Lepine, making his coaching bow for the Flying Frenchmen. The latter, under the guidance of Lepine, one of their greatest stars of yesteryear, have returned to their old formula of speed, speed and more speed, while the Toronto team has been overrun with youthful newcomers, who, at this stage, have stood the test very well.

BRUINS DOWN RED WINGS WHILE AMERKS BEAT BLACK HAWKS

Poison Stewart And Amerks Whip Hawks 4-0

National Hockey League goalies have another worry now. Big Nels Stewart is back in the Big Time, helping the crippled New York Americans develop a scoring punch.

"Ole Poison" ended a brief retirement last night, and simultaneously the lowly Amerks lambasted Chicago Black Hawks 4-0. Stewart's single goal—the 318th of his long career—meant little in the final result of the game, but the way it was scored boded no good for future goal-tending records.

It took Nels just 15 seconds to get that goal—15 seconds and a pretty passing attack with his team-mate of Montreal Maroon days, Hooley Smith. It started when Nels trapped the puck near his own net, and it ended when a little flick of his wrist sent the disk past Mike Karakas at the other end of the rink.

Nels played a typical Stewart game throughout. Always a slow skater, he was slower than ever last night. His back-checking didn't exist. But always he was covering around the opposition net, waiting to trap a stray puck.

Boston Bruins 3-1

And while a veteran made a comeback at New York, a younger star went out of the game for at least six weeks as Boston gave Detroit their sixth consecutive beating 3-1 at Boston.

Roy Conacher, brilliant Boston left winger, suffered a fractured left wrist early in the second period when he collided head-on with Jimmie Orlando in the centre zone. Manager Art Ross summoned Red Hamill from Hershey of the International-American League to replace him.

Rookie Jack Shewchuk opened the scoring for Boston in the first period but Detroit came right back in the second to tie things up on a goal by Carl Liscombe. The Red Wings had no answer, however, to goals by Herb Cain and Mel Hill in the third period.

The Americans were full value for their victory over Chicago. Eddie Wiseman led the attack with two goals and an assist, while Tommy Anderson picked up two assist.

Iowa Hawkeyes Second In Poll

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(AP) — The boss always said to put the news at the top of the story, so this first paragraph is hardly the place to say that the experts picked New York Yankees of baseball as the No. 1 team of all American sports in 1939.

Rather, it's the spot to explain that the experts balloting in the Ninth Annual Associated Press poll had a tough time deciding whether Iowa's football hawkeyes, or the undefeated teams of Southern California, Tennessee and Cornell, rated the No. 2 slot. They finally gave it to Iowa, with 37½ points to 34 for the Pacific coast conference champions, 33 for the other half of the Rose Bowl, Tennessee, and 26 for Cornell.

The Australian Davis Cup team which lifted the tennis trophy from the United States last summer was the only non-American team in the list. It was tied for eighth place with the Cincinnati Reds of baseball's National League.

The combined vote for the four United States gridiron powers was only slightly more than half the total the Yankees polled up in winning recognition as "outstanding team of the year, amateur or professional," for the fourth straight year.

Nurmi Drives Truck

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi, famous Finnish runner who has been driving a truck in removing citizens from Helsingfors, said today he had abandoned plans to take Taisto Maki, currently Finland's outstanding distance runner, on a tour of the United States.

Futile Phils Are Through Being Major Leagues' Joke Team

(By Central Press Canadian)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.— The Phillies evidently are sick of being the joke team of the National league.

Last year they got themselves a new manager in Doc Protho, toward the fag end of the season they weaned Jack Ogden away from the Baltimore Orioles to become business manager, and now they have announced an overhauling of their scouting system. Joe Patsy O'Rourke has been promoted to chief of staff and Clarence Pitt and Ralph Kimmel added.

Yanks the Example

A good business managed and a highly efficient scouting system have done such a good job with a team by the name of the Yankees that President Gerald F. Nugent thought it was a good idea to lay the same groundwork. Naturally, results will be slower.

The Phillies are still the only club in either major league without a farm team to its name. If the scouts do dig up any promising green material it will have to be rushed up to the parent club before it's ready.

Haven't Done Badly

Yet without any adequate scouting in other years the Phillies have come up with their share of stars. The trouble has been that they sold their discoveries, one after another. Some of them made good on other teams, notably Dave Bancroft and Dick Bartell. Others were tagged as Philadelphia ball players.

Doc Prothro

When Prothro signed his Philadelphia contract he insisted that a clause be inserted that none of his players be sold without his consent. There have been rumors that Hugh Mulcahy, Walter Kirby Higbe and Morrie Arnovich were on the market. But the new Phillie policy will insist that they receive player value in return.

Seek To Suspend Henry Armstrong

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Commissioner D. Walker Wear of the New York State Athletic Commission said today he would recommend suspension of Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion, for fighting Jimmy Garrison in Cleveland Monday night after failing to meet Lou Ambers here Dec. 1.

"There is no question but what Armstrong ran out on his fight with Ambers," said Wear.

Armstrong contracted a cold and the bout with Ambers was cancelled. The Commission cautiond the champion he should not fight Garrison.

King Scoring Ace In O.H.A. Race, Inglis Second

TORONTO, Dec 13 — (CP). — By the slim margin of one point, Eddie King of the now-not-invincible Toronto Goodyears leads the Ontario Hockey Association scoring race with 19 points to 18 by his first-line teammate, Johnny Inglis. Three players are tied for third position, each with 16.

Little Johnny O'Flaherty, third member of the Toronto No. 1 line, and Pete Backor and Red Reynolds of St. Catharines, the new league-leading club, are deadlocked on the third rung. Johnny Conick of Hamilton and Earl Laroche of Port Colborne Sailors are right behind them with 15 points each.

Backor and Reynolds were much to the fore as the Battling Saints answered critics who said Goodyears could not be beaten by edging out two week-end wins over the league champions of last season. The Saints defeated Goodyears in Toronto last Friday and repeated in St. Kitts on Monday to move into first place and hand Goodyears their first league loss since the 1937-38 season.

King, whose intimates call him "Chum," has a total of 13 goals and six assists for first place, while Inglis has seven goals and 11 assists. King also has scored more goals than anyone else in the six-team league.

Chance of a Tie.

Goodyears, with 14 points— two less than the leading Saints—have a chance to tie for the league lead by defeating Port Colborne in Toronto to-night. In the other game scheduled, the winless Galt Moosemen invade Hamilton for a tilt with the hard-hitting Dominions.

Port Colborne at present hold third place and a win tonight will move them into a deadlock with Goodyears for the second spot.

Jack Astle, aggressive rearguard of Niagara Falls Cataracts, hasn't received a penalty recently, but his 28 minutes in the penalty pew kept him in the lead of that division. His teammate, Horse Desson, is but six minutes behind him, along with Mac McGrattan, hard-playing Galt defenceman.

Tourney Golfing Getting Tougher

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 13.—(AP)—Take it from Henry Picard, who should know, the big time tournament golfing grind is getting tougher each year.

"More and more good young golfers with fire and ambition are knocking at the door," said Picard, Professional Golfers Association champion. "The leaders dare not get out of condition or slip even a trifle for fear of getting trampled in the stampede."

He was on the practice green rapping in putts, trying for the delicate touch he will need in the $10,000 Miami Open starting tomorrow.

"See that fellow over there," he said. "That's Henry Poe, who is about ready to hit the headlines. And there are any number of others, such as Ben Hogan, Clayton Heafner, Jimmy McHale and Charles Fallow, who are always in condition, always practicing, always getting better."

Here, in this new, exclusive photograph, we present Johnny Murphy, ace relief pitcher with the champion Yankees of the baseball world. Johnny was trying out a newly developed method of getting out of a sand trap during a round of golf in Florida, but, unfortunately, the sand was thrown up and obscured his face. But that's Fireman Johnny behind the sand screen.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—(AP) — Fordham has been voted the best-dressed football team in the United States....A Chicago syndicate headed by Barney Ross has offered -20,000 for the contract of Al Davis, up and coming New York welterweight....Death of Doug Fairbanks recalls his all-time sports hero was Bobby Jones, the one and only.

Too bad Gilbert and Sullivan are not alive and operating.... They would have had a field day at the baseball pow wow... After the joint meeting of the two big leagues, for instance, when Judge Landis and the American League teamed up to rout the Nationals, they might have had the N. H. magnates chiding the judge by singing:

"It is patent to the mob
That his being made a nob
Was effected by a job"
And the American Leaguers chiming in with:
'And a good job, too."

The Smith Brothers (not the hack, hack boys) are doing all right at Minnesota. Bruce is the soph football flash and Don the soph basketball sensation....The Cuban Government has allocated 100 Gs to boost the purses at the Oriental Park race meeting opening December 23....British soccer players are threatening to strike unless their pay is raised from 10 shillings (about two bucks to you) a game.

Ottawa Naming Bacon Board

OTTAWA, Dec. 13—(CP). — The government plans to name a bacon control board almost immediately it was learned to-day and the chief duty of the board will be to see that Canada sends the United Kingdom at least 4,480,000 pounds of bacon and ham weekly, under terms of an agreement between the Canadian and United Kingdom governments.

It is not thought any restrictions will be necessary whereby Canadians would have to shift to substitutes to keep up the export flow.

Indications are that 4,397,023 hogs will be marketed next year as compared with the highest previous year, 1937, when 3,926,310 hogs were marketed. The 1939 total will be slightly over 3,500,000.

Britain undertakes to buy up 5,600,000 pounds of bacon weekly if Canada can supply that amount.

During the past five weeks Canada's exports have exceeded even the maximum figure in the agreement. Starting with the first of November the weekly shipments overseas for five weeks have been 7,682,817 pounds; 5,923,351; 6,343,468; 7,983,940 and 5,857,958. These are record breaking figures when no control was exercised.

When the control board begins to operate the export flow will be steadier and big supplies will be levelled off to make up deficiencies in periods when Canadian farmers normally do not market hogs. Reports indicate farmers will change their methods so as to avoid wide fluctuations in the marketing figures as between seasons.

Delegates to the convention of the Ontario Plowmen's Association: Howard Quinn and Vernon Campbell with Gordon Hancock and C. E. Moore as alternates.

To Assist Victoria

According to the usual rotation by township, next year's match should be held in Ennismore. The directors from that township will be consulted before any decision is made. Next in order came Asphodel and Douro.

Although the place of the 1940 match was referred to another meeting, the Association will transfer its 1941 match to Victoria for the first day of the Provincial Plowing which will be held two years hence in that county.

A resolution by Gordon Hancock and seconded by Frank Graystock instructed the secretary to write the Victoria Association informing them that Peterborough wished to co-operate in every possible way, thereby expressing appreciation of the assistance given by Victoria in 1931 when the Provincial Match was held west of the city in North Monaghan. The local match goes to the neighboring county, and Peterborough will als contribute to the prize list.

Mr. Duffus remarked that it was fine gesture of friendliness, and Peterborough's co-operation had been well deserved by the Victoria Association when the Interprovincial match was held here.

Join New Chamber

The Plowmen made a contribution of $5 to the County Chamber of Agriculture, thereby becoming affiliated with the new organization. A vote of thanks was passed to Albert Armstrong of Smith for the use of his farm for this year's match, and a warm acknowledgment of the work of Erle Tully's social committee and of all the others who helped in the success of the annual dance in November was also extended.

The Association's finances were reported in satisfactory condition, according to the auditors' report.

To Enlarge Scope

Members decided last night to extend the list of prizes offered to boys, including those in the coaching class which receives special attention from Mr. Duffus, and an effort will be made to attract a disc plow class as a demonstration of the proper use of that implement. More encouragement will also be given for the displaying of other machines used in the general cultivation of the land. It was proposed that a field be allotted especially for that purpose.

Frank Paterson led a discussion into the broader scope of Association in soil culture, extending its usefulness beyond the basic interest of good plowmanship. It was felt that some action should be taken in that direction, but the subject was left in abeyance for consideration by the executive and directors. The discussion broadened out into the depth of plowing, and the consensus of the meeting was that no definite answer could be given to that question that would apply to any and all conditions. It was agreed that circumstances of the land would have to be taken into consideration, but there was also a strong feeling that deep plowing could be a detriment to the land.

Mr. Paterson stated that investigation of plowing practice in the county and district could be undertaken by the Association with the likelihood of obtaining profitable information. In this discussion J. J. Duffus reviewed the rules of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, explaining details applying to matches, and particularly to the avoidance of deep finishes. He said that match judges were definitely disposed to give a higher rating to work that came within the ideals of finish as set up by the rules committee of the provincial association, tending to lead away from the depth of finish that had been more or less general in recent years.

A rather significant feature of last night's meeting was the evidence of the members' desire to project the usefulness of the Association beyond the annual plowing match, and it was expected that the new year will produce some endeavor to direct attention to soil culture, without encroaching upon the field of the Crop Improvement Association.

Mannerheim Line— an attempt to round Lake Ladoga for an assault on the eastern part of the strong Isthmus defences.

The fighting appeared to be some of the war's severest.

"The enemy launched a powerful attack to-day along several sectors of the Karelian Isthmus," the communique said.

"Hard fighting took place all day, especially on a hill overlooking a church at Muola. Almost a constant series of attack were repulsed, the enemy suffering tremendous losses. We destroyed many tanks and left hundreds of the fallen enemy lying before our positions.

"Severe fighting occurred also at the Eastern front, particularly at Tolvajaervi, and cost the Russians a severe defeat. Three enemy battalions were destroyed. We captured 27 machine-guns, 25 express rifles, 13 machine pistols and other materials and, in addition, destroyed several tanks.

"Near Loimola, the enemy launched several attacks under the cover of artillery fire. The attacks were repulsed. Elsewhere on the eastern front, heavy battles continued."

The communique added that the Finnish Air Force — recently strengthened by British and Italian-made planes—made numerous reconnoitring flights and bombed and gunned enemy columns and supply bases at many points.'"

Finnish officials, meanwhile, awaited complete reports on the sinking of a German freighter by a submarine in the Gulf of Bothnia.

Several of the 29 survivors from the ship, identified as the 2,217-ton Bollheim, declared upon reaching the Finnish port of Mantyluoto yesterday that the attacker was a Russian undersea craft. There was no positive identification.

The captain, second officer and radio operator were killed when the submarine fired 15 shells into the vessel.

(Lloyd's Register lists a German freighter Bolheim, 3,324 gross tons, engaged in ore trade between Northern Africa and the Netherlands before the war.

(A Reuters News Agency dispatch said the freighter was en route from Bjorneborz, Finland, to Germany, carrying 500 tons of wood pulp.)

one shot with a rifle but the holdup men tore past at 70 miles an hour.

Machine Crashes.

The officers took up the chase in their car and were gaining on the quarry when the machine ahead failed to make the curve a short distance north of Scott's Corners and ploughed into the guard fence. The police car came within an ace of being wrecked in collision with the other automobile, so suddenly did the latter leave the road.

By the time the officers stopped their car the holdup men had taken to the fields. At that time police thought they had only two men to look out for and they followed one set of tracks toward the southwest for some distance. Then they decided to drive around by a side road in an attempt to head the fugitives off and in doing so came across two sets of foot prints headed in a northwesterly direction.

By this time reinforcements had arrived on the scene, Inspector Reid, Detective Sergt. W. E. Meagher, Plain Clothes Officer Piercy and Constables Naples, McGillen and Hardy of the city police and Provincial Traffic Officers Lloyd A. McClure and Gordon Broughton and Provincial Constable David Silvester had all been called out and Provincial Officer Menie of Cobourg and Sutherland of Port Hope and Provincial Traffic Officer McKellar arrived soon after from the south.

Follow Footprints.

Police cars patrolled the highway and side roads while other officers on foot and equipped with flashlights followed the tracks of the two men who had struck off from the highway in a north west direction. They followed the marks in the newly-fallen snow through a section of swamp then across the Kawartha Golf course and finally back to the Highway 28 near the city. The two men had crossed the highway near Sherbrooke street and cut through a field, crossing High street and dow nthrough the Prince of Wales school grounds. Then their trail was followed along Sherbrooke street to George and south toward the C. P. R. station where the tracks were lost in the marks made by other pedestrians who by that time were on their way to work.

The city was scoured and the roads leading out toward the east combed without any signs of the two men who had reached Peterborough.

The stolen car was not badly damaged by its collision with the guard rail. Inside were found a suit of clothes brown in color, a hat, a quantity of .32 calibre cartridges.

In the holdup at Welcome, one man had remained in the car while the other two did the job of robbing the attendant. The first report reaching the police at Port Hope and transmitted to the local officers was that only two men were concerned but later it was learned that three were in the gang. No de that three were in the gang. The other two are described as rough-looking about five feet eight and wearing overcoats and fedora hats. One of them is believed to have had a red sweater or windbreaker underneath his overcoat.

Famine Coming

Cernauti, Rumania, Dec. 13 (CP-Havas)

RELIABLE reports reaching here from German-occupied Poland indicate that the most disastrous famine since the middle ages is expected since the Germans are systematically removing the country's supplies.

This, added to the general havoc resulting from the war last September, is expected to create a disaster such as has not been seen in modern times, the reports said.

The worst devastation was said to exist in that part of the country where 100,000 Germans evacuated from Russia are to be settled. Despite wholesale evictions of Polish inhabitants not enough homes are available, it was said, to shelter all the incoming Germans.

Turned Back At Coast

The German high command claimed today that British airplanes hunting for the liner Bremen had been forced to turn back before reaching the German coast.

It also related the disabling of an allied position on the western front with the capture of a number of prisoners.

The German communique said:—

"In the west, local scouting, troop and artillery activity. In the region southwest of Saarbrucken, a reconnaissance squad disabled an enemy position on French soil in the strength of one officer and 10 men. The enemy lost five and one officer, and 16 men were taken prisoner. The German squad returned without losses.

"In connection with the return of the Lloyd liner Breman, British airplanes in the evening and night hours of Dec. 12 approached a German bay. Defence fire, setting in early from North Sea islands, and warships forced the opponents to turn back without having reached the North Sea coast."

Obituary

MRS. BELLE STEWART.

HASTINGS, Dec. 13 (ENS).—The funeral of the late Mrs. Belle Stewart, widow of James Stewart, who passed away at her home in Toronto, took place on Monday, the remains arriving from Toronto at 1 p.m. and funeral services being conducted from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings, at 2.00 p.m. by the Rev. D. K. Perrie.

Mrs. Stewart, who was 81 years of age, was the oldest member of one of the district's earliest pioneer families, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Waddell of Percy Township. Just a week previous to her passing, the youngest member of the family, the late Archibald Waddell, passed away in the Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, at the age of 64 years.

Mrs. Stewart had been in declining health for some time, but suffered a stroke over a week ago which resulted in her death on Saturday.

She had many dear friends in the Hastings district, who will remember her charming personality and sterling Christian spirit. Her one delight was to visit annually with her friends and relatives near Hastings, and during the past summer she enjoyed her visit here.

She was predeceased by her husband by 18 years. For some years after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart farmed in Asphodel. About 25 years ago they moved to Toronto and she had made her home there since.

To mourn her passing are an only son, Dr. A. A. Stewart of Toronto, one sister and two brothers, John and Mary (Mrs. Ben Stewart) of Billings, Montana, and Matthew of Hastings.

Many beautiful floral tributes were laid in loving memory on the casket, and many relatives and friends from Toronto, outside points and the surrounding district attended the funeral.

Pall-bearers were: Gordon, Ronald and Byam Stewart, Edward and James Sargent, and Gordon Warner.

Omemee

Misses Blanche and Carrie Stinson of Oshawa were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stinson.

Sunday guests of Mrs. D. Belch were: Mrs. E. Irwin of Perth, Mrs. R. Carey, Miss Marion Carey, Mr. K. Thompson of Mountain Grove.

Mr. Arthur Marshall of Peterborough called on friends in the village on Sunday.

Miss Irene Faulkner was a visitor to Peterborough Saturday.

The "Wide Awake" Mission Band of Trinty United Church under the capable leadership of Mrs. H. McPhee held a meat pie supper in the church basement Friday evening.

Mrs. D. Belch was a visitor to Lindsay Saturday.

Improvement In Business Expected After First Of The Year; Relief Rolls Reported Declining

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 13.—(CP)—Demand for domestic workers in Ontario was noted in Ontario's weekly labor report issued by Hon. Norman Hipel, Minister of Labor. Industry generally was showing improvement, although lack of raw materials in some cases was forcing plants to hold back.

From one end of the province to the other, the general consensus of manufacturers seemed to be that after the New Year there would be considerable improvement in business generally. Relief rolls were declining in some centres, with a 50 per cent improvement reported at Brantford.

Belleville reported most industries there had higher staff levels than some time. Transportation lines were very busy with huge tonnage being moved daily. Experienced domestics were in demand.

At Brantford, shortage of raw materials was still delaying operations in agricultural implement and machinery plants. Railway car companies are busy. A strike in one textile plant is still in progress. Marked decrease is reported in relief rolls, with 4,516 receiving assistance a year ago and only 2,720 this year.

Textiles In Full Blast

Textiles companies and automobile accessory firms are working at full capacity at Chatham. Tobacco factories are beginning operations. A large sugar plant has just finished its run. There are few employable men on relief.

Lack of snow is holding back hauling operations, according to reports from Fort Williams. Movement of grain boats have subsided with the end of navigation and several hundred stevedores will be released shortly.

Textile firms at Guelph are very busy and will start operating three shifts next week.

A strike is reported at a Guelph felt company. Demand for experienced domestic is steady.

Kenora reported little demand for loggers because of mild weather.

At Kingston, locomotive companies are increasing their staffs each week, but find a shortage of competent mechanics. Demand for competent domestic help exceeds supply.

Busy in Kitchener

Industrial conditions are "good for for this time of year," according to the Kitchener report. One twine company has received a substantial war order. Experienced domestics are in demand.

Hamilton reported some clothing firms show a seasonal slackening off. Firms still are reporting shortage of materials. Large orders have been received by a railway car company, but plenty of help is available in Hamilton to take care of requirements. Structural steel supplies are arriving and a bridge company has received substantial supplies. Textile plants are busy, but power machine operators are "hard to find." Domestic help is in demand.

Steel and machinery companies are reported fairly busy in London, as are paper, chemical and electrical companies. A large cereal firm has laid off employees because of export difficulties. Military authorities are still asking for tradesmen. Demand for domestics is steady.

Paint companies and tanneries in New Toronto are very busy with other industries expecting improvement after January 1.

Lumbering is at its peak in the North Bay area, with all camps reported fully staffed. Labor turnover is reported low.

At Oshawa, a large motor company is retaining production levels and a leather company is showing a steady increase in the number of workers employed.

Demand for domestic help improved at Owen Sound, with local stores also adding to their staffs for the Christmas trade.

St. Catharines reported no noticeable change in industry during the week, "but a number of plants are optimistic in their forecast and expect increased activities in the New Year."

St. Thomas reported the general industrial situation remained favorable, with most industries fairly busy.

Auto Work Picks Up.

At Sarnia, a foundry engaged in manufacture of automobile accessories had rehired a number of men. An oil company reported seasonal slackness. Lack of material was holding up a sheet metal works. A number of boats were expected to winter here with the close of navigation.

One large tobacco company expected to start work with 1,700 old employees at Simcoe next week. "There will be no chance of any outsiders obtaining work here," was the warning issued from th district, since only old employees will be hired.

At Stratford, it was reported manufacturers were still busy on orders from the retail trade. "They have had repeat orders of staples over that of last year," it was stated. Retail trade, however, was reported slack because of the unusually mild weather. Good demand exists for experienced domestics.

Demand for lumber workers remains good at Sudbury, but all camps are well filled at present and mostly good "hooksmen" and teamsters are required.

Mild weather has greatly hampered bush activity near Timmins. Mining remains normal, with little demand for extra help. All classes of house, day, hotel and restaurant workers are in demand.

At Windsor, all former employees of the Chrysler Corporation who have been idle for a month because of a strike, have been notified to report for work. Affiliated accessory companies are also being called back. Business appears to be improving, with stores crowded with shoppers. Domestic work is steady.

A large steel company at Woodstock expects to receive war orders soon. Furniture companies are employing peak staffs. A 30 per cent. reduction in relief rolls was reported.

Belmont Man Given 9 Months

Joseph Ellis, Belmont township, formerly of Peterborough changed his plea in police court this morning and pleaded guilty to two charges, one of forging a cheque for $140 which had been handed Lillico Motors as payment on a car and the other of beating a hotel bill of $2.90 at Havelock.

On the major charge he was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to nine months definite and three months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory.

The sentence in the other case was two days' imprisonment in the country Jail.

Ellis had a previous record including one conviction for larceny in Michigan. Magistrate recognized him as a young man who had appeared in court here two years ago on a charge of robbery with violence on Louis street.

Army Hut Drive Is Continuing

The local campaign for the Canadian Army Huts Fund is being continued this week, Dr. E. M. Crough, chairman of the committee, told the Examiner today. The canvas that had been planned has taken a little more time than was expected, but the appeal for contributions is being continued until Saturday night.

"The response has been very gratifying," Dr. Crough said, "and we have every prospect of attaining a substantial objective."

The fund has been sponsored by the Knights of Columbus for the pupose of resuming their welfare service with the Canadian Army which they began in the last war, and their slogan is "Everybody welcome and everything free."

Poor Brakes Cost Driver Fine Of $10

Driving with inadequate brakes proved an expensive proposition for Thomas Anthony in traffic court this morning when he entered a written plea of guilty to a charge under the Ontario Traffic Act. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Alex Thorne entered a plea of guilty to failing to stop on entering a through street and the fine in his case was $5 and 75 cents costs.

David R. Rogers appeared in person to plead guilty to a similar charge and he was fined $5 and $2.50 costs for not stopping before entering Park street at McDonnel street. Helen Munro who also pleaded guilty to a failure to stop charge was fined $2 and $2.50 costs.

Remanded For Trial

WHITBY, Ont., Des. 13.—Charged with theft and conspiring to defraud James Foley, Haliburton, Harry J. Gassien, Manchester, was remanded one week for trial when he appeared before Magistrate F. S. THEY WERE BUSY

"Are the traffic officers here?" inquired Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. "No, your worship, they are both out chasing bandits," was the reply of Acting Chief Constable Reid.

WHAT, NO TARPAULIN

Two members of the council, Aldermen Stocker and McCannan, were observers yesterday afternoon of one of the garbage trucks coming out of the lane west of Hamilton's store on Simcoe street. It had a considerable load of ashes, and when it reached the windy street a top layer was whisked about without regard for passersby, and more ashes slid off the top as the wheels bounced into the road. And the deposit of ashes fell right in front of Alderman McCannan's office. He called the driver back and had him sweep off the sidewalk, and probably Alderman Stocker said "I told you so."

Bata Firm Plans To Build Hospital

The Bata Shoe Company which is undertaking extensive building operations at its property at Frankford, north of Trenton, has announced a modern hospital and 75 additional worker's houses will be erected in the coming year. Many of the houses already built are occupied and many more are under completion. The leather fabricating plant is also well under way. It is the first of eight unit sto be erected on the site.

Buildings already under construction have done much to alleviate unemployment conditions among tradesmen and laborers in the Quinte district, and indications for the future are even brighter. At times close to 200 workmen have been engaged in the various construction jobs. The first Bata unit is expected to be completed by Christmas, several weeks ahead of schedule.

Fall Training Concluded By The Rangers

The Prince of Wales Rangers closed their fall training Tuesday night after a special entertainment had been provided for members by the Women's Association of Fairview United Church.

Drill was forgotten for the evening, and at the conclusion of a lunch provided by the 57th chapter, I. O. D. E., soldiers heard their commanding officer, Lt. Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, say that training would be resumed early in January. He complimented them on their attendance to their duties during the fall season and expressed pride in each member.

The entertainment, a three-act play, was held in the Legion Hall, and was enthusiastically received. It was probably an unique audience that the amateur cast played to and one that carried in it reminiscence of another troop entertainment in similar, smoke - choked quarters. There were no women in the audience, spectators smoked until the stage was set in a haze of tobacco smoke, a military band played marching songs during the intermissions.

Honorary Member of Legion.

Every member of the Rangers who joins an active service unit will become an honorary member of the Canadian Legion and will be given a membership card that will permit him free entry into any of the Legion's Canadian or overseas branches. This was made known by President George Gimblett of the Peterborough branch of the Legion when he welcomed officers and men of the unit to the Legion Hall. He was introduced by the commanding officer, who expressed the thanks of his regiment for permission to use the hall. President Gimblett told him the hall was available to the Rangers at any time it was required.

Thanks To Actors

Thanks to Fairview United Church Women's Association was voiced by Capt. Ralph Honey at the conclusion of the play. Capt. Honey presented a bouquet of flowers to the leading lady, Mrs. Harold Lewis. Other members of the cast were: Mrs. Will Fowler, Mrs. Cephas Heard, Mrs. Wesley Bell, Mrs. Everett Cockburn, Miss Olive Day, Miss Ferne Armstrong, Miss Opal Rosborough, Wesley Bell, Cephas Heard, Harold Lewis and Will Flower. The play was titled "The Red Headed Step-Child." John Lewis sang three numbers between acts and the band of the Prince of Wales Rangers played several numbers.

Major James Turnbull voiced the unit's appreciation for lunch that was provided by the 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Coal Dealers Fined For Short Weights

"I do not believe it was intentional or I would make the fine much more severe," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning in fining two local fuel companies $10 and $2.50 costs on charges of selling under-weight loads of coal.

The two concerns were McCarthy and Johnston whose load reputedly two tons was alleged to have been 85 pounds short and H. B. Taylor and Son allegedly short 155 pounds on a five-ton load.

Magistrate Langley said that he was convinced that there had been a mistake on the part of the firms and that it was not intention.

Robert Johnston, for his firm, said that it was the first time any of their loads had been found short although they had been weighed repeatedly in the past two decades.

Female Burglar Is Active In Lindsay

LINDSAY, Dec. 13 (ENS).—This town has a female burglar, and she appears to be plying her vocation with considerable success. She has even visited the home of the Mayor where, it is said, she picked up a dress and some jewellery. Saturday night she paid a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Steen. The occupants were down street for a short time, and on their return Mrs. Steen found that a suit and a pair of shoes were missing. Recently the home of H. Baker was visited and wearing apparel stolen. Two local stores were entered during the past few weeks and women's shoes stolen. Chief of Police Lawler is satisfied that a woman does the stealing, an dthat a man accompanies her.

County Council To Be Advised Monthly Of Work Accomplished By Officers Of Children's Aid

Because Alderman James Dutton believes members of the County Council, since they refused a grant for an assistant worker, should be more familiar with the importance and extent of the work carried on by the Chidren's Aid Society, it was decided that copies of the monthly report of the superintendent, Miss Rachel Young, would be mailed to reeve sof all municipalities. This action was taken Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the board of directors in the City Hall, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr presiding.

A protest against the new relief regulation is to be sent to the Department of Welfare following the motion of Alderman Walter Stocker. Because this regulation makes it necessary for all applications to be approved by the Provincial Inspector before they are granted by the local relief office, families who have not resources to carry them over the several days that sometimes intervene, are experiencing hardships in many cases.

Juvenile Court.

The advisability of establishing a juvenile and domestic court in Peterborough is to be discussed by members of the board with B. W. Heise of Toronto, provincial superintendent. On the suggestion of Alderman Dutton, Dr. Charles Whitton of Toronto, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council, will be invited to speak at the annual meeting of the board, to be held either the 22nd or 29th of April.

Following a discussion with regard to the form of life membership certificates, the matter was referred to the membership committee. A progress report in connection with the procuring of an assistant worker was made by Alderman Dutton, and Mrs. J. D. Fanning reported on arrangements for the Christmas party at the shelter, which is to be held on Thursday evening, December 21.

In presenting the shelter report, Mrs. Lawrence stated that there were 15 children in the shelter on November 1; 14 on December 1; 24 cared for during the month of November, and 10 children sent out. There were 5 police cases, and 3 children requiring medical examination.

The superintendent's report for November showed 236 visits made; 109 office interviews; 170 telephone calls; 172 letters sent out, and 2 addresses given.

"Each winter seems to present the problem of clothing for both families on relief and those on low incomes," Miss Young said. "While the society cannot do a great deal to relieve the situation, an attempt is made to refer the situation to the church or some other organization. On more than one occasion the statement has been made to me that it seems extremely difficult to get second-hand clothing this year."

Through the Junior League a boy has been given a 'Y' membership and the necessary clothing, and three girls have been given membership cards for the Y. W. Club. These are children living in their own homes.

Boy Being Helped.

The Rotary Club is looking after a boy in Belmont township and a physical condition of some year's standing is to be corrected. During the past summer two other children have been referred to the Rotary Club, one in North Monaghan township, and the other in Smith township.

There are 11 families under the care of the society, Miss Young stated in her report. The fact that 24 children have been in the shelter during the past month for varying lengths of time gives some idea of the amount of work which admissions and discharges alone would involve. Four of these children were in detention and that meant that all the meals had to be carried up to them.

The society is again planning to remember each one of its wards—if this is made possible by the organization's friends in the community. Already two C. G. I. T. groups have taken responsibility for some children, and gifts, have been purchased by parents in memory of their own children. There are still 20 children whom the society hopes to remember.

Given Sixty Days

NEWMARKET, Ont., Dec. 13.—(CP)—"Theft of cattle is a very serious offence in this country. It is very unfortunate that your family has to suffer." So stated Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here yesterday as he imposed a 60-day term on Ernest King, North Gwillimbury township farmer and father of seven children.

King was convicted on a charge of the theft of a heifer. He was also ordered to pay $20 to the owner of the heifer.

Plans for the Y.W.C.A. Girls' Bazaar, always an outstanding event in the life of the organization's holiday season, have exceeded efforts of other years—probably due to the inspiration of a handsome, renovated building in which to work. Opening at three o'clock Thursday afternoon, the bazaar will continue until six in the evening. General conveners for the tea room are Mrs. Clare Collins and Mrs. D. T. Diplock, and tea will be poured by Mrs. R. E. Cutting, Mrs. R. Neill, Miss A. Wood and Miss E. Morrow.

St. Andrew's Y.P.U. Elects 1940 Officers

The annual meeting for election of officers of the Young People's Union of St. Andrew's United Church was held Tuesday evening. Dr. E. W. Young presided and explained from the manual the purposes and aims of the Union, and the laws regulating the election of officers.

The following were elected for the year 1940: Honorary president, Dr. Young; past president, Harry Vass; president, James Harvey; secretary-treasurer, Alec Young; convener of Christian Fellowship, Frances Clark; Christian Missions, Jean Stewart; Christian Citizenship, Harry Vass; Christian Culture, Betty Harle; recreation, James Harris and Betty Kent; music, Jack Ridyard; press correspondent, Leonard Wall; social convenor, Corine McArthur, Helen Weston, Phyllis McClennan, Betty Harle.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, with Jean Stewart, Helen Weston and Betty Harle in charge.

Following the meeting, the president, Harry Vass, expressed the regret of the members that Margaret Patoine, a prominent and faithful member, would be leaving the group to make her home in Toronto. The presentation of a silver dish on behalf of the Union was made by the president, and Dr. Young spoke of the outstanding service that Miss Patoine had rendered.

Bible Class Honors Teacher And Leader

Mrs. Roy Parnell of Rubidge street, president of the Co-Workers' Bible Glass of George Street United Church, was hostess to members of the Class for their annual meeting and election of officers.

The meeting opened with a Christmas hymn, and prayer led by Mrs. A. I. Brown. Excellent reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hales, and the treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, showing a splendid year of social and financial activities to the credit of the organization. Conveners of the various committees gave fine reports of the year's work.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a gift to the esteemed teacher of the class, Mrs. J. Brown. The presentation was made by Mrs. S. Wildman and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham. Mrs. Parnell presented a bouquet of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums to Mrs. J. C. Wood in appreciation of her inspiring leadership during the devotional periods which take place prior to the teaching of the lesson each Sunday.

In response to a request, Mrs. Coleman Elliott gave a Christmas reading, "The Christmas Journey of Little Joe."

Before leaving the chair for the election of officers, Mrs. Parnell thanked the members of the class for their united co-operation and loyalty during the past year, and asked for the same co-operation toward the new president.

The election of officers, conducted by Mrs. J. Brown, was as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. A. I. Brown; past president, Mrs. R. Parnell; president, Mrs. Mary McLean; 1st vice-president, Mrs. E. Brown; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Hamlin; secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hales; treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham; secretary of finance, Mrs. M. E. Dormer; King's Bank, Mrs. A. Harrison; leper fund, Mrs. S. Wildman; sick and visiting, Mrs. R. Parnell; devotional, Mrs. J. C. Wood; social, Mrs. Cora Reynolds; telephone, Mrs. B. M. Frederick; membership, Mrs. Coleman Elliott; reception, Mrs. R. Parnell and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham; relief committee, Miss I. Telford and Miss A. Brock; flowers, Mrs. C. E. Wiley; progam, decorating and press, Mrs. James A. Spencer; teacher, Mrs. J. Brown, assistant teacher, Mrs. A. I. Brown; auditors, Mrs. A. I. Brown and Mrs. J. C. Wood.

Rev. M. C. Parr closed the meeting with prayer. Tea was served by Mrs. C. E. Wiley and her committee during a social hour after the meeting.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Mission Circle Sponsors Yuletide Tea

A Yuletide tea and sale sponsored by group one of the Women's Mission Circle of Murray Street Baptist Church was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Sutcliffe. Mrs. T. Irwin, group leader, received with the hostess.

Cedar boughs and Christmas motifs were used with delightful effect to deck the tea and bazaar rooms, and the tea table was centred with an attractive arrangement of evergreens and poinsettias. Pouring were Mrs. P. Somerville, Mrs. Moulton, Mrs. J. Dallin and Mrs. A. R. Kennedy. Mrs. J. Cruikshank was tea-room convenor, assisted by Mrs. Gould, Mrs. L. Grant, Mrs. H. Blewett. Mrs. C. Sexton was treasurer for the affair.

A handsome autograph quilt made by the members was on display, with Mrs. T. Metcalfe in charge. Home cooking was convened by Mrs. E. Brumwell and Mrs. E. Reid.

Mrs. A. F. Zavitz was in charge of arrangements for a pleasant musical program that included two vocal solos by Mrs. H. Quinn and Miss Dorothy Lee; a piano duet by Mr. Arthur Collison and Miss Thelma Zavitz; a piano solo by Mr. Davis Graham. A Christmas reading was given by Mrs. J. H. Morgan.

A.O.F. Bazaar Is a Success

Among the recent successful bazaars was that of the Queen Alexandra Circle A.O.O.F., held on Tuesday afternoon and evening in the Business and Professional Women's Club rooms, George street, with Mrs. T. Monk as general convenor.

Mrs. W. A. Head, assisted by Mrs. H. Howell, presided at the tea table, which was decorated effectively with frosted twigs; the scarlet of poinsettias, and matching tapers in silver holders.

Mrs. F. James and Mrs. W. Graham were in charge of aprons; Mrs. A. Simmons and Mrs. E. McNabb convened the home-made cooking table, and Mrs. T. Monk was in charge of linens and fancywork. The touch-and-take table was convened by Mrs. H. Jackson.

A feature was tea-cup reading, done by Mrs. R. Bugg, who presided at the piano for a musical program which included a vocal duet by Mrs. H. Jackson and Mrs. McKinley. Social games concluded the evening's activities. A quilt was won by Mrs. F. James of Lafayette avenue with ticket number 44.

Mission Circle Meeting Has Yuletide Theme

"Preparing for Christmas" was the inspiring theme for worship at the December meeting of the "Jean Wagar" Mission Circle, held at the home of their leader, Mrs. E. J. Wagar, Lock street.

Favorite Christmas carols were sung, with Irene Deyell at the piano, as the girls gathered, with a business session conducted by Jessie Martin, first vice-president, opening the program proper. Reports were received from the secretary, Marjorie Sedore, and from the treasurer, Jean Hammond, while Zetta Wood, secretary of Christian stewardship, read a letter from Mrs. Trumpour, Presbyterial secretary for this department of work.

The nominating committee for the new year was appointed to include eJani Hammond, Great Van Nest and Gladys Rutherford.

The girls were unanimous in their desire to remember their branch circle secretary, Mrs. E. Mesley, with a shower of Christmas cards, and a motion was made that the appreciation of the circle for the fine efforts of their retiring president, Effie Rowe, be conveyed to her.

A true spirit of reverence pervaded the worship service, led by Connie Wagar, when the lights were lowered and an illuminated stained-glass window effect depicting the Nativity scene held the centre of interest. In response to the call to worship, the girls sang softly, "O Come Let Us Adore Him," and a timely responsive service on the real meaning of Christmas concluded with the significant words, "Wherever one girl sees a shining vision of the Kingdom of Christ and sets herself to the building of that kingdom in the land of everyday—there Christmas is kept."

In keeping with this theme was the lovely poem read by Jean Hammond, and the Scripture lesson from John 1:1-18, read by Mary Easson. Prayer by Jessie Martin concluded this part of the meeting.

Two beautiful carols played as violin solos by a little visitor, Joyce Wilson, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Wilson, were greatly appreciated and were followed by a story, "Silent Night," read by Jean Aitken, after which all joined in the hymn.

Bringing a note of inspiration as well as of appreciation, the Christmas message of the advisory president proved a source of both practical and spiritual help to the members.

Miss Dorothy Drisdale had charge of the study book and reviewed in a most interesting manner the first two chapters.

Rev. Mr. Craik, the pastor, took the chair for the ensuing election of officers. The report of the nominating committee as submitted by the convenor, Greta Van Nest, was adopted in full, with the following executive for 1940:

Advisory president, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; past president, Effie Rowe; president, Olive Searles; first vice-president, Jessie Martin; second vice-president, Marion Wagar; third vice-president, Marjorie Sedore; recording secretary, Greta Van Nest; assistant secretary, Nancy Pooley; corresponding secretary, Connie Wagar; treasurer, Jean Hammond; secretary of christian stewardship, Zetta Wood; temperance secretary, Gladys Langton; community friendship secretary, Jennie Cuffe; supply secretary, Mrs. Sedgwick and Vera Leggitt; press secretary, Mrs. Wagar; mite box secretary, Gladys Rutherford; literature secretary, Nancy Pooley; Missionary Monthly secretary, Dorothy Drysdale; pianist, Anne Deyell.

Prayer by Mrs. W. Rose, W.M.S. Auxiliary president, concluded the successful program and a happy social time followed, when the members tried their skill at composing Christmas verse, the winners being Olive Searles and Marjorie Sedore.

Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table, gay in Yuletide red and silver, by the committee, which included Mrs. Wagar, Jean Hammond, Marion and Connie Wagar.

A sincere vote of thanks was tendered the entertaining group by Gladys Langton, seconded by Marjorie Sedore, and endored by all the girls.

Candle-Lighting Ceremony Is Held

With an impressive candle-lighting ceremony as a Yuletide feature, a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Allen Pilling presiding. The meeting opened with prayer and a Christmas hymn, and was followed by a brief business discussion.

The Clara Barn's group of the Society was in charge of the devotional program, and of the candle-lighting ceremony led by Mrs. R. J. Bird and taken part in by all the members. The story of the "Service of the Holy Fire" was told by Mrs. Fred Johnston. Mrs. W. Nelson was reader, and prayer was led by Mrs. Walter Henry. During the service, which symbolized "The Light of the World" Christmas carols were sung.

A letter from Dr. Florence Murray of Korea, telling of the great work being done in the hospitals there, was read. A Christmas lullaby, with piano accompaniment by Miss Jean McLeod, was sung by Miss Ruth McNeeley.

Tea and Christmas cake were served after the meeting by members of the Clara Burn's group.

Life Certificates Are Presented

The presentation of Life Membership certificates to Mrs. E. Wand and Mrs. W. Hall by Mrs. J. H. Vance and Mrs. W. J. Moore on behalf of Group E of George Street Women's Missionary Society was an interesting part of the meeting Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors.

Mrs. E. Wand, the president, conducted the meeting, and following a brief devotional period plans were discussed for the coming year. The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

W. A. Closing Meeting Is Well Attended

A good attendance of members was recorded at the closing meeting for 1939 of St. George's Women's Association. The meeting opened with an Advent hymn, followed by the W.A. Litany and prayers led by the president. The Bible reading was given by Mrs. T. H. Floyd.

Mrs. G. Ray, treasurer, reported a good financial year, with pledge money and fees having been sent to Toronto. Mrs. W. Farr gave the report of the Little Helpers', and Mrs. C. Cole the Juniors, both being very satisfactory. Mrs. Cole said the Juniors were packing a bale to be sent to Toronto this week. A vote was taken and all were in favor of giving the Wardens a cheque for $10.00.

The president thanked the members for their support during the year, and the chair for the election of officers was taken by Mrs. Floyd in the absence of the rector. Officers elected were as follows: Honorary presidents, Mrs. T. H. Floyd and Mrs. W. Rew; president, Mrs. R. King; vice-president, Mrs. J. Huxley; secretary, Mrs. T. H. Floyd; treasurer, Mrs. G. Ray; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. S. Hele; assistant, Mrs. A. Thomas; Living Message secretar. Mrs. W. Firth; Junior superintendent, Mrs. C. Cole; assistant, Mrs. W. Farr; prayer partner's secretary, Mrs. J. Huxley; Little Helpers' secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. Farr.

A miscellaneous bale was packed to be sent to the W.A. House at Toronto, and the meeting closed with prayer. Refreshments were served during a social hour which followed the meeting.

Knox Y.P.U. Members Enjoy Varied Program

A varied program, arranged by Mr. Don Charlton, was enjoyed by the Knox Church Y.P.U. members on Tuesday evening. Mr. Charlton, who is Fellowship convener, gave a brief address on this topic. Miss Margaret Gertley and Miss Gertrude Lancashire assisted in the devotional service, and the business period was conducted by the president, Mr. Stuart Laing, who announced the suspension of midweek meetings for the next two weeks in deference to Christmas activities. Each Sunday evening, however, there are to be Fireside Services.

The weekly Bible discussion was conducted by Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, and an information Quiz contest was led by Mr. Warren Trotter. Two reels of moving pictures depicting a varied range of subjects were shown by Mr. Bert McLeod. They were projected by Mr. R. Gillies.

Mission Circle Host To Auxiliary Members

The girls of the Living Link Mission Circle of Trinity United Church were hosts to the Elizabeth Park Auxiliary at a joint meeting on Monday evening in the Ladies' Parlors. There was a brief business session, when the slate of officers for 1940 was read for approval by the nominating committee.

Miss C. Forrest was in the chair for the worship service, conducted by Groups Three and Four. Miss Mary Webster read the Scripture lesson, choosing the Christmas message, and Miss Margaret Sexsmith led in prayer. An interesting Christian Stewardship item was read by Mrs. O. J. Frisken. Mrs. Corner rendered a delightful vocal solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. G. Nichols. The third chapter of the study book, "Freedom," was read by Mrs. A. Malby.

The climax of the meeting was reached when eight of the girls, representing various countries of the world, reproduced the Christmas broadcast from the Madras Conference of December, 1938.

At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the Circle girls.

Bible Class Closes Successful Year

Culminating a year of successful endeavor along various lines of activity, the King's Own Bible Class of St. James' United Sunday School held their annual meeting and election of officers on Monday night. Mrs. A. Davis, Prince street, was hostess to the large gathering of class members, while the class president, Mrs. P. Van Nest, had charge of the business program, which was largely a resume of the year's work.

After the opening devotions, conducted by Mrs. J. Freeman, and including prayer by the class teacher, Miss M. Collins, encouraging reports were heard from the officers and convenors, as follows:

The "Sunshine" convenor, Miss M. Robinson, reported much work in behalf of sick or shut-in members.

The financial standing of the class is most encouraging as reported by Mrs. Clark, the treasurer, and the visiting committee has done much good work. Missionary enterprise has held a strong place in the class, which has assisted in sending bales as well as helping in home organization.

Mrs. W. K. Sloane reported for the nominating committee, and Rev. F. W. Craik took the chair for election of officers.

In the program, convened by Mrs. H. F. Doig, which followed two clever contests were enjoyed: One, Bible contest, won by Miss Collins, class teacher; and two, a musical contest in which Mrs. J. M. Arnold was the winner. Interspersing these was a delightful duet, "The Perfect Prayer," sung by Mesdames Butcher and Arnold.

The election returns were read and the newly chosen executive include the following officers:

Past president, Mrs. A. Rosborough; president, Mrs. P. Van Nest; 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. Harris; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Stanbury; treasurer, Mrs. Clark; assistant treasurer, Mrs. A. Davis; secretary, Mrs. E. Kitney; assistant secretary, Mrs. A. Pearson; quilt committee, Mrs. Meeks, Mrs. M. Morrison, Mrs. Eakins; sunshine committee, Miss M. Robinson; social committee, Mrs. Downer, Mrs. Heard, Miss A. Smith; devotional convenor, Mrs. W. K. Sloane; visiting convenor, Mrs. A. Daxis, Mrs. B. Pitchford; telephone committee, Mrs. Arnold (convenor), Mrs. Hanlon; pianist, Mrs. H. F. Doig; program convenor, Mrs. E. R. Frost.

We Noticed

...That skating clothes are receiving more attention than ever this year—at the St. Regis in New York a skating star and her nimble-skating ice chorus brought before its luncheon guests a fashion show of skating clothes, and the applause of the audience was adequate evidence of the success of the venture.

...Particularly effective were the skating two-somes showing the same costume in different colors. Clan plaid woollen shirtwaist dresses with pleated brief skirts, easily bloused bodices and the long bishop sleeves were particularly outstanding, one girl wearing this type costume in a clan plaid with green predominating, another with red.

Do You Know?

When buying wool for sweaters, get one reel of sewing silk in the same shade. If this is knitted with the wool in the first few rows of the cuffs and round the neck it will save the stitches from bursting and the garment will wear much longer than usual. This is especially worth trying where children are concerned.

One of the best methods of packing accordion-pleated skirts is to make a long narrow cylinder out of cardboard. Roll the skirt along the pleats and then pull it through the cardboard cylinder. The pleats are thus kept tightly in position. Alternatively, roll the skirt tightly from side to side and slip it through a stocking from which the foot has been cut.

The Empire's Appetizer
MAKES IT A PLEASURE FOR CANADIANS TO "Buy British"
HERE and there among the many reliable products made in Britain, there are several which are of outstanding excellence. One such product is H.P. Sauce. Nowhere in the world is there a sauce quite like good old H.P. It is thick, fruity and economical, as only a small amount is required to impart a delicious flavour to foods.
There isn't a bit of doubt about its great usefulness in the preparation of Canadian dishes. Almost everything from steaks to sandwiches will be eaten with greater relish when flavoured with H.P.
It is certainly a pleasure to "Buy British" and if you like foods deliciously flavoured, you will get great satisfaction from H.P.

IN MEMORIAM

STEVENSON.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Maggie, who passed away December 13, 1938.

Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile;
A loving heart that knew no guile;
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
No thought of self but of "the other,"
I knew He said, "Well done, dear Mother."

—Ever remembered by Husband and Family.

STEVENSON.—In loving memory of our dead sister, Margaret Isabelle Duff, who passed away on December 13, 1938.

We miss her here so very much,
Her presence oft seems near;
But we all hope in heaven to meet
Where no one says Good-bye.

—Sadly missed by brother Jack, Theresa and family.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Alfred West wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent sad bereavement, also for floral tributes. Special thanks to Rev. Mr. Parr, and attending doctors.

We desire to express our great appreciation of the kindness and sympathy extended to us in so many practical ways by a host of friends during the sickness and passing of our dear wife and mother.—Henry Wilson and Family.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

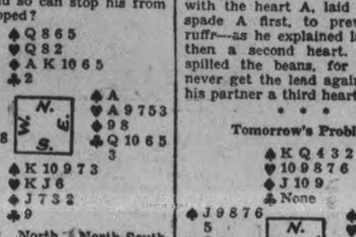
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

HE WANTS TO RUFF

IF YOUR partner has doubled the opponents' suit game contract in a situation where the bidding shows he could not have much high card strength or many trumps, he must be counting on taking tricks somehow. What other way could he have to do it? Wouldn't it be likely to be by means of a ruff with one of his little trumps? If that is the way it sizes up, why not give him a chance by returning the suit he is likely to wish to ruff, especially if you yourself hold the ace of trumps and so can stop his from being dropped?



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North bid 1-Diamond on this deal, East 1-Heart, South 1-Spade, West 2-Clubs, North 3-Spades, East 4-Clubs, South 4-Spades and West doubled. After leading the club K, West switched to the heart 10.

After that the responsibility for the hand devolved almost entirely upon East. The latter could well know that his partner could not have been expecting many club tricks, when East's support of it had marked the opponents as surely short in one hand or both. Therefore, West was counting on something else. At least that is the way East should have figured. After winning with the heart A, his play was to return a heart. The declarer, upon winning, would have led a trump to the A, whereupon East could have offered a third heart, which West would have ruffed for the setting trick.

East, however, after winning with the heart A, laid down his spade A first, to prevent club ruff—as he explained later—and then a second heart. Thus he spilled the beans, for he could never get the lead again to offer his partner a third heart.

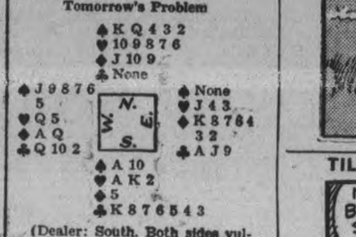
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the soundest bidding of this deal?

Gestapo Putsch In S.W. Africa Foiled By Smuts

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 13 — (C P-Reuters). — A former German army officer yesterday disclosed that officials of the Union of South Africa frustrated a Nazi putsch in South-West Africa last April by sending a police force to the former German territory.

"Gestapo officials in Germany believed the people of South-West Africa would wake up one morning and find their country in German hands," said the officer in an interview here. He asked that his name be kept secret to prevent possible reprisals.

The officer, a Jew, said that when the Nazis came into power he was given documents exempting him from the anti-Jewish boycott because of his military service to the Fatherland.

When he decided to leave Dresden, where he had resided for most of his life, he was summoned to the Dresden office of the Gestapo. Speaking to him "as a comrade" the Gestapo official in charge of the office advised him not to go to South Africa, at least not to South-West Africa, because, as a Jew, he would be no better off there.

"South-West Africa will soon be in our hands," the Gestapo official assertedly told the officer. "There will be a putsch."

The ex-officer said he knew men who travelled between Berlin and South-West Africa regularly making arrangements for the putsch. He said he believed it was planned for about the time when General Jan Smuts, then Minister of Justice and now Premier, ordered police into the territory.

"Smuts acted too quickly for them," the former officer said.

General Smuts ordered 300 police from the Union of South Africa into South-West Africa last April 17.

On the following day he told the House of Assembly the despatch of police forces "was in accordance with the Government's opinion regarding the police requirements of the territory and for the preservation of law and order."

John O'Rielly Of Percy Township Does Step Dance On 82nd Birthday

HASTINGS, Dec. 13 — (ENS). — More than sixty guests gathered at the home of John O'Rielly at Brickley as a surprise party to honor him on the occasion of his 82nd birthday.

Mr. O'Rielly has spent his entire life as a resident of Percy township and has been active in public affairs much of the time. He served as a commissioner under the Ross government and as a member of the Percy municipal council for eleven years.

Despite his eighty-two years, Mr. O'Rielly is wonderfully alert and active and appears many years younger than his actual age. Indeed his friends have high hopes that he may be spared for many more years to come, as "he is starting his second 82nd stronger than he started the first."

Impromptu Program.

After the guests had assembled they were treated to an impromptu program. Outstanding number was an exhibition of step-dancing in Mr. O'Rielly and his two brothers all more than seventy years old, showed the younger geenration how it should be done. Father Ferguson of Warkworth gave an elocution number and Warren Atkinson rendered a solo.

C. O. Dudley, acting as master of ceremonies, called on J. L. Doherty of Hastings and Hiram Curtiss of Warkworth to make short addresses In a few well chosen words they expressed to Mr. and Mrs. O'Rielly the deep esteem and affection in which they were held by the entire countryside. They were then presented with two beautiful chairs.

A number of guests were called on to make short addresses. Reeve R. Mallory of Percy township stated he had always found Mr. O'Rielly a safe advisor on municipal affairs. Thomas McMillan, deputy-reeve of Percy, congratulated Mr. O'Rielly on his four score years and wished him many more years of health and happiness. W. Atkinson spoke of Mr. O'Rielly's excellent record on municipal work and recalled that members of both families had served on the municipal board at the same time.

Sat on Same Council.

George Poole, only surviving councillor who had served on the board with Mr. O'Rielly in counties council, said Mr. O'Rielly had always been four-square and while they had not always seen eye to eye, he could always respect Mr. O'Reilly's decision as being prompted by the best interests of the township. U. Wartman also expressed his felicitations. Rev. Father Ferguson praised Mr. and Mrs. O'Rielly as parishioners and spoke of the comfort and help he had received from them during the years he has served as parish priest.

W. A. Fraser, M. P., paid his tribute to Mr. O'Rielly, he said the most enviable life was that lived among people who respected one and for whom one served. Both Mr. and Mrs. O'Rielly could surely have the satisfaction of the knowledge, not only of a worthy and worthwhile life, but also the appreciation of their efforts as attested by the sincerity of the tribute extended them on the occasion.

Mr. O'Rielly feelingly replied on behalf of he and his wife and thanked those present for the beautiful gifts. He said the people apparently expected him to sit down for the rest of his life; however, while he made good use of the chairs he intended to remain active as long as possible.

Lunch was served to the many guests of the evening after which they dispersed to their homes.

Pampered Sammy

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 13—(AP).—Sammy, a common alley cat, has a charge account for his milk. Each day the milkman leaves a bottle, even "pours" for Sammy, at a bakery garage where the cat keeps warm. The bakery cashier sends a monthly account to New York headquarters and a special cheque is made out to the diary for Sammy's milk. On Christmas day he gets a bottle of cream.

Ballooning Joints Aids Quick Healing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 — (AP). —"Ballooning" of infected and broken bone joints with oxygen to bring about quick and effective healing was reported to-day to the Southern Medical Association.

The joints actually are blown up like a toy balloon, said Dr. E. Bennette Henson of Charleston, W. Va., after enough fluid has been withdrawn to create an air space.

The treatment was designed to separate the parts of the bone and tissue which sometimes adhere and cause a stiff joint, and also to aid healing by putting oxygen in direct contact with the bone as it grows back together. This stimulates the repairing process.

Dr. Henson said he has performed the operation on more than 150 persons in age from 15 months to 67 years, with beneficial results in a majority of cases. He has ballooned the knee, ankle, shoulder, elbow, wrist, and the joints of the fingers.

The operation consists merely of inserting a large hollow needle into the inflamed or broken joint and drawing off a quantity of fluid, which may be partly blood from a hemorrhage. If left in, this would lead to further complications.

The needle is kept in place and an oxygen hose hooked to it; then the gas as pumped in under pressure. As the needle is withdrawn, the puncture is held closed for a short time to seal the incision.

League Ousts Russia As "Invader"

First To Be Expelled, 4 Do Not Vote; Asks Aid To Finns

GENEVA, Dec. 14—(AP). — The League of Nations, by unanimous vote of its council, today expelled Soviet Russia because of her invasion of Finland.

Four members of the council, including Finland, abstained from voting on the expulsion. The others were China, Yugoslavia and Greece.

The vote was on a resolution which declared that as a result of Russia's actions toward Finland "the U.S.S.R. no longer is a member of the League."

Unanimous vote of the council is necessary to expel a member. Abstentions do not affect unanmity.

This was the first time in league history that a nation had been expelled.

Call For Aid To Finland.

The council acted after the assembly had condemned Russia as an aggressor, called on its members to aid Finland and approved an invitation to non-league nations, such as the United States, also to help the little republic.

The council and assembly both adjourned after taking action on the Russian-Finnish issue.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, the French delegate, just before the council voted, declared that although France would give Finland all possible help and would vote for Russian expulsion, she could not do so without recalling past aggressions.

Paul-Boncour told the council that aggressions which preceded "this one made it possible."

He declared that the League "perhaps is waking a little late" and referred to frequent condemnations of aggression before the council by the former Russian Foreign Minister, Maxim Litvinoff. He broke away from his prepared text to say that "Russia's violation is connected with all past aggression."

Council's Resoluton.

The text of the council resolution read:

"The council having taken cognizance of the resolution adopted by the assembly December 14 regarding the appeal of Finnish government,

"First, associates itself with the condemnation by the assembly of the action of the U.S.S.R. against the Finnish state, and,

"Second, for reasons set forth in the resolution of the assembly by virtue of Article 16, paragraph four of the covenant,

"Finds that by its act the U.S.S.R. has placed itself outside the League of Nations.

"It follows that the U.S.S.R. no longer is a member of the League."

Of the 39 states present at the assembly, nine abstained from voting on the resolution condemning Russia as an aggressor and asking members to aid Finland.

They were the three Scandinavian countries, Norway, Sweden and Denmark; three Baltic countries, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia; Switzerland, China and Bulgaria.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 — (AP). — Joseph Foreberg, 22-year-old soldier, is determined to get in the United States army air corps, but you have to weigh at least 128 pounds, and he weighs only 121—or did. Today he was busily stuffing himself to make the weight by the Christmas deadline.

Nazi Battleship Is Crippled By British Cruisers

The Admiral Graf Spee, a German pocket battleship which has been operating in the South Atlantic, was badly crippled on Wednesday in a sea battle with three lighter British cruisers and sought refuge in the port of Montevideo.

Crack Nazi Liner Tries Dash From Vera Cruz

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Dec. 14—(AP). — The 32,581-ton German liner Columbus slipped out of Vera Cruz in the darkness early to-day on what was an apparent attempt to reach a German port.

Also at sea was the German freighter Arauca, which cleared Vera Cruz harbor with a mixed cargo of fibre nitrates and other consignments for New Orleans, La.

The Columbus, a rich war prize if it falls into the hands of Allied warships, obtained papers for a trans-Atlantic crossing.

Representative of the Columbus had given Oslo, Norway, as her destination in obtaining clearance papers, and since yesterday afternoon the vessel had been at liberty to sail without further notice to Mexican authorities.

The port captain's office said the Columbus left her anchorage at Anton Lizardo early this morning and was soon out of Mexican waters.

Representatives of the vessel had obtained papers for her departure,

Interned Or Fight

Washington, Dec. 14 (AP). UNDER the United States conception of international law, the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee faces internment at Montevideo unless its commander wants to risk the open sea without repairing the harm done by British gunfire.

If the German pocket battleship seeks repair of damage caused by factors other than the enemy's weapons, this may be done —provided it does not increase her naval strength.

Within 24 hours after such permitted repairs are completed, the Graf Spee must leave port, or be interned for the duration of the war.

The United States view on international law with regard to repairs to a warship is incorporated in the first neutrality proclamation issued by President Roosevelt September 5 and is believed here to prevail in Latin America as well.

Scrap Shows Nazi Superiority Berlin Claims

BERLIN, Dec. 14 — (AP). — The German high command asserted today that the German pocket battleship Graf Spee was sinking the British merchantmen Tairoa and Streons Hall when she was encountered by three British cruisers in the South Atlantic yesterday.

Authorized sources at the same time denied that the Graf Spee would be interned in Montevideo, where it went after being damaged in the sea battle.

These sources said the ship went to Montevideo merely to bury 36 dead seamen and to provide hospital treatment for wounded men and replenish victuals damaged by mustard gas which the British ships were accused of using.

(The British Admiralty denied the navy was using gas.)

Berlin Version

The German high command announced:—

"The Admiral Graf Spee, one of the ships operating in Atlantic waters since the outbreak of war, met and sank on the convoy route between La Plata and European waters the English merchantmen Tairoa (7,983 tons) and Streons Hall (3,895 tons).

"The Graf Spee encountered in this action the English heavy cruiser Exeter and the light cruisers Ajax and Achilles. During the engagement, the ship was able to damage severely the more numerous enemy craft.

"The Exeter had to withdraw from the fight after heavy hits. One of the light cruisers likewise was severely damaged.

Admit Cruiser damaged

The German high command admitted today that a Nazi cruiser had been damaged by "an underwater explosion" but said the vessel had succeeded in reaching port.

The Nazi news agency DNB described yesterday's South Atlantic sea battle in which the pocket

Smuggling Boom Sales Slump Cheapens Liquor

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP). — A Toronto paper said in a newspage story today that reduced prices of domestic liquors in Ontario government stores will become effective tomorrow.

The paper said the reduction, forced by a drop in legitimate sales and an alarming increase in smuggling and illegal sale, will probably be announced late today by Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon, Ontario liquor commissioner.

"Officials are working on the new schedules, which probably will be based on prices of $1, $2 and $3 for 12, 26 and 40-ounce bottles of popular domestic rye whiskies," the paper said.

King George Is 44

LONDON, Dec. 14—(CP). — The King, in mourning for Princess Louise, who died December 3, observed his 44th birthday quietly today. Even the usual royal salute was cancelled.

The official observance of the King's birthday is held during the summer.

The King replied to the congratulations of the Lord Mayor of London with "heartfelt thanks" and to citizens "whose good wishes I value, particularly at a time such as this."

Gardiner Sees Wheat Price Going Higher

SASKATOON, Dec. 14—(CP).—Higher wheat prices and a broadened market for hogs are predicted by Hon. J. G. Gardiner who last night announced establishment of a control board to handle Canada's end of the marketing of 280,000,000 pounds of bacon and ham which the United Kingdom has agreed to purchase from the Dominion next year.

The Federal Agriculture Minister told a Liberal by-election meeting that Hon. J. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan Minister of Agriculture, will head the bacon and hog board which also will have one member each from Quebec and Ontario. These members were not named.

An advisory committee composed chiefly of producers will work with the board. Co-operating with the

Bullets, Bombs, Rifles Found On Capture Of Guelph Fugitive

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 14 — (CP). — Police prevented 16-year-old Alex Zolomy from swallowing a letter written on tissue paper following his arrest to-day and uncovered a hoard of several thousand bullets, home-made bombs, detonator caps, rifles, test tubes believed to contain explosive; and a set of counterfeiting dies.

Zolomy, who escaped yesterday from the hospital ward of the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, was recaptured at midnight by two constables who spotted him in an allegedly stolen automobile at Mount Hamilton.

Zolomy had locked the doors and windows of the automobile, the police said, and they had to break a window to arrest him after his car was overtaken. The constables were Leonard Lawrence and William Sanderson.

Zolomy had been serving a nine months term at the reformatory for theft of dynamite and cigarettes.

Note To "Wink"

At the time of his arrest by Constables Lawrence and Sanderson, the young fugitive tried to swallow the piece of tissue paper, but was stopped. The constables took the letter, which was addressed to a person identified only as "Wink." The letter was turned over to Detectives Joseph Duffy and Orrie Young.

They followed its directions, which led to a cache under the steps of an elderly woman's house. There they found the collection of ammunition, explosives and miscellaneous articles.

Police claim that the letter explained the ammunition and weapons were intended for a crime which Zolomy planned to commit before Christmas and which he expected would make him independent. The letter to "Wink" also predicted his escape from the reformatory.

The detectives loaded the hoard into an automobile and brought it to headquarters. Afterward it was segregated and placarded with warnings pending the arrival of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who are charged with the duties of inspectors of explosives. The R.C.M.P. will arrange for disposal of the stuff.

The Guns Used

Montevideo, Dec. 14 (AP)

THIS IS HOW the weapons of the contenders in yesterday's battle compared:—

Admiral Graf Spee:—

Six 11-inch guns; eight 5.96 inch guns; six 4.1 inch guns; eight 3-pound anti-aircraft guns; ten machine guns; eight 21-inch torpedo tubes.

Exeter:—

Six eight-inch guns; eight four-inch anti-aircraft guns; four three - pound guns; fourteen smaller guns; six 21-inch torpedo tubes.

Ajax and Achilles (each):—

Eight six-inch guns; eight four-inch anti-aircraft guns; four three-pound guns; eighteen smaller guns; eight 21-inch torpedo tubes.

Neutrality Belt Issue Raised By Berlin Boast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 — (AP). —German claims of the sinking of two merchant ships during the sea battle between the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and three British cruisers off Uruguay raised the question to-day whether Western Hemisphere shipping within the "neutrality belt" had been directly affected.

(A German army high command communique in Berlin claimed the pocket battleship was sinking two British merchantmen when the British cruisers came on her.)

State Secretary Cordell Hull and Under-Secretary Sumner Welles conferred at the State Department on the battle. Indications were that Mr. Hull would have something to say later with reference to the Pan-American neutrality zone.

First reports brought the reaction in informed quarters here that a pitched battle between warships

Nazi Envoy Asks Uruguay To Let Raider Repair Without Being Interned

Chamberlain Denies British Ships Used Mustard Gas

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Prime Minister Chamberlain declared to-day that "the gallant action" of "three comparatively small British ships against a much more heavily armed adversary" probably would free the South Atlantic from depredations of the German raider Admiral Graf Spee.

Lauding the League of Nations' action in condemning Russia for the invasion of Finland, Mr. Chamberlain told the House of Commons that "Germany alone among the nations even now is abetting by word and deed the Russian aggression."

In a statement in the House of Commons, Prime Minister Chamberlain issued an indignant denial that the British ships used mustard gas shells, as alleged by the German Minister of Uruguay, Otto Langmann.

"This characteristic statement is, of course, entirely without foundation," the Prime Minister declared. "No gas shells or grenades have ever been made for, or used by any ships of the Navy."

A Gallant Action.

Full details of the fight by the six-inch gun cruisers Ajax and Achilles and the eight-inch gun Exeter were not available here, but the Prime Minister said it was apparent "a very gallant action has been fought by three comparatively small British ships against a much more heavily armed adversary, the result of which may well be to free the South Atlantic from

Shell-Torn Exeter Arrives To Land Wounded

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (CP). — The Admiralty announced to-night that naval forces watching for the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee "have been strongly reinforced."

No details were given, however, of the additions to the cruisers Ajax and Achilles which mounted guard outside Montevideo in an effort to present escape of the German warship from the neutral port.

Graf Spee Sits Tight

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 14 (AP)—The German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, her steel rent by British guns and 36 of her crew dead, clung to her refuge today in this neutral port while two of the three British cruisers which engaged her in a 14-hour running battle yesterday mounted guard out at sea.

The third cruiser, the crippled Exeter, which was knocked out of the fight after four hours of cannonading, limped into the Rio De La Plata to a position 12 miles off Montevideo.

Internment for the duration of the war seemed the only prospect for the German warship. Otto Langmann, German minister to Uruguay, visited the vessel and renewed charges that crewmen were suffering from lung and eye injuries resulting from gas shells fired by the British ships.

(The Admiralty in London and Prime Minister Chamberlain before the House of Commons denied as "entirely without foundation" German allegations that mustard gas grenades or shells had been used.)

Neutral inspectors were not permitted aboard the pocket battleship.

Two crewmen, gravely injured, were disembarked. The commander of the Graf Spee had a minor arm wound. Besides 36 Germans killed, German authorities admitted 60 wounded in the crew of about 900.

May Land Wounded

It was believed the Exeter was preparing to enter the harbor to disembark wounded, but the Ajax and Achilles and possibly other British warcraft hovered offshore, waiting to resume the battle should the German venture out.

The Admiral Graf Spee had until midnight (10.30 p.m. EST) to leave Monevideo or apply for an extension of her stay.

Langmann this morning prepared to request permisison that the warship be allowed to remain in Montevideo long enough to make repairs without risking internment.

The minister, supported by the German naval attache, planned to base the request on Uruguayan neutrality legislation.

While these steps were contemplated the French merchantman Formose, a prize the German warship was seeking when the naval battle began, reached port at 10 a.m. with passengers shaken by the engagement they witnesesd. Some of the passengers still were incoherent.

Far into the night she lay at anchor, potential target of the guns of the cruisers Ajax and Achilles which were scarcely cool from yesterday's battle.

With dawn, however, the British ships had moved out of the Montevideo roads and were not visible. It was presumed that the British warships had withdrawn to points

Clever Smoke-Laying Baffles Nazi Raider As Outgunned Britons Rout Graf Spee

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 14—(AP). —How three British cruisers, like well-trained hounds worrying a huge bear, slashed at the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee until the badly damaged warship was forced to take refuge in the neutral harbor of Montevideo, was described by eye-witnesses and authorities today.

From their accounts was pieced together a picture of the day-long battle. It showed the British cruisers Exeter, Achilles and Ajax, their guns outranged at least 3,000 yards by the 11-inch German guns, used every trick known to naval warfare to beat down their larger opponent's defences.

The British ships made "magnificent use of smoke screens, eye-witnesses said, to avoid exposing themselves disastrously to the Admiral Graf Spee's heavier gunfire. The cruisers were said to have darted from behind these sheltering smokescreens to fire their own salvos, then retreated swiftly from sight, constantly shifting their positions.

Although out-ranged and lacking their opponent's heavier armor, a British official said the lighter cruisers had to close in despite the 850-pound projectiles the pocket battleship was hurling.

To avoid these shells, one of which almost ripped a turrent from the Exter early in the battle yesterday, the British cruisers manoeuvred at high speed behind their dense smoke screens to throw the German gunners off the target.

By these tactics, they worked in close enough for the Exeter to train its eight-inch guns, firing 256-pound shells; and the Achilles and Ajax to use their six-inch guns, throwing 100-pound projectiles.

Accuracy of the British gunners was attested by the battered appearance of the Admiral Graf Spee, lying at anchorage in Montevideo harbor. It appeared that at least four, eight-inch shells struck the German vessel, two crashing into the armored area around the bridge and two others entering near the bow and the stern. Smaller shells appeared to have battered the starboard side of the warship but it was impossible to determine full damage from the shore.

Uruguayan guards kept spectators away from the area near the anchorage.

Jubilant over the cruisers' having driven Germany's pocket battleship into a neutral harbor, British officials gave full credit to the Exeter and Ajax, which are normally assigned to the South Atlantic patrol, and the Achilles, which had slipped around Cape Horn from the Pacific to help run down the German raider.

The British naval attache's office announced officially that the heavy battleship Barham had not participated in the battle. (First reports last night had indicated the Barham might have been engaged.)

Their own casualties, the British said, might equal the 36 killed and 60 wounded aboard the Graf Spee.

"If the German battleship is out of service for the rest of the war, it appears we paid a small price," a British source said.

On the other side, the Germans claimed they inflicted heavy damage on the British cruisers. One German spokesman said "it is easy to see our losses because we are here, but our enemies suffered more than we."

Mercury Plunge To Be Brief; North 10 Below

TORONTO, Dec. 14.—(CP).—The mercury plummeted more than 25 degrees in several Ontario districts overnight and citizens got their first taste of winter.

But the Dominion Observatory announced to-day it would be only a taste and forecast milder weather by Friday night.

While Sudbury, North Bay, Galt, Toronto, Kitchener experienced the coldest weather of the winter to date, the prairies watched the last remnants of the Oct. 22 blizzard disappearing under almost record high temperatures. In the Maritimes, the first considerable snow which fell earlier in the week was vanishing under rain and mild weather.

Quebec boasted a healthy blanket of snow which was attracting ski enthusiasts into the Laurentians. Ottawa and sections of Eastern Ontario also had snow.

Sudbury had a heavy fall of snow yesterday and the temperature slid to 1 below zero early to-day, dropping 26 points in less than 12 hours. It was seven below zero at North Bay during the night but the mercury was making a comeback in the bright sunshine this morning.

The temperature at Toronto dropped from yesterday's high of 45 to 17 early to-day. At Galt the drop was from 40 to 15 degrees.

Last Minute News Flashes

Counter-Attacks By Finns Cost Reds Dearly

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 14—(AP)—Military observers reported the Finns were in position today to organize counter-attacks after stopping the Soviet Russian invasion on the Karelian Isthmus.

A Finnish army communique reported last night the Red Army had been brought to a standstill, and that fighting on the Isthmus was localized.

On the eastern or middle front, the Finns said the Russians continued fierce attacks but that counter-attacks cost the Russians "great losses." Five Russian tanks, five anti-tank guns, four field guns and many machine guns were reported captured.

(A Russian communique from headquarters of the Leningrad military area said an advance of between 65 and 66 miles into Finland had been made on the eastern front. This would indicate a push of about 20 miles beyond Markajaervi, where the Russians were reported Tuesday.

(On the northern shore of Lake Ladoga, the Russian communique reported an advance of about seven miles.)

Strategists Busy At Front In Fooling Each Other

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 14—(AP). — Military strategists on the Western front have not forgotten the old theory that the walls of Jericho fell because the trumpeters held the defenders' attention while the enemy attacked from the rear.

But in this modern war, there are whistles instead of trumpets, as both sides resort to their ingenuity to fool the other fellows.

Long after the French abandoned the Warndt Forest in October, French scouts armed with officers' whistles kept the Germans guessing.

Later the same month, observers in Luxembourg noted long lines of trucks, presumably full of troops, moving away from the Moselle zone just the night before the Germans launched an attack that drove the French out of positions between the Moselle and the Saar Rivers.

Reports reaching Basel indicate a lot of fooling is being done for the benefit of observation planes. From the air a long line of trucks looks the same whether the machines are empty or full, so the Allied forces have been sending many columns of trucks dashing about for the benefit of German observation planes.

The Germans are busy laying out mock air fields, complete with dummy planes, for the benefit of wandering Allied observers.

Dummy tanks — farm wagons covered with painted canvas—are reported to have been built for the time when they may be used in simulating the concentration of forces.

Stiff Bowing, Cool Glances To Enliven U. S. Reception

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—(AP) —There may be some cold glances and stiff bows in the White House parlors tonight, when diplomats from 53 nations—some warring, some barely speaking, and some vanished—gather for their annual reception by President Roosevelt.

The strict rules of protocol probably will prevent any "incidents" at the party in the presidential residence, but there have been enough complications to give state department officials a headache.

Continued absence of the German ambassador has averted one possible delicate situation. Instead of preceding the French embassy staff, German diplomats will fall in near the rear of the line, taking the rank of their charge d'affaires, Hans Thomsen.

But it appeared certain the Japanese delegation would be right on the heels of the Chinese. Dr. Ku Shih, the Chinese ambassador, arrived last October just two months before ambasssador Horinouchi of Japan.

Precedence will put the Russian diplomats just ahead of the British staff. In front of the Russians will be the Spanish group. General Franco and the Soviet government have no diplomatic relations.

Otherwise the line-up appears comparatively safe.

Christmas Tree Cuttings To Top 4 Million

(By the Canadian Press.)

Millions of Canadian evergreens —many of them chopped down secretly at night by poachers—are moving by truck and freight car today for distribution throughout North America, to be decorated with tinsel, bright ornaments and colored lights for Christmas.

The movement of trees from country to city, from Canada to the United States, started more than a week ago and is bigger than last year when about 4,000,000 trees were exported and millions more were used within the Dominion.

Douglas fir and pine from the forests of British Columbia, balsam and fir from the Rockies, jack pine of Alberta, will be decorated in hundreds of thousands of homes in the Canadian west and south of the border into the western states as far down as New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

Quebec, Ontario and the Maritimes will provide balsam, fir and spruce trees for eastern Canada and will export trees to New England, New York state, New Jersey, sending some as far west as Ohio and as far south as Florida. New York City alone takes 750,000 trees.

The export business was worth $400,000 to Canada last year and should go well over $500,000 this Yuletide.

In Eastern Ontario, blue spruce is proving the most popular Christmas tree. In Central Ontario, Norway and silver spruce are favored.

From Peterborough comes a report of tree thieving at night. The practice is not new, but is believed to be increasing. Hundreds of trees are cut from Crown lands, it is said, and carted away without any payment

1,800 Detonator Caps

First articles recovered were 1,800 detonator caps. The officer knocked at the elderly woman's door. There was no response. So they dug under the steps. When they came upon the cache of explosives, they decided not to upset her with the news.

When they entered the cellar of the residence where they knew Zolomy had been they came upon an amateur laboratory.

Ripping out planks, they found hiding places which, they said, revealed a .303 rifle, allegedly stolen from the armouries two years ago, a .22 rifle, more than 5,000 rounds of .22 ammunition, several hundred rounds of .303 shells, two homemade bombs—one of which had a detonator cap attached—a sample bomb of a type used in the Great War, chemist's scales, films and other similar supplies, chemicals, thousands of empty shells from which the powder had been removed, a tidy note-book containing formulae and sketches, four packets of slugs copied from those used in slot machines, railway torpedoes, numerous hacksaws and the dies bearing perfect replicas—in reverse, of Canadian 25-cent pieces.

Inspector of Detectives Chamberlain hinted that several days might elapse before the investigation is completed.

Destroyer Sinks In Collision; Fear 122 Lost

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Britons were elated to-day over the news that one of Germany's three sea raiders had been shattered by British cruisers and chased from the South Atlantic sea lanes.

The Admiralty announcement today that the British destroyer Duchess had sunk with a possible loss of 122 lives after colliding with another naval unit, failed to dampen the enthusiasm which spread through the nation with word that three British cruisers had disabled the heavily-armed Nazi pocket-battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

Despite the customary blackout, crowds formed in the streets up to 3 a.m. to buy late newspapers with fuller details of the spectacular running fight between the Nazi raider and the cruisers Exeter, Ajax and Achilles which ended in the Graf Spee seeking refuge in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The elation over this victory had been heightened by a terse Admiralty announcement that a British submarine had torpedoed an unidentified German cruiser and sunk a Nazi U-boat. The British submarine, the Admiralty said, was the same vessel which sighted the German liner Bremen on Tuesday, but refrained from sinking it in respect for the rules of sea warfare. The statement did not describe the locale of the actions nor did it say what damage had been done to the torpedoed cruiser.

The Admiralty announcement

the depredations of this raider."

Almost lost in the spectacular details of the first naval engagement of the war was the announcement that the British submarine which spared the 51,000ton German liner Bremen "has sunk a U-boat and torpedoed an enemy cruiser." Details of the submarine's adventures will not be available until she reaches port.

Destroyer Goes Down

The only depressing news of the sea war was the loss of the destroyer Duchess through a collision with an unidentified ship and word that 122 members of the crew were missing.

The 202-ton mine-sweeping trawler William Hallett sank today with the loss of eight lives after striking a mine. Only one of her crew of nine was saved. The vessel was the sixth British mine-sweeper lost during the war with total casualties of 67.

In the eyes of the British people news of the routing of the Graf Spee made up for the many losses they have had on the sea in the first three months of this war and rekindled their faith in their navy to meet any emergency.

It was almost the sole topic of conversation as men and women walked the streets with big grins on their faces—it was just the sort of news they needed to buck up their spirits.

From the practical viewpoint the trapping of the battleship was extremely important because a ship of her size and speed could play havoc with meat and wheat convoys from South America.

Naval authorities believe it will be almost impossible for the probably battered ship to blast her way from Montevideo harbor.

Meanwhile the prime minister's statement castigated Russia for its invasion of Finland and reiterated the British government's determination to send military supplies to the Finnish republic.

Germany Chief Enemy

At the same time Mr. Chamberlain warned the British people they must not lose sight of the fact Germany is their chief enemy. He accused Germany of ranging itself on the side of the aggressor "whom they have even attempted to assist by insolent and violent attacks on Scandinavian countries for their moral support of the Finnish cause."

Later the Prime Minister said, employing unusual emphasis that the "opportunity provided by this conflict has been eagerly seized by the German propaganda machine and by many people acting consciously or unconsciously in its service to deflect attention from the primary object of the Allied war effort, which is to defeat Nazi Germany."

"We must never lose sight of that objective," the Prime Minister declared, carefully spacing his words to give greater emphasis. "We must never forget that it was German aggression which paved the way for the Soviet attack on Poland and Finland and that Germany alone among nations is even now abetting by word and deed the Russian aggressor."

Loss of the destroyer Duchess, Mr. Chamberlain said, "was not a loss in action but an accident which one must expect as almost inevitable under conditions of darkness" or blacked-out sealanes. The Duchess sank yesterday after collision with another vessel; 120 men are missing.

"I am afraid it is another case where there has been heavy loss of life and the navy is suffering very severely," the Prime Minister concluded.

"But the bulk of the burden of war at present is falling on the navy. They are doing their duty as they always do—they are suffering their losses but they are also preserving the safety of the country."

Mr. Chamberlain told a question- the submarine commander credited er he would like to give the name of with sinking a German submarine but that this would enable the Germans to identify the craft.

Lauds Sub Chief's Decision

He approved the action of the commander in not sinking the liner Bremen when it was returning to Germany from Murmansk.

"It is clear," he said, "that the only possible action which the submarine could have taken to stop the Bremen would have been to torpedo her, and that would have been to do ourselves what we are denouncing the enemy for."

In the House of Lords criticism of the Admiralty for "weak statements" was expressed by Lord Strabolgi, Labor, who demanded details of the submarine attack on the German cruiser and submarine.

Lord Chatfield, defence coordination minister, said there was no doubt the Graf Spee would "soon be at sea again—for a short time."

Britain and Uruguay have the legal position of the damaged battleship in Montevideo, under "active consideration," he said.

"We have been hunting the Graf Spee for some time and you may be assured than any ship that got in touch with her was not going to lose the Graf Spee even if she (the British ship) went to the bottom."

Deny Col. Drew Branded Navy 'Tin Pot'

EDMONTON, Dec. 14.—(CP)—Rev. George A. Macdonald, president of the Edmonton Canadian Club, said Wednesday that Lieut.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, did not refer to Canada's navy as "tin pot" in an address before the club Dec. 7.

The Canadian Press report of the address quoted Col. Drew as stating Canada should "do away with our present tin-pot navy" and leave naval duties to the "naval forces of Britain, organized and stationed throughout the Empire."

Mr. Macdonald said Col. Drew made no statement reflecting on the Canadian navy and did not discuss political or controversial subjects in his address. He said the Canadian Club does not permit discussion of such subjects.

"There was no political atmosphere or partianship in the address," the club president said.

Robert Steele, club secretary, confirmed that Col. Drew had not refererd to the navy as "tin pot."

TORONTO, Dec. 14.—(CP)—Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, said Wednesday that he made no reference to the Canadian navy in any Edmonton speech. Col. Drew's statement followed that of Dr. George A. Macdonald, president of the Edmonton Canadian Club, who said Col. Drew did not refer to Canada's navy as "tin pot" in an address before the club Dec. 7.

"I was ahead of the papers on my way through the West and it was not until I returned to Toronto that I learned of the dispute which had arisen," said Col. Drew. "My only reply is that I made no reference whatever to the Canadian navy in any speech I made in Edmonton."

Contractor Sounds Apsley On Wiring

APSLEY, Dec. 14—(ENS). — An electrical contractor is at present in Apsley getting contracts for wiring for the different homes, stores, etc. The Hydro seems a lot nearer, for if enough customers are found the Commission will go through and Apsley will in the near future be lighted by electricity—a great improvement and an attraction to the tourists and visitors, as well as a long felt want supplied to the people. The Hydro is up the highway already as far as Haultain, South Burleigh.

Mr. anu Mrs. C. McColl were Sunday visitors with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smith.

N. Wilson and little son and daughter were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Whitemore on Sundsy.

Sweden's Chief

A recent photo of Lieut.-Gen. Olof Gerhard Thoernell, who has been named commander-in-chief of Sweden's defence. Sweden is the strongest of the Scandinavian nations in a military sense and has the finest guns in the world. Her total trained man power is estimated at between 800,000 and 900,000 men. This man power is now being called up gradually as Sweden prepares to fight invasion if she must.

League Supports Condemnation Of Red Invasion

GENEVA, Dec. 14 — (CP).—The League of Nations Assembly to-day unanimously adopted the report of its committee of 13 naming Soviet Russia as an aggressor and recommending assistance for Finland against the Red army invasion.

The resolution accused Russia not only of violating its pledged word and the League of Nations Covenant, but also of placing itself, by its action, "outside the Covenant."

A move to expel Russia from the League automatically goes to the League Council, where it seemed sure of getting the required unanimous vote for adoption.

Members abstaining from voting in the Assembly meeting included the Scandinavian and Baltic states, China, Mexico, Bulgaria, and Switzerland.

This did not affect the official unanimity of the action, since none voted against the resolution.

Finland's delegate, the white-haired Rudolf Holsti, walked to the tribune amid loud applause to express the Finnish people's "profound gratitude."

He said the amount of practical aid which Finland would get from the Assembly's action depended up-price spreads board they will seek to prevent speculation and provide producers with an assured market and best possible prices. Mr. Gardiner said the price of wheat had risen above 80 cents a bushel within the past two weeks and should go higher. The guaranteed initial price for No. 1 Northern is 70 cents a bushel and the government's intention, the minister said, is that the surplus received from sales above the 70 cents, aside from handling and storage charges, should be returned to the producer.

Supporting Hayes

Mr. Gardiner addressed the meeting in support of M. P. Hayes, Liberal candidate in next Monday's Federal by-election called to fill the Saskatoon seat vacated by death of Dr. A. M. Young, Liberal. He is opposed by Rev. W. G. Brown, former moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, a United Reform candidate.

"Only 30,000,000 bushels of the third largest crop this country has ever produced has been exported," Mr. Gardiner said. "The balance is held by the government, by various pools, or by the farmers themselves on the farm.

"The result is that any increase in price, above 70 cents, can be returned directly to the producer and I do think that it is the intention of the government, that every cent above that 70 cents, aside from handling and storage charges, should be returned to the pockets of the farmers that produced it.

"Britain has been buying her wheat where she can get it the cheapest. She has been saying to Canada, in effect, 'you have unmatched storage facilities. When we want your wheat we will come after it.' And when Britain says she must have our wheat we will be ready with it," Mr Gardiner said.

CODE KING DIES

LONDON—(CP). — "Code King" E. L. Bentley, who published a telegraphic code for businessmen in 1905, is dead at 79. His three sons are carrying on the business of compiling private codes.

Sudbury Judge Fixes Slip Jails Driver

SUDBURY, Dec. 14.—(CP)—A 30-day jail sentence was imposed yesterday on J. A. Erickson, who last Monday was placed on suspended sentence following conviction of driving an automobile while drunk.

Erickson was re-arrested yesterday for failing to post a $100 bond, as stipulated by Judge Edmund Proulix when he granted suspended sentence.

The bond was to have been posted Tuesday, and Erickson's failure to post it on schedule gave authorities grounds for re-arresting him after it was made known that the judge and Crown had overlooked an amendment to the Criminal Code, passed in 1935, barring suspended sentences in drunk-driving cases where a conviction has been made. The amendment made a jail term mandatory.

Attorney-General Gordon Conant, who had asked for and received a full report on the case, said all Crown Attorneys in Ontario would immediately be circularized and informed that as the law now stands the court has no option of suspending sentence or imposing a fine for a conviction on a drunk-driving charge. A minimum sentence in all such cases was compulsory, he said.

"It was a very disturbing judgment," said the Attorney-General, referring to the Sudbry case, "because it certainly upsets the practice followed in the courts since the provision of a jail penalty without opition of a fine for drunk driving came into effect.

Cars Collide Near Hospital

LINDSAY, Dec. 14 (ENS).—William Walker of Boskung, Haliburton County, was taken to the Ross Hospital on Tuesday when he was involved in an accident in front of that institution. He was riding in a car driven by Norman Levick of Toronto, which skidded when the driver applied the brakes on the icy pavement. The car overturned and landed on the north side of the road. The driver was unhurt, but Walker sustained facial and head cuts.

Forbid Cutting of Trees.

The Haliburton Tourist Association has passed a resolution recommending that legislation be passed by the County Council forbidding the cutting of trees within 150 feet of the highway and taking Christmas trees at any point.

Case Adjourned.

At the local Police Court on Wednesday the case of Joseph Fritz and Joseph Walsh of Carden Township, charged with the theft of cedar trees from the property of J. McGinnis, Kirkfield, was adjourned. Magistrate Gee presided.

Percy Wellstood, of Kinmount, was convicted on a charge of reckless driving, and paid a fine of $10, and costs. The case was the result of an accident near Minden when Wellstood crashed into the rear of a truck driven by John Pearce of Coboconk, which was parked on the side of the road. Both Wellstood and a passenger, W. Guthrie of Minden, were badly injured.

Car Overturned.

While mtoring home from Lindsay on Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. J. Curl, who reside near Victoria Road, had the misfortune to miss the road in the heavy fog, and were overturned in the ditch. Mrs. Curl suffered painful facial injuries and was removed to the Ross Memorial Hospital.

60 Free Rides

Baltimore, Dec. 13 (AP)

FOR the 60th time in six years Louis Berman hoped today the correspondence law course he studied in a prison cell would lead to freedom from a life term for murder.

Under a statute permitting him to seek a writ of habeas corpus from every circuit judge in the state at least once, he filed his petition before Judge William Loker of St. Mary's county. The previous 59 attempts were unsuccessful, but each time the state provided a car, chauffeur and guard to take him to court from the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore.

Berman was sentenced in 1926.

Detroit Mystery

DETROIT, Dec. 14—(CP).—Police sought the circumstances leading up to the death of Mrs. Caroline Nolan, 25-year-old stenographer for a Detroit Roofing Company who has been missing since November 10 and whose body was found at the bottom of a manhole shaft.

The body was badly decomposed and medical examiners said it had been in the sanitary sewer basin in a deserted district of the city for at least two weeks.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Cattle trade was dull at Mid-session on the Toronto Livestock Market today, with most of the offering still unsold. The calf and hog divisions were steady, while the sheep and lamb supply was too small to make a market. Cattle holdover from Wednesday was 150 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 80; calves, 20; hogs, 220; sheep and lambs, 20.

A few butcher cows traded at $3.85 to $4.85, and about a dozen canners and cutters sold at $3.

Common to medium veal calves ranged from $7 to $9.

Hogs held yesterday's close at $8.90 off-truck and $11.75 dresedweight.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Profit-taking and lack of aggressive support gave wheat futures prices an easier tone on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Quotations fluctuated nervously before finishing 1⅜ to 1¾ lower, December 82¼, May 86 to 86⅛ and July 87¼ cents.

Eastern mill interests in the lower grades provided the only activity in a dull cash wheat market. In the coarse grain pit, Southern buying in rye strengthened prices of that commodity while profit-taking checked values in all others.

Havelock Pupils Enact Fine Play "Disraeli"

HAVELOCK, Dec. 14—(ENS). — A dramatic sketch of "Disraeli" by a cast of high school students featured the program of the Havelock Home and School Association which met Tuesday evening in the school building.

The play was introduced by Miss Grace Thomson, member of the high school staff, who also directed it. The characters were taken as follows: Disraeli by James Watson; his wife, Reta Southward; Clarissa, Hildred Akins; Meyers, a banker, Claude Watson; Mrs. Travers, a Russian spy, Joan Scott; Probert, a governor of the Bank of England, Stephen Deline; Potter, the gardener, Elmore Jamieson; Flooks, the postman, Wallace Buchanan; Basent, the butler, Edward Yeo.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. W. A. McFarlane of the Havelock Gospel Mission who spoke on "Africa." An intimate knowledge of the country, having been born and lived there until she and her husband recently came to Canada, Permitted Mrs. McFarlane to provide her listeners with many interesting points.

The twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Young, Wallace and Wayne presented as their contribution to the program the number which won third prize for them recently in an amateur contest in Peterborough. The boys nattily attired in Scottish kilts danced an intricate Highland fling, being accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harry Watson.

With the president, Mrs. George Rigby in the chair, the meeting opened with O'Canada and prayer. There were 36 adults and 3 children present.

Vote $5.00 to War Fund.

An appeal from the local Eastern Star Patriotic Society was responded to with a grant of $5 voted to this society for their war service work. The executive announced that the sale of candy at the recent Bell Telephone program sponsored by them, netted the sum of $5. Mrs. H. Pollock and Mrs. William Woodbeck were entirely in charge of this venture, and credit was given them for its success. A donation of $2.50 was also voted towards the fund which is being collected to provide candies for the children at a community Christmas tree.

The monthly attendance shield was captured this meeting by the pupils of Principal W. D. Duncan's classroom. The program concluded with the united singing of a Christmas carol, "It Came upon the Midnight Clear," followed by prayer by W. A. McFarlane.

Will Keep Daughter.

Consenting to contribute towards the support of his daughter, Magistrate O. A. Langley permitted the Crown to withdraw a charge of non-support against John Yeomans, of Blairton, Tuesday afternoon in Havelock police court.

The Crown was represented by V. J. McElderry and D. F. Millar, while W. F. Huycke appeared for the accussed.

Bancroft

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Fuller made a trip Saturday to Port Hope returning via Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Jones and children attended the Santa Claus parade in Belleville Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kellar and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kellar motored to Picton on Sunday visiting Wilbert Kellar at the Picton barracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Maxwell journeyed to Picton Sunday visiting a number of soldiers at the barracks.

Bancroft was blanketed Sunday evening with a light snowfall with a temperature of 4 degrees above zero.

Strings of colored lights have been erected across Main street at intervals. These, along with the gayly decorated store fronts, give Bancroft a real Christmas touch.

Too Young For Front Line Service

Finnish youths, too young for active service at the front, are shown taking the oath as they were inducted into service for military police duty in Helsingfors, capital of Finland. All the available manpower of the Baltic republic now has been mustered to make a last-ditch fight to preserve Finnish independence from the threat of Soviet domination. The "S" on the armband is for Suomi, native name of Finand.

Anniversary Services Concluded In Lakefield With Fowl Dinner

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 14—(ENS).—Bringing to a close a successful week-end of anniversary services of St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, was the fowl dinner which was served to about three hundred people on Tuesday evening in the Memorial Hall.

The Anglican Church was first established in Lakefield eighty-seven years ago in what is now used as the Parish Hall. For fourteen years it served its people, until at that time a growing congregation made it necessary to erect the new St. John's Church. Although seventy-three years have passed, St. John's is still quite up-to-date in appearance. The stones with which it was built were obtained from the district north of the village.

At the service on Sunday morning Rev. H. R. Howden, the present rector, chose as his text, "We walk by faith, not by sight." He emphasized particularly a note of thankfulness for work accomplished by the founders of the church buildings. As the Israelites walked by faith, through the wilderness, and just as the early pioneers in this community walked through afflictions in those trying days, so to-day must everyone draw upon the same Power in their difficulties.

The evening service was one of dedication, and speaking from the words, "Seek ye the Lord, and ye shall live." Mr. Howden urged his people to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors of eighty-seven years ago, who followed a life of family prayer and simple every-day living, striving to follow in the footsteps of Him who has laid out the way.

Two fitting anthems were rendered by the choir at both services. In the morning "Joy to the World" was given, while at the evening service the beautiful hymn, "Hail, Gladdening Morn" was chosen.

Following the dinner on Tuesday evening an excellent program was provided, with both Peterborough and local talent taking part.

Mr. Howden was chairman for the evening.

Piano solos were played by Mrs. Agnes Logan Green and Mrs. Evelyn Foster, both of Peterborough. Tap dances by Mrs. Fleming of Peterborough and Miss Betty Eagleton of Lakefield. Vocal solos by Victor Coleman, E. Vernon Morphet, Douglas Weir, all of Peterborough, and Hubert Eisdell of Lakefield. Humorous readings by J. Sharpe of Peterborough.

During the program there was a hearty sing-song, which brought forth many requests from the younger section of the audience. J. Hooper led with Mrs. E. Foster at the piano and Kenneth Mackenzie playing the accordion. Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Evelyn Fotser, Mrs. Agnes Logan Green, J. Hooper of Peterborough and Miss Aileen Young of the village.

A most hearty vote of thanks was given all those who had made the evening such a decided success.

Apsley Institute Enjoys Social

APSLEY, Dec. 14—(ENS). — The December meeting of the Apsley Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Norman Wilson on Thursday evening with a good attendance, in the form of a Christmas social evening. After the opening exercises a Christmas carol was sung, acompanied by Mrs. C. Smith on the violin. The president, Mrs. R. Tucker, was in the chair, and the roll-call was answered by "How to keep healthy," responded to by most of the members. Librarians were then appointed for the month of December.

Ways of making money for the different activities were then discussed. The president suggested making a Christmas cake as in former years. Tickets to be sold on the cake. Mrs. W. G. Smith offered to make the cake, assisted by Mrs. H. Reed. This suggestion was carried unanimously. It was decided to send cards, etc., to elderly members and shut-ins. A committee was formed for that purpose.

The district delegate to the area convention, Mrs. R. Tucker, gave a few details on some of the special business and the voting for officers at the convention, and will give a more detailed report at another meeting. The president told the members that yarn will be supplied by Mrs. W. Lean any time at her home in the village.

After the business was concluded, Mrs. T. H. Lean gave an interesting and educational paper on the health of the pre-school child. She said the infant up to one or two years was usually well taken care of with well baby clinics and medical attention, also the school age child, but the in-between often times was not so well taken care of. She urged a medical examination as regards teeth, eyes, and proper diet, etc. Mrs. Lean before her marriage was registered nurse at the Apsley Red Cross Hospital for some years.

A vote of thanks was given to her.

A contest (Christmas dinner) was conducted by Mrs. Lean, Mrs. W. G Smith winning the prize. An exchange of hand-made Christmas gifts, followed, in which many useful and pretty articles were displayed, such as aprons, pictures, pot holders, etc. Lunch was served by the hostess and a friendly time spent.

...more clear as days pass. Germany is not blocking Russia, but Germany is actually making it easier for Russia to proceed with the conquest of Finland.

Russia has 180,000,000 people; Germany has 80,000,000, and that combined makes 260 millions. Finland has but 3,500,000.

Germany's method is not one of sending reinforcements to the aid of Russia, but rather of making it difficult for supplies or assistance to reach Finland. That is done by strengthening the blockade in the Baltic. Finland has plenty of coastal water and access to the sea, but the Gulf of Finland on the south and the Gulf of Bothnia on the west are both direct connections of the Baltic Sea and German naval strength is centred there.

There is no doubt about the attitude of Germany. It has been removed from the rumor class by the plain statement of the British Ministry of Information. When permits were granted by the British government to ship war material to Finland, Germany at once made certain that her blockade would prevent such shipments reaching Finland. And we take it the same attitude will apply to any other shipment from any other nation. In that way aid to the little nation will be confined to existing equipment, and the advantage more than ever rests on the side of the aggressor, Stalin.

So that places Hitler and all for which he and Germany stands right out in the open where the world can see. In effect it means that Hitler serves notice on the sympathetic world that he will see to it that Stalin is not interrupted while he goes ahead with the crushing and absorption of Finland. Hitler will make certain that the weaker party gets nothing which will make that weaker party stronger. In that way he comes forth blatantly to sanction the heinous thing which Stalin has set in motion.

United States has placed some millions of dollars to the credit of Finland, but what good is that going to do? If the States found that Finland desired to spend the money for purchasing munitions of war or fighting planes—then what? Germany would make it certain that no vessel carrying these supplies would be able to go through the Baltic, and therefore the supplies could not reach Finland.

In that way Hitler is imposing his will on the nations which are sympathetic toward Finland. He is seeing that no one interferes while Stalin proceeds with his vulgar business, and above all it removes all the talk about Germany being sympathetic toward Finland and sweeps out the rumors of pending assistance coming from within the Reich.

It was Hitler who first made possible the invasion of Finland, and now that it is under way it is Hitler who is going to see that the job is completed. And right there is one granite-faced reason why Hitler must be smashed.

A Point Well Taken

A section of the London press is moved to protest that there is too much "dope" being handed out by the British Ministry of Information. The Daily Mirror used two of its pages to go deeply into the business. As a text upon which to work it used a number of glaring headlines from recent copies of London papers, all of them dealing with the crash of a single German plane, an event which amounted to almost nothing at all.

The claim is pressed that there is too much stuff appearing which deals with the supposed cracking up of Germany internally, and people are likely to become obsessed with the idea that the enemy is ready to fold up and call it a day.

Undoubtedly there is truth in the contention of the London paper that exaggeration of crumbling reports can work all manner of mischief. It can build up the belief at home that the winning of the war is something which is not going to require a long period and a bitter struggle. It can remove the feeling that there are darker days ahead than those through which people have yet passed.

Reports from Germany telling of trouble in that land cannot be accepted as facts, and the degree of truth in them can be arrived at only after the rankest kind of speculative optimism. It is quite possible that such reports might be forwarded with the knowledge and approval of the propaganda department of the Nazi government. If in this way the belief could be created that Germany was weak at home then it might well be called a good day's work because it might reduce the efforts of the enemies. It is more sensible and more desirable to overestimate the power of an enemy than to have a feeling created that the enemy is weakening before the struggle gets well under way.

A Wise Decision

The Conservatives of Prince County in Prince Edward Island decided not to place a candidate in the field against Hon. J. L. Ralston, Finance Minister in the Federal cabinet. The seat became vacant due to the death of A. E. Maclean, a Liberal who had held it since the election of 1921. When Prime Minister King himself wanted a seat in 1919 he found one in Prince County, and not since 1904 has there been a Conservative elected there.

But that Liberal record does not rub out the plain fact that the Conservative folk arrived at a very sensible decision when they decided not to put a candidate in the field. Hon. Mr. Ralston has before him a serious business in financing this country during a war period, and when he takes his seat he will—or at least he should—have the feeling that he is representing all the people of the riding from which he has been returned. Ottawa can stand a good deal more of that feeling.

Muddled His Record

As an actor possessed of acrobatic exuberance it would have been difficult to find one the equal of Douglas Fairbanks. In the pictures of a few years ago when he appeared in such screens as "The Thief of Bagdad," "Robin Hood," or anything of similar setting Fairbanks was at his best. In such work he probably never did have a successful competitor, let alone an equal. Of energy and agility he had almost an overload and his capacity for participating in the almost impossible escapade was remarkable.

Too bad that the reports which tell of his death could not be printed without so much of his private life coming into the record. One place or another we have seen in these accounts pictures of three wives, details of various divorces and all such. It all tends to muddle up the ability and power and remembered record of the man when he was at his best.

Needs Explanation

W. B. Coatts, Toronto insurance executive, was arrested on orders coming from the office of the Attorney-General of the province. The charge against Mr. Coatts was one of conspiracy, which has nothing about it which sounds wholesome. Toronto police were asked to assist in making a number of arrests in the same case.

When the case was called Mr. Coatts was discharged and no evidence was offered against him. But when he was arrested he was refused the right to use the telephone; he was not allowed to get in touch with a lawyer, and he was held for five hours before arrangements were made for his release on bail.

One can make allowances for errors, but the manner in which this gentleman was used calls for explanation. Any man who is placed under arrest in this country has the right to make that fact known at once to a lawyer and he has the right to use a telephone. To these recognized rights no exception should be made.

Living Up To The Rules

It would be an act of kindness if the name of the man was never disclosed. We mean the commander of the British submarine which sighted the Bremen and then allowed it to proceed on its way to port. He would have too many questions to answer; more question that he could reply to even if he lived to a ripe old age and talked to grandchildren on his knee.

British papers are at it now. The Admiralty says the submarine behaved according to the rules of the sea which set forth that a submarine cannot destroy a vessel of that sort without giving warning and taking off the passengers, crew and ship's papers.

The people who write things in the papers suggest that the submarine might have risen to the surface and called upon the Bremen to stop. It is not at all likely that the Bremen was making the trip alone, and if the sub had come to the surface it would undoubtedly have made itself an object of immediate attack.

The people in England have their own way of sizing up such a situation, and they assert: "It's cricket, but is it war?" And by that they mean—"we're at war with an enemy which does not play the game, so why should we bother about the rules?"

As usual the "silent spot" in London has little to say, and that spot is the British Admiralty. It recounts that a submarine was within range of the German prize liner, but "the submarine was, of course, precluded by the rules of sea warfare from torpedoing the Bremen without warning." And that "silent spot" is a poor one from which to seek details or demand explanations.

What would be worth printing would be the thoughts passing through the mind of the commander of that British submarine as he saw the Bremen slipping from his fingers, and knowing that according to the rules of the sea and standards of the British navy he could do nothing about it.

Going To Ottawa

The New York Times is sending Frederick T. Birchall to Ottawa as its staff correspondent, and on the face of it that is an unusual move. The Times is probably the greatest newspaper in United States, if not in point of circulation then in prestige and good standing.

F. T. Birchall, an Englishman (and as far as we know one who never changed his nationality) was formerly managing editor of the paper, but resigned to become chief of the European staff. There are few points or individuals in Europe unknown to him.

That is what makes it important that such a man should be assigned to Ottawa. Does the Times anticipate that more important news is going to break there?

NOTE AND COMMENT

One thing seems certain: Finland with odds of about fifty to one against her, cannot hold on indefinitely.

Add friendship: One report says a German vessel claims it was fired on by a Russian submarine.

Young English constable, finding three German prisoners who had escaped from a camp, merely informed them: "You will come with me." They did.

Officials in Toronto do not know what to make of a German woman being held for investigation. What puzzles them most is that she will not talk.

Russia has already started the use of poison gas against the Finns, or it may have been that Stalin moved over himself toward that front.

Britain is now buying pip props for coal mines from Canada, and that business formerly was carried on with Russia. Canada could have supplied this sort of material at any time.

When the first touch of winter came 21 nice big trucks tied up traffic for two hours on the Brantford-Hamilton road. When 21 trucks get stuck so does everything else.

Windsor man had $500 in a small safe at home, and a thief stole it. If we had $500 it would go into the safe at the bank, which seems to be built into the premises in such a way that the chances of stealing it look dim.

Hon. H. C. Nixon says there will be no civil marriages in Ontario, as asked for by a deputation of clergymen. So that means the ministers' wives will still be able to have the occasional new bonnet as the fees are paid in.

Young Canadians are attracted by the prospects of air service. In Montreal the R. A. F. has taken on 6,500 recruits since the first of September, and they are still turning up there at the rate of 100 per day.

Stratford Beacon-Herald sports writer, commenting on the poor scoring of the local team, makes this remark: "One reason why they're not getting goals is that they can't shoot." This column is not the office authority on such matters, but the reason advanced in Stratford appears to have all the marks of being formidable and sufficient.

WISDOM

(By A. R. K.)

¶ I do my shopping early now, it well agrees with me some how, that way is really best; and when my stuff is all away, why I can quit at close of day, and sit at home and rest.

¶ I used to wait till it grew late, and then I'd chant my hymn of hate, and do it good and loud; for when I then set out to buy, I couldn't hurry if I'd try, because there was a crowd.

¶ And clerks were tired when I went in, they'd neither smile at me nor grin, for they were tired I know; and I complained about them too, and talked in words both drab and blue, about them being so slow.

¶ And crowds don't stand aside for me, that's plain enough for me to see; I felt mussed up and torn; they'd stick their parcels in my eye, and buffet me both hip and thigh, they trod upon my corn.

¶ The Christmas spirit had a time, to keep from oozing from my spine, for I grew tired and lame; until I stopped to figure out, when I was getting shoved about, I had myself to blame.

¶ Since then I've been an early bird, an unkind word I've never heard, I sort the toys and horns; and clerks are friendly as can be, and no one ever jostles me—and tramps upon my corns.

Children Will Not Take Part In National Song

THAT rather old problem of what to do with children at school who refuse to stand when the National Anthem is sung, or who refuse to sing it after standing is again to the front in the town of Petrolia, in Lambton County. It turns up now and again and in nearly every case it is found that the action of the child can be traced to instruction or teaching received at home. It is so in the case at Petrolia as the report from that town reveals the circumstances as follows:

Three children of a Petrolia family have refused to sing the National Anthem in school exercises it was revealed today. One of them, a nine-year-old boy, was absent from his class today, sent home until he would consent to standing up during the singing of "God Save the King," while his two sisters who stand but do not sing with the other children were in their classes.

The children are son and daughters of Mrs. H. Stewart, Queen street, who is a member of the Jehovah's Witness religious sect. The mother yesterday sent three letters to the teachers of the three children and these were turned over to the Board of Education by Principal C. W. Young, of Petrolia Public Schools.

The board members declined to take any immediate action and left the matter in the hands of the teachers and pupils committee to investigate.

Ernest Stewart, age nine, remained away from school today because he was sent home yesterday by Principal Young after he is reported to have refused to stand up or join in the singing of the National Anthem.

Principal Young said that he had reproved the boy after he had refused to stand while the exercises were conducted in Miss L. Hills' room at Central Public School.

The principal explained that the school law states that a student may be excused from a class while any religious exercises are being performed. The National Anthem is not considered as such.

"This is the first incident of this kind that has come to my knowledge," Mr. Young said.

The boy's two sisters who attend Maude Street Public School are reported to stand during the singing although not joining in the singing.

Mrs. Stewart said she had been instructed to keep her boy home until he was ready to stand up, so she kept him home because he felt he was not doing what he thought to be right in standing up for the National Anthem.

STATES CREED

"MY CHILDREN have made an agreement to do God's will and so have I," Mrs. Stewart continued. "It is against Gods' law to worship false gods or creatures."

"We are looking forward to God's kingdom which Christ told His followers to pray for," Mrs. Stewart stated, "and by singing or standing for the singing of God Save the King of this world it would be exactly opposite to the Lord's Prayer wherein we ask for God's kingdom to come wherein His will will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

"I did not tell the children not to stand up or not to sing but I told them to do what they felt was right," Mrs. Stewart explained. "I teach my children that Christ Jesus comes before all men. We are not against the King, but Christ is our rightful king."

Quoting from Deuteronomy, Mrs. Stewart said: "We must obey God's law above all lest 'I be destroyed from the face of the earth'."

Mrs. Stewart said she had asked the teachers not to force her children to stand up or take part in the singing of the National Anthem.

"If the principal of the school decides to inflict punishment upon my children because they obey the commands of Almighty God, then the principal must take the responsibility before God," Mrs. Stewart said.

To The Editor

IS THIS CANADA?

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—There has been a lot of talk lately on the part of a certain alderman about closing the wine store. I don't see his point of view as not all people in Peterborough can afford to get a good bottle of whiskey and have to content themselves with a a bottle of wine once in a while. Is it the right spirit to try and take this privilege away from the majority of people?

On the other hand when you go for a bottle of wine you can't drink it there; you must take it away to your room or home, but you can go into a hotel and sit down and drink till you are drunk and then thrown out. What has the alderman to say to that? And did no one ever tell him you can get all the wine you want at the liquor store on George street; so to close up one wine store only means a couple of extra blocks to another wine store. After thinking things over I don't think that alderman's story holds water. If so, I'd like someone out of the kindness of his or her heart to write and enlighten me on this subject. Hoping some of our local citizens enjoyed reading this as much as I did writing it, I'll close for now.

FAIR PLAY.

• No Oatmeal, No Haggis, No Kilts!

THE EDITOR of the Peterborough Examiner has, we believe, good Scottish blood in his veins. But most of his knowledge of Scotland is gained from reading and hearsay. A Scot from Ayrshire got him by the ear the other day and told him that Scots not only consumed haggis on St. Andrew's Day, but that it is a common article of diet in Scottish households at any time of the year.

The editor's informant hailed from Ayrshire, where probably the Burns' influence and atmosphere exercises a more powerful effect than in other parts of the land o' the heather. But we make bold to say that there are probably more natives of Scotland who have never eaten haggis as an article of diet than those who have. Of course, the majority may have tasted it at a Burns' or a St. Andrew's Day dinner, but nothing more. The writer spent the first 20 years of his life there, never attended one of these national festivities during that time and neither saw nor tasted haggis in his own or any other home. That goes for millions of other Scots of any age. The truth is that the Scot is no more enamored of haggis than the Englishman—and that isn't saying much. He feels that on these special occasions he must submit to a little martyrdom in respect to the memory of the national poet and the national saint. What makes haggis acceptable to Scots is the little nip of whisky—straight—that goes with it.

The twentieth century Scots differ greatly from the nineteenth and earlier models. They seldom have red hair. They do not wear kilts. A man wearing a kilt walking along Sauchiehall street, Glasgow would be as much an object of interest, and perhaps ribald amusement of the urchins, as a Chinaman. Nine times out of ten he is an Englishman who figured he ought to "go native" when he went north. About 999 Scots out of 1,000 have never heard a single word of Gaelic and wouldn't know it from Swahili. They don't say "Hoots, mon," but "Quit yer kiddin," and other Americanese which they have learned from the talkies. Instead of oatmeal parritch they eat American cereal foods, followed by bacon and eggs or kippers. The Scot dodges the bagpipes in Scotland and becomes lachrymatory over them when he settles in some distant part of the Empire.

The old-fashioned type of Scot is much more native to Canada than to Scotland.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

• Garbage During the War Years

BRITAIN is to have three super-garbagemen to have salvaged from the refuge dumps whatever may be useful in the prosecution of war.

Garbage dumps, often considered piles of waste, contain no doubt a large amount of metal if it could be properly treated without too great cost. Much is thrown out of homes because it cannot be utilized by the owners who have no use for it though there may be real wealth in it if there is any quantity.

In a day of synthetic products waste materials can be utilized as never before.

The experts have already drawn up a list of what can be salvaged and what the government wants — old sacks and bags, rags, curtains, horsehair, old tires, copper wire, rabbit skins, old collars and shirts, feathers and silk stockings, and doubtless many other things.

Everyone remembers how two years ago there was an intensive demand for metals about the time the war in the Orient got in full swing. There was a real clean-up of metals in sheds, barns, cellars, scrap yards and even in fields where metal belonging to vehicles lay for years. Copper and iron were the particular ones in demand at that time.

The day has already come in this age when chemists can build up new products that even the apple peelings, the potato pealings, the leaves of vegetables and many other waste products may be utilized. Even today Germans have to clean cans out of which they have taken food and other contents, and save them for the government.

Nations know there are necessities even in the garbage dumps and much can be salvaged from loss.—Belleville Intelligencer.

• When Sympathy Bogs Justice

COMPLAINTS from two different sources—one about a jury's findings, the other about a penalty imposed—are a bit disturbing to those who have faith in the fairness of the administration of justice in the Dominion.

At Peterborough Judge Smoke, when dismissing the petit jury of the County Court, took occasion to remark that jurors in a case of reckless driving did not pay sufficient attention to the oath they took before the trial commenced. That particular case was heard before Judge J. A. McGibbon, and he made it plain enough, notes the St. Thomas Times-Journal, that he was not satisfied that a verdict of not guilty was correct or warranted by the evidence. The Examiner of that city says "That verdict was so at variance with the evidence that it had—and has—all the markings of miscarriage of justice. It makes it plain that the driver of a car could go at excessive speed right through the stop signs in the city, smash into a car and then be found not guilty of anything at all."

The Ottawa Journal calls attention to another case: A man hunting in the Ontario bush thought he saw a deer through the trees, aimed and fired. The movement had been that of another hunter, who fell so gravely wounded that he died the next day. In a magistrate's court the man who fired the shot was convicted of criminal negligence. And the penalty: suspended sentence for one year, no deer license for five years, the accused to pay the cost of the proceedings.

There is a growing tendency, in Canadian courts, as the Journal points out, to over-emphasize sympathy for persons convicted of such accidental deaths. They may take the ground that the victim of the accident is beyond help, that punishment of the person responsible will not restore life to his victim, that the guilty persons are not "criminals" in the accepted sense of that word, so why be severe?

This tendency appears all along the line—from the fatal accident to the less serious ones, but mostly all due to carelessness or recklessness. Juries, judges and magistrate are often inclined to take a too-lenient view of these cases. It's a serious situation that merits deep consideration on the part of our legislators, who may find a way of tightening up the law and ordering increased penalties.

REALLY APPALLING

OBVIOUSLY there will never be peace in Europe, and for that matter in the world, until a way has been found to prevent the Czecho-Slovakias and the Finlands from terrorizing and threatening the existence of the Germanys and the Soviet Russias. It is really appalling how a nation of 10,000,000 Czechs will set out deliberately to encircle a nation of 80,000,000 Germans, as in Central Europe last year, and a nation of 4,000,000 people will try to enmesh a nation of 170,000,000 people, as with Finland and Soviet Russia today. Last year Czecho-Slovakia was a dagger aimed at the heart of Germany and had to be destroyed. Now we have it from Moscow that Finland is plotting to extend its way to the Ural Mountains. Perhaps, if the Finnish people stood at arm's length, just touching each other's fingers there might be enough Finns to do the trick.—New York Times.

MOVABLE AIRPORT

THERE is something of irony in the fact that a movable airport is being manufactured in Newark, N.J., which only recently, and despite loud protests, had its supposedly immovable port pulled out from under it by the transfer of the bulk of the air lines New York business to LaGuardia Field, officially opened Saturday. Whether it is legal or not, the name of the little mayor is likely to be attached by popular use to the big new port in Queens.

The movable port is a set of equipment designed for emergency use. Its designer says its thirteen tons can be loaded on a specially built truck and hauled 100 miles in a night, then in a few minutes can outfit a level spot for day or night landing and servicing of planes.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

COMMUNIST OATH

AN OATH of allegiance to His Majesty the King is this year a requirement of all candidates for municipal elections. Almost all candidates will be found perfectly willing to take it with sincerity. Those who might object will be principally disciples of Stalin who can console themselves with the knowledge that it is quite within the Moscow gospel to make a promise with the intention of breaking it when expedient.—Port Arthur News-Chronicle.

HONEST MEN

(Regina Leader-Post)

The Saskatchewan Government is delighted to find that there are at least a $1,000,000 worth of honest men in the province. This has been the amount paid back to the Government so far on the 1938 seed grain advances, on which no compulsory repayment was provided for.

PUMPKINS

(Guelph Mercury)

Farmers won't cart in pumpkins because they take up too much room in their cars and don't bring enough money. Many a boy who came from the farm can well remember breaking pumpkins on the wagon wheel for the cows to eat, and selling them as big as washtubs for 10 cents in trade at the stores.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of Man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed ....Then said Jesus unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father giveth you the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.—John vi, 27, 32, 33.

HALF CENT DUE

ABOUT three weeks ago a St. Thomas man was advised by letter that a small package had been mailed to him from Boston. A week passed without the package turning up so he wrote to enquire. Word came back that it was certainly mailed because it was entered in the post office book and the clerk remembered handing it over the post-office counter. Another week passed and another enquiry was made. Then suddenly it arrived, plus a letter of explanation from the sender. The package had been weighed and assessed by the post-office clerk in Boston at 10 cents. Just before it crossed the border a Buffalo official regarded it with a suspicious eye and re-weighed it. Ah! It should have been assessed ten and one-half cents. There is no half-cent coin or stamp in the United States but the meticulous official sent the packet back to Boston for another one-cent stamp to be affixed.

The scale pointer could scarcely have varied a visible notch to make that half-cents's worth of difference. Perhaps the Buffalo clerk's scale had a few specks of dust on it. Postmaster Jim Farley evidently has men who look carefully after the pennies, knowing that the dollars will take care of themselves. Now that Jim has collected that cent, we may expect President Roosevelt to go confidently ahead and order a billion dollars worth of battleships.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

AMERICA'S ERROR

(San Francisco Argonaut)

A great hullabaloo went up when the debt-owing nations defaulted, but we had, by means of hostile tariffs, which drew even more and more hostile, slammed our doors in the face of Europe, and then condemned the debtors for not doing what was literally impossible for them to do. America is not free from guilt in the matter of the war that is now going on in Europe.

Commander Of First Division Earns Respect And Admiration

MAJOR GENERAL A. G. L. McNAUGHTON, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

If General Currie, commander of Canada's forces in the last war, has been looking down from the land of shades on Canada's preparations for the present conflict, he has undoubtedly nodded with approval at the appointment of "Andy" McNaughton to the command of the First Overseas Division. "Andy McNaughton," Currie once said after the war, "is the finest gunner, not in Canada alone, but in the British Empire." No one could doubt the sincerity of the corps commander's tribute to the scientific man-at-arms whom he had come to know so well, the civilian soldier who disdaining "spit and polish" made science the efficient handmaiden of military needs. McNaughton is the "modern" soldier par excellence. His kind of military genius is a product of the age in which all branches of the service are mechanized, in which force of metal and the probing mind of the scientist rather than man power are decisive factors in warfare. The people of Canada are lucky to have a man of his qualities, so appropriate to the hour, in command of their forces.

The first things about McNaughton that impress anyone meeting him for the first time are the "aliveness" of his eyes and the intense seriousness of his expression. He can be a very agreeable and friendly companion; he is entirely without "side"; in argument he is eager and and willing to listen to adverse opinions and to be informed, but does not hesitate to give his own views in forthright terms. He was never much on externals. As a young soldier he wasn't so very particular about his dress, a peculiarity which didn't meet with the entire approbation of soldiers of the old school. But if he was slightly untidy or rather unconscious about his dress, a venial fault now remedied, he was always far from slovenly in his mind and it was the mathematical precision and the awareness and resource of his scientific mind, with the zest that he always put into his tasks that brought him to the front.

Earned Respect and Admiration.

Andy McNaughton has been Chief of the General Staff at Ottawa, and has been head of the National Research Council in both of which positions he earned the respect and admiration of Canadian people, but up to this moment his principal claim to fame has been his work as counter-battery official at headquarters in France during the last war. Preparatory to the August, 1918, offensive, which marked the beginning of the end for Germany, General McNaughton and his assistants charted the location of enemy artillery units. They did this through a variety of mediums, aircraft, photos taken from the air, direct observation though binoculars, sound ranging instruments, and the intersection of gun flashes. The records thus obtained were checked and rechecked until the possibility of miscalculation was eliminated. They never lost sight of the value of surprise when the knowledge gained would be put to practical use. Commanders of German batteries cannot have dreamed that the position of their guns had been gauged with such painstaking care. Otherwise they would not have been taken so unaware. It was a grim picture that was presented to infantry battalions as they advanced in the wake of the tremendous bombardment of the guns that had been laid according to the charts given them by headquarters. Enemy guns dismantled, men and horses strewn about had been the toll of the lethal barrage. In some cases muzzle and breech covers were still on the guns when they were blown up by the Canadian fire.

Joined Militia in 1910.

General McNaughton has been an indefatigable student of the science of warfare. His training has been thorough since he joined the Canadian Militia in 1910 as a field battery lieutenant. He was a major in the Militia when war broke out in 1914 and commanded a battery in the field until April, 1915, when he was wounded and invalided from the front. His term as counter-battery staff officer was from January, 1917, to November, 1918, and he was G.O.C. heavy artillery from the latter date to 30th March, 1919. He attended staff courses in England in 1921 and from December, 1926, to April, 1928. In 1920 he became an officer in the permanent active Militia, holding posts of Director of Military Training, Deputy-Chief of the General Staff, officer commanding a district in British Columbia and from 1929 to 1935 Chief of the General Staff at Ottawa. In 1935 he left militia circles to become president of the National Research Council. This position he recently left to take over the duties of his present post.

Andy McNaughton stands high in the estimation of officials of the War Office in England and it is common knowledge that they would have liked to secure his services for their own Army in the present conflict. He enjoyed the confidence of the former Prime Minister, Mr. Bennett, who admired his intellectual gifts. The esteem and confidence in which he is held by Mr. King and his colleagues has been clearly shown in his appointment to the position of honor and trust as leader of the First Division of Canadian troops for overseas service.

Canadian families sending their young men to the front will feel that their commander may be counted on to spend steel and explosive and to conserve flesh and blood. There will be no needless waste of life to gain an objective. The justification of such a prediction is to be found in McNaughton's record in the last war, and in his nature. Canada's interests and her sons who are answering the call are in competent hands.

Candle Lighting Service Held By WMS

ROSENEATH, Dec. 14.—(ENS)—The United Church parsonage was the scene of an impressive Christmas candle lighting service on Tuesday afternoon when the regular meeting of the W.M.S. was held. "Jesus the Light of the World" was the theme of the service. Mrs. D. Brisbin presided, and assisted by Mrs. R. Crego presented the story of "The Service of the Holy Fire," with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe singing the musical portion of the service, and all members taking part in a candle lighting ceremony. Mrs. Eugene Beech sang "O Come To My Heart Lord Jesus" and Mrs. Lily Turner and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe sang a duet.

The program, "Christmas At Madras" was presented, which was a reproduction of the Christmas Day broadcast from Madras. Taking the parts of the eight world Christians who spoke during the broadcast were: Mrs. D. Brisbin, Mrs. L. Turner, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, Mrs. R. Crego, Mrs. E. Beech, Mrs. M. Davey and Mrs. O. Halstead.

During the business period Mrs. R. Crego announced receipts from bazaar, $36.84. It was decided to forward a knitted quilt presented by Mrs. L. Turner to a mission hospital.

The annual reports and installation of officers were postponed until the January meeting.

A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess, Mrs. E. Beech, who served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Recommend Teacher

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14 (ENS)—At a special meeting of the School Board Internal Committee held on Monday twenty-three applicants were considered for the vacancy created on the High School staff by the resignation of W. Shaw. At the conclusion of deliberations Dr. H. O. Richardson, chairman of the committee, was instructed to recommend the application of W. J. Burgiss to the Board at its next regular meeting. Mr. Burgiss, whose home is in Toronto, has been teaching on the occasional staff in that city. He will take over the physical training department as well as teaching Lower School history, English geography and French at the beginning of the term in January.

Drama Of The Sea – British Destroyers Destroy German U-Boat

One of the most dramatic photographs of the current war on the high seas is this one of the sinking of a German U-boat by two British destroyers. The undersea killer, bracketed between the swift destroyers, was damaged and forced to the surface by a depth charge. After her sailors managed to escape the sub was riddled with shells and sent to the bottom. The damaged sub can be seen here between the two destroyers—note the sailor on the conning tower, and the two others swimming to the destroyer in the foreground. (Radiophoto).

Country Life Problem For Evacuees

LONDON, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Britain uprooted 1,500,000 mothers, youngsters and bewildered old folks from city homes and moved them to the country just before the war began. It is only natural that a lot of homely headaches have developed to emphasize the central fact that a great act of preparedness was achieved without much fuss.

Sidelights of the life of city folk moved en masse to the country are mostly human—there's no fish-and-chip shop; the country accent is hard to understand; or it's too far to the pub.

Some exasperation with the ways of the city-dwellers has been voiced also by their hosts—the boarders cost too much; or they aren't careful enough about property.

Almost all the children from the East-end of London, the warrens of the Liverpool docks, and the mill districts of Manchester are having a wonderful time and are gaining tremendous physical benefits; that is a bright side of the picture.

On another side are sociological and physical problems created by breaking up families and moving women and children who had lived all their lives amid the smoke of factories and the rumble of trucks to the strange hush of villages.

Some are being cared for in stately houses, others in humble cottages. Government, lacking power to comfood and lodging for each school child; $1 for each mother, and 60 cents for each baby.

Back to Cities.

One major problem arose two weeks after the dispersal. The Government, lacink powers to compel people to stay where they had been put, broadcast appeals against the return to the cities. But some homesick mothers and children came back to the familiar signs and faces anyway.

In the villages, pathetic knots of women gathered at street corners, straining for a glimpse or sound of city life. Children wailed in their sleep because it was "too quiet." Wistful mothers sat in the dark—for village, like city, is plunged into a nightly inky blackness.

A room in somebody else's house, or a straw mattress on the floor, isn't fun, and it's hard when your Cockney tongue can't speak the strange Lancashire or South Country accent of your hardworking hostess, or you don't like her kind of food, or her way of cooking it.

Many authorities feel conditions will improve when communal ways of living can be provided. The Government has empowered local authorities to take over empty houses and has suggested establishing day nurseries. It is urging rapid reopening of country schools even if the children have to attend in shifts, and has suggested activities be organized to relieve householders of responsibility for children "from breakfast to teatime."

Back home, the lot of father is depressing. He must cook his own meals, keep his clothes mended, sit in darkened, silent rooms at night.

Some have suggested communal kitchens for these fathers. But they will have to take their turn—there are more urgent things just now.

Polish Destroyer Rescues British Seamen

The Polish navy still exists, as witnessed by this picture of a rescue at sea. Sailors aboard the Polish destroyer, Blyskawica, are shown aiding wounded survivors of the British ships, Shene Crest, which struck a mine off the Irish coast. The Blyskawica, and other units of the Polish navy which escaped the German blockade, have joined the British fleet.

Indian Province Would Prohibit Marriage Dowries

CALCUTTA, Dec. 13. — (CP). — The province of Bihar's assembly has sent to a Select Committee a private bill prohibiting dowries, the extortion of which when marriages are being negotiated is often protested by Hindu speakers in many parts of India. Strict Hindus consider it a disgrace to have daughters unmarried, and it is alleged that bridegrooms' relations demand a fat dowry before the ceremony takes place, a demand that cannot be evaded.

Women members supported the Bill, attacking the pressure put on brides' parents and asserting that the dowry did not benefit the young people but was wasted in extravagant marriage ceremonies. Some reformers doubt the bill's effectiveness. They say a better remedy is to abolish the prejudice against a daughter's earning her own living and against marrying outside one's caste.

In both Central and Provincial legislatures—they have concurrent legislative powers in this matter — many more bills about marriage await consideration. In Bombay and Bihard there are measures to prevent unions between men older than 45 and girls younger than 16.

At Cawnpore recently there was nearly a riot over a marriage proposed between a Rajputana merchant of 50 and a girl of 14. Shops were closed in protest, the girl's house was picketed by 2,000 people, the bridegroom was greeted on his arrival at the railway station by demonstrators with black flags. He said he was only 32 and the wedding was postponed for a week to enable him to prove it.

There are also a number of Bills to forbid bigamous marriages among Hindus and to allow them the right of divorce, and some Bills include both changes. Hindus in general regard marriage as a sacrament and do not allow divorce, though some castes do, and it is said that in ancient times divorce was permitted more widely. A Bill in the Central Assembly gives the wife the right to claim a divorce if the husband marries another woman while the first marriage is still in existence. The general idea behind these measures is to raise the status of women.

Canada's New Air-Line Brings East And West Within One Day's Travel

By Ross Munro
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Dec. 13 — (CP). — Transcontinental flights on an all-Candian route with comfort, speed, and safety is the Trans-Canda Air Lines' contribution to the Dominion's effort to keep abreast of modern transportation developments.

Luxury airliners now carry passengers and mail from Montreal to Vancouver in 17 hours and return with a prevailing tail wind in 14 hours. T.C.A. opens a new travel era in Canada, and makes Quebec a next-door-neighbor to British Columbia.

The Government-owned airline under direction of the Canadian National Railways quietly organized in the past three years and to-day it ranks with the finest in the world.

The planes used are the giant 20-passenger Lockeed Super Electras, the fastest transport ship in the world with a cruising speed of around 200 miles an hour. But during the hop over the Rocky Mountains from Vancouver with the newspaper party aboard the plane touched 300 miles an hour with a high wind behind it.

They are twin-motor, single wing planes with a most comfortable interior in brown and red color combinations with streamlined designs. The seats can be swung back so that a passenger can easily sleep in them. There is abundance of room inside the plane even when a full load is carried and six-footers can stand up without hitting the ceiling.

Ventilation and Light.

The windows are all sealed and ventilation is obtained by a regulated wind system through nozzles at each passenger's head. Lights are placed at each seat, too, and the traveller can read with ease throughout the night. As all baggage except the few essentials the passenger might néed is carried in the nose of the ship, the interior is not cluttered up with club bags and travelling equipment. Coats and hats are hung on hangers at the rear of the cabin and a wash room is located in the tail of the ship.

On the demonstration flight the plane did not carry one oxygen masks and one of the newsmen found the high altitude bothered his breathing and made him feel slighlty ill. But by the time the regular passenger service gets under way on April 1 oxygen tanks and masks will be ready for use and even persons without robust health will be able to make the flight with ease.

The air line's youthful personnel has a real esprit de corps and caters to every wish of the traveller. The average age of the 40 pilots is 28 years. They are all Canadians and many of them have been repatriated from the United States and Britain, and all have more than 700 hours of flying time. Pilots are well paid at $750 a month top salary, but it costs $10,000 to train a T.C.A. pilot, who must be a university graduate.

There is an air of quiet confidence and assurance about the captain and first officer—they are officially called this after the British style rather than pilot and co-pilot as on United States air lines—that augurs well for the mental ease of more nervous passengers.

The stewardess sits at the back of the cabin and has full authority over the travellers while in the air. She makes sure safety belts are attached and that no one is smoking during takeoffs and landings. One can smoke while the plane is in flight.

Are Nurses, Too.

The stewardess distributes cigarettes with the air line's compliments, and if any one is air sick, she looks after them competently, as stewardesses are all registered nurses. Most of them prefer the name "hostesses" as used in the United States, but T.C.A. has followed the British tradition again, stewardesses it will be.

Two light meals are served on the flight each way—a breakfast with fruit juice, cereal, and cream, rolls and coffee and a lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee. The coffee is carried in large thermos bottles, and the meals are prepared by the stewardesses and served on small trays.

The stewardesses are from 21 to 26 years old, and have been chosen notably for their beauty, charm and affability. Three of them endured lengthy interviews by the press gallery writers on nearly every conceivable subject and showed they could not be "fazed" on any aspect of their official duties. They have made only a few flights, but already they can tell questioners the landmarks over which the plane soars.

They all left nursing because air travel made a modern and somewhat romantic appeal to them. All have decided against marrying for at least three years. One stewardess told the writer in serious mood that she left nursing and joined T.C.A. because she felt she could be of more public service working on the air line.

The ground personnel has the same enthusiasm as those that fly the route. At every airport efficient mechanics, radio operators, and airport officials strive in every way to provide for both the comfort and safety of the travellers.

Bethany W.A. Votes $50 To The Church

BETHANY, Dec. 14—(ENS)—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican church held their business meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Jarvis, with 14 members present. In the unavoidable absence of the president, Mrs. A. R. Holden, the chair was taken by the honorary president, Mrs. William McCartney.

A report of returns from the recent bazaar was given by the treasurer. A note was also made of the leftover sale goods. Contents of the igloo was counted by two of the ladies with $2.35 to be sent to Aklavik.

Discussion followed regarding assisting the wardens with a deficit on their books and agreement made to donate $50 to be applied to this present need.

The annual meeting date was not decided upon, pending an exchange of clergymen for the parish. This important New Year meeting being the election of officers, which is always held in the rectory, may be deferred until a later date.

Mrs. Herbert Kennedy and Mrs. Foster proposed to supply sandwiches for the afternoon luncheon for the meeting.

At the close of the meeting, the hostess served a lovely cup of tea with sandwiches supplied by Mrs. Ernest Fallis and Ms. Price, and was assisted by Mrs. Price and Miss Nesbitt.

A small souvenir from the W.A. work was selected and put in care of Mrs. Armstrong to be presented later to our rector's wife, who has been president for a number of years.

'Fifteen Cent' Supper Bonarlaw W.I. Holds

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 14 (ENS) — Mrs. M. Handley extended the use of her home for the December meeting of the Women's Institute on Friday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Ira Lowe was in the chair and conducted the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Lawson. Mrs. T. E. Morden acted as secretary. The members answered the roll call with "Christmas Spirit."

During the business hour a discussion was held regarding wiring W.I. hall for lights, and the meeting decided to have Hydro installed and a committee of the president and Mrs. W. H. Lowes was appointed to consider estimates. A donation was given to the "Peace Garden Fund." Letters of appreciation were read for fruit sent during illness.

Mrs. W. H. Lowes was in charge of the program: Reading, "Let us keep Christmas by Mrs. A. Tully; poem, "Success", by Mrs. Ira Lowe; paper, "Christmas" by Mrs. W. H. Lowes. This was followed by an excellent report of the W.I. convention given by Mrs. G. Shield.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess assisted by Mrs. A. Tully and Mrs. I. Lowe served refreshments.

U.K. Will Expose Facts Behind Soviet Dicker

LONDON, Dec. 14—(CP Cable).—The British Government will issue a White Paper disclosing the facts of the Anglo-Russian negotiations which preceded the outbreak of war, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today.

This story of diplomatic history has never been told in its entirety because the British Government had believed it would serve no good purpose to publish it.

However, the Russian invasion of Finland and Soviet co-operation with Germany have apparently convinced the government the time has come to tell the world what went on when Britain and France attempted to persuade Russia to join the peace bloc against German aggression.

The negotiations with Russia broke down when the Soviet demanded a free hand among the small Baltic republics, which Britain regarded as likely to make them vassal states.

In reply to a series of questions asking issue of such a White Paper, Mr. Chamberlain said "the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs is having a White Paper prepared showing the course of negotiations which took place with the Soviet Government earlier in the year."

He added that the paper would be laid before the House "as soon as possible, but its preparation necessarily will take some little time." Asked if he would take steps to see that the contents of the White Paper are widely distributed among neutral countries, Mr. Chamberlain said he would "take that into consideration."

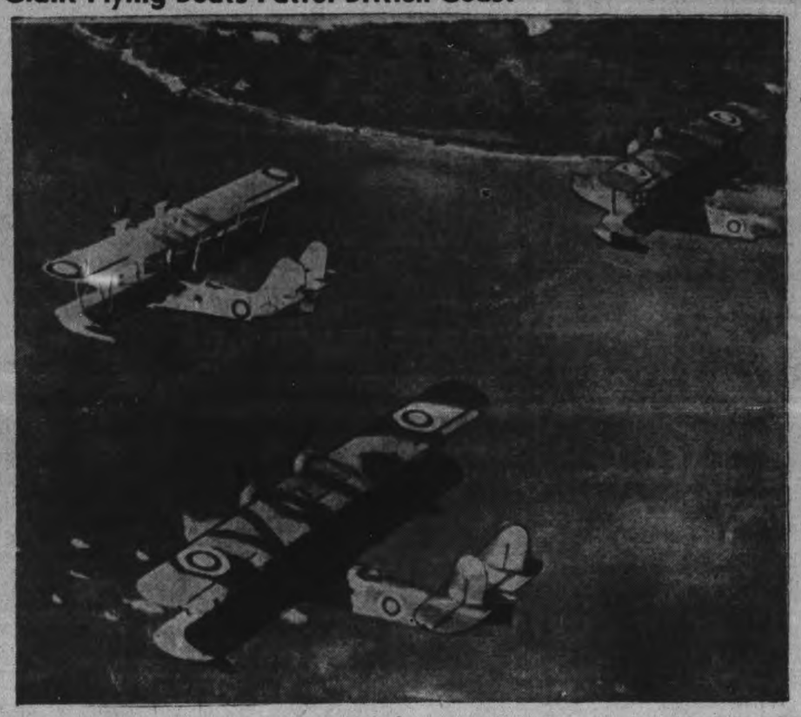
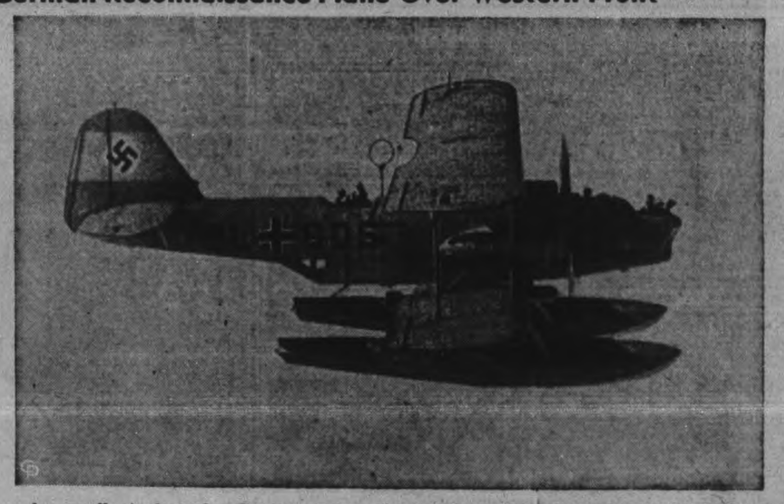
Giant Flying Boats Patrol British Coast



Giant flying boats of the British Coastal Patrol are shown here as they started their daily patrol of coastal waters. It is their duty to keep a sharp watch for German submarines and mines. These flying boats have been given credit for sinking several Nazi Uboats and directing rescue operations for scores of ships — Allied and neutral—which have been hit by floating mines or attacked by submarines. This picture was transmitted from New York by phonephoto.

German Reconnaissance Plane Over Western Front



An excellent view of a German reconnaissance plane making a flight over the Western front. It is armed with machine-guns in fore and aft cockpits and carries an elaborate aerial camera, which is operated through the bomb bay in the belly of the ship. American pursuit planes used by the French air corps have been poison to this type of ship, according to the French high command.

Mossom Boyd's Experiment In Hybrid Buffalo Failed

Sale of buffalo meat in Peterborough these days—from animals slain when the government recently closed Wainwright Park as a war measure—has recalled to old-timers the astounding experiment of the late Mossom M. Boyd of Bobcaygeon.

From 1893 to 1914 Mossom Boyd experimented in crossing the American bison with a number of types of beef cattle, in an effort to bring into being a domestic animal more suited to the rigors of the North American climate. While the experiment must be labelled a failure from a practical point of view—at least for as long as Mr. Boyd carried it on—its development was intensely interesting.

Fortunate it is that Mossom Boyd kept a record of the success and failure of his experiment for following generations to read. It becomes even more interesting in view of the government's decision to slaughter all the buffalo at Wainwright Park, leaving only a few thousand still existent in Canada at other national parks. Among those others are the descendants of Mr. Boyd's herd and experiments are still being carried on by the government in connection with the crossing of bison and cattle. For when the Boyd experiment ended with the death of Mr. Boyd in 1914, the animals were presented to the Canadian government and were shipped to Banff.

Pens Still Standing

But memory of the Boyd buffalo farm on Big Island, in Sturgeon Lake, will long linger in the memory of residents of this district. Pens are still standing on that island and many can remember when the hybrid animals used to swim to shore and loot their property.

It was a tragic thing that the experiment foundered because of breeding difficulties, for the hybrid animal obtained far exceeded the domestic cattle in many respects. For example, it was heavier in the front quarters than a beef cattle; it was more intelligent; its meat had a better flavor; it could be wintered outside in temeratures cold as 25 degrees below zero with only a wind break to protect it; it was scarcely ever subject to tuberculosis; it thrived on a lower grade of food than domestic cattle—it ate hay, unthreshed oats and straw, and was rarely fed grain, roots, ensilage or other foods; during shortage of grass some dry summers it thrived where other cattle would have lost flesh.

A tragedy of beef breeders, then, was the fact that breeding difficulties proved impossible to overcome. Scarcely twenty-five per cent of the animals of the first cross survived birth, and most of those that did proved to be sterile and could not be crossed. Not all were sterile, however, and the experiment continued for a number of years with the hybrid stock increasing steadily in number, the buffalo strain being lessened as time went on.

Herd Given Government.

When Mossom Boyd's son passed his father's herd on to the Canadian government in 1914 he felt "this work is now in the proper hands owing to the resources in the way of breeding animals, ranges, etc., which they possess in addition to their scientific staff and financial means," he wrote. "If the infertility of the mixed blooded animals can be overcome I expect a type of animal well suited to Western Canadian conditions will be produced."

These experiments were commenced by the purchase of a pure bred American Bison bull which had been captured as a calf in a wild condition in North Dakota about 1885. It had been reared in a state of demestication and was a well developed specimen. On the whole it was of a docile disposition, not being conspicuously more difficult to handle than many domestic bulls.

In the season 1893-94 the bull was bred to more than a hundred domestic cows—pure bred Aberdeen Angus, grade Aberdeen Angus, pure bred Herefords, grade Galloways, and grade Shorthorns, as well as several cows of unknown breeding.

The object of the experiment was to obtain a breed of animals which would combine the following characteristics: long coat of hair or "wool"; greater ability to resist very cold climatic conditions greater ability to obtain food out of doors under Western Canadian conditions; a greatly increased quantity of beef along the back (upper cut of a roast of beef); and general valuable qualities of the beef breed of domestic cattle.

Because of the disastrous results of the first cross between pure bred cow and buffalo, that particular experiment was not repeated, and Mr. Boyd recounts that the impossibility of continuing it was "greatly to be regretted as it resulted in a very desirable animal and so could be considered successful in every other respect."

Of the first cross calves successfully born, numbering about 30, all were without exception healthy and vigorous from the start and developed rapidly into heavy, tall, and exceedingly active animals, exceeding in size either of the parent stock. All except two were females. They were covered by a coat of long, fine, straight hair of a quite soft and furlike texture that was evenly distributed over the body. The hair differed from that of the bison in not being curly and woolly in texture. These animals did not shed their coat in spring in large patches, showing an almost naked skin on the hind quarters as the pure bred bison do, but lost their coat gradually like most other animals, and during the summer season had a coat of short hair not noticeably different from that of domestic cattle. They did not show much trace of hair on the head, throat and fore legs which is characteristic of the bison.

The first cross hybrids had "humps" nearly as fully developed as the bison and were well filled out with flesh along the back, so carrying a great deal of beef. The forequarters were well developed and the hind quarters were, too. The bison is very deficient in fullness of hind quarters and the fore part of the animal appears quite out of proportion to the rest of its body. The hybrids from dams of superior breeding were excellent beef animals, and those from grade dams in general were quite satisfactory. There was, of course, a tendency to heavy bone and length of leg. The beef was slightly darker in color, finer in quality, and richer in flavor than ordinary beef. The roasts from the back showed an upper cut about twice as deep as in domestic cattle.

Hardy and Active.

The animals were unusually vigorous from the start, hardy and active, very free from disease. Two animals reacted to the tuberculin test and were slaughtered. "No other animal was affected with any disease while in our possession, and such deaths as occurred were the results of accidents," Mr. Boyd reported.

The animals were not in any sense vicious. Owing to their strength and activity they were difficult to hold in yards as they were well able to jump over or break through fences that would have kept in an ordinary cattle. They were able to swim at least one and a half miles readily enough, and sometimes swam from their island quarters to shore and did some damage to property. Owing to their considerable ability to kick and to plunge it was never safe to enter a stall with them, but when they were not tied up they were quiet and in no sense dangerous.

"The educability of these animals was shown during tuberculin tests," Mr. Boyd recounted. "At the beginning the animals were thrown at intervals in the stalls by roping their legs for the purpose of using the termomenter. After being thrown three times the animals, when a rope was laid in the stall, would immediately lie down of their own accord and, without being tied, would allow the temperature to be taken. On the whole they appeared to show a considerably higher degree of mental development than domestic cattle."

Owing to the disastrous effect of the first cross on the cows used, it was decided to be impracticable to continue breeding in that way and the first cross was not repeated except for one experiment in which five cows that had successfully given birth to hybrid calves were bred a second time to the same bison bull in the hope they might be less seriously affected the second time. But only two produced calves, the others suffering the same result as before. From that time on attention was confined to breeding from the hybrid animals only.

It was found, however, that two-thirds of the females were quite sterile; several bred once only; and only about 10 per cent. proved excellent breeders of almost unfailing regularity and successfully reared their own calves in nearly every instance. The only male hybrid which reached maturity was quite sterile.

In all the varying degrees of bison blood—which lessened as the hybrids were bred with domestic animals—a high percentage of sterility was recorded. The herd continued to increase in numbers slowly, but steadily. In the course of time all the original first cross animals except the three regular breeders were disposed of, and the herd in the main was composed of the descendants of these three animals.

The death of Mr. Boyd in 1914 brought the experiment to a close.

Seal Skin Sale

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 — (CP). — More than half of 3,100 Alaskan seal skins offered for sale to-day on behalf of the Dominion Government by the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company, Limited, were sold in the first day's auctioning. It was the first appearance of the Alaskan pelts on a Canadian market.

FOR THIS MOMENT . . . . . .

I am a cigarette. Hands are opening the package which protects me. I do not know whose hands, nor what his mood. He may be weary with toil, or zestful with play, or tense with anxiety . .

You who are opening my wrappings — you may be in an exclusive club, a factory yard, at a wedding feast, or by some quiet fireside. But whoever and wherever you are, and whatever your state of mind, I am ready to heighten your pleasure or soften your distress . . .

To this end and for this moment — as green leaves waving under southern breezes — I drank in sunlight and fresh air, the fragrance of rain upon clean earth, of dew under starlight . . . In preparing me for this moment, thousands have found their livelihood: for I was blended with delicate care from many types of leaf, formed on costly machines, clothed in the purest of paper — made perfect.

For this moment, all my freshness and flavour have been jealously preserved so that, whether you are millhand or millionaire, whether you live in city or village, you may find delight in my silent companionship . . . I am a cigarette.

Tommies Take Over From French

A French Poilu presents arms as British Tommies arrive to take over on an unnamed sector of the Western front. The archway through which the troops are marching suggests that the British troops are pictured here as they entered a section of the Maginot line. In their first actual contact with German troops the British forces, which recently took over part of the Maginot line, are reported to have repulsed three German attacks with heavy losses to the enemy. This picture was transmitted from New York by phonephoto.

Crack French-Canadian Battalion Quieter Than Squads Of 1914

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

QUEBEC, Dec. 14 — (CP).—The 1939 edition of the Royal 22nd Regiment makes less noise than the crack French-Canadian battalion of the First Great War which treated the British Army and the French villagers to rollicking renditions of the songs of French-Canada.

"How do the troops now compare with those who served with you in the last war," was the question addressed to Major J. P. E. Poirier, second in command.

"Oh, they are much quieter; we were a pretty noisy lot," he said, with a mischievous twinkle in his eye.

And Major Poirier knows his battalion from the start. He participated in its gay and desperate adventures in France and Flanders, and served with it since the first Great War when it became one of the three infantry units in the Permanent Force.

Now the Royal 22nd, 100 per cent. French-Canadian and the pride of the Province of Quebec, stands ready to serve again as a key unit in the first overseas division.

Many Veteran Leaders.

Few units will go into action with such a large proportion of war-wise veterans among their officers. Lieut.-Col. Percy Flynn, the officer commanding, Major Poirier, and at least seven other commissioned and non-commissioned officers are veterans of the First Great War.

Col. Flynn, son of the late E. J. Flynn, one-time Premier of Quebec, served with the Allied troops in Siberia. Despite his Irish name he is a French-Canadian and speaks with a French accent. All other veterans served with the old 22nd in France and Flanders.

Major Poirier knows soldiering from the private's bunk and the front-line trench as well as from battalion headquarters and thet officers' mess. He fought in France as a private, won the Military Medal, and a few months before the Armistice made the jump from Sergeant-Major to a commission as a lieutenant.

Around him in the unit now are such old-timers as Captain J. Lafontaine, M.C., Major P. E. Belanger, Lt. P. Drouin, M.M., Lieut. J. Galaise, Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant J. Morasse, Sgt. A. Boudeau and Lance-Corporal P. Perrault, D.C.M., all veterans of the Great War outfit.

Record to Be Proud Of

In the company of such men the soldiers of the Royal 22nd quickly come to share the general pride in the valorous record of the battalion. The warlike scene at Courcellette in September, 1916, is recalled again and again. There 800 French-Canadians of the Royal 22nd attacked and captured 2,000 Bavarian and Prussian prisoners. On conquered ground they registered a furious counter-attack and fought "like lions" for four consecutive days. When they ran out of ammunition they used rifles and ammunition captured from the enemy.

St. Eloi and Mont Sorel, also in 1916, were other battles in which the 22nd distinguished itself. It fought a splendid action on the Somme in September of that year, took part in the Vimy Ridge show in April, 1917, fought at Hill 70, and Passchaendale.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 14—(CP).—David Nolan, in hospital with a groin wound received during a hold-up attempted at a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here yesterday, today was charged with armed robbery. Nolan, a 23-year-old youth of no fixed address, had been charged yesterday with attempted holdup. "It probably will be several days before Nolan is well enough to appear in court," A. J. Chamberlain, inspector of detectives, said.

Does Your Food Cause You Distress?

The impairment of the stomach is often of serious consequences, for only by properly digested food is the system nourished and sustained.

Burdock Blood Bitters is a reliable remedy for stomach disorders such as dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas, headaches, etc.

It helps to stimulate the secretion of saliva and gastric juice, the main factor in digestion, neutralizes acidity, tones up the lining membranes of the stomach, and restores the natural, healthy process of digestion.

Put your stomach right by taking B.B.B. and see how quickly you will start to enjoy your meals free from digestive troubles.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. —(Advt.)

LOCAL COLTS IN SIX-TEAM O. H. A. JUNIOR "B" HOCKEY GROUP

Schedule Drawn For Season As Lakefield In

A six-team junior O.H.A. grouping for Central Ontario was formed last evening at a meeting in Port Hope. The clubs in are: Oshawa, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Lakefield and Peterborough. The Lakefield entry came as a rather welcome surprise. Hap Wilgar and Archie Weir represented the local Colts at the meeting.

While the league is known as an O.H.A. junior "B" group, it provides for a "C" representative in provincial playdowns, too. The top two teams playoff at the end of the schedule, in three out of five, to put a team into "B" playdowns. The other four then stage a series, third and fifth place clubs and fourth and sixth in home-and-home series, survivors then playing three-in-five, to enter the provincial "C" playdowns. All games count in the schedule, and winners must be ready for playdowns by Feb. 17th.

Single Schedule

A single schedule was drawn up, which provides for five junior games in Peterborough before the playoffs. The circuit is known as O.H.A. No. 3 junior "B" grouping. The Colts obtained three of their five home tilts on Friday nights. It was made known at the meeting that Archie Weir had been appointed coach of the Colts, Hap Wilgar being manager. The clubs will carry the referee with them in scheduled games.

Following is the schedule:

Dec. 29 — Lindsay at Lakefield, Oshawa at Cobourg.

Jan. 2—Colts at Port Hope, Lakefield at Lindsay.

Jan. 5—Cobourg at Colts, Lakefield at Oshawa, Port Hope at Lindsay.

Jan. 8 — Oshawa at Port Hope, Lakefield at Cobourg.

Jan. 9—Lindsay at Colts.

Jan. 12—Port Hope at Lakefield, Oshawa at Lindsay.

Jan. 15 — Port Hope at Oshawa, Colts at Lakefield.

Jan. 16—Cobourg at Lindsay.

Jan. 19—Oshawa at Colts, Cobourg at Port Hope.

Jan. 22 — Lindsay at Cobourg, Colts at Oshawa.

Jan. 23—Lakefield at Port Hope.

Jan. 26—Colts at Lindsay, Cobourg at Lakefield.

Jan. 29—Cobourg at Oshawa.

Jan. 30—Lindsay at Port Hope.

Feb. 1—Port Hope at Cobourg.

Feb. 2—Lakefield at Colts.

Feb. 5—Lindsay at Oshawa.

Feb. 6—Port Hope at Colts.

Feb. 8—Colts at Cobourg.

Feb. 9—Oshawa at Lakefield.

Hornets Suffer Jinks At Home

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburg Hornets will have to think of a new scheme to overcome the home jinx that has been with them more than a month.

The Hornets haven't won a game at home since November 11, but they have been fairly successful on the road so last night, playing in Pittsburg, they wore their road uniforms. They were beaten 4-2 by New Haven Eagles.

The victory, the Eagles' fifth in a row and second in two nights, lifted the team into a first place tie in the eastern division with Rhode Island Reds, who were idle.

As late as the third period it looked as though Pittsburg might break the spell that has given them only a draw in five home games since November 11. They led 2-1 at the end of the second period, but New Haven scored three times in the final session while Hornets couldn't find the net.

Larry Aurie, Pittsburg coach, scored the only goal of the first period while Bill Summerhill of the Eagles and Babe Tapin of Pittsburg scored in the second, Tapin counting on a penalty shot.

In the final period Bob McCully tied the count at 8:01 on Armand Mondou's pass. Then Don Willson scored the winning goal on a play with Summerhill and Tony Hemmerling and Mondou made the result certain on a solo rush.

Purchases Ease

OTTAWA, Dec. 14.—(CP)—Retail purchases in Canadian department stores during November declined seven per cent from the previous month but were up four per cent over November last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. The index for November stood at 81.4, 10 per cent below the October index of 90.0 and four per cent above the index for November, 1938, which stood at 78.6.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Comes a request from the Canadian Press to take part in its annual poll to determine outstanding Canadian sports developments of the past year. We are asked to name the best three individual men performers in competition and activity, pro or amateur. While we probably won't do any such thing on the return slip, nevertheless we're temped to jot down the names of Ted Reeve, Mike Meikle and Tracy Shaw. Now, don't go away. Reeve really rates a spot for his activity, having quit two senior grid coaching jobs in one year, commuting between Toronto and Montreal, writing a fine daily column, and giving out no alibis for a last-place club! It's a truly remarkable piffawmance. Meikle must have something to get reams of publicity as he hopped from grid to grid, from Cobourg to Argos to Beaches to Imps, all in a few weeks and then not play a full game all season!

* * * * * *

As for Tracy Shaw, we wouldn't vote him on for his coaching alone (though he piloted the Oshawa Generals to a Dominion title) but for keeping in thick with Conny Smythe, holding his own with the Oshawa executive, and finally for having an Oshawa team playing before rabid home fans, with but a coupla Oshawa puckists on it—the rest being chopped off! A gallant guy. Serious votes will probably go to such ace gees as Bob Pirie, Toe Blake, Fritz Hanson or some such—but Reeve, Meikle and Shaw rate a mention.

* * * * * *

Three Gallant Gals

Another question is to name the best three individual performers among women. Can't think of her name but the gal who calmly sat in a good seat at the Ottawa-Argos' contest in Toronto and knitted a sweater—with nary a glance at the game—committed an unique, if not fine performance. She earned buckets of printer's ink. And the cute colleen who won the Police Games beauty crown for lovely misses—and later admitted she was a missus (with not even the detectives getting hep)—pulled off a neat performance, too. Finally, one must hand the duke to the Unknown Woman, the wife of the coach—just any coach—for seeing a worried hulk of hubby only occasionally during the playing season, and still loving the brute!

* * * * * *

As for the best individual achievement, most writers will vote the Winnipeg Bombers' championship, but one mustn't forget the heroic rasslin' referees who keep a straight face for an hour's time limit! Still another item calls for naming the three outstanding teams. We're inclined to top the list with the Conny Smythe-Andy Lytle twosome, as they click together like grampaw's store teeth. Conny makes the balls and Andy tosses 'em to the world, well wrapped in colored adjectives. Then there are the Peden brothers, who go everywhere and also nowhere together—being six-day bike riders! Nor can one neglect the Red Foster-Foster Hewitt team of sports air-rave experts, whose vocal efforts lull little babes to bed but keep dad up till all hours nudging the radio.

* * * * * *

It Was A Thrill

The final question on this rather difficult C.P. questionnaire is what was the biggest sports thrill ya experienced through the year. Well, there was that blond in the Kitchener press box—but nope, that's out. Her hubby was there, anyway. Guess the thrill we enjoyed most was hearing our name on a radio sports quiz and being announced as a cash prize winnah. It was pennies from heaven, or something—and put us back on speaking terms with the grocery gent again. Oh, well, fooling aside, we'd better put the old think tank in reverse and try to list some logical replies to this annual poll. Though we believe there is some merit in the above ideas.

* * * * * *

In Port Hope last night a six-team O.H.A. junior group was formed and schedule drawn up. It's listed elsewhere tonight. The squads are: Oshawa, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Lakefield and Peterborough. Yeah, the Lakefield lads came in, which is good news, and the junior setup around this district looks better than in some seasons. The meeting drew up the schedule using the same system the O.H.A. senior "A" does, that is the top two teams in this junior "B" group will playoff in best-of-five to see which one enters "B" playdowns. Then the last four have a series to see which one goes into junior "C" playdowns. For instance, the third and fifth place clubs and the fourth and sixth have home-and-home series, two survivors then clashing in three-in-five.

* * * * * *

Day After New Year's

Our Colts open at Port Hope on Jan. 2nd, having their first home tilt with Cobourg here Jan. 5th. Lindsay is in Lakefield on Dec. 29th. Both "B" and "C" winners must be ready for playdowns by Feb. 17th. The Colts got three of their five home scheduled tilts on Friday nights, a good break. 'Twas a harmonious meeting all around with Hap Wilgar and Archie Weir representing the Peterborough Colts. Wilgar is manager, and Weir has been appointed coach for the season. He is an experienced puckist who should teach the lads a lot about the ice game. Visiting clubs carry the referees during the schedule. It might be added here that all games in the schedule count, there being no exhibition frays worked in. A neat six-team setup.

* * * * * *

At the Southend Puck Loop annual last e'en, 10 teams entered and two more are wanted. They've got St. Peter's, Canucks and King Edward School in the bantam series; Royals, Eagles, Canucks and St. Peter's in midget; and Grads, Canucks and St. Peter's School in juvenile. One more bantam and another juvenile entry desired. Dave Leether's Grads may enter O.J.H.A. playdowns, too. Officers are: Hon. Pres., Rev. Moloney and Don Crawford; prexy, Mike OBrien; secretary, Joe Collins; assistant, Pete Fleming. This fine minor hockey circuit should handle some 150 lads again. Another meeting will be held soon to line up final entries, draw schedules, etc.

* * * * * *

Observation Platform: City Bowling League averages are in this eve .... No House Cage Loop contests last night, as "Y" members put on a show for the soldiers in Lindsay.... St. John's joust with the Aces at 7.45 tomorrow after supper in a Y.W. cage tussle, whilst Westclox follow up against "Y" Gym, and Orfuns end the evening playing Quaker Debs.... Belleville Redmen have a VanHorne Cup game with Queen's in Kingston tonight; it'll be too bad for the Bellevillains if Queen's are at full strength .... Two of the Redmen and nearly half of the Fliers are wearing helmets in hockey tilts this winter—a right good idea; Crowe is the only local puckist wise enough to wear the crash cap.... Paid attendance at the Bombers-Ottawa affair was 11,870 with receipts $11,468.95; C.R.U. takes a small cut and, after expenses, clubs split the pot.... Industrial Hockey League schedule can be drawn up now that the O.H.A. clubs' lists are released.... They're getting so goofy about their junior "A" team in Oshawa that they don't want any junior "B" players over 18—so they can hoist 'em to "A" next year!.... So no puckist in Oshawa over 18 years (unless he's on the "A" team) can get into O.H.A. competition, for the luvva Michael.... Thus endeth this chapter.

Southend Loop Organizes With 10 Teams

Mike O'Brien was elected president of the Southend Hockey League at the annual meeting held last night in the clubhouse. Honorary presidents were Rev. Moloney and Don Crawford; with Joe Collins the secretary and Pete Fleming his assistant.

There were 10 entries made last night, three in the bantam section, four midgets and three juveniles. One more bantam team and one more juvenile squad is required to round out the 12-team league. The loop should again take care of about 150 young puckists, playing at the Sacred Heart rink. Another meeting will be held later to discuss rules, schedules, playoffs and other matters. The Grads' team is a possible entry into the Ontario Juvenile Hockey Assoc. playdowns, and any other gang having this idea in mind should notify the secretary.

The Bantam entries—under 14 by Jan. 1st—and their managers are: St. Peter's, Joe Murphy; King Edward, Don Crawford; Canucks, Vern Heath. The midgets—under 16—include: St. Peter's, Joe Murphy; Royals, Ed Jobe; Canucks, Bill Jones; Eagles, E. Berardi. The Juveniles — under 18 — comprise: Grads, Dave Leether; Canucks, Clem Rivard; and St. Peter's.

Hockey Teams Are Lined Up

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14 (ENS) Harold Dunk, through whose efforts local school boys have made such a good showing in past years, has already formed teams made up of Public and Separate School boys for the coming winter schedule. Teams have been divided into three groups: Midgets, Bantams, and Peewees. Games will begin in January and practices will be held in Davidson's Arena three afternoons a week after school. Any boy who is not over 14 on January 1st is eligible to try out for the Bantam team whether he goes to school or not: Boys not over 16 on January 1st may try out for the Midgets, whether or not they attend school.

Following is a list of teams and captains:

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey and Jimmy Johnston may team up and promote a Red Burman-Bob Pastor fight in Miami in February... Pop Fuller, who had a hand in the development of Helen Wills, Helen Jacobs and Alice Marble, is on the mend after an operation in Oakland... The Babe Dahlgren Club of Waterbury, Conn, will petition the Yanks to keep Babe on first and may picket the stadium if they don't...

The Los Angeles Sports Weekly says Mike Jacobs is trying to sign Ken Washington, U.C.L.A.'s crack negro halfback, and groom him as successor to Joe Louis... Col. Heinie Miller, one of the ranking National Boxing Association officials, coaches the Maryland University boxers as a sideline.

Jimmy Roche, pro at the Elk Ridge Golf Club in Maryland, doesn't so much as look up when you start talking about holes-in-one. That's old stuff with him... He's made six in the last nine years—three on his home course, one at Hershey, Pa., one on the Congressional Club course at Washington and one at Baltimore's Rodgers Forge Club.

Young Pat Comiskey is about ready for more important opponents and may be sent against either Buddy Baer or Lou Nova here early in the new year.. Jean Williamson of the Edmonton, Alta. girl's cage team, scored five points on one play the other night and how about that for a record?..

Bud White Leads City Loop Bowlers

The following City League averages compiled by Secretary Walter Firth show "Bud" White of Jay's Cigars heading a list of thirty-three trundlers who have had the fun of belting off the hardwood pins at a 200 or better rate per game. For the 21 games White has rolled his 248 is just under the mark set up by "Bud" Weese during the 1938-9 season when the speedball expert nosed out his own teammate, Fred Martin, in the closing weeks for a 249 average.

Gordon's who have chalked up an average team score of 3549 for each night they bowled are well in front in the league standing with a 12-point margin over the second-place Duffus Recreation five, while Tom Curvin's three-game string of 952 is second only to the 959 which was hung up by Bill Masters on the K. of C. Alleys a couple of weeks ago. The highest known league single in town to date is "Bud" White's 397, which was bettered twice a year ago, both times in the City Loop, when Tommy Cupoli flattened a 410 and Weese gave the boys near heart failure the night he shot up 441.

The matches scheduled for tonight at 8:15 are Jay's vs C.G.E., Locks Works vs Capitol Grill, Duffus' vs Grant's, and Grafton's vs Gordon's.

City League averages ending Nov. 30:

E. White, Jay's	248
F Martin, Gordon's	247
J. Playford, Gordon's	245
W. Weese, Gordon's	237
V. Anthony, Capitol Grill	236
M. O'Neill, Capitol Grill	231
G. Gimblett, Grafton's	231
F. Wood, Gordon's	229
A. Delahaye, Capitol Grill	228
T. Curvin, Duffus	226
T. Miller, Gordon's	225
F. Hickey, Duffus	221
J. Marsden, Duffus	220

C. Kearns, C.G.E.	219
W. Firth, Grafton's	218
L. Anthony, Capitol Grill	218
N. Routley, Grafton's	216
V. Fitzgerald, Duffus	216
G. Robertson, Jay's	214
H. Fisher, Jay's	214
R. Clyde, C.G.E.	214
G. Walton, Jay's	213
A. Hunter, Jay's	213
C. A. Low, C G E.	212
W. Harris, C G E.	211
W. Burford, Grant's	211
T. Martin, C G E.	209
S. Adamson, Grafton's	209
C. Grant, Grant's	207
G. Jay, Jay's	207
W. Stanbury, Grafton's	204
F. Scates, Duffus	202

Team standing, Dec. 7: Gordon's, 31 points; Duffus, 19; Jay's, 18; Capitol Grill, 18; Grafton's, 16; C.G.E., 15; Grant's, 8; Lock Works, 3.

Seven Teams In Industrial Loop

At the Industrial Hockey League meeting in Duffus' last night it was stated there would be seven teams operate this winter, and possibly eight. Lock Co. decided not to enter, but the executive is checking up on one or two other prospects. A dance will be held later in the season by the executive to raise funds. Referees are requested to apply to Secretary Cliff Chapman, and a scale of pay will be decided upon later by the loop officials.

While the schedule has been drawn up, the dates have not been filled in yet, pending release of O.H.A. schedules—but this will be done shortly. It is expected that three games will be held one night a week at the Brock St. rink, and one game weekly at the Quaker rink. Other matters will be settled before the season opens, late this month or early in January. After some general discussion last night, the session adjourned.

Local Y.M.C.A. Athletes Perform For 45th Battery In Lindsay

A group of forty from the local Y.M.C.A. visited the 45th Battery in Lindsay last night at the request of Lt. Col. H. H. Brown and an interesting and varied evening's program was provided for the men and their friends. Over 400 were present and every event was followed with evident interest and keen approval.

Captain Kennedy, director of sports for the Battery, acted as master of ceremonies and Sgt. Major Smith refereed the boxing bouts.

Lt. Col. Brown expressed his keen appreciation of this friendly visit and agreed to plan for a return visit of a group of his men to Peterborough soon after the New Year. President Charles Cummer, chairman of the physical department committee, J. L. Gillespie, George Scott, Morley Plunkett and a car of young men accompanying Les Ascott made the trip as spectators.

Albert Dryland, Doug. McPherson and Charles Quinlan assisted Secretary G. H. Roper in making arrangements for the various events and the heartiest co-operation was received on all sides in making this friendly gesture a complete success.

The program consisted of four boxing bouts of three rounds and two wrestling matches, an exhibition of volleyball by two Peterborough teams, an exhibition of weight lifting by Ira Dundas and Stan McBride, and concluding with a fast game of basketball between the Battery and "Y" teams.

The Peterborough lineup:

Volleyball—Albert Dryland, Cliff Cadd, Nels. Stanger, Bill Ferguson, Jr., Jim Gillespie, Alec Fitzgerald, Don Crawford, Russ Kitchen, Pete King, Ken Kingston, Jack Hardill, Eric Vincent and Claude Elliott.

Basketball — Doug McPherson, Walter Ward, Jack Dougherty, Don Sedgewick, Bun Kingdon and Eric West.

Weight lifting—Ira Dundas and Stan McBride.

Boxers—M. Coderre, W. Joiner, J. Hobbins and M. Packenham.

Wrestlers—Jim Thorburn and W. Hogan.

SCHOOL MIXED

ST. BEES, England—(CP).—Boys from Mill Hill School, London, have been evacuated to this Cumberland village, where they go to school in an hotel and a 12th century priory. One boy cycled from London, a trip of 430 miles.

BOMBAY PROHIBITION

BOMBAY—(CP).—In the prohibition district of Greater Bombay a European temporarily residing here is entitled to a permit to purchase monthly seven bottles of spirits, 21 bottles of win or vermouth, or 63 bottles of beer.

GOODYEARS END LOSING STREAK BY TRIMMING PORT COLBORNE

Hamilton Beats Galt Outfit

Toronto Goodyears, ending a two-game losing streak, today shares first place honors in the Senior "A" Ontario Hockey Association with St. Catharines Saints. Each has won eight games for a total of 16 points.

Playing at Toronto last night the Goodyears hit their winning stride again, defeating Port Colborne Sailors, 4-0. Meanwhile over at Hamilton the Dominions strengthened their position in third place with a 11-4 lacing over Galt Moosemen.

Goodyears, playing their 11th game in 17 days, took the lead in the first period and then coasted through to victory. The speedy Sailors outskated the winners, but were not able to crack an air-tight defence.

Russ Bowman collected the first goal, deflecting home a drive by Bobby Laurent. Johnny O'Flaherty scored in the second period and Frank O'Brien and George Imlach in the third.

Cliff Chisholm's Dominions scored eight times before the luckless Moosemen entered the scoring column. The game resembled more of a shinny battle than a hockey game. Johnny Conick bolstered his scoring average with one goal and four assists.

Yanks Ranked U.S. No. 1 Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 — (AP).— Cincinnati Reds should feel better now. The team which took four straight World Series baseball games from them was the No. 1 team of all sports for 1939 in the opinion of a vast majority of United States experts balloting in the ninth annual Associated Press poll.

In winning the honor for the fourth straight year, New York Yankees rolled up the total of 211½ points, based on three points for first place, two for second, and one for third. It was the most one-sided margin in the history of the poll.

The overwhelming choice of the Yankees left second place the real bone of contention among the experts, with four football teams in a tight race for the honor. Iowa, with 87½ points, including 7½ first-place votes, finally won the runner-up position, with Southern California third with 34, Tennessee fourth with 33, and Cornell fifth with 26.

As a sport, football led the list in nominations, with nine college or professional teams named. Basketball, with the University of Oregon topping the list, drew six votes, baseball four, and crew three.

The Yankees drew 61 of the 79 votes for undisputed first place, 13 others placed the Yanks second, and only four voters failed to mention them.

Billy Marquart To Meet Jenkins

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(CP)—Billy Marqquhart today sharpened up a whistling left hook with which he hopes to blast the last obstacle out of his way on his march for a spring title match with lightweight champion Lou Ambers.

Tomorrow night the young Winnipegger, who made a sensational debut here with a five-round kayo over Billy Beauhold of New Jersey, steps into the ring in Madison Square Garden against Lou Jenkins of Sweetwater, Texas, also a pretender to the throne.

The reward to the winner, Promoter Mike Jacobs has promised, will be a crack at Ambers' in February or March.

To Marquhart, who has won 32 out of his 38 professional starts, Jenkins is just another fighter—but a good one.

"I think they're all good until I have them licked," he said. "That way I won't make any mistakes."

Watch These Stars Next Fall – They've Retired

Close on the heels of the Grey Cup final for Dominion grid supremacy came announcements of retirements, chief among which were those of these two outstanding players, fleet Fritzie Hanson, LEFT, Winnipeg running half, who led his team to its win both this year and four years ago, and Tiny Herman, ABOVE, 270-pound, placement-kicking inside wing with Ottawa's eastern champions. Both have been important reasons for the success of their teams over the past few seasons, and as rugby "retirement speeches" are more a part of the game than probably any other sport, it would hardly rate as a surprise to see them dressed like this again next fall.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 — (AP). — After considerable wrangling in the ballot box, the sports experts of the United States today decided that Lou Ambers' punches paraded just a little bit farther along the come back trail in 1939 than old Lefty Mose Grove's "dead soupbone."

Two-ton Tony Galento also figured in a three-cornered battle of votes in The Associated Press' ninth annual poll for the leading comeback of the year by an individual. Yet, while these three led the list, the 73 voting experts couldn't get together on any one comebacker who stood head and shoulders above all the others. Altogether, 67 athletes were nominated. Ambers, who exploded the fistic theory that "they never come back" by regaining the world lightweight championship from Henry Armstrong, drew 13 nominations for first place, five for second and seven for third for a total of 56 points. This selection as No. 1 comebacker thereby topped off a year in which the little Herkimer (N.Y.) Hurricane became the first fighter to win back the 135-pound crown from the man who took it away from him.

Six points back of Little Lou was Grove, the greatest left-hand pitcher of his generation, who proved that "Old Man Mose ain't dead." In 1938, Lefty walked off the mound one day with a pitching arm gone suddenly "dead." This year, the 39-year-old Boston Red Sox veteran came back to win 15 games and lost only four.

Nine of the experts selected Galento as No. 1 in a year which saw him skyrocket above the average, shake off pneumonia, actually floor heavyweight champion Joe Louis, and then go on to his amazing knockout of Lou Nova.

N.H.L. Leaders

Tommy Anderson drew assists on two of Americans' four goals against Chicago on Tuesday night, and moved up with the leaders in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Anderson's 10 points put him into a three-way tie for the last spot in the Big Seven, and knocked eight other players—tied with nine points each—out of the charmed circle.

The leaders:

Tom Moffatt, Outstanding Runner Of 50 Years Ago Is Dead

MONTREAL, Dec. 14 — (CP).— Tom Moffat, acclaimed by track fans of 50 years ago as one of the greatest runners of his generation, died at his home here yesterday. He was 78.

Twice winner of the famous Powderhall Handicap, regarded as the most important professional race in Great Britain, before coming to Canada at the age of 23, Moffat soon became Dominion champion at the quarter and half-mile distances.

He swept the board in all races from a furlong to a half-mile at the opening of Rosedale Grounds in Toronto and at Woodstock, Ont., later defeating several famous American runners in matches for $500 a side.

The old Toronto Mail toasted Moffat as the greatest runner in the world at distances from 400 to 900 yards, and Jim Keiran, a Boston sportsman, once posted a forfeit of $500 to match Tom against any man in the world at 400, 600 and 800 yards.

While still winning North American laurels, Moffat returned to Scotland to test his prowess. He again won the Powderhall Handicap and later won the acclaim of newspapers for breaking the Scottish record for the half-mile and winning another half-mile race in the same afternoon.

After winning several important races in England and Ireland, Moffat returned to Canada where he continued in championship form. He led the Dumnville, Ont., team which won the New York championship at Buffalo, N.Y., and later won renown as a snowshoe racer.

Moffatt was employed by the Montreal Harbor Commission for 30 years before his retirement seven years ago. He is survived by two sons, Norman and James, and five grandchildren.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

MARTY BARRY
Canadiens

By Central Press Canadian

One of hockey's highest scoring players found himself playing "at home" for the first time in his major league career, when Detroit Red Wings made Marty Barry, veteran centre, a free agent at the beginning of the present season and he was signed by Canadiens, his fourth National league team. Marty's career goes back to 1927-28, when Newsy Lalonde, then coaching New York Americans, spotted him on a Montreal amateur team and signed him. He only got in a few games for the Amerks and was farmed out in the Canadian-American league the following season. After leading that circuit in scoring he was drafted by Boston Bruins and from that time until early this season never missed a game played by whatever team he was with, the Bruins from 1929-30 through 1934-35, and Detroit Red Wings after that until this season. It worked out to something like 516 consecutive league and playoff games, until an ankle injury forced him out. Once he went for six seasons in a row registering a minimum of 20 goals per season and his lifetime mark is 191 goals, 182 assists, for 371 points, one of the highest totals in the league. He's been a forceful but clean player, and has spent but 239 minutes in the penalty box, and three seasons ago won the Lady Byng trophy for clean, efficient play. Born in Quebec 34 years ago.

BANQUETS OUT

LONDON—(CP)—The new Lord Mayor of London, Sir William Coxen, has announced he will give luncheons at the Mansion House instead of the usual mayoral banquets during the coming year.

Remember When—

Seventeen months after winning the world heavyweight boxing title from Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey knocked out challenger Bill Brennan after 12 rounds at New York 19 years ago today. It was the Manassa Mauler's second defence of the crown he lost to Gene Tunney in 1926 after three more successful bouts.

Bruins Short Three Stars

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins, who still have to show Toronto hockey fans why they should be tied atop the National League with Toronto's Maple Leafs, are in no soft spot to do it tonight.

When the clubs first met this season, the Leafs whipped the Bruins 5-0 at Toronto in as one-sided a game as the young campaign has produced. Since then, treated by the mysterious ministrations of Trainer Win Green and aided sometimes by Eddie Shore on the defence, the Bruins have climbed into a first-place tie with Toronto.

It doesn't add up for the Toronto customers, who thought the Bruins must have fallen apart after their Stanley Cup conquest of 1938-39.

To make more difficult Boston's task of showing the doubters something, three stars will be missing from the Bruin lineup for the engagement with the Leafs at Toronto tonight. Shore, under obligation to play only in home games, will be out of course. Two of last season's greatest rookies, Roy Conacher and Jack Crawford, will sit it out through injuries.

What Crippled Team Can Do

But New York Americans have given a shining example to the rest of the league of what a team can do on crutches. If the Americans can get by with 11 players, as they did against Detroit on a recent night, the Bruins by all the records should be able to put up a battle with Frankie Brimsek in goal, one man to poke-check and Manager Art Ross to shout from the sidelines.

As it is, Red Hamill will be up from the Hershey farm club to replace Conacher, who suffered a broken wrist Tuesday night, while the Bruins were ascending to the top by defeating Detroit. That leaves the Bears as aggressive as ever, even if Hamill isn't so polished as the sure-shooting Conacher.

While the Leafs and Bruins are struggling for possession of the top, the Americans and Detroit will be trinyg to break their last-place tie. At Montreal the Americans will tackle the Canadiens, who will be expected to return to their winning ways after a rest that ended two consecutive defeats. Detroit's sinking Red Wings will meet the Rangers at New York.

Peer Is Pleased

OTTAWA, Dec. 14 — (CP). — Bert Peer, husky right winger of Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, was given his outright release by Senators today. It was understood he would try to land a berth with Omaha of the American Association.

Top scorer in the Quebec Provincial League last season, Peer joined Senators this year. He comes from Port Credit, Ont.

National League's Leading Sniper

Tops in both goals and points one week after another, as the National League statistics are issued, is Gordie Drillon, right wing opportunist with Toronto Maple Leafs, who led the league in scoring two seasons back, his second as a major leaguer, and is flashing the form that might forbode a repeat act this year. Like Nels Stewart, Charlie Conacher and many other great goal-getters, Drillon doesn't work himself thin checking his opponents, but when both he and the puck are in the vicinity of the enemy goal at the same time, the goal judge usually has some work to do. He is seen here starting a rush.

N.H.L. Governors To Levy Fines To Keep Managers And Coaches Warming Benches

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 — (CP). — The Board of Governors of the National Hockey League wants to start off bench-warming players, coaches and managers in the right direction for the coming New Year.

In their first meeting of the season in New York, the governors yesterday approved a rule which automatically would impose a fine of $25 on players, $50 on coaches and $100 on managers who leave their benches to rush on to the ice and protest an official decision or engage in a fist fight.

One factor which brought about the rule was an incident in Chicago last week, when Manager Red Dutton of New York Americans ran out on the ice to protest Referee Norman Lamport's decisions which nullified two of the Amerks' goals in their game with the Black Hawks.

Not a word was said at the meeting about the verbal dispute between James Norris, Sr., owner of Detroit Red Wings, and Referee Bill Stewart in Chicago a few days ago. Norris at that time objected heatedly to some of Stewart's dicisions.

Wrestling

Rochester, N.Y.—Ed Don George, 234, North Java, N.Y., and Joe Savoldi, 222, Three Oaks, Mich., drew.

Sub That Let

outside territorial waters off the broad mouth of Rio de la Plata.

Hit Badly 4 Times

Daylight permitted closer inspection of the Admiral Graf Spee's wounds—two large holes in the bridge area, another astern and a fourth at the bow, as well as slighter damage from shellfire along her starboard above the waterline, particularly in the engine room area.

The wounded crewmen remained aboard, except for two gravely injured seamen who were taken to a military hospital.

The German minister said the Admiral Graf Spee's commander was among those injured but that his condition was not serious. The dead included a lieutenant.

The cruisers, the 7,030-ton Achilles and the 6,985-ton Ajax, along with the cruiser Exeter, were the conquerors of the Admiral Graf Spee—in all, 22,405 tons of speedier naval power against the larger guns of the 10,000-ton pocket battleship.

Forced Out Of Battle.

The Exeter, 8,390 tons, was in the battle for only four hours before the 11-inch guns of the German warship forced her to withdraw from the chase.

The Achilles and the Ajax hounded the Admiral Graf Spee for the entire 14 hours—from 6 a.m. (4.30 a.m., EST) until after 8 p.m.—their six-inch guns almost constantly ablaze.

Uruguayan officials who boarded the Admiral Graf Spee said the Germans reported that one of their shots scored a direct hit on a turret of the Exeter almost at the start of the battle.

German officers described how other shells struck the cruiser but apparently failed to penetrate her vital parts for the Exeter continued for some time in battle.

Shortly after midnight the German Minister to Uruguay, Otto Langman, and his staff had gone aboard the Admiral Graf Spee to check the damage and casualties, and was expected to request the Uruguayan government to intern the vessel.

Spee Proves Surprise.

It was the envoy who made the first official announcement of the warship's identity. This was a surprise for there had been no hint that the Admiral Graf Spee had joined her sister ships, the Deutschland and Admiral Scheer in Atlantic raiding.

The Admiral Graf Spee had not been mentioned in war reports since the British air raid on Germany's Kiel base, Sept. 4, the second day of the war.

A Royal Air Force pilot, said to have dropped the first bomb of the war, declared in an authorized interview at London Sept. 19 that the Admiral Graf Spee was the principal target of the raid. Germany denied she had been hit.

She had not been reported participating in surface raiding such as had been marked up to her generally identical sisterships, the Deutschland and Admiral Scheer.

Scrap In Sight Of Shore

The engagement — the first important naval encounter of the war thus far—occurred within the Pan-American neutrality belt and much of it could be seen from the Uruguayan shore. Observers and radio stations gave Uruaquayans a virtual round-by-round account of daylight portions of the fight.

(Informed circles at Washington believed no issue would be raised over the fact that the encounter took place within the neutrality zone. It was pointed out that the zone was designed to prevent belligerent activities harmful to Pan-American interests.)

The Admiral Graf Spee touched off the battle when she came upon the cruiser Ajax just after dawn yesterday. The British warship was convoying the French merchantman Formosa from Brazil to Uruguay.

The German vessel rushed into battle, her heavy guns blazing. The French freighter slipped away to safety. The Ajax returned the German fire with her six-inch guns, momentarily repulsing the attacker and at the same time summoning the Achilles and Exeter.

Quickly the Germans found the tables turned with their 26-knot battleship harassed by three faster but lighter-armed British ships. The Ajax and Achilles make 32.5 knots, the Exeter 32. The Admiral Graf Spee apparently found the Exeter's eight-inch guns particularly damaging for she turned her back on her other attackers to concentrate volley after volley on the Exeter, heaviest of the three British men o' war.

This concentration of fire put the Exeter out of the battle after four hours, her armor — from two to three inches thick—battered by the German shells. But the diversion benefitted the other two British ships.

The six-inch guns of the Achilles and Ajax were more than a match for the 11-inch weapons of the Admiral Graf Spee and she squirmed to escape. Observers at Punta Del Este lighthouse on the Uruquayan shore saw the pocket battleship steam away to the southwest but the Achilles and Ajax were at her heels, relentlessly firing.

Game of Hare and Hounds.

Black smoke from the funnels of the manoeuvring ships streaked the horizon and the rumble of guns reached the shore as pursued and pursuer circled in a grim game of hare and hounds.

Her wounds hidden by the night, the Admiral Graf Spee crept into the harbor, guided to her anchorage by a Montevideo port pilot taken aboard by the German warship's launch.

Commodore H. H. Harwood of the Exeter was named by the British Legation as the victorious commander.

The battle occurred 25 years to the month after Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee caught German Admiral Von Spee's two armored cruisers, three light cruisers, and three supply ships off the Falkland Islands, near the southern tip of Argentina.

All but one of the German ships were sent to the bottom. That was on December 8, 1914, and the victory gave Britain undisputed command of main ocean routes for the rest of the war. Yesterday, in another war, it was the battleship namesake of Admiral Von Spee which was beaten.

giving Oslo as her destination, and since yesterday noon she had been authorized to sail without further notice.

Crew members had been recalled from shore leave and the Columbus was heavily provisioned and fuelled. In the past week she had taken aboard more than 20,000 barrels of oil.

Ship's agents also obtained papers yesterday for the German freighter Arauca which, according to her manifesto, has a cargo of 4,000 tons of fiber and a large quantity of nitrates, sulphur, crude oil, coffee and sugar consigned to New Orleans, La.

(Before the war the Columbus was in regular service between New York and German ports. On Sept. 1, two days before Great Britain went to war with the Reich, she entered Havana, Cuba, to disembark 775 American tourists who had been making a West Indies cruise. She tied up at Vera Cruz Sept. 4.)

made. In other instances, tree cutters agree to pay farmers from three to five cents for each tree cut from the property, but cut more than the number agreed upon. Similar reports come from other points.

The tree for which the farmer receives three cents or a nickel is taken to the city and sold for from 25 cents to $1.25. Trees large enough to be used in churches or for public functions, are selling in some centres for as much as $7 and $8.

At Prince Albert, the Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources is selling black spruce trees from the forest reserve adjoining the city to children for 15 cents and to adults for 25 cents.

In the Toronto district, wholesalers report a heavy demand despite the mild weather. Because of the mild temperatures, swamp areas where young spruce and balsam grow in abundance are more difficult to traverse than if they were frozen.

The result has been that fewer trees have been cut this season and trees of a size which last year sold for 50 cents, this year are getting 75 cents and $1.00.

The Owen Sound and Muskoka districts are chief sources of supply for Toronto. These come by truck. Some are shipped by rail from Manitoulin Island.

In some areas, such as Fort William, the Christmas tree business is confined to local demand. There, a small number of people—mostly boys—cut and haul the trees for local consumption.

that the destroyer Duchess had sunk, said the other ship involved was not damaged. The second vessel was not identified.

Only one officer and 22 men were saved, the announcement said. The Duchess, one of about 200 such craft in the Royal Navy, was commanded by Lieut. Commander R. C. H. White.

The Duchess was a warship of 1,375 tons in the defender class and was completed Jan. 24, 1933. She carried a normal complement of 145 men.

There were eight destroyers of the Duchess type launched in 1932 and 1933. All carried four 4.7 inch guns and smaller weapons and had speeds of 35 knots.

British newspaper editorial comment, sharp yesterday over failure of the British submarine to attack the Bremen in the North Sea, praised the navy enthusiastically for its action in the South Atlantic.

(The British Admiralty announced the pocket battleship was the Admiral Scheer, previously reported as a raider in those waters, but the German minister who boarded the ship after it reached Montevideo said it was the Admiral Graf Spee, one of almost identical pocket-battleships of which the Deutschland is the third.)

The Admiralty issued a communique denying a Nazi charge that men aboard the Admiral Graf Spee had been wounded by gas.

The communique said:

"Press reports quote the German Legation in Montevideo as stating that casualties on board the Graf Spee were mostly caused because the British used mustard gas grenades.

"This allegation is entirely without foundation. No mustard gas grenades or shells ever have been made for or used by the Royal Navy."

(An Associated Press dispatch from Montevideo had quoted the German Minister as saying injured men on the German ship had complained that gas bombs affected their sight, but did not specify the type of gas).

Details of the battle and casualties to the three British cruisers involved awaited the British Minister's report.

Naval sources said the German pocket battleship had been changing its name frequently and that it was difficult to distinguish among the three sister ships of that type, the Admiral Graf Spee, Admiral Scheer and Deutschland.

The British naval sources said that if the German ship were not interned by Uruguay, British warships would be able to prevent its egress and "doubtless the British Minister will look after our interests."

The Admiralty communique reporting the Duchess sinking, said:

"The secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce the loss of His Majesty's destroyer Duchess, in a collision with another of His Majesty's ships, which is undamaged. It is feared that the only survivors are one officer and 22 ratings."

It was believed possible the Duchess may have carried a larger than normal crew because of war duty.

The fifth warship of that name since the 17th century, she has spent most of her career in Chinese waters.

Last July 6 she assisted in removing foreigners from besiged Foochow. Last May 24 she forced a Japanese cruiser to allow the British liner Ranpura to proceed near Hong Kong.

She was damaged slightly in March, 1938, in a collision with a Japanese steamship.

battleship Admiral Graf Spee was crippled by British cruisers with the loss of at least 30 men as "a successful skirmish by a German warship with several English cruisers."

The German Admiralty admitted "a few hits" and 30 seamen killed aboard the Admiral Graf Spee, but said it had not been interned.

Proof of Superiority

DNB said the German warship succeeded in breaking through the British blockade. The result of the battle was taken as proof, it said, that German naval power is superior even in distant waters.

The high command's communique of fighting on the Western front said that "aside from slight enemy artillery annoyance fire in the region before the lines between the Moselle and the Rhine, there was livelier scouting activity.

"At several points, prisoners could again be taken."

ONE OF HOLDUP TRIO BELIEVED TO HAVE LOCAL CONNECTION

Police Return To Conduct Midnight Hunt

Acting on a suspicion that one of the two wanted men had a local connection a squad of provincial police consisting of Constables Menie of Cobourg and Sutherland of Fort Hope and Traffic Officer McKellar of Port Hope swooped back into Peterborough shortly before midnight last night and a two-hour hunt for the two men sought for the Welcome holdup was launched here without any result.

The provincial squad was assisted by Sergt. John Thompson, and Constables Naples, Clarke and Murphy of the city police and Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan. The hunt was unsuccessful in turning up any information of assistance to the police.

Earlier in the night the authorities were informed that William MacKenzie, transport driver, had noticed two men near Newtonville at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning who resembled the pair sought by the police. The two had tried to get a ride west on MacKenzie's transport but he had not stopped to pick them up. It was thought at first that these were the two bandits and that they had been successful in picking up a ride from Peterborough to Newtonville. However provincial police later discounted that idea.

The search has narrowed down to the point where the authorities believe they know the two men they are seeking, and they are hopeful of results in the near future.

2 Deer Hunters Caught Using Unlicensed Dog

Although his counsel argued that at the time he was seen by Overseer I. J. Lyons, his client was not hunting but was on his way home to camp after completing a day's chase after deer in Methuen township, George Rosebush, Owenbrook, was convicted before Magistrate O. A. Langley in police court this morning on a charge of having hunted with an unlicensed dog.

He was fined $10 and 75 cents costs and a similar fine was imposed on Ross Kelch, Coe Hill, a hunting companion of Rosebush's who entered a plea of guilty after the Owenbrook man had been convicted.

T. J. Carley, K.C., defended the two men while the prosecution was handled by Fish and Game Overseer Lyons.

Overseer Lyons was the only witness against the accused. He testified that on November 9 he had encountered Rosebush on a road in Methuen township. He had a rifle with him and was accompanied by a small dog of the spaniel type. Overseer Lyons said that the accused admitted he was hunting and produced a hunting license but at first denied ownership of the dog. Later he had admitted ownership and said that he had no license for the dog.

To Mr. Carley witness said that Rosebush was about three-fourths of a mile from his camp and was going in that direction when he saw him. Another man with the accused had a small white dog with him.

On Way Home

Rosebush testified that he had been hunting and was on his way home when he met the overseer. The dog had been left at camp that morning and had evidently run down the road to meet him. He had been with him half an hour before the overseer came along. The hunting party consisted of six men, he said, and they had licenses for the two hounds they were using in hunting. Rosebush said that he had no ammunition in his rifle when Lyons met him. To Overseer Lyons, Rosebush said that he knew of four deer being killed in that vicinity on the day in question.

Ross Kelch corroborated Rosebush's story as to the dogs joining the men shortly before the overseer arrived.

Magistrate Langley said that the law was quite clear and the only question was as to whether Rosebush was hunting at the time the officer saw him. He was satisfied, on accused's own admission, that he had been and therefore there would be a conviction.

Llewellyn Windsor, Harvey township, who entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of trapping beaver in Peterborough county where the taking of beaver is prohibited, was fined $20 and $2.50 costs.

Better Curing Room Needed At Warsaw

WARSAW, Dec. 14 (ENS)—W. J. Moore, dairy inspector, was a much appreciated speaker at the Warsaw cheese factory patrons' meeting. Mr. Moore stressed the fact that it is impossible to produce quality premium cheese if the farmer does not produce quality milk.

He advised the company to consider installing a curing room with controlled temperature, and also explained the scheme by which the government will assist in making the improvement.

The secretary's report indicated a smaller volume of business than in 1938; also the fact that the price had been below the 1938 mark. The secretary reported a total of 926,724 pounds of milk delivered, which contained 132,577.85 pounds of fat and 81,444 pounds of cheese, for which the patrons received $8,348.25.

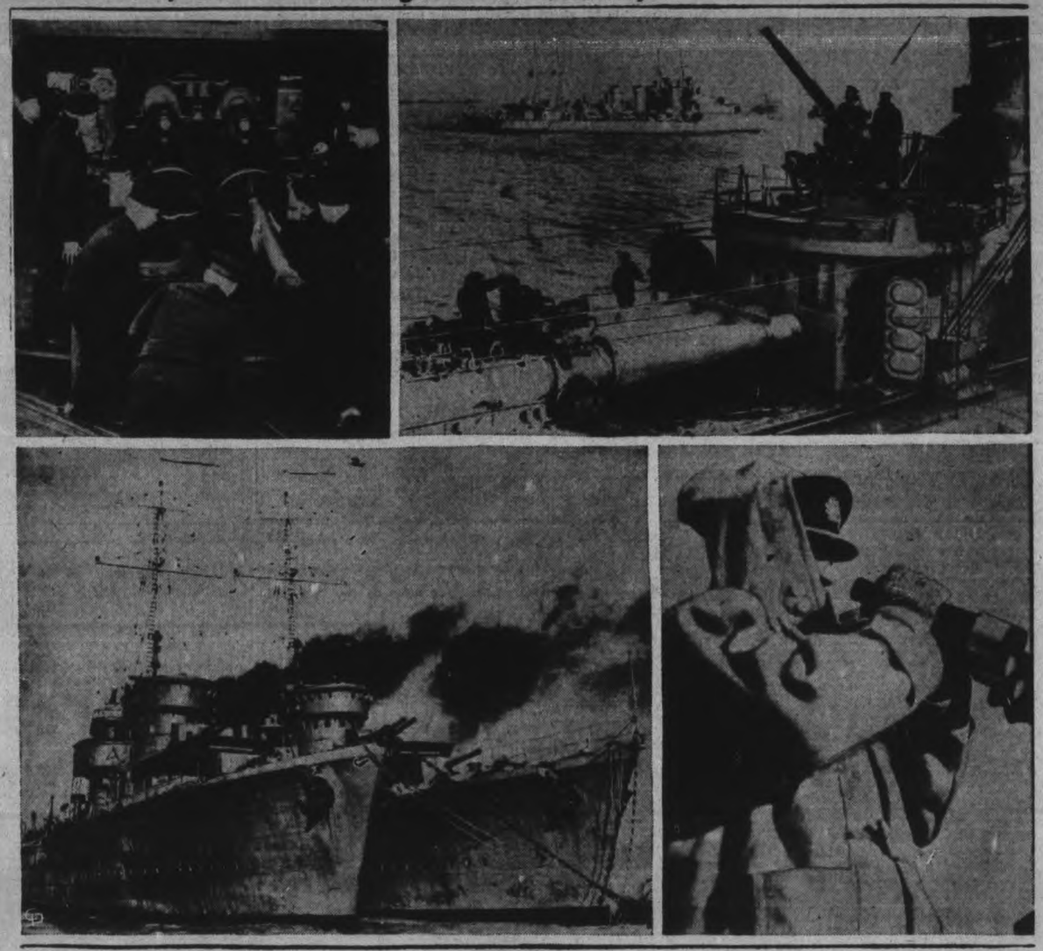
Polish Warships Are Still Striking Back At Germany



With units of the Polish navy actively engaged in assisting the British navy, Poland still remains a factor in the struggle against her conquerors, despite the fact that her land has been absorbed by Germany and Russia and thousands of her soldiers taken prisoners. Gunners aboard the Polish destroyer Grom, which, with the destroyer Blyskawica, escaped the German blockade, are shown loading her 4.7 guns, UPPER LEFT, making her ready for action somewhere off the east coast of England. With British warships at anchor nearby, Polish sailors are shown manning an anti-aircraft gun aboard one of the destroyers, UPPER RIGHT. The Grom and Blyskawica are shown, LOWER LEFT, at anchor at an unnamed British port. Well protected from the biting wind, Captain Ferzy Umecki, senior officer of the two Polish destroyers, is shown, LOWER RIGHT.

Firemen Require 300 More Toys

Tomorrow at midnight the Fire Hall reluctantly closes its 10-day drive for old toys to be repaired and distributed among the city's needy children.

An appeal for 300 toys before that deadline is reached, was issued today by Fire Chief George Gimblett. "There has been a decided fall-off in the number of toys reaching the department during the past two or three days and we are short 300 toys at the present time," he revealed. "If we don't get that number of toys before Friday at midnight there are going to be 300 unhappy children on Christmas morning."

He urged that people who have neglected to call the department at 5712 or to bring toys to the Fire Hall's Toyland, take a few minutes off work before the deadline and make some youngster happy. "It is absolutely essential that we get these 300 toys in before then," he declared.

ROBERT WILSON

The death of Robert Wilson occurred at his home in Bridgenorth on Thursday morning after a short illness. He was in his 83rd year.

A carpenter all his life he was widely known in the Bridgenorth district and in Manvers township where he lived until 33 years ago. He was born in Cavan township, and had been a resident of this immediate district all his life.

Surviving are his wife, formerly Sarah Curtis, and one daughter, Mrs. Jennie Nichols of Bridgenorth; also one brother, Joseph Wilson of Maidstone, Saskatchewan.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Bridgenorth United Church officiating. Interment will be at Bridgenorth cemetery.

GERALD DAVID JEFFORD

The death of Gerald David Jefford, aged 3 years 11 months and 8 days, occurred at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jefford, 92 Dufferin Street, on Thursday morning, after an illness that lasted six weeks. Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, Harvey, aged 6.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from the family residence, Rev. M. C. Parr of George Street United Church, officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Judge's Dogs Will Be Permitted To Enjoy Dog's Life—All Interference Ruled Out

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 14 —(AP).—The numerous Cocker spaniels of former New York Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Townsend Scudder, many of whom have grown from puppyhood to an adult canine's estate since first they barked their way into Connecticut courts, were given injunction powers to enjoy a dog's life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

Judge Patrick O'Sullivan filed a decision granting Scudder a permanent injunction restraining the Greenwich Selectmen from interfering with the dogs.

It was more than two years ago that persons living near the Scudders' exclusive Round Hill home complained that the spaniels—there were seevnty of them at that time—constituted a nuisance by their barking. The two Selectmen ordered Scudder to get rid of all but ten of his dogs.

Judge O'Sullivan held that the Selectmen's ruling limiting the pack to a definite number was illogical. 'Either all dogs were barkers and should be disposed of, or only such as were creating nuisances should have been eliminated from the pack," he said.

Relief in Port Hope last month amounted to $320.50 of which fuel and provisions accounted for $279.60. The total for November was $72 less than for the same months a year ago.

CASH MORE PLENTIFUL.

Banks report that cash seems more plentiful this Christmas than in other years. More cheques are going through and very few, indeed, have to be returned marked "N. S. F." People are apparently buying heavily and savings accounts are suffering, but the point to be noted is that the savings are once more there to be drained.

TRAINING IN ENGLAND.

A newspaper picture the other day, showing pilots in training in the Royal Air Force in England, included the picture of Ross Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, 215 Reid Street. Ross left Peterborough last summer, is now in senior training camp somewhere in England, and holds officer's rank.

Playing With Coaster Wagon On Street Boy Nine Years Old Is Struck By Truck

Playing on the street with a coaster wagon, nine-year-old Johnny Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Murphy, 497 Elm street was injured Wednesday night when knocked down by a motor truck driven by Roy Grainger, McDonnel street butcher.

The Murphy boy with another lad, according to the report secured by the police, was at the corner of Park and Elm street when Grainger drove his truck down Park street. As the vehicle drew near the boys abandoned the coaster wagon and ran in opposite directions. Grainger tried to avoid hitting them but was unsuccessful so far as Johnny Murphy was concerned.

The lad was struck and knocked down and although he did not give any outward sign of serious injury was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for observation and treatment.

The accident happened shortly after 6 o'clock.

Turkey Buyers Offer 19 Cents

A sharp decrease in the prices offered by wholesalers for Christmas turkeys was noted in Peterborough this morning. Jopling Brothers, largest exporters of fowl in this district, offered 19 cents a pound for first-rate turkeys, three cents below last season's offer.

Reason for the decline was twofold, according to Cliff Jopling. Most important reason was that the export market to England has been closed by war and there is not as great a demand for the birds now. The second reason was that a far greater number of turkeys are being shipped from the West and because of mild weather and the chance the birds may not keep, are being offered quite cheap in order that they may be used before Christmas.

But while that side of the turkey picture is gloomy for breeders, there was another side that may prove bright before the season's end, and send the wholesale price higher. Exporters are now contemplating shipping large quantities of birds to the United States, Mr. Jopling said. They will be able to sell cheaper than their U.S. competitors because of the advantage they will hold in exchange rates, it is thought.

Embargo Repeal Jolted Reich

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(CP)—Joseph E. Davies, United States Ambassador to Belgium, said in an interview today that public opinion in Germany had been materially affected by revision of the United States neutrality law and repeal of the arms embargo.

Talking to reporter after conferring at the White House with President Roosevelt and Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, Davies said he had heard from responsible individuals that revision of the law last July might have kept Adolf Hitler from invading Poland.

Even though revision was delayed for several months, there were reports it had prevented what Davies called an alleged German drive on Belgium and the Netherlands, he said.

Under the new Neutrality Act, belligerents may purchase arms and other equipment in the United States. Revision generally was termed as of aid to Great Britain and France, who control the Atlantic.

More Petroleum

OTTAWA, Dec. 14.—(CP)—Canada's imports of crude petroleum during October rose to 152,669,000 gallons from 127,375,000 in October last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. The United States supplied 113,981,000 gallons, Venezuela 31,914,000 and Colombia 6,774,000.

New Outfit Is Stolen From Parked Car

A hired man from Indian River, in town Wednesday on a shopping trip purchased a suit of clothes, hat, socks, tie, overalls and other articles valued at $42, left them in a car on the market square and some time later found that a sneak thief had stolen his purchases.

Police issue a warning to shoppers, especially from out-of-town not to leave their parked cars unlocked because they are inviting trouble. Some of these visitors have a habit of leaving their machines unlocked for the convenience of members of their party in depositing parcels. Light-fingered gentry, transients and local, find easy pickings in such conditions.

One man who carried off a suit of clothes and two pairs of rubbers from the market square the other day was not a thief, however. The articles had been put into his automobile by mistake and the farmer did not discover them until he had reached his Douro home.

They are at present awaiting an owner at the store of P. G. Towns in Douro.

8,000 Vessels Call Annually At Montevideo

The port of Montevideo, Uruguay, to which the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee limped after an encounter with three smaller British cruisers late Thursday, is one of the most important harbors in South America.

The harbor sees 8,000 ships call annually, has been greatly improved in recent years at a cost of many millions of dollars. It lies in the Bay of Montevideo, flush on the ocean. The bay is like a gigantic horseshoe in form, opening toward the southwest, the entrance being about two miles wide. The harbor is not naturally a deep one, and a considerable amount of dredging was done to accommodate the increasing ocean traffic.

The main plans, which have been executed to a considerable extent, call for dredging portions of the harbor to a depth of 32 feet below the low-water mark; another area has been deepened to 16 feet below water, the latter space being used by smaller coasting vessels. There are numerous quays, and alongside these, ocean ships now warp for the discharge and loading of passengers and cargo. One of these has 15 travelling cranes and six fixed one, all worked by steam and capable of lifting many tons. Other wharfs are similarly equipped, while additional facilities are planned or under construction. There are floating cranes. A floating drydock 50-ton capacity. A floating drydock, with capacity for vessels up to 5,000 tons, is in service.

G. K. Fraser of Burleigh Falls has been a visitor at Montevideo and describes it as a beautiful place.

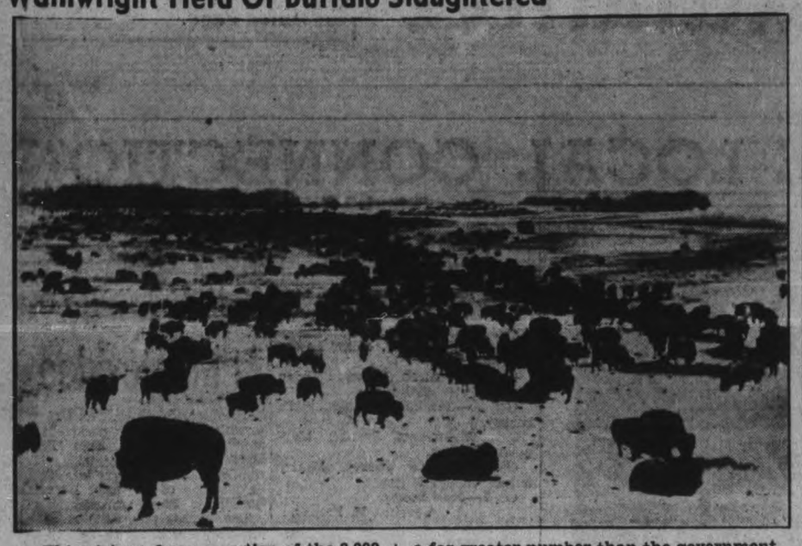
Wainwright Herd Of Buffalo Slaughtered



This picture shows a section of the 3,000 head of bison recently ordered slaughtered by the Dominion government, wiping out to the last animal the herd at Wainwright National Park. Although the vast number have been killed, Canada still has some 9,000 head of bison in other National parks, a far greater number than the government had planned to keep originally. The slaughter was carried out by Canada Packers, Ltd., and buffalo meat is now on sale in Peterborough stores. One local man who purchased a bison roast said the meat was among the choicest he had ever eaten.

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

Something interesting is happening in the war in the air and more interesting things may happen shortly. The Royal Air Force "security patrols" over Heligoland Bight for the purpose of keeping German mine-laying aircraft out of the skies may lead to a real test of strength in the air.

The patrols are Great Britain's latest answer to the magnetic mines, laid along her coasts by German aircraft. If they are effective in keeping German mine-laying aircraft from performing their functions the enemy can be expected to try to do something about them.

Apparently the British aircraft fly high enough to keep out of effective range of anti-aircraft guns. The mine-laying planes used by the Germans are probably heavy seaplanes of bomber type, built to fly long distances and carry heavy loads, no match for the fast fighters of the Royal Air Force in combat.

British Fighters Have Had Edge on Germans

They could be driven off only by fast fighters, like themselves. In air fighting so far British fighters have had the edge on German fighters because of greater manoeuvrability. Most of the air clashes to date, however, have involved only a few fighting aircraft on either side. The bigger air battles have been attacks by fighters on bombers.

If the Germans should concentrate large numbers of fighting aircraft in the vicinity of Heligoland Bight with a view to attacking the waves of British patrol aircraft, a major air battle with a large number of aircraft on each side involved probably would be the result.

Possibly this may be one of the British aims, to force the Germans to give them battle in the air, convinced the superiority of their own aircraft will give them an advantage.

Millbrook Fair Board Officials Honor T. Donaldson At Party

MILLBROOK, Dec. 14—(ENS)—The officers and directors of the Millbrook Agricultural Society were well represented on Tuesday evening, when they journeyed by motor to the farm homestead of the veteran member of the organization, Mr. Thomas Donaldson, for their annual visit.

Mr. Donaldson has been, for more than sixty consecutive years, on the directorate of the Society, and his long experience and wise counsel have been of invaluable assistance in connection with the annual fall fair and other undertakings. He is now in his eighty-third year, wonderfully well and active considering his advanced age, and was able to attend the fair in October, and was also particularly pleased with the social gathering at his home on Tuesday evening.

Midway in the proceedings, a past president, Mr. George A. Fair, on behalf of the Agricultural Society, presented the guest of honor with a box of choice cigars; and Mrs. Percy Stinson, one of the lady directors, presented to Miss Evelyn Donaldson, a box of chocolates. Suitable reply was made, and a further highlight of the evening was the welcome extended to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. McNeil, a bride and groom of recent date, the former for many years on the board of directors of the Agricultural Society, and the presentation to Mrs. McNeil, whose home was formerly in England, of an embroidered linen luncheon set, the gift being offered by Mrs. W. Charles Thorndyke, another of the lady directors.

Mr. McNeil replied on behalf of his bride and the service of lunch, with several tables of cards at which the two oldest men present, Mr. Donaldson and Mr. John Greer, playing as partners, practically topped the score, completed a most enjoyable, one which, by warm invitation of the host and hostess, will be repeated about the same time, all being well, next year.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

The Young People's Union of St. Andrew's church held its annual meeting on Tuesday at 8 p.m., with the retiring president, Earl Edworthy, taking charge of the business session, and Miss Della Mae Sisco the devotional period. Assisting with the latter were Gordon Might, who read the lesson; Mary Burnham, who gave the worship poem; and the leader, who offered prayer, with others taking part, including Jean Fisher, Mary Dawson, B. Foster, Leitha Edworthy, and Phyllis Kidd.

The slate of officers for 1940 is: Honorary president, Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D.; president, B. B. Dawson; secretary, Leitha Edworthy; treasurer, Gordon Might; conveners of committees, who will later choose their own members— Missionary, Phyllis Kidd; Cultural, Jean Fisher; citizenship, Edna McKnight; fellowship, Jean L. Burnham; dramatics, Della Mae Sisco; recreation, Earl Edworthy.

A recreational period under Bea McDowell and Earl and the benediction closed the meeting.

Grace W.M.S. Meet

Mrs. A. S. Hall was hostess for the annual meeting of the W.M.S. of Grace Presbyterian church, held at her home, Bank street, on Tuesday, at 3 p.m., with the retiring president, Mrs. S. E. Eakins, taking the opening devotional and business period.

Prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. A. Raeburn-Gibson, and the president read a poem, 'A Carol of Christmas." The treasurer reported the total allocation of $126 not quite reached, with necessity for a special effort before the end of the year. Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke, welcome and welfare secretary, reported names of those welcomed to the church, and visited during sickness; nine copies of the Glad Tidings were taken during the year, as reported by the secretary for that department, and the president mentioned with deep feeling and loss the society sustained through the death of Mrs. William Deyell.

Rev. Mr. Gibson took the chair for the election, the honorary presidents being: Mrs. J. D. Armstrong, Mrs. James Kennedy, and Mrs. Z. Seaton. For the office of president, from which Mrs. Eakins wished to resign after four years of most efficient service, a committee, consisting of Rev. and Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Eakins, was appointed to secure a nominee for this position. Vice-presidents, Mrs. Seaton, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. M. Kinsman, and Mrs. A. Miller.

The office of secretary is also to be filled, and Miss Agnes Johnston was re-elected to the position of treasurer. Secretaries of departments: Glad tidings, Mrs. J. N. McGill; welcome and welfare, Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke; supply, Mrs. Milton Fallis and Mrs. A. Coyte; expense, Mrs. R. J. McMahon; press, Mrs. J. R. Thompson; pianist, Mrs. S. E. Eakins; auditors, Mrs. Thorndyke and Mrs. McGill.

On appeal from the pastor, it was decided to send a bale to a needy family in the Gaspe Peninsula, of which Dr. Gibson had personal knowledge, the committee to secure contributions being Mrs. McMahon, Miss Johnston, Mrs. Thorndyke and Mrs. Eakins. The bale will go to Father D'Anjou, of Fontanelle.

Mrs. Hall served homemade candy during the social hour following the closing prayer.

Warkworth Masons Visit Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14—(ENS)—Percy Lodge, Warkworth, were guests of local Golden Rule Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 126, G.R.C., at their meeting this week, when they presented the local lodge with the Travelling Square, a token which several years ago was offered by a former District Deputy Grand Master of the district as a means of promoting the principals of Masonry and of encouraging fraternal visits among neighboring lodges. W.Bro. M. E. Smith of the visiting lodge made the presentation to the officers and members of the Golden Rule Lodge delivering at the same time an appropriate address dealing principally with the various symbols of the order. W.Bro. H. E. Bleecher accepted the token on behalf of the local members.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

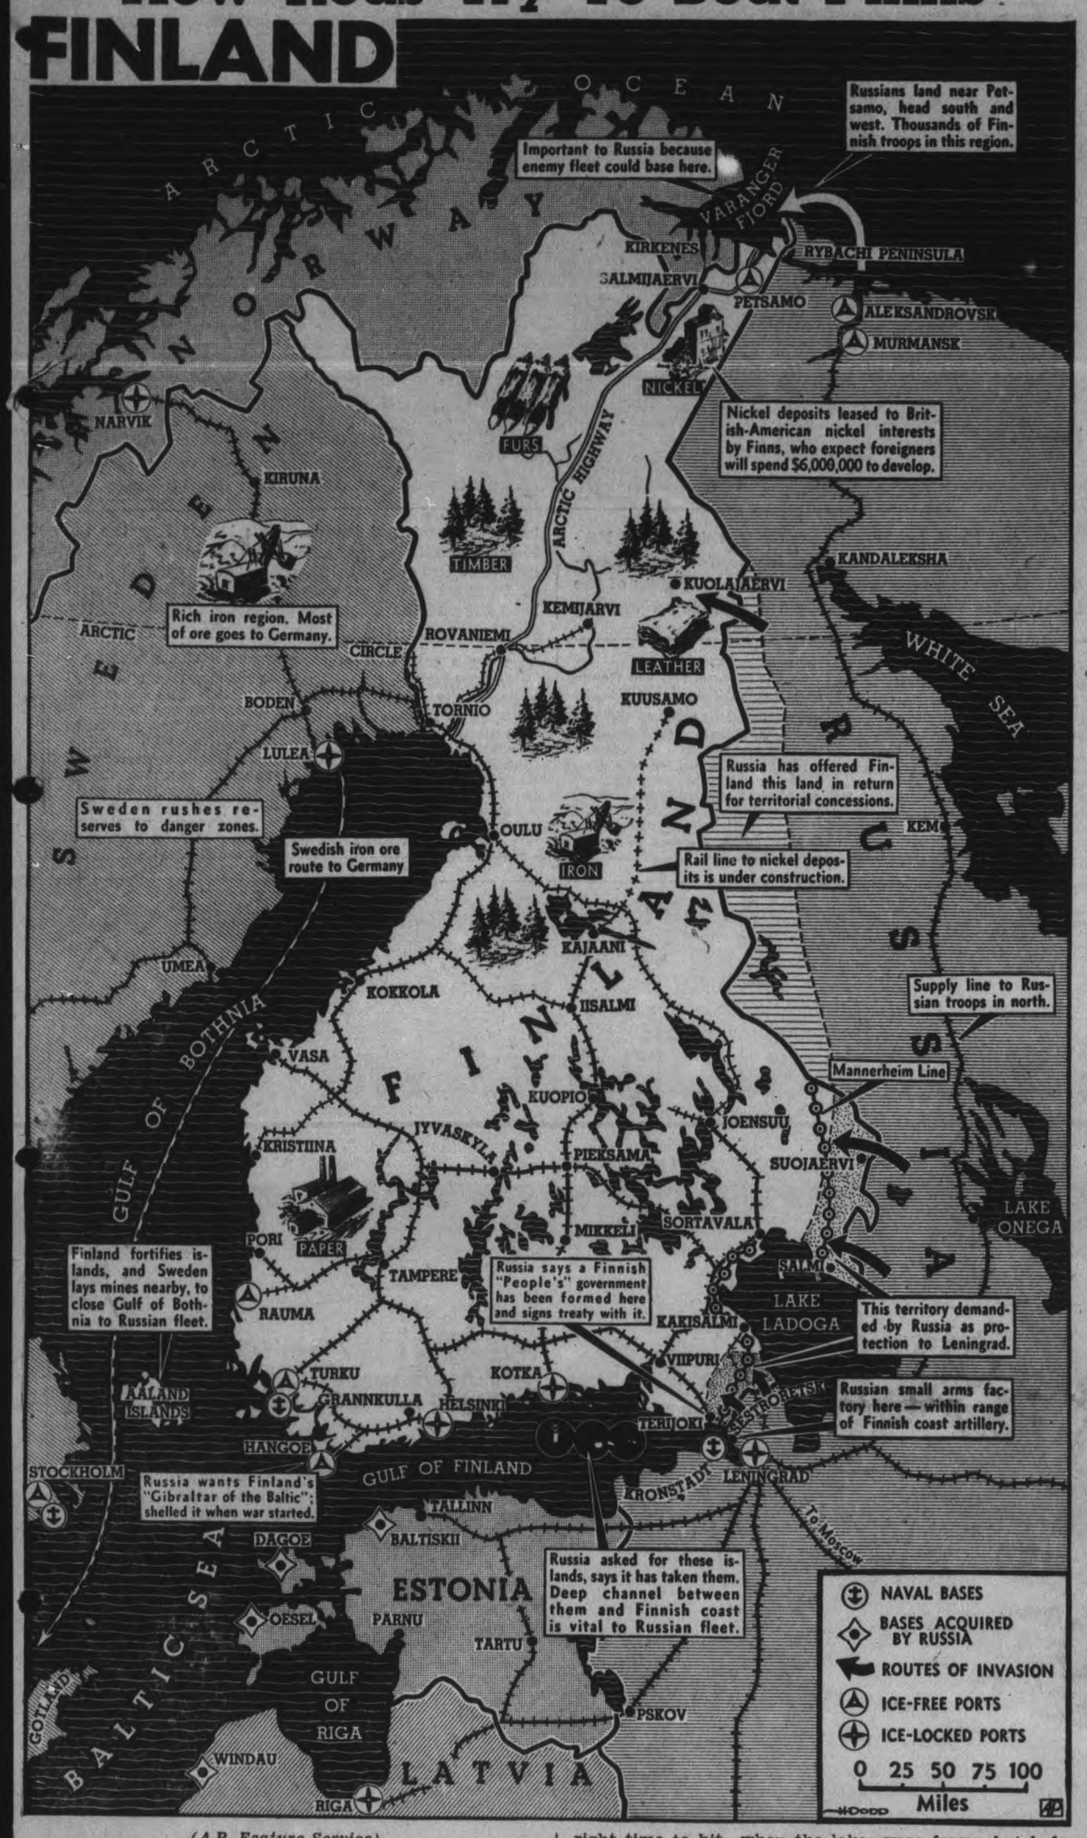
How Reds Try To Beat Finns



(A.P. Feature Service)

On November 30, Russia smashed across the Finnish frontier because the Finns insisted on retaining the independence they had won 22 years before. (Russia said the Finns crossed first). The invaders bombed Helsinki and other cities, moved warships against Hangoe in the south and Petsamo in the north, and crossed into the land of lakes at a number of points (arrows).

The historic route of invasion is along the isthmus north of Leningrad, where the Finns this time were prepared with a fortified line. The Russians pushed forward at several points here, also tried to cut Finland in two up near the Arctic, not far from Finnish nickel and Swedish iron mines.

Everywhere the Finns fought back. They seemed hopelessly outnumbered (a fighting strength of 600,000 maximum against one of 14,000,000) but their lake-studded land was a defence asset even though Russia had picked the right time to hit—when the lakes were frozen but before heavy snows set in. There were reports, even, that Finnish planes had bombed Murmansk, on the Arctic, and Baltiski, a Russian base in Estonia.

The map shows also the reason for the war. Russia said she wanted Finnish territory (boundaries of sections concerned are approximate) as a safeguard. She seemed to feel that a major power—Germany, perhaps, or Britain—might try to use Finland for an attack on Russia. Note that railroads and other vital points in each country are highly vulnerable. The Finns were willing to go part way but argued that to meet all the demands would be to surrender independence.

The Russians say the treaty they signed with the rump "people's" government three days after the war started gives them everything they wanted; including the right to buy part of the Rybachi peninsula in the North.

But the Finns are making them fight for it.

Found Setting Too Frilly For The Late King George V

LONDON, Dec. 13 — (CP).—After months of conferences and expert craftsmanship, a model of the proposed national memorial to the late King George V was placed on public view and found wanting.

The design, executed by the distinguished British sculptor Sir William Reid Dick in collaboration with the architect, Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, shows the King standing in his Garter robes on a fluted pedestal beneath an ornate Gothic canopy.

Critics promptly assailed the design as "insignificant," "ineffective," or charged that it lacked unity. Members of the Amenities Group of the two House of Parliament suggested the proposed setting was "too frilly" to be in keeping with the character and manner of the late King. They petitioned the Prime Minister to receive a deputation of members to discuss the matter.

Prof. C. H. Reilly, the noted architect, not only frowned on the design, but deplored the selection of the proposed site. The memorial is to be erected on a plot opposite Victoria Tower in front of Chapter House at Westminster Abbey.

"If the present scheme goes through," he said, "it will soon be looked upon as another Albert Memorial, and laughed at.

"The proposed design looks as if an altar frame had been taken from Liverpool Cathedral and King George put inside it," Prof. Reilly declared. "A filigree photograph frame is not right for a royal monument and it pays no compliment to Westminster Abbey which will form its background. If they must have a Gothic monument, the statue of the King should have been Gothic too. It is just a piece of safe realism."

Avoid Controversy

In an open letter to the press, Lord MacMillan, chairman of the executive committee of the memorial fund, urged that divergence of opinion should not be allowed to degenerate into a public controversy.

"I suppose it will be an impossibility to please everybody, but we are naturally anxious that the memorial shall be as widely accepted and approved as possible," he said.

As a means of overcoming the present impasse he has suggested that an impartial body, such as the Fine Arts Commission, should be consulted before final decision is taken on the question of design. A similar course was adopted before the much-debated site was chosen.

CAMPBELLFORD

Changes Are Made In Y.P.U. Executive

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 14. — (ENS)—Missionary Convener Evelyn Todd was in charge of the weekly meeting of St. John's Young People's Union held on Monday. Her worship service opened with a hymn following which Miss Hazel Waters gave the scripture reading. Leonard Smith gave the worship story and Mrs. Mazo Archer led the group in prayer which concluded this portion of the program. During the business session several of the officers who had announced they were unable to act were replaced. Miss Evelyn Todd was named press secretary and Miss Marjorie Mills was named as her assistant while Len Smith was elected second vice-president. Plans were made for a special Christmas party and program for the next meeting which will be the last one of the year. The topic of the evening was taken from the study book and dealt particularly with the untouchables of India. This part of the program was very capably handled by Mrs. E. C. Roberts. Only other item was a vocal solo by Fay Thomlinson followed by a contest conducted by Rev. G. N. Maxwell.

Debate Cancelled

The debate planned for this week's meeting of St. Andrew's Y.P.S. was cancelled at the last minute when it was announced two of the teams were unable to attend. Mrs. Bruce Grills, president, presided for the evening which was turned into a business meeting. Preparations were made for the annual Christmas party and each member drew a name and will give that person a present at next week's meeting. Mr. W. Phillips and Miss June Bartley were placed in charge of the program arrangements. A further contribution to the general fund of the church was voted by the society.

Ottawa Keeping Open Mart Wheat Policy

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP).—The government plans to continue its open-market wheat policy as the best means of relieving the wheat glut and disposing of Canada's huge wheat surplus.

Trading will be allowed to proceed as usual on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, it was learned here last night, and British war purchases of wheat will have to be made through the ordinary trade channels on the grain exchange. The permanency of this policy, however, will depend entirely on the progress of the war.

When the war started some consideration was given to a proposal to set up a government wheat monopoly after the fashion of the monopoly established in Britain when the wheat controller was appointed to purchase all the wheat for Britain and France.

Such a proposal would involve fixing a price and eliminating the open market. But the Canadian government allowed the open market to operate as usual for three months after the outbreak of the conflict while the situation was studied and it has been decided now to allow the open market to continue.

Some misgivings arose when the British Wheat Controller operated in the Winnipeg pit as the principal buyer and it is understood that some British authorities maintained monopoly wheat control should be established in this Dominion because they held, it would enable more efficient dealings.

However, Hon. T. A. Crerar, Federal Mine sand Resources Minister, Parley with George McIvor, chairwent to the London Empire War man of the Canadian Wheat Board, and several other wheat experts and are believed to have outlined the whole situation in detail to the British Government.

Surplus To Go.

The opinion agricultural circles here is that with the likelihood of a short winter crop in the United States buying by neutral countries will increase in Canada and take some of the export surplus. With this independent demand probable, officials believe the fairest manner to handle the situation was through the open market.

As the farmers and the Government await British and independent buying orders to show on the grain exchange, elevators throughout the country are clogged with wheat.

Navigation closed on the Great Lakes at midnight last night with cancellation of insurance risks on hulls and cargoes. A heavy rail movement from Georgian Bay ports to the Eastern seaboard is now expected.

This year's crop was estimated at 476,000,000 bushels, largest since the record 1928 yield of 566,000,000 bushels. There are more than 500,000,000 bushels on hand in Canada now when the 100,000,000 carryover is considered.

Some wheat authorites here predict that with a continuance of the open market policy $1 wheat is a possibility before long as the Canadian supply is gradually taken up by buyers.

Denmark Watches Soviet-Finnish Struggle With Apprehension

General K. K. Laake, commander-in-chief of the Norwegian army, is shown, LEFT, at his desk in army headquarters at Oslo, from where he, and other leaders of the country, are anxiously watching the undeclared war between Finland and Russia. The Danes fear the Soviet-Finnish hostilities may spread to the other Scandinavian countries and engulf them. With this fear in mind, soldiers of Denmark are occupying trenches, RIGHT, that have been dug on the Danish frontier against a possible invasion.

BLAST SINKS STEAMER.

LONDON, Dec. 14—(CP). — The loss of the British steamship King Egbert, 4,500 tons, in the North Sea was disclosed to-day with the landing of 32 survivors.

Y.W.C.A. Has Full Coming Events Program

Coming events reported at the Y.W.C.A. Board of Directors' meeting this included the Christmas bazaar and tea, under the auspices of the Girls' Council, which represents all senior Y.W.C.A. departments; residence, gym and swimming classes; clubs, and camp, and takes place from three to six Thursday afternoon. Proceeds will be donated to the campaign fund. The Christmas Sunday vesper hour and fireside tea will be held on Sunday afternoon, to which the committee in charge has extended a cordial invitation to all girls, especially those boarding or away from home.

The children's Christmas party and visit from Santa Claus will be held Wednesday, December 20, at four-thirty p.m. The membership committee reported a membership tea to be held on January 9, with Miss Julia Matouskova as guest speaker. All board and committee members were invited, and each member of the Board was asked to bring three guests.

The physical committee reported basketball league games being held each Friday evening with six teams entered. Gymnasium classes have all enjoyed the new gym, and senior classes will conclude the term with a social hour around the Christmas tree. A campaign for new members will be launched early in January. The swimming pool is most popular, and last month two special exhibitions were staged with competitions for numerous trophies.

The residence showed a splendid statement and a busy month with several special dinners and teas provided for club groups. Mrs. R. Turner, convener of the finance committee, read the financial reports and commented favorably on a comparison of the last three years. The campaign to date totals $6,158.00 with still a number to be heard from.

Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner presided and led the opening devotions. Tea was served at the close of the meeting by the residence.

Candle-light Exercise Feature Of W.M.S. Meeting

The Christmas meeting of George Street Church Women's Missionary Society was held Tuesday afternoon with a large attendance, the president, Mrs A. I. Brown, in the chair. Mrs. J. M. Beatty read the Bible lesson, and Mrs. A. F. Lane led in prayer.

A very beautiful candle-light exercise, "The Torch of the Holy Fire," was conducted by Mrs. Brown, the president; Mrs. Fairbrother, the secretary; Mrs. James Spencer, treasurer; Mrs. J. M. Beatty, president of the Mission Band, and Mrs. Ross Davidson, president of the Baby Band, that carried a wonderful missionary message which should always be remembered.

The speaker was the pastor, Rev. M. C. Parr, who gave a thoughtful Christmas message, telling the old story in a new way.

During the afternoon Mrs. James Goldie sang beautifully "The Night Was Still," with Mrs. C. Renaud at the piano.

The various groups presented satisfactory financial reports of the year's activities.

Mr. Parr presided for the election of officers, and Mrs. J. H. Rowe presented the report of the nominating committee, which was adopted as read. Outstanding Yuletide Meeting Held By W.C.T.U.

Special Christmas meetings are in order for all women's organizations at this season and among them that of the W.C.T.U. held Wednesday, at the lovely home of Mrs. T. Barrie, Water street, may be counted one of the most outstanding. Mrs. H. Rehill, president, led the fine program by announcing the familiar Christmas hymns, with prayer offered by Mrs. W. Boorman. The scriptural story of the birth of Christ was read by Mrs. George H. Rowe.

A delightful musical program was enjoyed when solos were contributed by Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, whose appropriate selection was "The Birthday of a King," while Mary Hanlon sang "The Holy City," accompanied by Mrs. Greenslade. Frances Wells playing charmingly a piano number, and the violin solo by Menzie McLaren was much appreciated.

Two beautiful Christmas stories brought to the ladies the true significance of the season. The first, "Why the Chimes Rang," was told, with fine effect by Mrs. M. C. Parr, as was also the reading, "The Heavenly Guest," by Mrs. Boorman.

In the brief business session provision was made to supply candy for the Curve Lake Christmas tree and a call for clothing for the Indian children of Burleigh Falls was received and will be considered.

As temperance workers every member was urged to use her personal influence in regard to the vote on closing the wine shop, and also to use the privilege of their franchise.

An inspirational message was brought by the guest speaker, Mr. Kenneth Brenton, who took for his theme the words of the disciples when they said, "Lord, is it I?"

He referred to the end of the year as the time for stock-taking and suggested that this might be applied to our personal lives with equal benefit.

Such self-examination is a hard virtue for us to acquire, yet it is a good thing for us as employees in the busines sof living. Such questions as "What do I desire most in life?" If our desires are selfish we will find no lasting happiness.

For what am I ambitious? As Christians we should desire to become more like Jesus. What possibilities lie dormant within our lives? Is my life having a right influence upon my fellow men? Am I really the person I profes sto be? The Church is often condemned because of its hypocrisy. It is up to us personally to remedy this situation.

Mr. Brenton's concluding question dealt with the difficulty of being a Christian in the world of today: "Am I afraid to bear the loneliness of singularity?"

The only value of such a self-examination is when we realize our shortcomings we do something about it.

The service was concluded with the Christmas hymn, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," with the pianist, Mrs. E. W. Glover, accompanying. A social half-hour was enjoyed and the service of refreshments by the hostess with Mrs. Wand pouring tea.

Appreciation was expressed for the hospitality extended and for the contributions on this very successful program.

Central School Children Are Assured of Santa's Existence

An editorial that holds aloft a classic refutation to those who say that Santa Claus does not exist, written many years ago by a New York newspaper editor to a little girl who had appealed to him for the truth, was told by Mrs. George Leeming at a meeting of the Central Home and School Association this week.

The little girl is now Mrs. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, a New York City public school principal, and a slender, beautiful woman with graying hair and twinkling blue eyes. She is proud today that as a little girl of eight she inspired that classic expression of Christmas sentiment—Francis P. Church's exquisitely worded editorial, which follows:

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of curs man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as deary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

"Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your daddy to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

"You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

"No Santa Claus? Thank God he lives, and he lives forever! A thousand years from now, Virginia; nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

Mrs. W. Rose Is President St. James' W.M.S.

The Woman's Missionary Society is marking the close of another year in all its organizations at their December meeting. The interest and enthusiasm which still holds good, in spite of war and many existing dicouragements, are evidence of a reality of purpose and faith in this great organization.

As one of the cogs in the city's W.M.S. which St. James' United Church Auxiliary reached the close of 1939 in Wednesday's Christmas meeting in a most optimistic spirit.

"O Come All Ye Faithful" was the call which opened the service presided over by the president, Mrs. W. Rose, and in silent prayer the members remembered their missionaries, when all united in The Lord's Prayer.

Reports show a most encouraging year, from the treasurer's viewpoint, as well as from the secertary of Christian Stewardship whose books tell that "systematic giving" has been permanently adopted.

Mrs. Beavis reported on the temperance question as taken up in St. James' Auxiliary, as one of its most important features. A special offering was taken for the Community Friendship Secretary, Mrs. A. Davis for Christmas cheer, which she dispenses to sick and shut-in members.

The subscriptions to the Missionary Monthly are coming in well, with Mrs. W. K. Sloane as the secretary.

The roll call was responded to by 26 members, and five visitors were welcomed.

Mrs. M. Morrison, group leader for the Christmas service was assisted by the following group members, in a very impressive candle-lighting service, with "Jesus, the Light of the World" as their theme.

Mrs. E. Kitney and Mrs. Bert Pitchford took the solo parts, with Mrs. H. F. Doig at the piano. Mrs. E. Deyell, Miss M. Deyell, Mrs. G. Rowe, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Wagar completed the group.

A pelasing little dialogue 'Christmas Every Day," wa senjoyed, as given by Mary Morrison and Robin Wright, Mission Band girls.

Christmas at Madras was an inspiring message led by Mrs. W. K. Sloane.

Those taking these parts at yesterday's meeting included Mesdames W. K. Sloane, A. Rosborough, E. Kitney, McAdams, A. Davis, F. W. Craik, S. L. Hanlon and E. M. Davis.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. A. Doig, convenor of the Nominating committee, read her report, and Rev. F. W. Craik took the chair for election of officers for 1940, resuting in the following slate: Honorary Presidents, Mrs. W. H. Buckler and Mrs. W. Sollitt; President, Mrs. W. Rose; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. E. L. Woodley; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. George Rowe; Recording Secretary, Mrs. A. Rosborough; Corresponding and Press Secretary, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; Treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English; Secretary of Christian Stewardship, Mrs. F. W. Craik; Assistant Secretary Christian Stewardship, Miss M. Deyell; Secretary Community Friendship, Mrs. A. Davis; Assistant, Mrs. B. Pitchford; Supply Secretary, Mrs. A. Cripps; Assistant Supply Secretary, Mrs. Godfrey; Associate Helpers Secretary, Mrs. McAdams; Assistant Helpers' Secretary, Mrs. George Cuff; Temperance Secretary, Mrs. E. Beavis; Assistant Temperance Secretary, Mrs. E. L. Woodley; Missionary Monthy Secretary, Mrs. W. K. Sloane; Literature Secretary, Mrs. S. L. Hanlon; Mission Band Secretary, Miss C. Wagar; Assistant, Mrs. H. F. Doig; Baby Band Secretary, Mrs. E. M. Davis; Assistant, Mrs. E. Baldry; Pianist, Mrs. H. F. Doig.

The meeting was dismissed by the pastor with prayer and the benediction.

Try using a little ammonia and soap added to cold water for grease spots on washable fabric. Ammonia in which salt has been dissolved will also remove grease spots.

It is claimed that the hair will keep in curl much longer if a teaspoonful of ordinary tea is steeped a little sugar added, and this applied to the hair.

Home and School Association News

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

Parents were given an excellent opportunity of studying the type of book best suited to the reading needs of their children at a meeting of the King George Home and School Association Tuesday evening, when a large collection of fine books were displayed through the courtesy of Soden's Book Store. Children, like adults, desire to have some books of their own. Even the tot of three or four gains pleasure and value from having a few of his own pictured stories read day after day, and thus books for Christmas giving remain, and always day after day, and thus books for Christmas giving remain, and always should remain, a popular choice. Mr. G. C. Northey was in charge of the display.

The president, Mrs. T. L. Ashton, presided at the meeting, which opened with the Christmas carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful," and was followed by The Lord's Prayer, and the regular business meeting.

Musical numbers included a well rendered and delightful piano duet, Clay's 'Bright As A Button," played by Arthur and Douglas Dobson, and two pleasing vocal solos, "O Holy Night," and "The Holy City," by Miss Sexsmith.

Mr. F. E. Kerr gave an interesting and informative talk on current events. Miss J. Deyell addressed the meeting on the subject of health. She pointed out the value of preschool examinations in discovering, at an early age, various defects, which if not corrected will result in poor health and loss of time at school.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

DOROTHY DIX

When a Mother Or Other Relative Is Compelled By Circumstances To Live With In-Laws, She Should Overexert Herself To See They Have Their Freedom.

IT IS the fate of many women to live in other people's houses. Sometimes it is a matter of necessity, when a mother has no other refuge than her children's homes. Sometimes it is a matter of choice when a mother has absorbed herself so completely in her children that she has no life apart from them and cannot bear to be separated from them for even a single day.

But, however, it is, the situation is one that is charged with dynamite and results in the blowing up of many homes. For it is easier for the lion and the lamb to lie down together than for two women to dwell together under one roof in amity or for an enforced visitor always to find welcome on the mat before her door.

Now, admittedly, the role of permanent guest is one that is difficult to fill gracefully. It requires the finesse of a diplomat, the ability of a mind reader to sense the moods and tenses of one's host and the gift of the exemplary monkeys to be blind and deaf and dumb and see nothing, hear nothing and say nothing about what goes on about one. Alas, few women possess these talents. However, without expecting the average woman to be either a she-angel or endowed with unlimited tact, it does seem that any woman who goes to live in another woman's house, whether it be her daughter's or her daughter-in-law's or another's, should bear in mind a few fundamental facts.

First of these is, of course, that she is a guest and should conduct herself like a guest. She should fall in with the family plan of living. She should refrain from criticisms and suggestions. She should not try to superimpose her own theories about religion and smoking and card playing and so on upon her host. She should let the woman of the house run it according to her own ideas and the parents rear their children without comment from her. In a word, she should never forget that a guest pays for her board and lodging by making herself agreeable.

The second thing, and perhaps the most important thing of all, that the woman who lives in other people's houses should keep continually before her mind's eye is not to be forever under the feet of her hosts. She should give them a break by spending a lot of time in her own room and giving them a chance to be together alone and have intimate husband-and-wife talks without any third person listening in.

She should make a life of her own, have occupations of her own, amusements of her own. She should cultivate some hobby. Learn to play solitaire. Go to the neighborhood movies by herself. Make hook rugs or quilts. Anything so that she will not always have to be dragged along wherever her hosts go or force them to stay at home when they are invited out because she will consider herself a martyr if she is left alone.

If she has money she should put in much time making long trips and going to Winter and Summer resorts. Once a woman said to me: "Do you know what my husband would consider the greatest treat that could be given him? It would be for us just to have one week alone without Mother. It isn't that he doesn't like her. He does. But he would like to be alone with me for a little while. In the fifteen years we have been married that has never happened. We have never eaten a meal alone. We can't take a ride alone. And we spend our evenings listening to Mother reminisce about when I was such a cute baby."

Another woman sends me this wail of woe: When my father-in-law died and my husband's mother came to live with us I got a job and went to work, as I knew two women couldn't possibly run one house and I thought she would be happier if she felt she was useful and had something to do. This was far from an ideal arrangement for me, because I loved my home, but it was the lesser of the two evils.

But the situation is getting unbearable, because after our being away all day she monopolizes our evenings. My husband and I do not go out much, as we are both tired after working all day and would be only too glad to have the evenings to just be together, to relax and enjoy our home. But this is denied us. His mother sits right in the room with us all of the time, monopolizes the conversation and never realizes that we would like to have a little time alone. We want to make her happy, but we want a little life of our own, too. We would like to take her to shows and for rides, but when we are with her constantly at home we only go out to be alone. Then she thinks we are selfish because we don't take her, which we would gladly do if she would give us some time alone at home."

There you are. The moral of these stories is that if the permanent visitor wants to be popular she mustn't let her host get fed up with her.

DEAR MISS DIX—Will you please explain how to stop self-consciousness?—S.

ANSWER:

Quit thinking about yourself and concentrate your attention on other people. If you are thinking about how handsome and interesting some other man is you won't be worrying over whether or not you are a Robert Taylor. Self-consciousness is only vanity. It is imagining that everybody's attention is focused on you and that every one is observing and criticizing everything you say and do.

DOROTHY DIX.

J. Campbell-McInnes Is Heard In Second Music Appreciation Lecture

Music has had to take off its high hat and go to the beloved, ordinary, common people from whence it came, J. Campbell?McInnes told a large audience Wednesday night in the Y.W.C.A. Recreation Room. All our composers have taken material from the people and further developed it in their suites and sonatas, he said. That the church also was trying to keep pace with the common people in its early days is evident from its "good" music, and it was this music of the people that gave birth to the madrigals in England.

The Ontario Music Teachers' Association is presenting Mr. Campbell-McInnes in a series of four lectures on Music Appreciation, and last evening his talk on "The Pageant of Minstrelsy" took his listeners back to the beginning of music and traced its development through the reigns of kings and queens to the present day.

He mentioned the advance of music in the church since the Founder Himself sanctioned its use at the Last Supper, as mentioned in the verse of Scripture, "And when they had sung a hymn, They went up into the Mount of Olives." For many centuries, he said, the monks were the only teachers of music in Europe.

Mr. Campbell-McInnes is a renowned British baritone, a Professor of Reading and Public Speaking at Wycliffe College, Toronto, and Extension Lecturer in English Diction and Speech, University of Toronto. He was born in Lancashire, England, and has been described as England's finest Bach singer.

Soon after he came to Toronto his "Tuesday Nine o'Clocks," as the concerts were known, created a new and vital atmosphere in the musical life of the city. He is also known throughout the Dominion as an adjudicator, and lecturer on the appreciation of music. He was largely responsible for the "Sunday Evening Concerts" and music generally for students in Hart House; some fifteen thousand boys and young men having been culturally benefitted in music and song as a result of his efforts.

Dorothy Allan Park, president of the O.M.T.A., presented the speaker, referring to his previous talks as "very beautiful additions to the gallery of musical pictures he is leaving in Peterborough.' He was thanked by Isabel M. Brain and Mrs. J. Smith.

At his next lecture on January 17, Mr. Campbell-McInnes will speak of "The Bible in Music and Literature."

Woman Censorship Is Under Fire

LONDON, Dec. 14—(CP). — Considerable criticism is being levelled here against the employment of society women in the War Office's Postal Censorship Department.

It is claimed that their lack of knowlege of the essentials of office routine causes muddle and unnecessary delay in the mails and leaves women unemployed who really need the money. Many of the "Lovelies" as they have been called, have private incomes in addition to their pay of $10.50 to $25 a week.

Some of them refused National Health and Unemployment cards because they felt there was a stigma attached to them. The Ministry of Labor sent inspectors to make sure the regulations were obeyed.

One girl is said to have heard about the censorship job at a London party ,and to have applied after expressing the opinion it would be amusing.

We Noticed

....That religious themes and those definitely in the mood of the Victorian era are first choice in greeting cards for Christmas, 1939.

....Etchings of the great cathedrals of Europe, strictly religious texts, breathing the spirit of "on earth, peace, good will toward men," and sentimental renderings of exquisite angels and scenes laid in the Holy Land are far the best-sellers.

....Apart from the religious and period motifs, reindeer and Santa Claus and Christmas trees are popular, appearing in a wide variety of cards from actual photographs to modernistic treatments. Hobbies and sports (particularly skating and skiing) are well represented.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by Mrs. MARY MOORE

Conducted by Mrs. Mary Moore.

Question: Will you kindly tell me how to make baked Pork and Beans, also beans with molasses. Thanking you, Mrs. L.

Answer: Thank you for your letter.

Baked Pork and Beans (Boston Style).

One and one-half pounds navy beans, 1 lb. side meat (pickled pork), ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard. ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon molasses, 1 small onion (left whole), 1½ teaspoons salt, (more if needed after 2 hours baking), 3 tablespoons sugar (if desired ½ cup brown sugar may be used instead of any white— many prefer baked beans this sweet), ¼ cup catsup (the catsup is not necessary—but if not used substitute canned tomatoes or juice for some of the water). Soak beans overnight in water to cover at least 3 inches, to which add ½ teaspoon soda. In morning bring to boil in fresh water. Boil slowly for about 20 minutes (until skins break when lifted out of water). Immediately drain (saving water) and blanch in cold water —this keeps beans whole during entire baking process. Add all remaining ingredients, and enough of the drained off broth to cover well. As beans cook add water or tomato juice as needed.

Bake slowly in bean pot, covered (a 5-lb. lard pail makes a good substitute), for 3 hours, then uncover and bake 1 hour. Baker 6 hours they have a richer flavor. The onion if left whole may be placed on top when baking begins and removed after second hour.

Baked Beans with Molasses.

Follow recipe for Baked Pork and Beans (above) eliminating the pork, and adding 1 teaspoon salt (2½ teaspoons salt or maybe 3 if desired in all). More tomato juice and less water may be used for richer flavor.

MAPS SUPPLY SWEATER MOTIFS.

If ever the overworked word "amusing" had a right to be included in the fashion vocabulary, now is the time.

The painted scenes that had a brightening effect on sweaters of not long ago, are replaced at the moment in a series of sweaters now being shown in New York, with maps as a motif. Pale green, yellow and pink are used for these knitted-in motifs, and hardly anybody will be too grim about the fact that for sweater purposes, all countries are sharply separated. Leather beads, or monogram knitted inlays are also seen. Remember how sweaters had their first big moment years ago as a result of Schiaparelli's launching them in the unknown "modernistic" patterns? Those were unquestionably amusing too.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

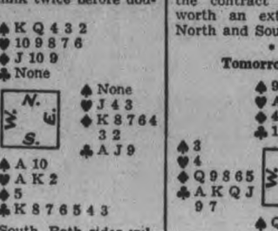
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

JUST USE SUBTRACTION

YOUR OPPONENT has only thirteen cards in his hand. If he has shown by his bidding that he holds some ten cards in two suits, he is bound to be short in the others. And if you or your partner should have length in one of his two suits, his partner is sure to be not overly long in it. Such being the case, it is positive that they can kill off some of your side's honor cards which otherwise might be good defensive trick takers. When these factors exist, it is well to think twice before doubling them.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

East gave a nice present to North and South on this deal by doubling their contract. South had bid 1-Club, West 1-Spade and North doubled. East took out with 2-Diamonds, which passed around to North. The latter bid 2-Hearts, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts. There is where East stuck in his double, which he followed with a lead of the diamond 6 to the A.

West promptly shifted to a spade, which East ruffed, following with a lead of his club A, as he was now desperate to prevent an overtrick. It did him no good, however; in fact, less than no good. To his consternation, North trumped, led to the heart A, ruffed a second club, led to the heart K, cashed the club K and then ran good clubs and trumps, giving him an extra trick.

As it turned out, the fact that the contract was doubled was worth an extra 290 points to North and South.

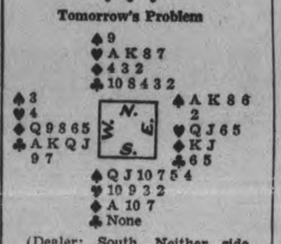
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West bids 1-Club, East 1-Spade, West 2-Diamonds, East 2-Hearts, West 3-Diamonds, East 3-Spades on this deal, why should West now bid 3-No Trumps instead of 4-Clubs?

Fairmount W.M.S. Meeting Is Held At The Home Of Mrs. T.W. McIndoo

FAIRMOUNT, Dec. 14—(ENS).—The W.M.S. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. T. W. McIndoo, with a large attendance.

Mrs. Robert Hooton had charge of the devotional period and following quiet music played by Mrs. T. W. McIndoo, the Christmas hymn, "Once in Royal David's City," was sung. Mrs. McIndoo read the Christmas story from Luke, 2nd chapter. After the minutes and roll call, Mr. Everson offered prayer. A short Christmas playette was put on entitled "Shepherds Tell Us Once Again." Those taking parts were Miss F. Dunford, Miss Jean Hanbidge, Mrs. H. McBain, Margaret Earle, Myrna Seymour, and Marie Ballantyne.

A short solo was sung by Myrna Seymour; Mrs. H. McBain read a letter from Miss Stewart, missionary in India, telling of her work there. The Rev. Mr. Everson presided for the election of officers for the coming year.

Mrs. James Seymour moved that all the officers be re-elected with the exception of literature secretary (which office she filled), and she nominated Mrs. A. Kemp for literature secretary.

Mrs. Hanbidge, Miss E. McIndoo and Mrs. J. Seymour were a committee named to arrange programs for 1940. The meeting closed by singing "Silent Night," followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Seymour, Mrs. J. H. Sanderson and Mrs. S. Hanbidge.

Mrs. Russel Earle gave the treasurer's report, and Mrs. F. McIndoo and Mrs. J. Kemp were appointed auditors.

Mrs. T. Sargent and Miss Mary Hanbidge of Peterborough are guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge.

Miss Helen Earle is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wood of Otonabee.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hooton and family and Mr. Roy Hooton motored to Toronto Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. McIndoo spent Thursday in Toronto; Miss E. L. McIndoo returning home with them.

Miss Muriel Hooton of Peterborough spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. Hooton.

Toronto, Dec. 14 (CP).

RICHARD J. HAEMMERLI, joint manager of the Banque Nationale Pour Le Commerce Et Industrie, Paris, said today that the French buying commission in New York will come to Canada within a few weeks with the first of a large number of orders for Dominion industries.

Mr. Haemmerli, here to survey Canadian resources for wartime purposes, said on leaving for Montreal that conditions were in readiness for Canada to receive an "enormous number" of orders.

Planes For Finns

LONDON, Dec. 14—(CP). — Sir Kingsley Wood, secretary for air, told the House of Commons today that licences had been granted a British firm to export planes to Finland "after consideration of all facts." He did not agree with a questioner that planes were "badly needed supplies at home."

The air minister refrained from replying to a question whether there was "danger of getting the country involved in another war at the same time" by supplying Finland aircraft.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hutchison Given Surprise By Their Relatives

CAVAN, Dec. 14 — (ENS). — An event of interest to Cavan people took place at Newtonville on Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hutchison were pleasantly surprised by sixteen of their immediate relatives arriving to spend the day with them, it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchison (nee Pearl Elliott) were married at the home of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Elliott, near Cavan Station, December 9, 1914, by the Rev. J. R. Butler, and left on the evening train for their honeymoon at Ottawa.

They resided in Cavan for several years after their marriage and also at Havelock and Norwood. At present Mr. Hutchinson is foreman on the C.P.R. at Newtonville. They have one son, Garfield of Toronto.

Among those who motored from Cavan were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Richards, Berenice and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gardiner and Mr. N. Trew; Mrs. Bertha Howson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Byers, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Misner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Howson and Mr. Garfield Hutchison of Toronto were also present.

The self-invited guests provided a bounteous wedding dinner and supper, including a beautiful wedding cake, made and presented by her niece, Mrs. Fred Byers. They also presented them with twenty-four pieces of crystal.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carr and children of Bethany visited Mr. and Mrs. Melville Carr on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newton of Burketon, former residents of Cavan, celebrated their golden wedding on Sunday, December 3.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Staples, Ray Staples and Gwenyth and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Fair attended the funeral of the late Mr C. C. Perrin of Oakwood on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Galbraith motored from Detroit on Saturday and are visiting her mother, Mrs. R. M. Howden.

Cavan hockey club held a very enjoyable dance in the community hall on Friday evening. There was a good crowd. The Galloway Orchestra supplied music. Proceeds will be used in preparing the rink for winter sports.

Inventors Busy On War Gadgets

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP).—Folk with an inventive turn of mind are sending plenty of ideas, suggestions and inventions to the Defense Department thes days, but few are practical, a department spokesman speaking on naval weapons, said last night.

The ideas deal with an astonishing variety of subjects, the spokesman said. Most come from Canadians, though many have been received from the United States, Central and South America, and in one case, from Australia.

"Plans and inventions dealing with naval matters fall under two main headings: Suggestions for detection or destruction of enemy submarines; and methods for protecting our own ships from attack by those vessels," the spokesman declared.

A few concern plans for saving life in sunken submarines or for preventing a ship damaged by torpedo-fire from sinking. Each suggestion is examined by the technical officers of the naval staff, who are qualified to give an expert opinion. Every suggestion is acknowledged with as little delay as possible.

"In many instances," said the speaker, "the ideas prescribed display remarkable ingenuity on the part of the authors. But alas the great majority are not capable of being applied in practice.

"The reason for this unfortunate state of affairs is nearly always a lack of knowledge on the part of the inventors, of ships, of torpedoes, or submarines, or indeed, in some cases of marine conditions in general."

However, he said, the department realized the man on the outside looking in is frequently able to suggest some alteration or improvement which has never occurred to the man on the inside and, "in the midst of war we cannot afford to neglect anything which may assist in bringing it to a successful conclusion."

Uruguay Lets Graf Spee Make Repairs

Cordon Strengthened Off Montevideo; Spee Frees 62 Britons

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 15—(AP).—Guaranteed refuge to mend damage to their ship, the crew of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee turned today to burial of their dead, while the Allies massed naval strength to keep the raider entrapped.

British diplomatic quarters indicated that the 10,000-ton British cruiser Cumberland had been added to the guard patrol off Montevideo and official Argentine sources at Buenos Aires said they "understood" that the 26,500-ton French battleship Dunkerque was steaming to join the cordon.

Combined with the British cruisers Ajax and Achilles, victors over the Admiral Graf Spee in Wednesday's running battle of fthe Uruguayan coast, these warships would confront the 10,000-ton battleship with more than 50,000 tons of naval power in any attempt to escape.

Well Outgunned.

Against the 11-inch guns of the German vessel there would be the 13-inch pieces of the Dunkerque as well as the eight-inch batteries of the Cumberland and the six-inchers of the 7,030-ton Achilles and the 6,985-ton Ajax.

Over $5,638,000 War Orders Let During Week

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(CP).—War orders valued at $5,638,000 were announced today by Transport Minister Howe in his statement on activities of the war supply board for the week ended Dec. 12. This brings to approximately $54,000,000 the amount spent for war purchases by the government since early September.

Largest portion of the money released through the board during the week will be used to buy aircraft supplies and accessories, the total for this purpose being $3,392,000. Practically all of these orders were placed with the British Air Ministry.

Second largest order on the list which comprises 419 items was given to the British Admiralty for certain defence stores, the amount being $1,033,255.

Orders valued in excess of $456,000 were made for equipment for the Canadian fighting forces. Preparing for the comfort of troops in winter, these orders included contracts for substantial numbers of great coats, overshoes and winter caps.

The bill for meat alone for the army and navy for the week came to $50,000. Principal items were fresh beef, pork, mutton and breakfast bacon.

Even Mop Cloths

Orders for barrack stores, which include such housewifely items as mop cloths, totalled more than $97,000. Construction contracts for work at various military depots came to $318,590.

While the Transport Minister's statement listed 47 individual items each representing an order in excess of $5,000, the board placed a further 372 items, each having a value of $5,000 or less and which totalled $343,000.

These cover a wide variety of purchases, including surgical supplies, medical stores, marine equipment, lumber and other building products, gasoline and oils.

Suspect Raider Graf Spee Masquerading Under Her Sister Ship Scheer's Name

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP Cable)—The Daily Express today suggests that a Tuesday night mystery broadcast in English which reported the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer had "been the victim of bad luck" might have been a coded warning from a German source that the Admiral Graf Spee wa sendangered.

The paper says one naval theory is the Graf Spee uses the name Scheer as an alias and in fact that one pocket battleship has been masquerading under both names. It adds: "This may be the outcome of the first R.A.F. raid on the war (September 4) when a pocket battleship was heavily bombed (at Wilhelmshaven, Germany) and probably put out of action permanently."

Wednesday night first reports of a naval engagement in South Atlantic waters named the German ship involved as the Admiral Scheer. It was not until the pocket battleship reached Montevideo that night that her identity was established as the Graf Spee. Some of the freighters whose captains were aboard the Graf Spee as prisoners had been believed the victims of the Scheer.

The theory that one ship used two names and that one was damaged in September would leave only the Deutschland to be accounted for of the three pocket battleships.

Hint Nazi Liner May Be Bait For Battle Trap

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 15 — (AP). — Speculation arose to-day that Germany's third largest merchant ship, the 32,581-ton liner Columbus, was being used to lure British warships into a battle trap.

Foreign sources said the big passenger ship, painted battleship grey and carrying provisions and fuel for a 50-day voyage, sailed from Vera Cruz yesterday as a bait for British war vessels, as a supply ship for Nazi men-o'-war, or to make a bold dash for home.

No word had been received from her since she sailed, ostensibly for Oslo, Norway.

Foreign sources said that the Columbus' representatives seemed to have taken pains that any interested party would know the exact hour of her departure and her early course. They expressed belief that the liner, a tempting prize of war, was being used as a decoy. It was suggested that the Columbus, sailing apparently unarmed and defenceless on open seas, actually would be convoyed by German submarines waiting to torpedo any

Soviets Hammer In Vain Along Karelia

By LYNN HEINZERLING
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY ON THE KARELIAN FRONT, Dec. 15. —(AP)—The Soviet Russian army shattered the frosty silence of this eastern Karelian sector with artillery blasts today in a desperate effort to dislodge a few thousand Finns from their advanced forest defences.

This was the 10th day for such Red army attacks as the Russians continued their attempt to find a weak spot in the Finnish Mannerheim line, just a few miles to the north.

(On the Finnish Arctic front, Russian troops invaded the mining district where the International Nickel Company of Canada has rich developments and neared the town of Salmijaveri, which was burned by the Finns as they withdrew. Norwegians mined the frozen Pasvik (Pacific) river as a defence measure.

(Dispatches reaching Bergen, Norway, said two violent explosions were heard last night in Salmijaevri and it was presumed the Finns had dynamited rich nickel mines rather than have them fall into Russian hands.

Australia Signs U.K. Pact To Train 25,600 Fliers In Next 3 Years

SYDNEY, Dec. 15—(CP-Reuters)—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies today announced signature of an agreement between Great Britain and Australia on the Empire air training plan.

The plan, Mr. Menzies said, will result in the training of 10,000 pilots and 15,600 observers, radio operators and gunners, at a cost spread over the next three years of an estimated £50,000,000 ($222,500,000).

The agreement provides that most Australians shall complete their training in Australia, but some thousands will go to Canada.

Mr. Menzies said Great Britain would provide 50 per cent. of the motors necessary for elementary training planes as well as all the Fairey and Avro planes needed for complementary training. Great Britain has also offered to place at Australia's disposal instructors who will in case of need aid the Australian instructors.

Appointed Bishop

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 15 (CP-Havas)—Mgr. Henri Belleau today was made a bishop and named apostolic vicar of James Bay, Ont.

The appointment was announced by the congregation for the propagation of faith.

The new bishop, born in Ottawa Oct. 8, 1896, was formerly a professor at the Scholastica of St. Joseph, Ottawa.

Conant Will Seek To Doom Grand Jury Next Session

TORONTO, Dec. 15.—(CP).—Abolition of Grand Juries will be sought at the January session of the Legislature, Attorney General Gordon Conant indicated to-day.

Mr. Conant said he would move at the session for amendment of those sections of the Ontario statutes necessary to dispense with Grand Juries and at the same time sponsor a resolution asking the Dominion government for complementary revision of the criminal code.

The Attorney General's proposal is that indictments should be prepared by Crown Attorneys for direct submission of the charge to the trial judge. However, to provide for cases in which there may be doubt as to the wisdom of the magistrate's decision to commit the case for trial in higher courts, Mr. Conant is asking that he be authorized to direct the submission of any indictment to a Judge who would function as does a Grand Jury.

The Ontario legislation would be held for formal proclamation "if and when" the Federal government met the requests for alterations in the criminal code.

It is the Attorney General's in-

That Gas Story

Montevideo, Dec. 15 (AP)

THE British seamen released from the Graf Spee offered themselves as "exhibit A" in support of Britain's denial that gas was used in the battle, as the Germans said yesterday. One of the men declared:—

"During the whole fight, the German sailors had gas masks—we had none. If gas was strong enough to spoil food, as they said, it certainly was strong enough to affect us, and you can see for yourself none of us was gassed.

"It is true about the food being spoiled, but it was spoiled by a British shell which exploded in the centre of the galley, wrecking everything. I saw one man who was said to be blinded by gas. He was blinded when a shell exploded almost in his face."

Painted Tresses Latest In Fads

CHICAGO, Dec. 15 — (AP). — Startling, but true, the latest decorative feminine beauty fad for holiday gaiety is, it appears, painted hair.

Hair painted red, green, blue—or pink and blue if you wish—to match the trimming on the evening gown or the sandals.

All this was uncovered to-day in looking in upon the Illinois Hairdressers' Association to see if there were any last minute style notes for the holidays. And one beautician, Gene Pesce of Oak Park, Ill., was discovered painting hair.

A special mixed pigment that is soluble in water wa sapplied on the hair with an atomizer. As a demonstration a girl's blonde tresses were painted dubonnet. The paint washed out with soap and water.

To give added glamor the painted hair can be sprinkled with metallic powder. The hair can be combed and rearranged after painting.

SHORTAGE OF SKILLED LABOR

Third Man Is Badly Hurt In C.N. Crash

Light Truck Is Hit By Train On River Road

Their light truck struck by a fast-travelling C.N.R. express train and carried 1350 feet, two Peterborough youths were instantly killed and another man was rushed to the hospital early this afternoon. The accident took place at Whitfield's crossing on the River Road in North Monaghan township.

The dead were Gordon Wagar, 253 Wolfe street, who was long associated with the Central Ontario News Company as a delivery boy; and Archie McMasters, 1 Stewart street.

The three men were travelling west from Peterborough when they collided with the Toronto-Port Hope train at 12.24 o'clock.

For 1350 feet along the tracks there were scraped ties indicating that the light truck had been swept along ahead of the fast train. When the engine came to a stop the car was a battered wreck lying on its side just off the tracks on the grading. The train stood halted beside the wreck for close to two hours after the collision and passengers were puzzled as to what had happened for a time.

For three hours after the accident the names of the victims were not known. The driver of the truck, owned by Arthur Brinklow, Otonabee township, lay in hospital in an unconscious condition with a broken leg and severe internal injuries. His condition was believed to be critical.

Only survivor left at the scene was two young heifers that were being carried in the body of the truck. The sides of the light truck were smashed by the collision and thrown out, along with the animal, at the crossing. The truck itself was a total wreck, its frame twisted and torn into a V-shape.

Roy Wagar, brother of Gordon Wagar, was discovered to be the driver of the truck, and the one surviving member. He was driving the truck, owned by Jack Mervin, Monaghan Road, and was delivering two cattle to a farmer in North Monaghan when the accident occurred. He lay near death this afternoon, it was believed.

Held Over Week

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 15.—(CP)—Sixteen-year-old Alex Zolomy, who police say assembled a small arsenal of arms and explosives and planned a crime that would make him independent for life, was arraigned in court today and was remanded for a week.

One charge of possession of a counterfeiting mold was read against him and the Crown said a "variety" of charges were pending.

Not So Sure

Berlin, Dec. 15 (AP)

AUTHORIZED sources less positive today than yesterday in pressing charges that British cruisers used mustard gas in batling the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee off the coast of Uruguay.

They said the question could be neither affirmed nor denied and was still subject to examination.

(The British Admiralty has denied using gas. British merchant seamen who were prisoners aboard the German ship during the battle offered themselves as "exhibit A" in support of the British denial.)

German sources were unable to say how long the Admiral Graf Spee would remain in Montevideo, asserting this still was a matter of negotiation with Uruguay. They said it was proved that the ship was unseaworthy, but its fighting capacity was not impaired.

Finn Minister Asks Truce To Negotiate

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 15 (AP)—Finland's Foreign Minister, Vaino Tanner, today appealed in a broadcast to the Russian Foreign Commissar, Vyacheslaff Molotoff, for a suspension of hostilities and resumption of negotiations on the basis of the principle of small nations' right of self determination.

Tanner, who took part in the long-drawn Kremlin negotiations which preceded the Russian invasion, recalled that Russia had lent support to this principle.

He recalled also how the Moscow government broke off diplomatic relations with Finland, refused mediation by the United States, rejected Sweden's efforts at conciliation and spurned the League of Nations' appeal for mediation of the dispute.

"However, the air is still open," Tanner said.

"When I recently visited the big agricultural exposition at Moscow," the foreign minister said, "I saw on the wall of one of the buildings a stirring sentence by your leader, Mr. Stalin:—

"The Soviet Union does not covet t single inch of the territory of other states but it will defend every inch of its own soil.

"There is reason at this moment to save that slogan from sinking into oblivion.

Will Fight If Pushed

"Finland still is ready for peaceful negotiation, but if Moscow's aim is conquest of the whole country then the Finns will fight to the end.

"Already the first 16 days have shown that the war will be fierce and demand many victims. Why shed blood so long as there are other possibilities unexamined?"

Meanwhile Finland's defenders were retreating on the far northern front, holding their own on the vital Karelian Isthmus and reporting successful counter attacks on the central fronts.

All reservists thus far not called to the colors but capable of serving were summoned today and must report tomorrow fully equipped.

Many persons not on the reserve rolls have been trying to enlist, but hitherto have been rejected pending an expansion of the army's capacity to receive untrained men.

Finns Burn All Behind Them.

The Arctic retreat, westward across Finland's narrow corridor to the Arctic Ocean, was systematic, with the Finns destroying property potentially useful to the Russians, such as the Canadian-owned nickel mines near Salmijaervi. The Russians were expected to reach this town at the Norwegian frontier today.

Southward, above Lake Ladoga, the Finns reported a successful counter-attack. A brief communique last night said two Russian regiments were nearly annihilated when the Finns regained possession of Tolvajaervi, 40 miles from the Russian frontier and approximately 45 miles north of Lake Ladoga.

"Our forces are pursuing the retreating enemy," said the communique, and unconfirmed reports reaching here today asserted the

Two Forced Landings For Birth Of Triplets Leave Family Fine, But Pilot Gets Jitters

MOSCOW, Dec. 15 (AP)—Dispatches from Irkutsk today described two forced landings of an airplane in the wilds of Siberia to permit a mother to give birth to triplets.

The woman lived in a lonely settlement where medical aid was not available, they said, and a civilian plane was summoned to take her to Irkutsk.

After flying about 100 miles, she urgently requested a landing, and the pilot managed to bring the plane down in a glade in the midst of a dense forest.

There the mother gave birth to two babies. The pilot and his navigator stripped off their shirts and underwear to clothe the infants, and then the flight was resumed.

In a short while, the mother demanded another landing, which was made near a small village. There the third baby was born.

The mother and triplets were reported thriving today, but the fliers were not doing so nicely. They had the jitters.

Graf Spee Patches Holes, Fills Fuel Tanks; R.A.F. Battles Nazi Fleet, Air Squadron As Germans Escort Crippled Cruiser Home

Raider Is Expected To Run For It, Chance Odds, Scrap

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 15 (AP).—Refuelling of the battered German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee began today amid growing expectation she would put to sea despite the increased strength of British warships lying off this neutral refuge in wait for her.

Oil was loaded into the Graf Spee from the German freighter Tacoma and the warship's crew worked to repair the damage caused by Wednesday's day-long shelling by three British cruisers which finally forced the German ship to take refuge here.

While preparations for a possible dash for freedom were being made, officers and a third of the Graf Spee's crew buried on Uruguayan soil the 36 men killed in the battle, first major naval engagement of the war.

British quarters here indicated the 10,000-ton British cruised Cumberland had been added to the patrol off Montevideo and official Argentine sources said they "understood" that the 26,500-ton French battleship Dunkerque was steaming here to join the blockading force. However, the feeling grew in Montevideo that the German ship would attempt to run the gauntlet.

Nazi Prestige Involved

Although ship's officers and German diplomatic officials declined to discuss the vessel's future course, German business leaders here asserted that national prestige would not permit internment.

The Uruguayan government has given the Graf Spee permission to lie here "a prudent length of time" to make repairs to make her "seaworthy." If she failed to leave after making such repairs, she would be interned for the duration of the war.

Visiting Troops

London, Dec. 15 (CP)

THE WAR OFFICE announced today that Prime Minister Chamberlain had arrived in France to spend "a few days" with the British Expeditionary Force.

It was recalled that Britain's Prime Ministers of the first Great War, H. H. Asquith, later the Earl of Oxford, and David Lloyd George, visited the western front in the last conflict.

Asquith made his visit in June-July, 1915, while Mr. Lloyd George went to France in January, 1916, and September, 1918.

Moscow Brands League Tool Of Allies

MOSCOW, Dec. 15—(AP).—The Soviet press reported Russia's expulsion from the League of Nations in dispatches from Geneva today which described the league as the "tool of the British-French bloc."

The dispatches, which broke the Soviet Union's silence on the expulsion yesterday, were not given special prominence. Until they were published, only a faint broadcast from London had been heard here of the league's action.

The Geneva reports assailed the speeches of the Portuguese, French and British delegates and also that of "the notorious 'representative' of the unknown 'Polish' government."

Both the British and French speeches, they said, "exceeded all known standards of cynicism and hypocrisy. They copiously shed crocodile tears about the alleged

U.K. Charges German Subs Raiding Norwegian Waters

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP Cable).—High naval authorities today charged Germany is sending submarines into Norwegian territorial waters to attack British and neutral merchant ships.

It was claimed that three cargo boats have been torpedoed inside Norway's three-mile limit within the past few days and that another torpedoed craft is believed to have been inside.

British and German airplanes clashed in one of the heavest air conflicts of the war, it was reported, as the Royal Air Force raided Nazi seaplane bases and apparently attempted to finish off a German cruiser crippled by a torpedo.

The British planes were reported to have bombed Nazi seaplanes at Sylt, island base off the southwest coast of Denmark and the Islands of Borkum and Norderney, bases off the northeast coast of the Netherlands.

League Is Acting Secretly To Aid Finland

GENEVA, Dec. 15—(AP).—The League of Nations acted secretly today to coordinate supply of arms and ammunition for Finland while the Finns themselves sought to organize a foreign legion to fight the invading armies of Soviet Russia.

The burst of official oratory incident to expulsion of Russia from the League left Finland with promises of assistance and the help of the League's staff of experts.

As the last of assembly and council delegates left Geneva, League officials set to work on the task which they said had secrecy as its essential character.

This was necessary, they said, because Allied supplies could reach Finland only by a combination of sea and overland routes.

Offices of the league in Paris and London were ordered to organize for controlling transport and arranging credits for arms and munitions from France and Great Britain.

Apart from Russia's expulsion, here is what Finland got as a result of the league's resolution yesterday:—

KITCHENER, Ont., Dec. 15 — (CP).—John Jones and Kenneth Burns, addresses unknown today were remanded for a week on nominal charges of vagrancy following a shooting incident here late last night.

Police say Jones and Burns were captured in the Victoria street plant of National Grocers Ltd., after a burglar alarm had been turned in at headquarters. Sergeant Jesse Collins and Constable Cecil Farnham responded and said they trapped Burns after a warning shot had been fired by Farnham.

German Raider Buries Her 36 Dead With Uruguayan Guard Of Honor

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 15—(AP). —While the flag of the shell-torn German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee was lowered to half mast, a third of her crew took ashore the bodies of 36 sailors, killed in Wednesday's day-long battle with three British cruisers and buried them today in Montevideo Cemetery.

The Uruguyan government assigned a battalion of sailors as a guard of honor.

Victims of the battle—first major naval engagement of the war—were in pine coffins draped with the Nazi flag and carried ashore through a lane of German civilians standing at Nazi salute. A dozen hearses carried them to the cemetery in the suburbs.

The Uruguayan government permitted 330 officers and crew members of the Graf Spee to come ashore without arms to participate in the services.

O.A.C., Girls' School Offered R.C.A.F.

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—At the outbreak of war the Ontario Government gave to the Federal Government the new big hospital at St. Thomas as a training place for the Canadian Air Force. Now the government is offering other provincial institutions to the air force for training units.

Yesterday Hon. Harry Nixon with two officers of the air force visited the Mimico Reformatory to see if the institution would be of use.

Today Premier Hepburn, Hon. Harry Nixon and the air force officers were to have gone to Guelph and Galt to see if two institutions would be suitable for training units, but owing to the illness of the premier who is suffering with his old bronchial trouble the trip has been postponed.

The Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph has been offered as Hon. Mr. Nixon explained that for some months during the year there were only short courses there and the buildings could be used as dormitories for airmen. The other place is the girls' school at Galt.

The government, said Mr. Nixon, is going to have three prison camps this winter on the trans-Canada highway where 300 men can be accommodated if the Mimico reformatory is taken over.

No Surrender

Calgary, Dec. 15 (CP)

SPEAKING at a banquet held his honor by the Calgary Board of Trade last night, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, stated that "victory for the Allies in this war is as certain as human nature can say anything is certain.

"This great people will never surrender freedom so long as there is life in them," he said. "There can be no peace in this empire until confidence is restored."

"Whether we shall make ourselves felt as human beings or whether we shall be dominated by force is the issue," he said.

"Distrust, suspicion, dictatorship and lack of confidence, growing in the world for years, have found expression in this war. Men did not enter it with a spirit of adventure, but with a sense of duty. This civilization has kept Christianity alive in past centuries. It has endured because of Britain."

Less Trading

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP). — The international trade in securities between Canada and other countries declined to $17,904,692 in October from $61,977,140 the previous month and $73,678,329 in October last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported to-day.

Cruiser Bags Nazi Steamer, Germans Scuttle Another

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 15 — (CP-Havas). — The 4-700-ton German freighter Duesseldorf, which sailed from Valparaiso under cover of night on Wednesday, was sunk to-day by a British cruiser off the Chilean port of Caldera.

The Duesseldorf, which took refuge at Valparaiso at the outbreak of the war, obtained clearance papers on December 12, and slipped out of port the following night.

The cruiser overtook the freighter off Caldera, 300 miles north of Valparaiso.

The Chilean Government ordered the 9,00-ton submarine depot ship Araucano to the scene to search for survivors.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Dec. 15 — (CP-Reuters). — An official annonucement here today said the 2,989-ton German steamship Adolf Leonhardt was scuttled by her crew when intercepted by a British warship.

The Adolf Leonhardt, out of Hamburg, was built in 1921 and was owned by Leonhardt & Blumberg.

House Will Open January 25; Lay Delay On War

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Pressure of war business will delay the opening of the sixth session of Canada's 18th Parliament until Jan. 25, about two weeks later than last winter's opening. The opening date was announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King last night following a cabinet meeting.

The national war effort is expected to be the main business before what probably will be the last session of the 18th parliament. The Liberal government of Mr. Mackenzie King was elected in 1935, and a general election is expected in 1940 along party lines. Rumors of a union government have been discounted in the capital.

The government has been carrying on with the extraordinary powers granted by parliament at the September war session, and its stewardship of the country's affairs under war stress will be fully debated at the coming session.

This will be the first session of parliament with Canada actually at war since the first Great War.

Casualties

London, Dec. 15 (CP).

GREAT BRITAIN'S total casualties in the first three months of war were aproximately 2,100, Prime Minister Chamberlain said today in reply to a question in the House of Commons. This figure for all British forces compared with 12,500 during the first two months of war in 1914, he said.

Mr. Chamberlain did not divide the casualties according to the various arms of service. However, the latest report on Royal Air Force fatalities listed 442. Naval losses were aproximately 1,630.

The official declaration of a state of war last September followed a few hours after the close of the extraordinary war session.

War contracts will be tabled in the House of Commons early in the session, it is believed. Conservative leader Manion has given notice that he will raise the issue of patronage in the awarding of contracts and in the appointments of a number of wartime officials.

Radio Skips Expulsion.

The Moscow radio, which launched an attack on members of the Swedish Social Democratic Party, made no mention of the League sessions at Geneva.

(The ouster notice was sent to the Kremlin by League officials in a telegram last night.)

"Slaves and hirelings of capitalists and imperialistic interests have dared to abuse the glorious Red army, which with such unselfishness has lent its help to the democratic Finnish Republic," said the broadcast attack on the Swedish Party and its organ "Social Democrat."

"These so-called Socialists have sunk so deep that their newspaper has reached the level of th worst Paris Boulevard papers. But the whole world and even the Swedish people will realize the unselfish work of the Soviet Union and her army," the broadcast added.

(About 40,000 men have been called up for duty in the Swedish army as a defence measure, bringing the men under arms to about 150,000 compared to a normal force of 20,000. Lieut.-General Olof Phoernell has been named commander of all military forces, a post filled only in anticipation of an emergency.)

A vigorous "reply" to the League of Nations action was expected by observers here in the next few days, accompanied by a bitter press attack.

On the Finnish front, the Red army headquarters reported a 75-mile advance in the Ukhta district in the Finnish Arctic area.

Nazi Pocket Battleship Badly Damaged By British Cruisers

The crack Nazi pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee is shown here in Montevideo's harbor where she sought shelter after a 14-hour running naval battle with three British cruisers. Britons Battle Warships, Planes And Sub

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP) — A squadron of German warships has ventured into the North Sea near the scene of the Battle of Jutland of the first Great War, British airmen reported today on their return from a bitter aerial fight in which the ships participated.

The Royal Air Force fliers sighted a German battleship, a cruiser, some destroyers and a submarine, they said.

Desperate efforts were made by the Germans to keep secret the fact that the vessels were on the high seas. The British airmen said six successive "waves" of German fighter planes went aloft to try to prevent the Royal Air Force from getting home with the news.

Four of the German and three British planes were shot down, the air ministry said.

(Germans claimed six British bombers and one German pursuit plane were lost in the battle near the Frisian Islands.)

The German warships combined their fire with that of the planes, and even the submarine took part in the gunning before diving for safety, the Royal Air Force fliers related.

Another answer suggested for the mystery of the liner's departure after having found haven in Mexico since early in the war was that she might have a rendezvous at sea with Nazi submarines or destroyers to refuel and reprovision them.

The Columbus left behind 17 Chinese and three Italian members of her crew of 600, as well as four German stewardesses, who protested the risk of the voyage and were transferred to the German freighter Hamelin.

There were rumors that the 4,147-ton Hamelin, the only Nazi vessel remaining here, also would sail soon.

The German freighter Arauca, which left just before the Columbus, was reported sighted off shore a short distance north of Vera Cruz with a destroyer, unidentified but believed part of the United States

The Arauca's manifest gave her destination as New Orleans and, if actually heading there, she would have no need to go outside the neutrality zone established by the Panama Conference.

River Line Holds

The Finnish army burrowed deeper under the snow on the northern side of the Taipale River but wasted no shells in anticipation of an expected enemy advance.

They withheld fire in the sub-Arctic twilight but were prepared to meet any move of the Soviet troops to cross the river. Already the Finns had stopped a dozen efforts to cross this barrier.

One strapping Finnish soldier told me as the shells whistled overhead: "This couldn't frighten us from the pleasure of stopping another Russian drive."

Both officers and soldiers said the Russian batteries apparently were following no plan in their shelling but merely picked out a spot on the map to spray with shells for several hours.

Just Shoot Anywhere

For more than an hour I watched Russian shells explode in a clump of trees close to the river where not a single Finnish soldier was stationed.

On the way to the front, I stopped in a darkened railway station a few miles back of the lines. A hundred Finnish civilians stood on the pitch-black platform watching a light glisten from a hospital train. At regular intervals, two men appeared at a train window, reached out and grasped the handles of a stretcher handed up to them.

A Red Cross officer said approximately 600 soldiers had arrived from the front since the start of the war. All came from the Taipale river district.

Russian casualties in the same district were estimated by army officers at 2,000, including many killed at close range by machine-gun fire.

At the front stations, the wounded were placed in buses and taken to hospitals back of the lines and later into the interior.

Standing inside a car as the wounded came through a window headfirst, I watched a doctor bend down and ask a man about his injuries.

"Shrapnel in the back," said a smiling, unshaven soldier.

exactly what type of repairs would be permitted. Foreign Minister Alberto Guani was unable to draw a line between "seaworthiness" of the Graf Spee and its "combat worthiness."

A Uruguayan naval commission was expected to be named to fix limits beyond which the Graf Spee's repairs may not go.

However Uruguayan naval officers pointed out that it might be difficult to define repairs. It could be argued, they said, that the main damages suffered in the terrific shelling affected navigation and seaworthiness rather than fighting ability.

2 Planes Worst Loss

The greatest damage to fighting equipment, it was said, was destruction of the pocket battleship's two airplanes, wrecked beyond possibility of repair.

President Alfredo Baldomir called a cabinet meeting this afternoon to study the situation created by the fight in waters over which Uruguay claims jurisdiction.

The three-mile limit is not applied here because the waters running in this section are taken to be the river Platte, over which territoriality is divided equally between Argentina and Uruguay. The battle occurred on the Uruguayan side.

If the Cumberland and Dunkerque should come here, the odds against the Graf Spee would be overwhelming.

Home Is Burned Near Fraserville

FRASERVILLE, Dec. 15—(ENS)—Fire totally destroyed the farmhouse of John Clayton, half a mile west of the village on Thursday.

Mr. Clayton had put a fire on in the kitchen stove and had gone to the barn to do the chores. On his return to the house he found the wall on fire, caused from overheated stove pipes. The well was dry, hence he was unable to get water to extinguish the blaze. The fire made such headway that only the stove, sewing machine and a few bedroom things were saved. The house was partially covered with insurance.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Renewal of export interest in Canadian wheat boosted wheat futures prices 1 to 1¼ cents on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Traders appeared nervous as they hoisted December wheat to 83⅛, May 87¼, and July 88⅛ cents.

Early hesitation at Chicago and lower values at Buenos Aires weakened Winnipeg wheat prices almost a cent at the start but resting orders came out and offerings dried up.

Eastern Canada mills were credited with taking some of the lower grades of cash wheat on an all-rail basis.

Finn Minister

Finns were driving the Russians toward a great defeat similar to the Masurian Lakes crushing of the Imperial Army by the Germans in the first Great War.

Official reports on this fighting, although highly encouraging to the Finns, were brief.

Into the Swamps.

It was reported, however, the retreating Russians were obliged to follow a road toward Suojaervi, where Finnish reinforcements were believed to be moving south out of the forests aiming to drive the invaders to their destruction in the uncharted swamplands.

Finns expected that further success of their troops in this region would develop into a crushing blow, perhaps influencing the whole course of the war.

Further reports encouraging to the Finns said the Russian artillery fire not only was failing to damage the Finns seriously, but repeatedly came close to inflicting serious losses to the Soviet troops themselves.

The winter battle of the Masurian Lakes in January-February, 1915, cost Imperial Russia 110,000 prisoners, 300 guns, and put three Russian armies out of commission. It ended for the time being the offensive power of Russia against Germany and was one of the major triumphs of Von Hindenburg and Ludendorff.

Wreck Nickel Mines

KIRKENES, Norway (On the Finnish Frontier), Dec. 15 (AP)— The nickel mining town of Salmijaervi still was in possession of Finnish troops today, but the advancing Russian invaders were expected to reach it during the day. They still were about 12 miles distant, advancing along the Arctic highway from the northeast.

The Finns systematically withdrawing from this fighting sector 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle, were methodically wrecking the nearby Canadian-owned nickel mines.

Powerful explosions were heard during the night and again early this morning. The detonations were audible in Svanvik, Norway, across the Pasvik River.

The "scorched earth" policy of the defenders likewise was evident in their thorough destruction by fire of practically every village and habitation in the region. Even a new school was sacrificed to the flames today.

The Attorney General's proposal arises out of the recommendations of F. H. Barlow, Master of the Supreme Court who recently made a survey of Ontario's judicial system. Most of the Barlow recommendations required more study than is possible if they are to be implemented at the next session, the Attorney General said. But he revealed that he proposes to advance legislation to give effect to the Barlow suggestion that experts or assessors should be appointed to assist Judges in the trial of civil actions.

Graf Spee

Messerschmidt fighter planes were a damaged cruiser.

covering the escort and British bombers and German fighters clashed amid heavy German anti-aircraft fire. Three British planes failed to return and the Air Minister announced four Messerschmidts were shot down.

Meanwhile it was learned from authoritative sources there is reason to believe the Admiral Graf Spee was the only one of Germany's three pocket-battleships operating in the South Atlantic but the exact whereabouts of the Deutschland and Admiral Scheer are unknown.

There have ben reports in London for the past 12 hours that the German navy or at least a big section of it has ventured into the North Sea, but no confirmation could be obtained in official quarters.

Newspapers reported that German warships sighted by British airmen in the North Sea were convoying a torpedoed German cruiser, understood to be of 6,000 tons.

Two days ago it was announced the British submarine which, owing to the rules of war, did not attack the German liner Bremen, had sunk a German U-boat and torpedoed a German cruiser in the North Sea. In Berlin it was asserted that damage was small and that the cruiser involved had "returned to a home harbor." Germany has five 6,000-ton cruisers.

The German vessels were in the North Sea near the scene of the Battle of Jutland in the First Great War, British airmen reported on their return from a bitter aerial fight in which the ships participated.

Acceleration in air activity was underlined also in an Air Ministry announcement that British warplanes bombed German seaplanes at Borkum, Norderney, and Sylt, islands off Germany's North Sea coast, last night and early this morning.

Royal Air Force fliers reported the German warships they saw were a battleship, a cruiser, some destroyers, and a submarine.

Naval experts estimated the Graf Spee which lies damaged in Montevideo harbor steamed 11,000 miles between Sept. 30 when she intercepted the British freighter Clement off Pernambuco, and Dec. 12, when the British cruisers Exeter, Ajax and Achilles routed her in the plata estuary.

During that time the Graf Spee captured and destroyed 10 ships aggregating 50,000 tons, a relatively small bag compared with the exploits of the Emden and other German raiders of the First Great War.

After sinking the Clement, it is believed the Graf Spee sailed across the South Atlantic to a point south of Ascension Island where she sank the Newton Beach Oct. 6 and the Ashlea, Oct. 7. Then she struck south toward the Cape of Good Hope, capturing the Huntsman between Oct. 11 and 15, and Travennion Oct. 22.

Skirting the Cape, the Graf Spee presumably sailed up the east coast of Africa, capturing the Africa Shell Nov. 15, almost inside the Mozambique channel and the Mapia 300 to 400 miles farther out to sea.

Then she doubled back in her tracks, possibly to mislead the British navy into believing she was heading for the Indian Ocean. Around the Cape sailed the battleship again. She ran up the west coast and captured the Doric Star Dec. 2, and the Tairoa the next day. Then she pointed west for the South American coast.

Back To American Coast.

The Steonshalh was sunk 1,000 miles off Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The The Graf Spee then proceeded south and west toward the Plata Estuary, where she fell into a trap involving the French ship Formose which it was believed here was used as bait by the British warships.

It was reported the battle cruiser Renown and the aircraft carrier Royal have joined the Ajax and Achilles in patrolling outside Montevideo harbor.

The Achilles is manned almost entirely by New Zealand ratings and the New Zealand government sent a congratulatory message to the British Admiralty, the Achilles and Commodore Harwood, in command of the action against the Graf Spee.

Millbrook W.A. Votes $100 To The Church

MILLBROOK, Dec. 15—(ENS).—Mrs. A. L. Sisco entertained the Woman's Association of St. Andrew's Church for its annual meeting on Wednesday at 3 p.m., the vice-president, Mrs. P. Stinson, taking the chair, and, together, with the members extending a warm welcome to the president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, who was able to be in attendance after her recent severe illness.

A Christmas atmosphere was introduced through the hymns sung, the lesson read from Luke 2: 1-20 by Mrs. Ross Edmunds, the talk on "The Message of Christmas," and the prayer by Mrs. G. O. Fallis.

Contributions to the "mile of coppers" were received as fees were paid in answer to the roll call, the amount from this cource for the year being $45.85. Mrs. Bentley warmly thanked the society for the flowers sent to the hospital during her illness, and the individual members for their many kindnesses.

Arrangements were made for sending out the Christmas cheer baskets, and the cards, to shut-ins and older members of the congregations; the committee including Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Miss J. Sutton and Mrs. J. A. Brown. The treasurer reported total receipts to date of $615.51, total expenditures $487.37; a balance in bank $126.14. One hundred dollars was voted to the church board to go on this year's budget.

Rev. A. L. Siscoe took the chair for the election of officers, the slate including: President, Mrs. Bentley; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. P. Stinson, Miss Josie Sutton and Mrs. H. A. Fallis; Secretary, Mrs. Weston Fallis; Treasurer, Mrs. John McKnight; Pianist, Miss May Duncan and Mrs. G. O. Fallis assistant.

After the benediction by Mr. Sisco, the hostess and officers served cake and ice cream during the social hour.

The January meeting will be at the president's home, when other committees will be appointed and the program for the ensuing month or two planned.

Night Fighting Active On Saar

PARIS, Dec. 15 — (CP-Havas). — Night fighting along both sides of the Saar River between the Warndt Forest and the foothills of the Vosges Mountains was reported today.

Yesterday was relatively calm along the front as a whole and particularly in the region between the Warndt forest and the Saar, the scene of sharp encounters Tuesday. Resumed patrol activity led to last night's fighting.

Calm on the Alsatian front has not been troubled for more than a week except for a few fusillades on either side of the Rhine.

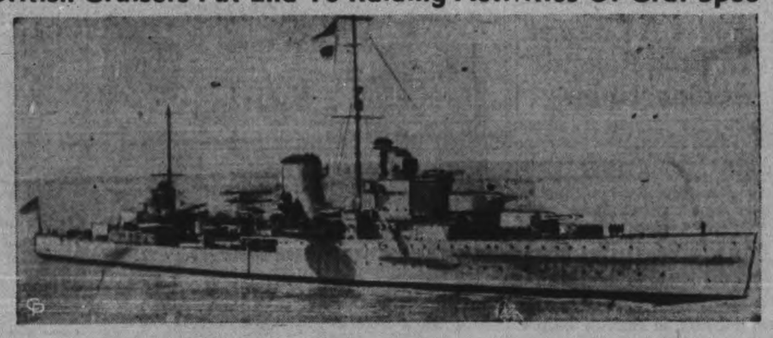
The line of small French posts between the Warndt forest and the Saar was not affected by German storming attacks. Supporting French troops reoccupied almost immediately the advance post which was taken day before yesterday.

The French moved forward so quickly that they were able to capture wounded men which the small German garrison did not have time to remove. Most of the French section which had occupied the post was able to withdraw before it was taken.

Aerial activity was slight yesterday along the front. One German plane came from the North Sea to fly over northern France, leaving again by the sea route.

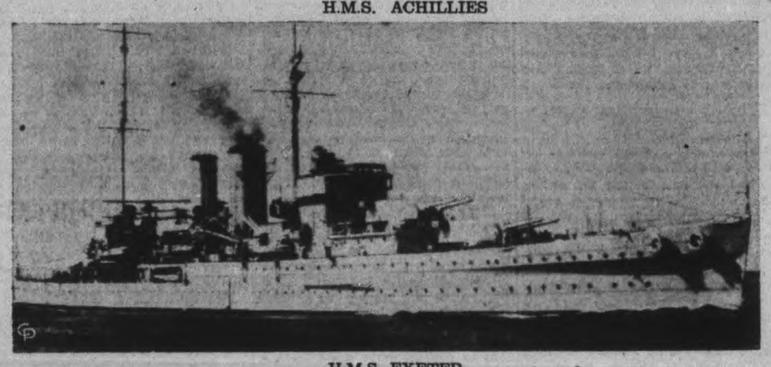
This morning's official French communique reported "patrol activity on the entire central part of the front from the Moselle to the Rhine."

British Cruisers Put End To Raiding Activities Of Graf Spee



H.M.S. AJAX

H.M.S. ACHILLIES



H.M.S. EXETER

In the most spectacular naval engagement of the present conflict, the Nazi pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee was forced to seek shelter in the harbor of Montevideo after engaging in a 14-hour running fight with three British cruisers of the British South American squadron. The Graf Spee surprised H.M.S. Ajax while the latter was convoying the French merchant ship Formosa. Although heavily outgunned and outarmored, the Ajax gave battle and held the pocket battleship at bay until H.M.S. Exeter and H.M.S. Achilles came to her assistance. The Exeter, equipped with eight-inch guns, damaged the Graf Spee, who devoted her full attention to the larger British cruiser until the Exeter was forced to retire crippled from the battle. The Ajax and Achilles continued the running fight and the Graf Spee sought the shelter of Montevideo's harbor, while the British cruisers stood guard outside the harbor.

Harwood Co-operative Creamery Reports Best Year In History

HARWOOD, Dec. 15 — (ENS). — The twentieth annual meeting of the Harwood Co-operative Creamery Co. was held in the Harwood hall on Tuesday. The president, W. J. Jibb, presided and outlined the business transacted by the board during the year. He told of the strong financial position of the company and that this has been the best year in the history of the creamery, both in volume and profits.

After providing for all expenses the company was able to pay a trade refund to the patrons of $16,065.63, which was at the rate of 2 1-5 cents per pound butterfat for the year.

Manager's Report

The manager, Major R. E. Drope, gave the report in detail of the management of the company. The make of butter had been the largest in the history of the company, being 901,807 pounds. There has been 1,130 patrons during the year, an increase of 88 over the last year.

The average operating cost per pound of butter made was three cents.

The new creamery building that was erected last year has been up to expectations in every way. In closing he expressed his appreciation of the manner in which all the staff had whole heartedly supported the interests of the creamery and the efforts of the management during the past year.

Auditor's Report

Edward Humpage, Peterborough, the auditor of the company, gave his report of the audit of the company books. He stated that the company was in a very sound financial condition.

Board of directors for 1940: President, T. A. Buttar, Plainville; Directors—A. J. Campbell, Roseneath; George Willcock, Harwood; A. Nichol, Centreton; F. Blezard, Baltimore; F. Currelly, Canton; C. Quantrell, Campbellcroft; Charles Fisher, Bailieboro.

Mr. Edward Humpage, of Peterborough, was re-appointed by the shareholders as their auitor.

C. A. Davies, of Toronto, the local instructor, gave a short address and explained the contests put on by the buttermakers clubs during the year. He was pleased that the buttermaker of Harwood Co-operative Creamery, Glen Hogg, had been on his team, otherwise they would not have won. He presented Mr. Hogg with the winning prize for the contest, also the championship prize for the province of Ontario, for individual scoring of butter and cream grading.

Professor W. H. Sproule of the Ontario Agricultural College, at Guelph, congratulated the company on their splendid new, up-to-date creamery building which he stated was the best he had seen in the province. He gave a splendid address on different angles of the butter industry from production to manufacturing, stressing quality.

Ian McLeod, the agricultural representative for Northumberland, was present and spoke on pasture improvement, giving some valuable information on different mixtures for pasture crops. He recommended very strongly cow testing to weed out the unprofitable cows from the herds.

A hearty vote of thanks to speakers was proposed by A. Nichol, seconded by Mr. A. J. Campbell, for their very instructive addresses. The meeting closed with God Save the King.

MOTHER REPRIEVED

ILMINSTER, England—(CP). — Forty-eight hours after being sentenced to death for the murder of her 5-month-old son, a 19-year-old girl was reprieved to life imprisonment. The presiding judge broke down while passing sentence on her.

CAMPBELLFORD

Government Asked To Recall Agents

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15 (ENS) —In view of the fact that radio licenses are being sold through Legion members the local branch passed a resolution urging the government to recall other agents. It was held there were a number of returned men unable to do manual labor and at the same time drawing small pensions to whom the extra money made by selling licenses would be of considerable help.

The girls who assisted the Legion at their annual Poppy Day on November 11, will be guests of the local branch at a Theatre Night to be held at a later date, probably during the Christmas holiday. Comrade C. C. Massie was appointed to attend the meeting called by Mayor Long to discuss the matter of providing Christmas baskets to needy families in the community. He was given authority to offer the Legion's support to the plan by supplying a number of baskets as was done last year.

Owing to the fact that the club rooms in the Armouries have been closed the meeting was held in the Masonic Temple. The next meeting will be held at the home of President C. C. Massie on December 22.

Hastings Ladies' Aid Re-elects Mrs. Fife

HASTINGS, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held in the church room on Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. W. S. Fife presided and the meeting opened with a special hymn for the sailors, followed by scripture reading.

Business centered around the supper which the ladies will hold between Christmas and New Years for the Sunday School pupils.

Mrs. J. V. Findly presided for the election of officers, the following being chosen:

President, Mrs. W. S. Fife; 1st vice president, Mrs. J. V. Findly; 2nd vice president, Mrs. A. E. Spooner; secretary, Mrs. W. N. Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. William McEachnie.

ASTHMA BRONCHITIS AND TOUGH, HANG-ON COUGHS DUE TO COLDS YIELD FASTER TO BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

Importance of Wednesday's naval victory off South America extends far beyond the crippling of one of Germany's pocket battleships. It will do much to enhance the prestige of the Royal Navy and put heart in neutral shipowners who may have been reluctant to risk their ships on the seas in carrying goods to the Allies.

Moreover it may put a distinct crimp in German naval activity. Germany has none too many ships of war. The loss of one is a serious matter but the threat of loss of more is much more serious.

The fact that the Admiral Graf Spee was defeated by British cruisers with a shorter range and less fire-power will not escape the attention of the Nazi naval command. If one of the crack pocket battleships can be driven from the seas by cruisers carrying lighter armament the Germans will probably take still greater precautions to keep the others out of range of British battle cruisers and battleships.

The disparity in armament between the opposing ships is responsible for the fact both sides suffered damage. In this the battle differed from the two great naval engagements fought off South American shores in the first Great War.

In the first, the battle of Coronel, off the west coast on November 1, 1914, a German squadron under Admiral Von Spee, after whom the Graf Spee is named, destroyed a British squadron and suffered practically no damage to its own ships.

In the second, the battle of Falkland Islands on December 8, a superior British force cornered Von Spee and sent him and most of his ships to the bottom. In both these engagements the losing force was almost completely annihilated and the victorious ships were barely scratched.

Convoy Bomber Beats 3 Germans Bullets Fly Thick, Canadian Writes

MOORETOWN, Ont., Dec. 15 — (CP), — Roy Buckley, former Toronto and Sudbury commercial pilot and now one of four men on a British bombing plane, described an aerial battle with three German planes in a letter to his foster-parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKay of Mooreton, Lambton County. While convoying British merchantmen to France, the 21-year-old Canadian flier wrote: "Coming back from France with an empty plane we wished for a crack at any German that might come along, and one day we got it.

"Three German planes came around a bank of clouds in front of us and let go all at once. I was sitting beside Carnish (the pilot) when bullets began to pound into the wings and engines. The air gunner went into the rear gun turret and started firing as the Germans turned and came up behind us.

"Cornish was vainly trying to get away into the nearest cloud when the rear gun quit firing. Our flying officer looked at me and I climbed into the gun pit. Our gunner had his head almost shot from his body. I managed to drag his body back into the cabin and went back to the gun.

Gets Some Shots Home

"By this time our plane had almost reached the clouds, and I just managed to get a few shots at the German plane as he dived on us. I could see the trace of bullets going into the underside of the engine and back towards the pilot's cockpit. All this time the other two were firing at us, but no damage was done to the machine. By this time we were in the clouds and safe for a while.

"I do not know what happened to the third plane. Another burst of bullets from the leading plane shattered our radio. I was still in the gun pit and could see the bullet holes appear along the body, tail, and wings of our plane close to the gas tank.

"I got a good soht at the German as he came down behind us and he veered off. I followed him around with the gun till he was almost beside us. I found his gas tank near the wing root and fired into it and into the front of his cockpit till his plane started to smoke and he rolled over on a wing and headed for the ground in flames. We went into some clouds and when we came out again the sky was clear of enemy aircraft."

Pilot Buckley joined the Royal Air Force in July this year.

Squadron Leader F. M. Gobeil, of Ottawa, has been appointed Commander of the Royal Air Force Squadron which has been formed among Canadian fliers serving with the Royal Air Force in England.

Belmont Twp. Reeve To Have Fight?

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15.—(ENS).—The municipal pot is beginning to boil locally with two nomination meetings scheduled for next Friday, December 22.

The ratepayers of Belmont and Methuen townships will assemble at the township hall from 1 to 2 p.m. for the purpose of nominating their respective reeve and council for the ensuing two years. The Havelock citizens will meet the same evening from 7.30 to 8.30 p.m. to nominate besides a reeve and four councillors, three school trustees for the term of two years, one school trustee for the term of one year and a hydro commissioner for the term of one year. Elections if necessary will be held in both cases on New Year's Day, Monday, Jan. 1.

It has been rumored that at least one and perhaps two candidates may challenge Reeve Isaac Anderson for his seat in the township election. In the village, however, very little election talk has been heard so far, so it remains to be seen next Friday whether or not there will be a contest here. Controversy locally mostly concerns the provincial government's proposal to suspend elections next year and possibly for the duration of the war.

It's Long Overdue

The British Government has at last stated its intention of issuing a White Paper (government report) dealing with the negotiations which had been carried on with Russia prior to the outbreak of war and the invasion of Poland. This paper, which will be historical and explanatory in its nature, is actually a long time overdue.

Premier Chamberlain said the Government had not published this report previously because it was believed it would serve no good purpose. The answer to that is that in the absence of such an official document other nations have been permitted to place their own interpretation on the failure of British diplomacy to secure a non-aggression pact with Russia.

In Germany Hitler took full advantage of the situation to gloat over the speed with which Von Ribbentrop had been able to go to Moscow and do what British ambassadors had failed to accomplish.

The world in a general way knows the story, but it has never had placed before it an official statement of fact and conditions. The understanding is that Britain made little progress in Moscow because Stalin was not much interested in any arrangement which contained no more square miles for Russia. He wanted a free hand in consolidating his position in the Baltic region. He was more interested in such a plan than in one which would commit him only to a measure which would stop Germany's march across the lesser nations. Stalin was more interested in what Russia wanted to do than in anything which Germany might undertake.

Undoubtedly that is why the British mission to Moscow came home with an empty bag. Ribbentrop walked in with something entirely different; something which was mean enough to appeal to a cunning man. Sure—the little nations near the Baltic are fair game and they cannot resist, and Poland is large enough to split two ways. That is the basis on which Russia and Germany came under the most damnable yoke which ever united two nations.

We believe the British Government owes it to itself and to the world to tell the entire story of those negotiations. Germany will not believe it, nor will Stalin. That can be taken for granted. But we are certain that what is left of the neutral world will accept it as the truth. It will reveal duplicity and plotting which will account for the attack on Finland.

Demanding The Impossible

The Governor and the Turnkey of the Dufferin County jail at Orangeville have been dismissed because a prisoner escaped and in escaping managed to take along property belonging to a female inmate. There were several requests made to Hon. H. C. Nixon on behalf of the men who are out, but the Provincial Secretary's attitude is given in his own words: "If a man lets a prisoner escape he is no use to us."

That is a brave enough saying, but it is placing a high standard of efficiency. Looks very much like one of those 100 per cent. affairs. There are some of our jails which are not what can be called the finest in the land, and a daring and experienced man might find soon enough how to get out, but if he did so there would have to be a dismissal.

There's a case in point on the same day Mr. Nixon's announcement was made. A youth of 16 years escaped from what is described as the temporary ward of the hospital at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, and that room is on the fourth floor, and the distance from the window to the ground is forty feet. There is nothing to show that he used sheets or any other thing to get away, but at the moment guards are out looking for him.

That is something which happens often enough, especially where there is a degree of liberty allowed, and yet such an event ranks as an escape, and Mr. Nixon says "If a man lets a prisoner escape he is of no use to us." If that rule were applied generally and without exception there would be a continuous parade of guards and keepers coming and going from all our reformatories.

Insisting that a jailer or turnkey must be 100 per cent. successful is asking for the impossible, because there are no 100 per cent. people in existence. It takes a good ball player to bat .400 out of a possible 1000, and we doubt if Mr. Nixon would care to claim 100 per cent. rating for himself either as a provincial secretary or as a farmer.

One Tragedy Averted

Reports from Berlin indicate that a trade commission from Soviet Russia has been in that city for seven weeks, and plans have been completed for an exchange of goods. The men from Moscow were looking over what was to be had in Germany which could be exchanged for natural products which Russia could provide.

Perhaps no good purpose is served in bringing to the front again the suggestions which were having free circulation in British official circles only a short time ago for trading British rubber and copper for supplies of Russian timber.

Russia has been fully revealed as a nation whose word of pledge no person or corporation would desire to accept, and if British rubber and copper had entered that country on the understanding that it was to be used there, how long would it have been before it was turned over to Germany?

There would not have existed at any time the means for maintaining a check on the goods to see what became of them after they entered Russia. There would not have been a thing apart from the pledge of Russia that the material would not leave that country, and if one desired to make certain that British copper and rubber would have entered Germany we know of no better method than accepting the word of Russia that it would not be done.

His Busy Day

The skipper of that British submarine which let the Bremen pass without launching a torpedo has his name in the papers again. His name has not been mentioned but he is growing famous one way or the other.

When he allowed the Bremen to get away he may have started wondering just why he was out in the deep. Certainly not to operate an observation station and report on the going and coming of the Bremen.

Possibly the sub man reasoned that sending such reports to the home office was not entirely what was expected of him. There was a war on and he and his crew and also his vessel should be doing something about it.

Apparently he was somewhat in the midst of things, for he went forth and knocked off a German submarine, and as though that was not sufficient took a shot at a German cruiser. How much injury he did to the cruiser he probably does not know, but he hit it, and when a torpedo hits a cruiser then the cruiser is certain to be on the hospital list for some time.

The skipper missed the Bremen, but he appears to have been fairly busy the next day.

By Way Of Contrast

There has been sufficient published in British papers and in despatches from that land to make it reasonably certain that the plan of moving people from cities liable to be bombed has not been an entire success. The margin of safety provided by taking a million and a half women and children out into the country does not appear to weigh heavily at all. The big point is that the people did not want to move and after they were moved many of them did not want to stay put.

Reports tell of families which for years have been living in districts of smoke, noise, rumbling of trucks and rattle of traffic. Now that they are in some quiet country district or in a village they do not like it at all. Many of them have actually packed up and gone back to the old place called home. Whether German bombs would drive them out of there is doubtful.

Reports indicate children adapt themselves more quickly to the changed surroundings, but adults have been found to have been wedded to their own methods and ideas regarding existence. Many of them have lived a hand-to-mouth existence, and they are better off today under government supervision and maintenance, but they don't like it nor do they appreciate it at all.

It's a wonder such people would not stop a moment and think of the manner in which thousands of people have had to flee in many parts of Europe; they have had to get out to escape death: they did not know where they were going; there was no provision made for where they would spend the night or where they would find anything to eat, and there was no kindly and well-disposed government to concern itself in their welfare.

Mumps Become Statistics

The Medical Officer of Health in Toronto reports there were 137 cases of mumps during November. Possibly it took quite a bit of method, system or machinery in order to secure that information. Not at all likely the Medical Officer of Health would go about himself counting the little folk with swollen jaws. The doctors would probably furnish the information, and clerks and bookkeepers and accountants and operators of various kinds of mechanical mathematical contraptions would all join in the exciting business of finding out the number of mumpers during the month.

And once the information is made available, what do they do with it? Apart from filing it with other statistics we dare say they do nothing at all. They are merely recording something which has taken place.

On the Tenth Concession and in the village adjoining we are fairly certain few people ever reported there was a case of mumps in the house. In a general way it would be known that mumps were going around, and if a little boy or girl started looking peeked or acting a trifle offside then the mumps suspicion was aroused, and the usual tests were made to find for certain if the malady were present. One of the old methods was a sour pickle. The child was asked to take that and chew it up and as a rule mother was the witness. If nothing happened then the child had something else—not the mumps. If there were a tickling or stinging sensation in the jaws from the presence of the sour pickle then it was the mumps coming on.

There was a generous piece of red flannel in the house, and it was placed under the chin, spread over the jaws and tied in a sort of decorative bow knot at the top of the head. Sometimes you were put to bed and sometimes you were not, depending on how mumpy one might feel. But no person nailed a sign on the house, and no official went around with a piece of paper and a pencil counting the number of cases on the concessions, the side lines or in the village. We live in an age which has run sharply toward statistics, and where having the mumps provides opportunity for one to get his name, address, age and ailment enrolled on a document of some sort or other. So it is there are more opportunities to feel important than there used to be.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Joseph who made such a success in Egypt is not related to the one in Russia whose other name is Stalin.

Just as a point of law it might be noticed that a negro cannot compel a tavern keeper in Quebec to serve him with beer.

Rather a sad commentary on the world in general is the fact that war can do away with unemployment much faster than long days and years of peace.

Too many dials and handles are being smashed from safes. The way in which they stick out seems to invite nitwits to take a crack at them with a mallet in hope of breaking in.

We read about some new kind of paint which makes a plane invisible at 100 feet. Quite an accomplishment, but we dare say a London fog could do better than that.

One truck in London, Ont., has figured in three fatal accidents. A man would not need to be highly superstitious to express a preference to drive something else.

In Toronto a prisoner drew a term of five years, and it was explained that since 1918 he had received sentences which totalled 18 years. It would save wear and tear on police and courts if he were locked up permanently.

"We have nothing for sale" is something which can be said of the Knights of Columbus campaign for the erection of Army Huts. It is actually a continuation of the same sort of effort in the previous war where the sign and slogan read: "Everybody welcome and everything free." Assistance in the campaign for funds could well be on the same broad basis.

PREFERENCE

(By A.H.E.)

¶ If I were stepping off to war, I know where I'd be heading for, you'll know just what I mean; the first thing that I'd settle right, is that I wouldn't want to fight, caged in a submarine.

¶ I never rode a submarine, for starting now I don't feel keen, I couldn't see around; and if I dived the thing too low, I have a feeling that it's so, I never would be found.

¶ I'd rather have to take a gun, so I could see the foemen come, out in some open space; might find a spot where I'd get hid, and notice what the others did, and watch them face to face.

¶ I never yet have learned to fly, but even that I'd rather try, than join a submarine; for if I got up high enough, and things began to get too rough, perhaps I'd not be seen.

¶ I'd like a battleship I think, though there's a chance that it might sink, for one can never tell; but even then I'd have a chance, for toward the life belt booth I'd prance, and swim around a spell.

¶ So if they send for me to fight, and I don't know but what they might, I know which way I'd lean; a gun upon my shoulder there, or even flying through the air—but not a submarine.

Never A Chance To Help Poland Against Hitler

THE FATE of Poland is something which has not been much discussed since Finland came so prominently before the world's gaze. A letter appearing in the Christian Science Monitor gives adequate reasons why Britain found it impossible to act effectively when the German attack was being made:

To The Christian Science Monitor:

Recently I saw in the Monitor a letter from an Englishman from Sevenoaks, Kent, in which he expressed shame that England had not given more help to Poland in her need. I questioned an English engineer on this subject. His wife is a Pole who has given some lectures in London on behalf of her people and at my request Mr. Corbridge kindly sent me a letter with permission to use it.

I know from a Polish General of high reputation that since the German occupation of Warsaw 1,500 civilians have been executed. Surely such facts coming to us constantly are sufficient reason for the Allies to do all they can to end this pitiless aggression. M .A. BATCHELOR.

London.

Dear Lady Batchelor:

It has been suggested, particularly in America, that the collapse of Poland under the combined air and mechanized attack of Germany could have been avoided if France and England had made a demonstration in sufficient force with aircraft sent to Poland to supplement the Polish Air Force.

Without a knowledge of the facts there seems some reason for this thought but I have been able to obtain information which clearly indicates the folly of any attempt of this nature.

I had conversation with an English engineer who was in Warsaw until September 7 and I put this question to him. His answer was that much as he would have liked a demonstration of this nature it would have been utter folly as we should have lost the machines sent over because there was no means of landing and refueling in Poland.

In the first few hours of the war the Polish aerodromes all over the country ceased to exist as they had all been located and destroyed, giving Germany complete control of the air. He said that although he saw many German machines and was in towns repeatedly bombed he never saw any attack on these machines by Polish aircraft but the only defense was anti-aircraft guns.

If then Polish aircraft were unable to remain in the air, how could those of a friendly power which had a great distance to travel before engaging the enemy and no knowledge of the "secrets" of the plan for landing and refueling.

The Germans had carefully planned aerodromes on their side of the frontier and could at all times send up a fleet of planes fresh from their base to attack and to greatly outnumber any Allied planes many miles from their home base.

It was obviously impossible to send mechanized troops and equally impossible to give effective assistance from the air to distressed Poland.

The only course open is that which is being adopted, to blockade and stifle the force of Germany until she collapses from exhaustion or internal disruption and then to dictate a peace which will restore to Poland her rightful place among the nations of Europe.

This she has ensured for herself by her wonderful defiance of the might of her neighbor and her fight for the principles of freedom which we all hold so dear.

I, along with all my countrymen, deplore the dire necessity of a very brave and gallant ally, but Poland will arise again to a brighter and more assured future.

God grant this may not be long deferred.

CLIFFORD CORBRIDGE.

London.

WARNING TO BUSINESS

THE CHANGES which have taken place in Canadian business this year seem to be of an unprecedented nature, said A. E. Arscott, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, yesterday at the annual meeting. "The country, I think, has never in any comparable period had such a sharp rise in general business as has occurred since last spring. Industrial activity in November was at a record peak, having advanced by 33 per cent from the low point of the winter of 1938-39. In the months prior to September business was strongly progressive but was accelerated following the outbreak of the war by the stimulus derived from a rush by manufacturers, traders and the general public to accumulate stocks of commodities, in many cases beyond current requirements.

"Now that the first effects of war influences have passed I expect to see an upward trend in Canadian business and that it will continue in that general direction for the duration of the war. I should like, however, to sound a note of warning to those engaged in industry that while the demands for foodstuffs, munitions and other war materials will increase as long as the war lasts, if production is not well planned we are likely to encounter in the post-war period greater difficulties than we have ever experienced. On the other hand, if sound judgment is exercised and speculative commitments avoided the painful losses of readjustment period which is bound to follow the war will be greatly lessened."

Why India?

Little Willie: "Do you know, dad, that in some parts of India a man doesn't know his wife until he marries her?"

Dad: "Why single out India?"

HOPELESS

"Enid! I thought Reggie was due back in camp at midnight?"

"True, mumsie, but you can see for yourself he can't possibly manage it now."

• Living Costs On Our Farms

IF ANYONE is curious about what it costs the more or less average farming family to live for a year, federal statistics can supply the answer. A report has just been issued at Ottawa in which the annual living expenditures of 1,692 families operating farms in all provinces of the Dominion have been analyzed. The expenditures are those of last year.

The average total amount expended by each family during the year was $763. Approximately two-thirds of the families spent less than $800 for living requirements, and only twenty per cent spent over $1,000.

Cash outlay for food and clothing formed the principal budget items, and together they amounted to nearly forty per cent of the total expenditure for food was low in comparison with urban standards because of the large proportion of foods furnished by the farm; it amounted to 19.4 per cent of the budget. Other necessities, namely, shelter, fuel and light, while nine per cent went for furniture and furnishings.

Expenditures for health care averaged nearly $60 per family, or almost eight per cent of the average total expenditure. Transportation costs averaged more than seven per cent and the life insurance premiums amounted to six per cent or an average outlay of $47 per family. Expenses of household operation were 4.4 per cent. The families allowed themselves only 4.5 per cent for recreation. The remaining twelve per cent of the average farming family budget went for education, welfare, gifts and personal care.

If the average city dweller is astonished at what is bound to appear to him to be an extremely small total outlay, it seems only fair to emphasize again that the cost of the ingredients of those marvellous home-made pumpkin pies is not included. That delicious roast chicken which he remembers from his last visit to relatives or friends in the country came from the poultry yard and was not paid for at so much per pound. The maple syrup on the pancakes probably came from the farmer's own woodlot. In short, in a variety of ways the average farmer can live very well indeed on a smaller budget than his city cousin. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

• The Thing Which Sweden Fears

THE RUSSIANS desire greatly to place Finland in the same relation to themselves as stand Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania today.

By securing the subjugation of Finland, with Russian fortifications controlling the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, and a harbour on the Arctic Ocean close to the Norwegian frontier, the Russians would improve the strength of their situation immensely, particularly in relation to Germany.

If they succeed in placing themselves in that position, the Russians will not only on account of it dominate Germany's supplies of iron ore. They will also exercise authority over Sweden. That is an end which the Russians have long desired. In fact, the Swedes are so greatly concerned over the menace of Russia that they develop a simple and forceful policy in regard to the war between Britain and Germany.

They ask both these belligerent Powers to come to an early accommodation with each other and to get on with what the Swedes conceive to be the real purpose of the national life of Germany and Britain, namely, to defend the Swedes against the Russians.—London Daily Express.

SMALL NATIONS

Small neutral nations are having so much trouble in this war, they might just as well be unneutral. The Exeter Times-Advocate sums up their situation accurately:

The smaller nations that failed to join up with the larger nations who were willing to aid them in the preservation and securing of liberty are getting their eyes opened. These smaller people were afraid to take a stand emphatically with their friends lest the nations who are not the supporters of liberty would take offence and not trade with them. Now they are finding the evil beasts of Communism and Socialism with their claws on their hearts and their fangs in their necks. Britain did all she could to defend all that ever descended from Heaven to earth and invited all other nations like-minded to join in this good work, only to find herself laughed at as a good-natured old grandmother sadly in need of being modernized. All the world sees the results. Nations who insisted upon playing the game of life on the principles of "heads I win, tails you lose," are slowly, but surely, discovering that selfishness paves the way to ruin. The race is a unit that leaps over all national boundaries. Such cancerous sores as the present Germany and Russia inevitably infect the racial life, this and that other "doctrine" to the contrary, notwithstanding.

ATMOSPHERE

THE POST'S Donald village correspondent sends in a yarn about the weather, about Christmas and about the village general store's preparing for the Christmas rush of business. This Haliburton County village has a good publicist in this correspondent of ours.

She — yes the correspondent is a lady—remarks there has been little or no snow and and with mild days and occasional rain it hardly seems possible Christmas is so close. She adds, however, that a visit to the general store changes all this. She writes that the store has a jolly Christmas atmosphere with lovely decorations and with a miniature village including an illuminated church, houses and street lights. It is a lovely display and it makes it possible for those of us who are unable to visit the distant cities to see the Christmas displays to get a touch of the Yuletide spirit right here at home, she concludes.

Donald Village, last winter, was cut off with contact with the outside, except by the railroad for 53 days.—Lindsay Post.

JUST ONE

J. B. Griffin, banker of Stoney Point, is a man with both feet on the ground. He should live to see the next two or three world wars come and go. The editor of The Tilbury Times, relating a recent incident in Banker Griffin's life, writes:

To J. B. Griffin, manager of the Stoney Point branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada, goes the award for the brightest saying of the year. Following the second holdup of the bank in less than six months, Griffin was asked if he offered any resistance when a gunman flashed a weapon in his face. To which he replied: "They can always make a lot more money, but they can never make another Griffin."

AN IDEA FOR HELPING

A READER writes in with a novel idea for aiding the Red Cross and other organizations "that try to help our boys." He suggests that for every German 'plane shot down by the Allies all Canadians should put away one cent for these organizations, and that for every U-boat sunk they should lay aside two cents.

If only one Nazi 'plane were downed each week—and that is being very lenient with Herr Goering—and if only 5,000,000 Canadians put away their pennies, it would work out at $500,000 a week, enough money to aid, say, the Red Cross, very substantially.

At two cents for every German submarine sunk, we could have run up quite a sum in the Dominion by this time had the scheme suggested been in operation.—Regina Leader-Post.

ON THE RIGHT TRAIL

PREMIER HEPBURN is one person who realizes the danger to Canada that exists in letting Communists run loose. He is not temporizing for a moment but is going right after the Reds. The Ontario Premier is not worrying about losing a couple of Communist votes at election time. He knows that the Communists wouldn't vote for him anyway, even if he were tempted to try and flirt with them for ballot purposes. Mr. Hepburn understanding that the Communists are determined to destroy Canada. That is why he is keeping right on their trail.—W. L. Clark, in Windsor Star.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ....For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many rebound to the glory of God. For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are see are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal.—II Cor. iv: 6, 15-18.

THE REASONS

WHEN IN ROME, do as the Romans do. By the same token, every nation has its own way of handling its own affairs, they get results. The Hanover Post draws attention to one dissimilarity:

They do things differently over in the United States. A man is jailed, not because he is a racketeer and a murderer, but because he failed to make income tax returns. Another one in arrested, not for un-American activities, but because he mishandled the funds of the association; and gambling is curtailed, not because of pressure on the gamblers, but on the telephone companies.

HISTORY IN REVERSE
(New York Sun)

Many generations have derived satisfaction from the story of Hans, "The Little Hero of Haarlem," who saved the land from flood by holding his arm in a hole in the dyke. Perhaps a companion hero is about to emerge in the person of a boy who breaches the dyke to save the land from an invader more dreaded than water.

U.S. Labor Favors Full Backing For Democracies

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 — (AP). — American workers, says President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, favor the "use of all means at our command, short of war," to prevent the totalitarian powers "from accomplishing their dastardly purpose" of wiping out Europe's smaller nations.

In an address at a mass meeting last night, Green called on the people of the United States to "realize that their hopes must rest on the eventual triumph of democracy over totalitarianism."

"The free people of America, and especially the men and women of labor, never will acquiesce in or accept the triumph of Stalinism and Hitlerism in Poland, Finland, Austria, or the Balkan States. The creed of Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini menaces everything we hold dear."

Others who addressed the rally, sponsored by the American Jewish Congress, the A.F.L., the Church Peace Union and other labor and religious groups, included Alfred M. Landon, 1936 Republican nominee for President; former President Herbert Hoover; Rev. Dr. Samuel Cavert, general secretary of the Federal Churches of Christ in America, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Jewish Congress president.

Aggression Scored.

Cheers accompanied the rally's adoption of a resolution condemning the "unparalleled acts of aggression which have resulted in the dismemberment of Poland, the ruthless conquest of Finland, the strafing of unfortified cities, the murder of civi i-ians."

Landon, who spoke by telephone from Topeka, Kas., declared America's first responsibility is to "keep aggressive units of government that recognize no law or moral restraint from getting into the Western Hemisphere."

Hoover, who flew here last night from Chicago to take command of the Finnish relief fund headquarters, asserted the Americas' "real weapon of defence" is "a common love for democracy, a command passion for liberty, a common will to mutual acceptance."

Wise, who presided at the rally, declared: "We should be unworthy of being American free men, if we did not challenge a nation, however mighty, to cease warring upon a necessarily-defenceless minority in a land by it over-run, trampled upon, conquered."

Indian Slugs 4 With 4 Shots Enters Plea Of Insanity

ARCOLA, Sask., Dec. 15—(AP)—Nelson Sammy, 35-year-old Indian, testified under cross-examination in court of King's Bench yesterday that he was "out of his mind" last Aug. 25 when he is alleged to have shot and killed three residents of White Bear Indian reserve.

Sammy is charged with the murder of his wife, Ruth, and also is alleged to have shot to death her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chewack, and Constable W. Rhodeniser of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The constable was shot during the search for Sammy.

By his own statement a hunter who could bring down a running deer at 200 yards with one shot, Sammy said he had four shells in his rifle when he started on a bicycle trip through the reserve.

"You fired three shot a. 1 killed three people and you saw them drop in their tracks?" asked W. M. Rose, Moose Jaw, counsel for the crown.

"Yes," said Sammy, who testified he was "out of his mind" each time he shot.

He had been working at a hay camp when he learned his wife had left his tent, Sammy testified, so he went to her parent's home and "Old Man Chewak," when he asked where his wife was, said "You think you are boss of this woman but you are not. She is our daughter and we can take her away any time."

"The old lady made signs?" began Sammy.

"What do you mean she made signs?" asked his counsel, R. A. Robertson.

"She put her fingers to her nose," said Sammy. "It means something but I don't know what. She was a witch doctor."

"What do you mean, she was a witch doctor?" he was asked.

"Once my brother got sick," said Sammy. "They say the old lady's pretty good at doctoring and my mother went over and got her. She told my mother to put some fire, charcoal, in a plate and then she got some kind of grass out of her pocket and she put this on the fire and made a smoke and then she prayed.

"Suddenly she grabbed the fire, charcoal, that is, and put it in her mouth. She kept this charcoal in her mouth for five minutes. It didn't burn her mouth. She then blew on the sick man here (he pointed to his chest) and you could see the sparks coming from her mouth."

Sammy said the sick man recovered.

Hastings Farmers Have Grain Stolen

HASTINGS, Dec. 15 — (ENS). — Thieves were again active in the district during the past week when grain from several barns was stolen during the night. Over 75 bushels of rye was taken from a barn on the Cobourg Road belonging to Mr. Dan Smith and about 25 bushels of grain from Mr. William Puffer's barn.

Poultry, including a number of turkeys and ducks were taken from farmers on the Dutch Line, also a quantity of bags filled with chop were stolen from a Norwood Road farmr.

Police are investigating.

Miss Muriel Bemrose and Pte. Arthur Lawrence of Toronto were week-end guests of the former's cousin, Miss Margaret Braithwaite.

Mrs. R. Best of Parry Sound returned home after visiting her mother, Mrs. Tyler, who is seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Pulfer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Waters of Napanee enjoyed a honeymoon vacation with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Hoard. Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cook and Misses Flo and Kate German.

Miss Rhea Preston is spending several weeks in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks of Toronto attended the funeral of their aunt and uncle, the late Mrs. J. Stewart and the late Archibald Waddell.

Denmark is claiming that its Royal Standard is the oldest national flag in existence.

Meat Cooking Demonstrated

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 15—(ENS).—Mrs. N. S. Higgins, president of the senior branch of the Women's Institute, Lakefield, extended the hospitality of her home for the meat cookery class on Wednesday afternoon

About twenty-five members of the senior and junior branches were present to hear the instructive talks and demonstrations given by the three leaders. Mrs. N. S. Higgins, Miss Margaret Sanderson and Miss Opal Preston. Each of the leaders wore white aprons and told in turn how to distinguish the different governments stamps on meat to distinguish the grades. In preparing a cut before cooking it should be wiped with a damp cloth and after any disclored parts are removed, placed in an earthenware or granite container, and covered loosely and then stored in a cool place. Meat should hang for at least two weeks before it is ready for cooking.

Meat charts were given the ladies to study for a contest which will be staged at a later date.

Health charts, which had previously been given to the members, showed that very few averaged 85 per cent

The cooking of the tougher cuts of meat were demonstrated. A pot roast, Swiss steak, crown roast of sausages, meat loaf, and ham mousse were cooked.

A dainty supper of hot potatoes and gravy, with a sample of each of the cooked meats, home made bread and butter and Christmas cake was served by the hostess in charge.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Higgins and daughters Eva and Edna for the use of their home.

Mrs. Higgins has received a photo of the Scottish Institute which visited Canada durin gthe past summer taken while they visited Ottawa, also several snapshots of Scotland.

North School

Mr. and Mrs. W. Morton and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morton and daughter Marina visited one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. R. Leeper.

Mrs. Fred Miles and little Bunty Gallagher, also Leslie Crowe of Clarina, were Friday evening visitors at the McLaughlin home.

Robert Marshall, the tax collector for Belmont, was through this district on Tuesday.

Miss Lillian McLaughlin was a week-end guest of Miss Lois King of Belmont Lake.

W. Cross, R. Baker, and Jack Cross spent Sunday with friends at Buckhorn.

$3,000 TRUCK FIRE

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP).—Dave Lederman and Dave Mossman, both of Windsor, escaped uninjured today when a short circuit ignited their truck and its load of produce. Officials of the Windsor Produce Company estimated loss at approximately $2,000. The truck was bound for Windsor from Toronto when the accident occurred just outside this city.

Injured Member Of Graf Spee's Crew

Badly battered by three British cruisers, the German pocket battleship sought shelter in the harbor of Montevideo. Thirty-six of the Graf Spee's crew were killed during the 14-hour running fight and at least sixty injured. One of the first of the injured German sailors is shown here on his way to the hospital in Montevideo. Note the bandages. This radio picture was transmitted by phonephoto.

CAMPBELLFORD

Work Meeting Held By Red Cross Branch

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Close to thirty attended the work meeting of the Campbellford and Seymour Red Cross Society held in the Library yesterday afternoon. They were ably assisted in their work of sewing and quilting by six members of the Trent River ladies who also took home with them two dozen binders and a number of utility bags which they expect to have completed for the next meeting here on January 2nd. The visitors from Trent River under Mrs. Dart announced their intention of assisting both the Campbellford and Havelock Societies, and have arranged to attend each during alternate months. Vice-president Mrs. F. Linton presided during the afternoon.

Claim UK Making Over 1,000 Planes A Month

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—British aircraft factories were described in authoritative reports today to be turning out warplanes at the rate of more than one an hour in an effort to assure air-supremacy over Germany.

British planes are being rolled off assembly lines at a speed well above 1,000 a month, aviation quarters here said. French production, too, has mounted substantially to probably 400 planes a month.

The reports followed the statement of Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood, in the British House of Commons this week that "the mere numerical output of today is more than twice what it was last year."

British-French production is being supplemented by the planes turned out to their order by American plants. Exact figures are lacking, but it is believed that such orders have been increased to more than 4,000 by contracts placed since the United States arms embargo was lifted on Nov. 4.

Upwards of 1,000 American aircraft already have been delivered. More than 600 planes were completed before the embargo became effective, and about 300 others were ready for delivery when the ban was lifted.

(It was disclosed in Paris last night that the first consignment of American planes since the embargo was repealed have reached France safely. The number was not divulged.)

How many warplanes Germany is producing in the meantime is a matter of conjecture. By some estimates, Nazi factories are capable of an output of more than 2,000 a month.

VISITING RINKS SUCCESSFUL IN THE THAUBURN TROPHY BONSPIEL

New Hockey Puck Invented By Art Ross

(By BILL ROCHE)

And now, or soon to be, the new Art Ross hockey puck.

This latest child of the most inventive mind in the National Hockey League will soon be sent to all N.H.L. clubs and to the O.H.A. and C.A.H.A. for trials before the National Hockey League is asked to either adopt or reject it.

Chances seem good that it will be adopted.

Art Ross, manager of the world champion Boston Bruins, displayed one of the new pucks in his hotel suite Thursday afternoon.

At first glance and feel, this latest creation of the man who has given to hockey the Art Ross goal net, the hockey helmet, the metal mesh ankle guards and metal-handled stick, is just another rubber puck.

Better Gripping

But it has a bevelled edge, and the two faces are smooth, but the wall (or surface with which sticks come in contact) is slightly corrugated to afford better gripping surface. Ross has been experimenting with it.

Main feature of this puck is that temperature will not affect its resiliency. Because of its different rubberized composition, Ross' new puck will eliminate the freezing that now is done with all pucks in major hockey.

"Feel this puck," Art requested. "It feels harder than the present puck, doesn't it?"

"Now we'll bounce it on the bathroom's tiled floor," Ross resumed. "See . . . it has all the necessary rebound which is essential in the plays off the boards."

It had.

The Bruins' boss went on to say that the bevelled edge of this puck will cut down its rolling. He also claims it will not bounce as much and wildly as the puck now in general use.

CAN-BITE WITH MUZZLE

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP).—Police are hunting a white dog that wears a muzzle, but is able to bite, anyway. Harry Howard reported the dog sneaked up behind him last night, took a piece out of his trousers and bit him on the leg. The wound is not serious.

SPORTS—DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Sports attraction locally tonight is the girls' basketball triple-header at the Y.W.C.A. Commences at 7.45 with St. John's meeting the Quaker Aces, followed by Westclox vs. "Y" Gym, and then Orfuns 'gainst the Quaker Debs. All loop fixtures and they should dish up much action as the card counter of a dime store approaching Christmas. The Saints and Aces ought to put on a peach of a cage duel, and the "Y" Gym lasses—fresh from their scrumptious win o'er Orfuns—will be out to do a ditto on Westclox, but the Alarm Damsels will battle back. Orfuns may take it out on the Debs for last week's loss, provided the Quaker gals don't up and pull a dipsy-do on the admittedly classy Orfuns. Fans will see three neat tilts.

* * * * * *

Not just any guy who can play hockey is allowed to play in Church League puck tussies. Oh, goodness no! Rule 5 distinctly states in the finest of English: "Players must be regular attendants of the Sunday School or Church religious organization for which they wish to play." And Rule 6 comes in thusly: "Players wishing to change from one church to another must stay out of chuch hockey for one year, except where the change is due to 'residential' reasons." The loop executive has the right to inspect the Sunday School attendance records of any player. It's a first-rate minor puck organization.

* * * * * *

Getting Het Up

Hockey fans around town are getting a bit impatient to see their favorite sport. Already some have journeyed to Toronto to view one or more N.H.L. frays and quite a gang drifted down to Oshawa last week to see the Petes play. It's getting nigh onto time for the puckists to start cavorting at a high rate of speed up and down the frozen surface of the Brock St. bump emporium. Well, there should be ice ere long and the O.H.A. schedules have been drawn up. First home game—unless an exhibition joust should be arranged first, and that's unlikely—will be a week from next Friday, or two weeks from this eve. Belleville Redmen tangle with the Petes in an intermediate "A" game. The junior Colts are at home Jan. 5th to Cobourg.

* * * * * *

There'll be three intermediate and six junior squads seen here during the schedule, plus a couple or three outside teams for tilts ala exhibish. If the Petes or Colts—or even both—should win their groups, there would of course be more visiting clubs for home fans to view. Anyway, the cash customers on the Rue Brock can figure on seeing about a dozen different O.H.A. squads here, at least, during the cold spell. And, by the way, the Petes won't be getting too many cheers when playing Fliers and Redmen in Bella Villa this winter. After all, the Buckland buckaroos—a home-brew team this year—are defending group champs, having won the group the last two years, and fans in Belleville will be cheering for the underdogs (the hometown Redmen) or the wartime Airmen, rather than the locals.

* * * * * *

The Whole Works

Petes are coached this season again by Frank Buckland, with Bill Jackson the manager. The Colts have Archie Weir as coach and Hap Wilgar the manager. Club ossifers include: Rollie Glover as prexy, Wes Champ and Bill Jackson as vice-presidents, Tommy Miller recording secretary, Cliff Cadd the financial secretary, Max Glover treasurer, and a committee of Fred Scates, Ken Kingston, Ed Riley and two of the Petes—not named as yet. The intermediate "A" players are: Ray Harding, Earl McNabb, Drake Jopling, Jack Gardner, Don Crowe, Jim Ellis, Les Burton, Eddie Starr, Don Coughlin, Art Heal, Honey Tompkins, Bun Kingdon, Joe Blewett, Cliff Cadd and Jock Jopling. The Colts' team hasn't been picked yet. So there ya have the setup on the club to date. Petes are in with Belleville and Trenton Fliers; while the Colts are grouped with Lakefield, Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg and Oshawa.

* * * * * *

Lindsay will have just junior hockey this winter, and these are the ossifers: Hon. Pres., Dick Butler, R. J. Morris, Chris Tozios; prexy, W. T. Nugent; secretary, Jack Lamb; treasurer, Bryce Hussey; co-managers, C. Grills and Wilf LeBarr; coach, Red Wakelin. The good Scugog squad of last semester has been blown to the four winds and the executive has to build around several who still remain, using a number of ex-juvenile dudes—but no doubt the Lindsay Midgets will be a potent factor in the group race once again. Why they don't operate an intermediate "B" club in Lindsay is more than we can see, when so many smaller jerk-water spots have teams. Stew Williamson is contemplating bumping 'em round at the blue line for Oakwood intermediates this semester.

* * * * * *

Isn't It A Fact?

Cometh some wordage from Belleville: "Toots Holway's Fliers found that you can't win hockey games in the penalty box last night. They were leading Smiths Falls two goals in the third period of their VanHorne Cup game when they took four penalties and allowed the Falls to gain a 4-4 tie. The Air Force cinched second place but failed to show much improvement over their last two efforts in Kingston. Incidentally, it will be noted that every Flier goal scored was through individual efforts only, there not being the resemblance of combination in the box score. Toots Holway's sextette will find scoring on solo efforts in the O.H.A. with goalies like Harding and Watt standing before them rather difficult." Yes, indeed.

* * * * * *

Oh to be a collitch man, especially a puck-chasing collitch gee. Coach Ace Bailey and his Varsity senior puckists are readying up to pull out of Toronto Dec. 23rd for a friendly tournament with five California college teams around Hollywood. It'll be quite a thrill to the Canuck players to strut their stuff before several thousand fans clad in bathing suits, the outdoor artificial rink being set in semi-tropical surroundings, including waving palm trees. At this time of year in the Los Angeles area, the sun is plenty warm and the skies cloudless day after day—and the hockeyists will work up a sweat quickly playing in a temperature of some 80 degrees!

* * * * * *

Up and Down Sports' Ritalo: Yep, the Ace has gone a long way since he left Peter's borough, eh?....Scenes of the Dominion grid final may be seen now at the Capital Theatre....Pick Hines will be scouting up through this district again ere long if his Baltimore Orioles dont start to fly....VanHorne Cup schedule is over but the all-in playoff system will go two to three weeks yet....Curling Club rink personnel has been listed and will be run in this paper any day now....Puck referees might apply to Secretary Cliff Chapman of the Industrial Hockey League....While none of the Colts have had an official hockey practice yet, most of the prospects have got in considerable skating and shinny practice on the canal....Petes have a workout tonight in Oshawa after the O.H.A. junior "A" duel....Local "Y" swimmers, directed by Gord Minty, are paying a return visit to Toronto Broadview "Y" this week-end....Bombers boast of their perfect grid defence against the Riders' vaunted extension runs, making 'em lose yards just about every time....Well, we're just marking time from now till Christmas—except for organization work—but there'll be tons of tilts here after that....As the prostrate nigger said to his upright but leaning pal: "Man, if yo wants to lay down, yo-all has to make de effort!"

Lindsay Entry Nosed Out By Stouffville

TORONTO, Dec. 15. — Rinks skipped by A. J. Simon of Barrie and L. Milne of Plattsville qualified for the quarter-finals of the eleventh annual Thomas Thauburn Memorial Trophy Bonspiel last night at the High Park Club, and will join other qualifiers today.

The Thauburn concludes today with the usual banquet following the championship rounds and the consolation playoffs. The consolation series brought forth the features of the next to farewell tourney day when two extra ends followed in rapid succession, George Downey's Torontos winning 12-11 over R. M. Graham's High Park four and H. Sanders' Stouffville rink eked out a win by the same margin over J. S. MacKay of Lindsay.

To make the championship round Simon's Barrie four had to push over Charley Bulley's Granites, 15-5; F. R. Robinson's Milton rink, 12-8, and Dr. S. T. White's Orangeville quartet, 12-11.

Living Too Fast

COLUMBIAVILLE, N.Y., Dec. 15—(AP). — Charles H. Benedict paused long enough in celebrating his 105th birthday yesterday to say that modern young men "live too fast a pace." He said "a jitterbug probably uses up more energy in one night than I did in a week when I was a young man."

Fair May Open

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15. —(AP).—The way is clear for the Golden Gate Exposition to re-open in 1940. George Smith, member of Ea "Fair in '40" committee, obtained pledges from some creditors to hold off their demands until next year's receipts are counted. Others are to be paid immediately. Court consent still must be obtained.

Gift Buffalo

ST. PAUL, Dec. 15—(AP).—Any city looking for some buffalo for its parks or zoo, please step right up. Fred Denfield, director of the state division of public property, says Minnesota has too many buffalo at three state parks and wants to get rid of nine of them. It costs too much to feed them all. Just pay the transportation cost and they are yours, says Denfield.

Fred Hickey Tops City Bowlers With High Three

About the only satisfaction the other seven City League teams are going to have next spring is that they have Gordon's well hog-tied as far as prize money is concerned. Fred Martin's boys are taking nearly everything else. It was thought when they met Grafton's last night their number was up, but the Chief's good team collapsed after losing the first game by a mere eleven pins and dropped the whole four points.

Grant's came out of a long slump with a bang to turn on Duffus' Recreation for a three-to-one win. Lock Works, a handful of trouble to Capitol Grill, won their fourth point, while C.G.E. took a night off and lost three points to Jay's Cigars.

Fred Hickey topped the high three men for the second week in a row with 809, and Vince Anthony, polehorse for the Grill team, nailed the evening's big single, 343. Red Fisher hit a 320, Jack Playford 312, and Ches Grant 306.

SKATE SHARPENING
BY TAYLOR
Sharp Skates MEAN Better Skating
If your skates are dull, you cannot get the proper enjoyment out of skating.

Get the Best !
It requires more than a Grinding Machine to correctly sharpen skates. That's where our EXPERIENCE can help you. A skate must not only be ground smooth, but it also needs a hollow ground and absolutely true from toe to heel. As skates cannot be rockered on a Lengthwise Grinder alone, we have a grinder used for rockering only.
Hockey players who have returned to Peterborough after playing in other cities, assure us TAYLOR'S grind is second to none anywhere. Let us show you why—and enjoy a perfect skate on perfectly sharpened blades.

In Line For Athletic Award

Two representatives of the amateur side of the fence in the list of nominations for the Lou Marsh Memorial trophy, awarded each year to Canada's outstanding athlete, amateur or pro, are these Montreal boxers, Harry Hurst, (above) and Joey Gagnon (alongside). Winners of the award will be announced early in January.

PADEREWSKI ENTERS

GENEVA, Dec. 15—(AP).—A sensation was caused at the start of the League of Nations session today by sight of the bent figure of Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist and former premier of Poland, who took his place in the diplomatic gallery seat assigned to Poland as an asembly member.

It was the first time in months that the musician-diplomat had left his home near Lausanne.

JOE WRIGHT, JR., KEEPS FIT WITH KRUSCHEN
Recommends "The Little Daily Dose" to Others
Here is what Joe Wright, Jr., Diamond Sculls winner and ex-Argo football star says about Kruschen Salts: "I realized the pitfalls of suddenly dropping out of active sport. I still take a fair amount of exercise but as a preventive against common ailments I depend a lot on my 'little daily dose' of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of water. I recommend it without hesitation."

KEEPS ME FEELING LIKE A MILLION DOLLARS
Kruschen contains several highly refined salts; each for a special purpose. Potassium Chloride, for example, for rheumatic symptoms, as a means of retarding formation of harmful binates in the tissues. Kruschen helps prevent sluggishness, acid indigestion, clears out poisons and imparts that priceless feeling of fitness that makes you enjoy every minute of the day. 25c, 40c, 75c at drug stores.

LEAFS AND BRUINS TIE 1-1 WHEN BOSTON GETS A SOFT GOAL

Canadiens Trim Amerks 5-3 In Overtime Game

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Everything happens to Boston Bruins but all the bad breaks merely emphasize the class of the world hockey champions possess.

As if the injuries to Johnny Crawford and Roy Conacher and the absence of Eddie Shore weren't enough, the Bruins lost Mel (Sudden Death) Hill for an indefinite period last night when they played a 1-1 draw with the Maple Leafs before 9,684 customers at Toronto. Yet they hung grimly to a tie with the Leafs atop the National League and no one would care belittle their chances when Crawford, Conacher and Hill return.

Hill, who retains his greatest fame by shooting three winning goals in overtime games during a playoff series with New York Rangers last year, went out with torn knee ligaments that will keep him on the sidelines for several days. Crawford has a cracked elbow and Conacher a broken wrist, while Eddie Shore's business keeps him available for only Boston appearances.

Mel Hill

That puts the Bears in a bad way for a tough grind of three contests in each of the next three weeks. From a Chicago match next Sunday, some of the Bruins will fly home to Boston to rest before meeting Toronto there next Tuesday.

Though the Bruins showed lapses in unorganized attacking and though their goal was a distinct gift, there was nothing wrong with their batting ability. When Syl Apps tied the score for the Leafs in the third period, the Bruins refused to weaken and Milt Schmidt led his Sauerkraut Line on repeated forays.

Goalie Turk Broda patted Boston's goal into the Toronto net in the second period when he made a careless attempt to clear Woodward (Dinky) Dumart's shot that had ricocheted off the back boards. In contrast, Apps had to go all out to unravel the count, being knocked off balance by both defencemen before firing the puck past Frank Brimsek while coming in on one foot.

All three games of the N.H.L. went into overtime and the only one which went to a decision was the Canadiens' 5-3 victory over New York Americans before 5,000 persons in Montreal. That result lifted the habitants to within a single point of Toronto and Boston, while the Americans remained alone in last place.

Trudel Does It

Louis Trudel's shot, which Goalie Earl Robertson apparently didn't see, gave the Flying Frenchmen their seventh triumph in 13 starts eight minutes after overtime started. Charlie Sands fired the 5th Canadien goal on a breakaway with three seconds to play.

The Canadiens scored three times in the first period, twice through Ray Getliffe and once through Johnny Gagnon, before the visitors replied on a shot by Charlie Conacher. The second was scoreless but after Murray Armstrong reduced the margin in the third Nels Stewart scored his second goal in the first two games of his attempted comeback to send the battle into extra time.

After losing six straight, Detroit Red Wings rushed from behind to a 2-2 deadlock with the Rangers before 6,000 fans at New York. Bryan Hextall and Muzz Patrick scored for the Broadway Blueshirts in the second and Don Deacon and Ebbie Goodfellow for Detroit in the third. The overtime was featured by a fist fight between Jack Stewart of the Wings and Lynn Patrick of the Rangers, which brought major penalties to both.

N.H.L. STARS

(By The Canadian Press)

Syl Apps, Toronto, fired Maple Leafs' goal in a 1-1 tie with Boston Bruins.

Woody Dumart, Boston, scored the lone Bruin goal against Maple Leafs.

Ray Getliffe, Canadiens, whipped home two goals as the Montrealers defeated New York Americans 5-3 in overtime.

Nels Stewart, Americans, scored a goal and aided in another against Canadiens.

Ebbie Goodfellow, Detroit, had a hand in both Detroit goals against Rangers, scoring one and assisting in the other.

Snead Comeback Features Miami Tourney

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15 — (AP). — Samuel Jackson Snead, scourge of the professional golfing ranks until he developed a misery in his back three months ago, is on the war path again.

"All I need is a few good holes to get my confidence back," he said a few days ago after regaining his health, "and I'll catch fire again."

Yesterday Snead scored a two-under-par 68 that tied him with seven others for the first round lead in the $10,000 Miami open, the year's final tournament.

Out in front with Snead and other top-ranking pros was Stanley Horne, Canadian stylist from Montreal.

Horne, who found his "chipper was hot," bettered par by three strokes on the homeward nine after going one over on the outward route. The former Ottawa player sunk a 15-foot putt for a birdie two at the 11th and sunk a spectacular chip shot for a birdie four on the 540-yard 15th.

"I hope my last round will be as good," he said afterwards.

But it was Snead who drew the gallery yesterday, and it was Snead who overshadowed that personal feud between Byron Nelson and Henry Picard for the Vardon Trophy and the year's professional supremacy so far as the spectators were concerned.

Nelson also scored a 68 for a two-shot margin over Picard, who now leads him by five points in the trophy competition.

Others in the 68 spot were Dick Metz, Chicago; the always dangerous Ralph Guldahl; Clayton Heafner, blond husky from Linville, N. C.; Art Clark of Uniontown, Pa., and Jimmy Hines of New York.

Remember When—

Professional hockey made its New York debut 14 years ago tonight with more than 19,000 Gothamites in attendance. Montreal Canadiens, an "original" team of the National Hockey League, showed up the still green New York Americans with a 3-1 score.

Next Joe Louis Opponent Practises On Cardboard

Looking desperately around for a "logical opponent" for his chief meal ticket, world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis, boxing promoter Mike Jacobs cast an eye to far-off South America and brought back Arturo Godoy, a rough, tough and nasty fighter of the Galento school, who had retired to his home in Chile after pocketing a fair chunk of Uncle Sam's legal tender in the fistic wars. Arturo is now at the famed Madame Bey's training camp in New Jersey and the picture shows him preparing to commit some mayhem on a cardboard cut-out of the champ—a somewhat different picture than the one Jolting Joe will apply to canvas come February and the meeting day.

Vote Bob Zuppke Ace Magic Man Of 1939 Sports

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 — (AP). — Prof. Bob Zuppke, a magic man of American football, pulled the biggest rabbit out of the hat in 1939.

Sports experts in the United States, voting in the ninth annual Associated Press poll on the year's outstanding surprises and upsets, today selected the mid-season victory of Prof. Bob's well-walloped Illinois footballers over the previously high-and-mighty Michigan Wolverines as No. 1 on the list.

This upset laid 'em in the aisles even more than the astonishing comeback of the Iowa footballers' in general and their 76 win over Notre Dame in particular, the experts decided. Iowa's gridiron rejuvenation was voted second place.

Third on the list came two-ton Tony Galento and the job of work his left hand did on heavyweight champion Joe Louis and Lou Nova. The experts decided that when the barrel-shaped slugger sat Champion Joe on the seat of his pretty silk panties and when his dainty southpaw hook flattened Nova it rated him a prominent place in the ballotting.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15 — (AP). — Young Stan Horne of Montreal, one of Canada's leading professionals, tied three others to-day for an early first-round lead in the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament at 68, two under par.

Even with him were Byron Nelson, the United States open champion, Jimmy Hines of New York and Dick Metz of Chicago.

Among early finishers were four with 69s—E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., Jim Turnesa of Providence, R.I., Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, and Maurrie O'Connor of Belleville, N.J.

Outstanding

Life for Nile Kinnick, ABOVE, halfback with the University of Iowa team in the U.S. grid wars this past season, is just one award after another. Latest is that of being voted the outstanding athlete in United States in the annual Associated Press poll. His nearest competitor in the voting was Joe DiMaggio, next best, Joe Louis. Don Budge was voted outstanding both last year and the one before.

Newcomer Joins T.V.L. Loop As Bata Enters

TWEED, Dec. 15—(ENS).—The Trent Valley Hockey League will operate as usual this year, with one addition, namely the Bata Shoe Co., of Frankford.

At a meeting held in Madoc, the following clubs were represented: Madoc, Tweed, Campbellford, Stirling, Bata Shoe Co. and Norwood. The Batas will play their home games in the Frankford arena. There is also a possibility that Marmora may be an entry.

Officers elected were: President, Charles Davison, Campbellford; secretary-treasurer, Wilbert Kingston, Campbellford. The executive is composed of the managers of each club.

Hubert Wagar, manager of the Tweed champions of 1939, who represented the local club, states that Tweed will have a first class club again this year. The club is practically complete from last year, with only one member not being present for the current season, namely "Tip" Tummon.

The Bata Company will be a welcome addition to the league, which produces one of the best rural leagues in Ontario, with no quarter asked or given by any team.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

LYNN PATRICK
Rangers

By Central Press Canadian

One of the members of that celebrated trio with the Rangers, made up of Manager Lester and sons, Lynn and Muzz (Murray), is our subject today. Eldest of the two hockey-playing brothers, Lynn patrols a left wing beat and is playing his sixth season with his father's team. Not as famous as an all-round athlete as his brother, Lynn has nevertheless starred at many games and once played on a dominion championship basketball team from Victoria, B.C., home of the clan Patrick. Played little hockey there, but when the family moved to Montreal he wobbled around the ice in a haphazard sort of way that gave no forbodings that he'd be a National league start in a few years. Played one season of senior amateur with Montreal Royals—1933-34 and jumped to Rangers the next season, where he remained ever since, to become a smooth-skating part of the intricate Patrick machine. Fairly effective-scorer, good back-checked. Missed part of last season with a knee injury, a recurrence of the after-effects of playing rugger on the coast. Year before that his best season—15 goals, 19 assists, 34 points. Total for his six-year career are 51 goals, 83 assists, for 134 points, with 118 minutes spent repenting infractions of the hockey laws. His record has been consistent from year to year. Weighs close to 200 pounds, 24 years old.

Pastor To Take Youngster On

DALLAS, Dec. 15 — (AP). — Bicycle Bob Pastor, who swears "the third time will be the charm" against Champion Joe Louis, risks his ring future to-night against a youngster making his big bid for boxing fame.

Twice Pastor raced Louis — and twice he lost but captured a share of the glory.

He's after another crack at the titleholder and looks upon ambitious Buddy Scott of Dallas, a comparative unknown although he has won 73 of 79 bouts, as the test he needs to start his drive back.

A capacity crowd of 5,000 was forecast for the 10-round scrap.

Calves Steady, Hogs Gain 10 During the Week

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP).—The lamb section highlighted dealings on the Toronto livestock market this week, posting a 50-cent gain. Cattle prices lost an early advance of 25 cents, calves were steady and hogs lost 10 cents on live sales and 25 on dressed. Sheep finished unchanged.

The cattle market closed slow. Steers, heifers and butcher cows were up 15-25 cents at the start of the week but the advantage was lost at the end. Weighty steers sold at a top of $7.75 for a small lot with others from $7.50 down to $6. Butcher steers and heifers brought $5.50-$7.50 and butcher cows closed at $3.85-$4.75 after reaching $5.25 on early tops.

Bulls were steady for the week at $5-$5.50 for butchers and at $4.25-$4.75 for bolognas. Fed calves opened at $9 for tops and ended at $8.75 with mediums downward to $7.25. The small supply of stockers sold steady at $6.75-$7 with stock calves up to $7.25. Common stockers ranged downward to $5. Milkers and springers were steady at $80-$90 for tested tops.

Calves traded at $10-$11 for choice with a few up to $11.50. Common vealers sold downward to $6 and grassers were $5-$5.50.

Hogs opened lower at $8.90 off-trucks and $11.75 dressed. The market was unchanged throughout the week with the bulk of sales made on a live basis

Lambs closed at $10.50-$10.75 for good ewes and wethers. Three carloads of good western lambs made $10.75 and a few lots of Southdown lambs made up to $12.25. Bucks and heavies sold at $1 cwt. discount and culls traded at $7-$8.50 cwt.

Sheep sold at $2.50-$6 cwt according to quality.

Evidence of the engagement also came from Oslo, where Reuters News Agency reported 60 explosions resembling gunfire were heard from the southwest.

German operations in the North Sea in this strength have not previously been reported, and the news vied with that from distant Montevideo, where the fate of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee remained of keen public interest.

The Admiral Graf Spee, severely damaged in a running fight with three British cruisers, stayed in the Uruguayan port. There was widespread speculation in London on whether the German ship eventually would risk a new encounter with the British warships waiting outside the harbor.

The fact that the German warships in the North Sea were steaming southward when sighted led naval observers to believe that they were not seeking battle.

British Coast Raided Before

It was recalled in this connection that during the last war the British east coast was bombarded by small naval contingents. Such a raid on Lowestoft, and the British steps to prevent its recurrence, were factors leading up to the battle of Jutland in which the imperial German fleet was driven from the seas.

The absence of previous reports of any mass movement of the German navy in the present war was taken as an indication that the fleet was under orders similar to those of the last war—to stay in snug harbors and not risk contact with British naval units.

Whether the new movements signified a differing strategy was a matter of speculation.

The Admiralty announced that the cruisers Ajax and Achilles had been "strongly reinforced" in their watch for the Graf Spee off Rio De La Plata.

The battle cruiser Renown and the aircraft carrier Ark Royal were disclosed by authoritative sources to be near Cape Town in search of another German pocket battleship, the Admiral Scheer.

Still After Deutschland.

Other British patrols are churning the North Atlantic in the hunt for the third such raider, the Deutschland.

Since the Air Ministry has made public its intention to maintain 'security patrols' over German bases in the Heligoland region, the British airmen were not surprised that they met German planes in large numbers so quickly yesterday when they sighted the German naval squadron.

Merchant shipping continued to suffer wartime losses yesterday and last night.

The British tanker San Alberto, 7,400 tons, was reported damaged "by enemy action" of an undisclosed nature off England's southwest coast.

The Swedish steamship Algol sank after striking a mine between Denmark and Sweden.

The 731-ton Belgian steamship Yvonne was reported to have escaped damage when attacked December 5 by a German plane.

The 4,158-ton British steamship Stanwood was disclosed to have sunk Sunday in Falmouth harbor while a fire was being fought in her hold.

10 British Downed

BERLIN, Dec. 15—(AP).—The German high command today issued a communique claiming that German pursuit planes had shot down 10 out of a group of 20 British craft near the North Frisian Islands.

This amended an earlier claim that six British ships had been brought down.

(In London it was announced three British planes were lost, while German losses were placed at four machines.)

The German communique acknowledged the loss of only one German plane.

The communique follows:—

"A single British bomber which approached the air base at Borkum yesterday without dropping bombs was chased off by our air defence.

"Two further British fighting planes tried to attack the island of Sylt. All four bombs dropped fell into the sea outside the island.

"There was a larger scale airfight in the afternoon hours which developed out an attack by British fighters in the region north of the Frisian Islands.

"German pursuit craft shot down 10 of 20 attackers. One German plane was forced to descend to the sea.

"No special events in the west."

Uruguay

The Dunkerque is rate by naval experts as one of the five Allied warships equipped to deal with the raider if she gave battle.

But the Admiral Graf Spee will not be confronted for some time yet with a choice between internment for the duration of the war and making a break for the open sea. Action by the Uruguayan Government postponed the choice.

Foreign Minister Alberto Guani said last night that, "in accordance with the Uruguayan neutrality law and international law," the Admiral Graf Spee could lie in Montevideo harbor until she could repair the damage suffered in the 14-hour sea battle.

Guani declined to say how long this extension of the formal 24-hour limit for visits of belligerent ships would run, but explained that it would be sufficient to permit rendering the battleship seaworthy.

While the work of patching up holes the Admiral Graf Spee's armor went on, seven covered vans were ordered to the dock alongside the ship to carry 36 pine coffins to North cemetery in the heart of Montevideo.

The Admiral Graf Spee's commander, Captain Hans Langsdorff, turned out the ship's band to play a dirge and 100 seamen to escort the bodies. The normal crew complement is 926.

Eight more of the 60 wounded German seamen were landed last night.

The four most seriously injured were taken to Pasteur Hospital. Two others had been put ashore shortly after the battered warship crept into sanctuary Wednesday night, the Achilles and Ajax at her heels.

Pasteur Hospital said both legs of one of the men received last night would have to be amputated. One of the others already was legless. A third had had an arm amputated and the fourth was suffering severe burns. The remainder of the eight went to another hospital.

62 British Captives Freed

Sixty-two British seamen, taken from the nine merchantmen during the Admiral Graf Spee's weeks of raiding were surrendered last night.

They related the ordeal of waiting in cells below decks, counting and cheering each British hit on their floating prison, realizing at the same time that they were doomed if the battleship went down. Their prison was directly under one of the Admiral Graf Spee's 11-inch turrets.

An officer of the British steamship Doric Star, taken prisoner when his ship was sunk December 4 off the African coast, told how the cannonading awakened the prisoners early Wednesday.

"We knew what that sound meant and we knew it was serious when the guards of our quarters locked and barred the doors and left to go to their battle stations.

"As the battle progressed most of us realized that a British victory might mean our deaths, but nevertheless there was singing and cheering for the attackers.

17 Hits By British Gunners.

"Altogether we counted 17 hits by British shells on the Graf Spee in varous encounters that day.

"Probably you won't believe this, but several men who were shaving when the cannonading began went on and finished the job."

Another freighter captain among the 62 freed Britons told of being called to the bridge of the battleship just before the release when Captain Langsdorff told him:

"The cruisers made a gallant fight. When people fight like that personal enmity is lost. Those British are hard."

The erstwhile prisoners included the masters of four British freighters besides the Doric Star — the Huntsman, Ashlea, Trevanion and Africa Shell—and seamen from the Clement, Newton Beech, Pairo and Streonshall.

They trooped down a ladder to a tugboat, carrying seabags and in some cases lifebelts from their lost ships. They were conducted first to the British consulate where they were warned against talking about their experiences. It was said they had pledged secrecy as a condition for release.

Raider's Fuel Low

The Admiral Graf Spee's fuel and provisions were running low when she suddenly found herself in a battle with three British cruisers off Uruguay Wednesday morning. This was graphically indicated by the height at which she rode at anchor here.

Three holes gaped on her starboard waterline forward and there was a yard and a half hole in her armor outside the crew quarters on the port side forward. Bulging plates indicated what must have been a severe explosion within the ship.

There was a large gap in the fighting tower, apparently from a shell that came over the stern during the chase. A portside guntower, housing six-inchers, was overturned.

Oxygen tanks for welding and meals were placed aboard the battleship yesterday.

Meanwhile the 8,390-ton British cruiser Exeter—damaged in the battle with the Graf Spee was expected some time after dawn at drydock in the Argentine naval base of Puerto Belgrano, 120 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, seeking repairs.

One hundred beds were prepared at the naval hospital there for the Exeter's wounded. The Achilles and Ajax sent word that they had no dead aboard and only a few wounded.

Verne Selkirk Elected Head Of Kinsmen Club

Verne A. Selkirk, popular George street business man, was elected president of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club at the annual election of officers held on Thursday night at the club dinner. Mr. Selkirk has for several years been one of the active Kinsmen and has served on several executives this year, being first vice-president of the club.

Other officers elected were:

Vice-President—Morley M. Smith.
Secretary—Weldon E. Fanning.
Treasurer—J. A. McDonald.
Registrar—Russell F. Kitchen.
Directors—Lorne C. Bateman, Dr. Harold Worton and Donald S. Clarke.

Jack Primeau and Jim Ellis, Jr., were initiated into the club and Harvey Lyons of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and also chairman of the service club work in District 1 and 6 of the Kinsmen organization told of the suggested national service work for the Kinsmen Association.

It has been proposed that the Kinsmen Association take up as their National Service policy Eye Preventative work.

It was announced that next Thursday night would be "Kids Night" when the Kinsmen will be hosts to more than thirty boys.

Newfoundlanders Join

LONDON, Dec. 15 (CP) — Two hundred fishermen from Belle Isle, Nfld., were given an official welcome in Liverpool today as they arrived to join the Royal Navy.

The men, aged from 18 to 24 years, will be engaged in mine-sweeping operations. In their fishing operations in Conception Bay the men acquired experience in handling small vessels.

The Earl of Derby told them he welcomed in the name of the King a splendid body of men who had come over to help the Empire in its great struggle.

Youth Convicted Of Helping Girl To Escape

Ross Kimball, 18, North Monaghan, was found guilty by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning of having aided fourteen-year-old Doreen Smith from escaping from a training school within the meaning of the Training School Act.

The magistrate imposed a fine of $25 and $4.50 costs upon the youth with the alternative of twenty days in jail.

Under the section under which the charge was made the penalty could have been a fine of $100 or three months imprisonment or both fine and imprisonment.

In giving judgment today Magistrate Langley took up the arguments advanced by defence counsel T. J. Carley, K.C., last week, remarking that any of them if upheld by the court would be sufficient to justify an acquittal.

Narrow Construction

However, His Worship ruled against the defence on all points. He decided that as the act set forth that a boy or girl who escaped from a foster home was escaping from a training school, any person who aided in the escape was aiding in an escape from a training school. In regard to Mr. Carley's argument that the escape had been complete before Kimball came into the picture, which the magistrate said was the most interesting point raised and the one that had given him the most trouble, the court decided that that would be a very narrow construction of the word "escape" and ruled against the defence.

When the question of sentence was raised Mr. Carley asked for leniency.

"There was no question of abuse involved," he said. "On the facts it would have been quite possible to find the other way but Your Worship has given the widest possible meaning to the section. This was a case of misplaced gallantry, done in innocence and there was nothing of a sordid nature in connection with the affair."

"You can appeal," said Magistrate Langley.

"There can be no appeal because no funds are available," replied defence counsel.

Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., said that he was quite willing to leave the matter of sentence to the court.

"It might have been much worse," Magistrate Langley said in imposing sentence. "The worst feature, in my opinion, was the manner in which the young man refused to tell the authorities where the girl was."

Campbellford Plans To Provide Needy 45 Baskets During Christmas Season

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15 (ENS)—Nearly a dozen organizations including Rotary, Legion and churches were represented at a meeting called by Mayor F. F. Long for the purpose of making arrangements to provide Christmas baskets for needy families. Following the opening which was presided over by the Mayor who announced the intention of councillors and other town officials to do their share in aiding the contribution, Rev. T. S. Galt was elected chairman of the committee. He will be assisted in this capacity by Relief Officer J. J. Lewis Hay. Captain D. Hutchinson was elected secretary-treasurer. It was felt that with improving conditions the need this year would not be as great as formerly. About 45 baskets costing in the neighborhood of $10.90 will be provided. A. Rappaport, who was among those present, generously offered to contribute the entire proceeds of the theatre next Tuesday evening to the fund.

The committee will meet again next Wednesday afternoon when final arrangements for filling and distribution of baskets will be made.

NO ELECTION TALK

Although the date of municipal nomination day is only a week away election talk just isn't. One alderman remarked this morning that he had not heard any aspirant for office declare his intentions of running and that seems to be the general condition.

FEWER TRANSIENTS

Up to last night the number of transients who had sought shelter at the local police station this year had reached 1341. This is almost 300 short of the mark reached on the same day last year when the figure was 1640. There has been a falling-off in the total each month of 1939.

CARS IN COLLISION

Damage amounting to $25 was done when cars owned by C. Hanney, Keewatin Avenue, Toronto, and J. F. Shaughnessy, 10 Haggart street came into collision this morning at the intersection of Stewart and Sherbrooke streets. The Toronto man was driving east on Sherbrooke street and Shaughnessy south on Stewart street when the accident occurred.

PROSPECTIVE TOURISTS

The 1940 tourist season has started already, according to J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Yesterday he received letters from prospective tourists from Cleveland and Canton, Ohio, who wanted to know full particulars about this district. They intend to come here next summer.

COLLECTIONS HIGHER

Money must be more plentiful now than in previous years among Ontario's farmers. For the Canadian Farm Loan Board, in its annual statement, reveals that it has collected $470,000 more from borrowers than in the previous fiscal year. They collected $2,970,000.

GUESTS OF CAPITOL.

Members of the Peterborough Orfuns Rugby Club will be guests tonight of the Capitol Theatre, where scenes of the Dominion football final between Winnipeg and Ottawa will be shown.

NOTIFYING ELECTORS

The city clerk's staff is preparing notices telling the ratepayers where they are to go to exercise their franchise on New Year's Day in the municipal election.

CONDITION UNCHANGED

Little change is reported in the condition of nine-year-old Johnny Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur "Bob" Murphy, 472 Elm street, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from head injuries following a traffic accident at Elm and Park streets on Wednesday evening. The boy has been in a semi-conscious condition since taken to the hospital.

BIGGER GRAIN ACREAGE

Farmers who wish to show their patriotism are being urged by the Department of Agriculture to grow far more cereal grains in 1940. A campaign to impress every Ontario farmer of the war-time necessity of producing every bushel possible will be carried on by the department during the winter months. More grain must be produced to feed more hogs if Canada is to meet her promise in increased production of bacon, it is pointed out.

OPEN AT NIGHTS

Night shopping will probably be the order next week, and downtown streets will be crowded with Christmas shoppers. For under a by-law of this city, stores are permitted to stay open every night of the week preceding Christmas, and probably most will take advantage of the opportunity to do so.

WESTERN CANADA

All mail for Christmas delivery in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, should be mailed at the local Post Office not later than Saturday, December 16.

POST OFFICE WICKETS OPEN AT NIGHT

Commencing Monday, December 18, and until Saturday, the 23rd, all wickets at the post office will be open until 9 p.m. for the purpose of weighing parcels, selling stamps, and conducting other post office business.

War Bulletins

BERLIN (AP)—The newspaper Der Angriff today reported the Estonian steamship "Estonia," en route from Tallinn to Stockholm, had been brought into Memel by a German warship. The Estonia carried 110 Poles, among them many high officers who had been interned in Estonia, Der Angriff said.

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Norwegian steamship Foejna, a 2,000-ton vessel en route to Scotland, today was reported lost with 18 men. One of her lifeboats was found adrift with two frozen bodies in it.

LONDON (CP)—The King today received in audience Victor Mallett, new British minister to Sweden.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A gruelling conflict with Russia failed to keep Finland from paying her war debt installment today. Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister, obtained an appointment with Secretary Morenthau to report that his country was making its semi-annual payment of $234,693 on a debt aggregating $8,142,000.

LONDON (CP)—Fourteen of the 15 members of the crew of the 1,103-ton Belgian steamship Rosa landed in Great Britain today and said their ship sank after an explosion off the northern British coast. One man died and two survivors were injured.

HITS BANANA GROWERS

Because France has requisitioned its big banana fleet for the navy the colonial banana industry has been completely disiocated and growers will suffer heavy losses unless special measures for their relief are taken by the government.

QUAKER DIES

CROYDON, England—(CP).—Alderman Harold J. Morland, prominent Quaker, is dead here at 70. Morland was tried at the Old Bailey eight years ago in connections with affairs of his employers, but was acquitted.

OBITUARIES

MRS. MARY JANE MORROW

Death came suddenly yesterday to Mrs. Mary Jane Morrow, former resident of Cavan township, at her home in Cobourg. She was in her 73rd year.

She was a daughter of the late John Robinson and Sarah Lawson and the widow of Robert James Morrow. She had lived in Cobourg for the past 17 years, moving to that town from Cavan.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Sarah Moore and Mrs. Emma Christie, both of Peterborough, and Mrs. Esther Presley of Regina; and one brother, Christopher W. Robinson of Cleveland, Ohio.

The funeral will be on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the Nisbett Runeral Home, 347 Charlotte street, Rev. T. H. Floyd of St. George's Anglican Church officiating. Interment will be at Zion Church cemetery.

SARAH MARY ANN CAREY

BRANTFORD, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP).—Sarah Mary Ann Carey, 85, widow of Henry George Carey, died early today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Stanbridge, here. Mrs. Carey was born in London, England and came to Canada 33 years ago. She lived in Kingston for a few years and came to Brantford 27 years ago.

Surviving are four sons, George, Peterborough; Harry and Richard, Brantford; Ivanhoe (Pat), permanent force, Winnipeg and three daughters, Mrs. William Bingham, Mrs. Ernest Stanbridge, Brantford; and Mrs. James Hutcheon, Toronto.

Also surviving are 37 grandchildren and 48 great grandchildren.

JOHN FLAHERTY.

ENNISMORE, Dec. 15 (ENS), — The funeral of the late John Flaherty, the third member of St. Martin's Paris to pas saway within a fortnight, was held from his late home in Emily on Monday morning. The Funeral Mass, which was celebrated by Rev. V. J. Gillogly, parish priest, was said at ten o'clock, following which interment took place in St. Martin's Cemetery with Father Gillogly also officiating at the graveside.

Pall-bearers were: Harold Millen, Wilfrid Carroll, Joseph Doran, William Harrington, Sr., Edward Harrington, and Timothy Carroll of Peterborough.

The high esteem in which the late Mr. Flaherty was held was evidenced by the large numbers who were present at his funeral. Three nephews of the deceased of Rochester, N.Y., were among the relatives attending the funeral, and other relatives and friends from Toronto, Lindsay, Peterborough, Emily and Ennismore were present in large numbers.

MRS. AGNES WRIGHTLY

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15—(ENS).—The death of Mrs. Agnes Wrightly, aged 79, occurred on Wednesday at the home of her son, Mr. Levi Wrightly of Belmont.

The late Mrs. Wrightly was born at Stanwood in Seymour township and has lived in Havelock and Belmont for many years. Her husband predeceased her about 16 years ago. In religion she was a Methodist and later a member of the United church.

She leaves to mourn six sons, Robert, Fred, Levi, Herbert, Frank and Andrew. The funeral was held Friday from the residence of Mr. Levi Wrightly, with service at the home at 1.30 p.m. Interment took place at Maple Grove cemetery.

Garage Robbery At Havelock Is Cleared Up

The arrest of three Hamilton youths in Pembroke the other day has cleared up the mystery of who robbed Watson's garage in Havelock a week ago Monday night and stole $200 worth of goods and accessories. On the same night another garage in Madoc was burglarized.

Shortly afterward three strangers in Pembroke tried to sell some goods there and the police became suspicious and held the trio. Then they discovered that they were travelling in a car that had been reported stolen from Grimsby.

Provincial Constable J. A. Rogers of Havelock and Provincial Constable Dymond of Madoc were notified with the result that practically all the goods stolen from their jurisdiction were recovered.

It is expected the three will be brought here for trial in connection with the Havelock break-in.

Horses Ditch Car; Farmer Is Fined

TWEED, Dec. 15—(ENS).—Appearing before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in local police court on Thursday afternoon, E. Bailey, Roslin, was charged with allowing his horses to roam at large on Highway 37, which resulted in a car being driven by B. Thompson of Tweed being ditched. One of the animals was killed when struck by the motor vehicle driven by Thompson, who was returning to Tweed from Belleville at 3 a.m. Bailey made restitution, and also paid a fine and costs of $10.50.

Samuel Barbaro of Ottawa Rough Riders paid a fine and costs of $18 before Magistrate Lloyd on Thursday afternoon, for driving a car without consideration to other motorists, resulting in a collision with a motor vehicle driven by Rev. Durst of Rosenthal on Highway No. 7.

Neil Stewart of Lockport, appeared before Magistrate Lloyd Thursday, charged with stealing a car belonging to Earl Spicer of Flinton. Stewart pleaded guilty to the charge and was given a year's suspended sentence. Fine and costs amounting to $45.00 was also handed out by the magistrate, the default of which will result in a year in the reformatory.

Seventeen delinquents who had failed to purchase their radio licenses, paid $3.75 each into the court. Five more residents were summoned to court by the inspectors.

CALL FOR HELP

Firemen sent out a call today for helpers. There is row upon row of dolls all nicely repaired and just what will suit some little boys or girls for Christmas, but they are not dressed. It is hardly a fire fighters job, the dressing of dolls, so the firemen are appealing to the women of Peterborough to assist.

Patrons Are Paid $1,291 As Bonus

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 15 (ENS)—An artificially cooled curing room may be installed at the Rylstone Cheese and Butter Company before the coming season it was announced at the annual patrons meeting held this afternoon. District Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray who addressed patrons emphasized the importance of properly curing the cheese by maintaining an even cool temperature and pointed to the record established by Centre Cheese Factory as visible evidence of its importance. A. G. Thompson, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce extended congratulations to the company on its line record of having produced only 24 undergrades out of a total of 1700 cheese ship d during the season. He felt the farmer could safely anticipate a rise in prices for agricultural products and additional production necessitated by the war.

In speaking the bonus of $1,291.55 which the company had received during the year the president and Secretary F. W. Barnum referred to the part played by the Cheese Patron's Association. It was through its efforts that the premium had become a reality and the five cents per pound paid in to the association by each factory had been more than compensated for by the $1291.55 received this season. Mr. Barnum was re-elected president and secretary and the directors were also returned to office as follows: Andrew Thompson, Robert Mumby, Thomas McKeown, Harold Barnum, Fred Barnum.

The financial statement presented showed a total of 2,010,780 pounds of milk delivered to the factory which produced 164,885 pounds of cheese. Butter fat totalled 60,682.56 pounds and the total amount received from the sale of cheese was $21,840.33 or an average of 13.24 cents per pound or 30.56 cents per pound of butter fat. Cheesemaker William Moore averaged one pound of cheese for 12.19 pounds of milk. Whey butter totalled 4,632 pounds and brought $888.17.

Labor troubles have decreased coal production in Chile to a point below the needs of the people.

Struck By Truck Youth Suffers Head Injuries

HASTINGS, Dec. 15—(ENS). — The McMillen families of Hastings seem to be victims of a jinx extending over a period of more than four months. During that time, four members of three generations of the family have suffered injury and in each case the victim has suffered a broken bone of serious nature. More recent in the chain of misfortunes was the accident Wednesday night in which six-year-old Alex. McMillen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMillen, was the victim.

Attempting to cross the road pushing a wagon, he was struck down by a bread truck on the hill extending from the public school. He suffered a broken collarbone, numerous cuts and abrasions about the face and body and the loss of a front tooth. The wagon was badly broken. He was taken to the office of Dr. W. N. Campbell, where his injuries were pronounced as being painful, but unless any other injures appeared, Dr. Campbell said his condition seemed favorable.

His elder brother, Vernon, suffered a broken arm August 26 while he was playing at the public school. An uncle of the two boys, William McMillen, was injured September 22 when the belt flew off a silo filler striking McMillen and throwing him to the ground. He suffered a fractured arm, numerous minor cuts and several bruises about the head and arms. On October 24, Mrs. Henry McMillen, grandmother of Vernon and Alexander, sustained a fractured arm when she tripped over a defective section of sidewalk near her home. It was just recently she was able to have the cast removed.

This was the second misfortune for Mrs. McMillen in two years. In December, 1937, Mrs. McMillan suffered a similar accident at the identically the same spot when she slipped on the ice near her home. She suffered a fractured wrist on the other arm on this occasion.

First Gas Mask Invented By Miner, 1825

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP).—John Roberts, a "poor collier," of St. Helens, Lancashire, was awarded a silver medal and 50 guineas for his invention of a gas-mask as long ago as 1825, it was shown in interesting documents discovered here.

The importance of the gas-mask to every individual in the land prompted the Royal Society of Arts to thumb through its records and find the award to the miner more than a century ago.

Roberts was sent to the society with an introduction from a Dr. Henry, of Manchester, who said: "This letter will be delivered to you by John Roberts, a poor collier, who has lately invented an apparatus for enabling persons to enter without injury apartments filled with smoke and suffocating vapors."

A test in London was arranged, and the record describes in detail how the mask was made.

The test to which the apparatus and its inventor personally were subjected was such a complete success that it could be reported as "effective against so penetrating a gas as sulphurous acid vapor."

The "poor collier" told investigators the inspiration for his mask came from "the relief which I found from covering my lips and nostrils with the edge of my flannel shirt while descending the shaft of a coal pit to my daily occupation."

The test was made in a specially built chamber in which moist wood shavings, wet hay, two pounds of brimstone and a shovelful of rosin were burnt to induce great heat and an intensely irritating and suffocating smoke.

Roberts stayed there 36 minutes.

OBITUARY

THOMAS OSWALD McGILL.

JANETVILLE, Dec. 15—(ENS). — Manvers mourns the loss of one of its best beloved citizens in the person of the late Thomas Oswald McGill, who passed away on Thursday morning, December 7, following a most critical illness of five weeks' duration, in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

The late Mr. McGill, who was 66 years of age, was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McGill, and was born and resided all his life on the homestead along Lake Scugog.

He was married to Helena Maude Falconer of Woodstock, who with their only son Guy, survives.

Mr. McGill was a member of the Janetville United Church, L.O.L. 64, and a former member of the C.O.F. and the Masonic Lodge. In his more youthful days he was an enthusiastic and valued member of the Janetville baseball team at the time of its far-famed success and popularity.

The late Mr. McGill took an active part in all church and community activities, but his chief interest lay in his home and family.

Five weeks ago Mr. McGill suffered an attack of acute appendicitis, when peritonitis developed, which resulted in his death.

The esteem in which he was held by the general public was attested to by the large gathering of almost five hundred friends and acquaintances at the Janetville United Church at 2.30 on Saturday afternoon for the impressive funeral services conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mervin Bury, assisted by Rev. T. E. Kennedy, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and also by a much loved former pastor, Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, M.A., B.D., of Queen Street United Church, Lindsay.

Prior to the church service a private service was held at the home.

Surviving besides his widow and son are three sisters, Mrs. W. Heaslip (Emma), Mrs. R. Argue (Lina), and Mrs. W. Irvine (Etta), also one brother, Andrew McGill, all of Janetville.

The pall-bearers were three nephews, Horace and Andrew Heaslip, Fleetwood, Norman Argue, Nestleton, also J. R. McGill of Kapuskasing, Charles McNeil and Mervin Armstrong of Janetville.

Interment was made in the family plot of Janetville United Church Cemetery.

Among those from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Furniss and Mrs. R. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bell, Mrs. Bell, Sr., Dick Bell, Mrs. Rud Heaslip, Mr. and Mrs. C. Shook, Mrs. John Drummer, all of Toronto; J. R. McGill of Kapuskasing, Mr. and Mrs. George Walwin of Richmond Hill, Mr. and Mrs. E. Porter of Conestogo, Mr. and Mrs. Madison Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris, and Miss Marjorie Adams, all of Orono; Mr. and Mrs. Norval Flemming of Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wright of Bethany, ex-Warden Percy Stinson of Millbrook.

Costly Machinery Is Required To Make Shells

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

As metal-working plants in Canada equip themselves for the production of shells to meet the nation's war-time needs they follow a pattern prepared for them by the Dominion Government. In its arsenal the government maintains complete equipment for production of all sizes and types of shell and for months past it has been running at capacity.

The raw material for shells is steel. For the larger shell the steel comes in hollow round castings, open at one end. The steel for smaller shells comes in solid pieces.

Passing through a series of operations these steel pieces are ground, bored, smoothed and cut until they conform to specifications. The allowance for error on the body of a shell is only 10-1000 of an inch. On the copper band which gives the projectile its spin the allowance is only 5-1000.

Many machines in this government plant are new and most are expensive. The more expensive are those used to make the tools for grinding, cutting and drilling in the manufacture of the shells.

A big machine which bores and turns a piece of metal at the same time cost $15,000. A universal grinder, also for internal and external work cost $7,000. Close to these machines a power-driven hacksaw, unattended slowly ploughs through a seven-inch steel bolt. It takes the saw 45 minutes after two or three operations.

Measuring Room

In contrast to the shops with their whirring wheels, flapping belts, grease and some dust is a glass enclosed measuring room in charge of a bespectacled official who has spent 30 years in the government arsenal.

There precise measuring, weighing and testing machines are operated in spotlessly clean and quiet surroundings. An internal comparator for measuring the internal cavity of shells cost $6,500. Another precise machine tests the hardness of steel by pressing a point on it with a given pressure. The scratch made by the point is then examined and measured under a microscope.

Fine screw threads are scrutinized for the slightest flaw or break. Magnified to 20 times their size a reproduction of the thread is cast on a screen and each turn scrutinized.

Tool steel is heat-treated to give it hardness in electric ovens with a temperature range up to 2,200 degrees Fahrenheit. Once in the oven the steel is protected from the air by a burning gas curtain which consumes all the oxygen which might possibly enter and prevents carbonization.

Heat treatment of steel involves raising it to a certain specified temperature and then plunging it into a bath of oil or other substance. The temperature and the nature of the bath vary with the purpose for which the steel is destined.

The Canadian government maintains the plant described here for two purposes, the production of ammunition for the use of the armed forces and as a model for private factories which may be called upon to produce in emergency.

BADLY HURT BY TRAIN

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 15—(CP). —Two men were taken to hospital with serious injuries to-day after the automobile in which they were riding crashed with an eastbound Canadian National Railways freight train at the level crossing on Garson Road, quarter of a mile from here.

The two are Wilfred Brown of Sudbury and Aime Roy of Creighton Mine.

Vern Feick, a taxicab driver, saw the accident, extricated the two men from the wreckage of their car and took them to the hospital.

Santa Headed For Doghouse

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—(AP).—Santa Claus will be in the dog house if he doesn't pack along a big rain or snow to break a severe plains drought. Most of the area needs moisture for stock and the coming crop season.

The fall season has been almost rainless in the old dust bowl of Western Kansas, Eastern Colorado and the Oklahoma Panhandle where the dry spell is most severe.

Most seriously threatened are the winter wheat belt and the stock country. Much winter wheat in Western Kansas and Western Nebraska failed to germinate in the dry soil. The grain which sprouted is dying from lack of moisture.

Timely showers in Eastern Kansas have kept wheat growing, but dry creeks and ponds force farmers to haul water to keep stock alive. Parts of Southwestern Nebraska have had no rain for more than three months.

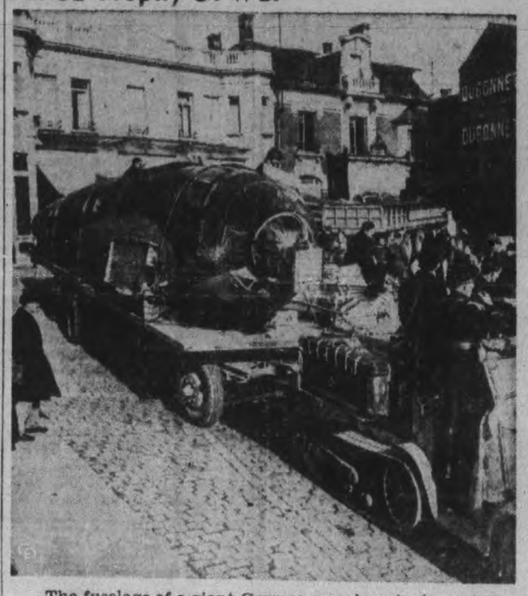
Charles Hezmalhalch, deputy Colorado engineer, estimated the flow of Colorado streams, which are headquarters of such rivers as the Platte, Republican, Arkansas, Rio Grande and Colorado, is but half of normal.

Texas generally needs rain. While range feed prospects were no favorable generally, cattle were reported in about average flesh except in local dry areas.

TENDERS ACCEPTED.

OTTAWA—(CP). — The Bank of Canada announced today on behalf of the Minister of Finance that tenders had been accepted for $25,000,000 Dominion of Canada treasury bills due March 15, 1940. The average discount price of the accepted bids was $99.79944, and the average yield was .806 per cent.

Allied Trophy Of War



The fuselage of a giant German warplane is shown being towed on a trailer through the streets of a French town after it had been brought down by French and British aviators. The craft was probably a reconnaissance plane, a type of craft that has taken severe punishment from French fighters of American make and the British Spitfires.

Mrs. S.S. Staples Elected Head Springville WMS

SPRINGVILLE, Dec. 15—(ENS)—Mrs. (Rev.) Everson was hostess to The W.M.S. for their Christmas meeting on Wednesday afternoon. There were 26 present.

Miss Schaeffer, the tresurer, reported that just 30 cents was needed to reach the allocation. After the December offering and outstanding sunshine boxes were in, it was felt that the society would be well "over the top." It was particularly pleasing to know that practically all this had been raised by freewill offering.

Mrs. Albert Hunter gave the report of the nominating committee, and Rev. Mr. Everson installed the following officers: President, Mrs. S. S. Staples; Vice-President, Mrs. Jack Whitfield; Secretary, Mrs. O. Dunford; Treasurer, Miss Schaeffer; Christian Stewardship, Mrs. Grandy; Citizenship and Temperance, Mrs. M. Johnston; Press Secretary, Mrs. G. Whitfield; Literature Secretary, Mrs. H. Rowan; Missionary Monthly, Mrs. H. Cathcart; Community Friendship Secretary, Mrs. W. Bowles; Supply Secretary, Mrs. H. Clarke, Miss A. Brown; Pianist, Mrs. B. Preston; Finance Committee, Mrs. Staples, Miss Schaeffer, Mrs. Grandy; Auditors, Mrs. A. Bowles and Mrs. H. Brown.

Regret was expressed that Mrs. William Whitfield had found it necessary to resign from the office of Community Friendship Secretary which she has held for a number of years.

Mrs. M. H. Johnston gave an item on Temperance and read the scripture lesson.

A brief candle-lighting ceremony was used. In connection with this Mrs. E. Kimbal sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem" 'and Mrs. Shaw told the story of "The Service of the Holy Fire." Miss E. Johnston and Mrs. J. Whitfield took the reading in connection with it.

A rebroadcast of the Madras Conference, 1938, was then given. Representatives of Africa, China, Japan, Ceylon, India and Mexico spoke, the parts being taken by Mrs. Grandy, Miss E. Johnston, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Dunford, Mrs. Whittington and Miss Schaeffer. Mrs. S. S. Staples acted as announcer.

Miss J. Schaeffer invited the society to her home for the January meeting and Mrs. Hunter moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Everson for her hospitality.

Mrs. H. Rowan, president of the W.A., asked that a nominating committee be formed in connection with that society. Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Dunford, and Mrs. Cathcart were named to act in this capacity.

Mrs. H. Brown and Mrs. Northey were appointed leaders of Mission Band and are going to work together in carrying on the work of this organization. A social time was spent and a dainty lunch served.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY CAR.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Dec. 15.—(CP). — Norman McEachern, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McEachern, was killed to-day when a car in which he was a passenger crashed over the steep slope of Blue Mountain, six miles west of Collingwood. Bert Weir, 24, another passenger, is in General and Marine Hospital with chest injuries and scalp wounds. Ernest Stangroom, 27, of Nattawa, driver of the car, was treated at Collingwood for head wounds and cuts about the hands.

Canadian Pilot Thinks Scraps Are Lots Of Fun

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Air battles are "lots of fun" to Pilot Officer S. Roger Henderson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Henderson of Winnipeg.

The young flier who left Canada in March, 1937, to join the Royal Air Force, has written a letter to a former civil flying friend, Fred S. Kroon, telling of two air engagements in which three Nazi planes were crippled.

The first was on November 1, while on a patrol flight over North Sea. Pilot Officer Henderson spotted a Dornier 18 and after hiding among the clouds until he was close to the enemy place, he dove to the attack and gave him about 50 shots, some of which went into the Dornier's tail. The German plane headed for home, returning fire which missed.

The next day Henderson and another reconnaissance pilot of the R.A.F. were flying planes in coastal patrol when they engaged three German planes in combat. Henderson's companion plane, piloted by an officer named Greenhill, sent one of the Nazi planes into the sea. Henderson and Greenhill attacked the other two until their ammunition was exhausted and then returned to their base. In his letter, Henderson said the fights were "lots of fun."

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mrs. Wm. E. Lloyd of O'Carroll Avenue has returned from a two weeks' visit in Toronto and Hamilton.

Mrs. Fred Greer of Haliburton is the guest for several days of Mrs. B. Howden.

Mrs. Gilbert Pakenham is spending the week-end in Ottawa, the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. R. Bromley.

Excitement will be the keynote of the annual Christmas children's party of the Y.M.C.A. at four o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, December 22, which will be attended by hundreds of youngsters. The affair will be held in the gymnasium, and Santa Claus, with his pack of toys, will be an especially invited guest.

Miss Phyllis Dawson of the University School of Nursing, Toronto, accompanied by her roommate, Miss Betty Burland of Calgary, will be home next Wednesday to spend the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Dawson, Gilmour street.

Miss Belle Thirnbeck entertained delightfully Thursday evening at a kitchn shower in honor of Miss Vickie McNamee, whose marriage to Mr. Larry McQuade of Omemee takes place in January. Among the guests were Mrs. J. Thirnbeck, Mrs. L. Wilson, Mrs. R. Mongraw, Mrs. R. Merritt, Miss Margaret Curtis, Miss Margaret O'Toole, Miss Thelma Harris, Miss Audrey Crary, Miss Betty Goldie, Miss Marjorie Goldie, Miss Iva Payne, Miss Loretta Turcotte, Miss Dorothy Fallis, Miss Ann McCormick, Miss Inez Barrer.

Decorations, completely different, but gaily typical of the Yuletide spirit, will transform the gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A. Saturday Night Club dance this week. Wilfred Gynane is convener of a decorating committee that includes Jerry Wolstenholm and Fred Hooper. Dancing rhythm will be provided by Mose Yokum's orchestra, and to accommodate the large number of young people it is anticipated will attend, arrangements have been made for dancing to be extended to the dining hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gordon of Kirkfield, Ont., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Jane, of Toronto, to Alfred Merkley Casselman, B.A., of Kemptville. The marriage will take place on Monday, December 25, at high noon in St. Andrew's church, Kirkfield.

Mrs. Wm. Fisher, formerly of Cobourg, who has been visiting in Peterborough for the past several weeks, has left to spend the winter in western points.

Following rehearsal Thursday evening, an exchange of gifts was held for fifty members of Murray Street Baptist Church and their friends. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe made the presentations, and afterwards tea was served under the convenership of Mrs. S. Balentin, assisted by the social committee.

The many friends of Miss Jacqueline Gordon, Reg. N., will be pleased to know that she is recovering satisfactorily following an appendoctomy in St. Joseph's Hospital.

St. Luke's W.A. Elects Officers

The annual meeting, with the election of officers of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary for the year 1940, was held in the Guild room on Tuesday with Mrs. T. Moore, president, in the chair.

After the devotional service and routine business had been concluded, Rev. G. J. Bousfield took the chair and gave a short, encouraging address before the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. G. J. Bousfield; honorary vice-president, Mrs. H. Butcher; president, Mrs. T. Moore; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Maniece; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Mark Burnham; secretary, Mrs. R. H. Parsons; treasurer, Mrs. T. H. Adams; Dorcas convener, Miss Stewart; assistant Dorcas convener, Mrs. Ebbs; superintendent Evening Branch and assistant, not filled; junior superintendent and assistant to be appointed later; Little Helpers, Mrs. James Mackin; sec.-treas. Thank Offering, Mrs. W. Thompson; superintendent Living Message, Mrs. H. Starr; rector's representatives, Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. W. Thompson.

Rev. Bousfield closed the meeting with prayer and the Benediction.

Jewell—Sinclair

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sinclair, Cambray, was the setting for a charming wedding ceremony on Saturday afternoon, December 2nd, when their daughter, Rachel Ellen, Reg. N., was united in marriage to Mr. Clare Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jewell, Cambray. Rev. G. S. Maxwell officiated.

The bride wore a frock of wine crepe, and carried her mother's white prayer book. She was given in marriage by her father, and entered the room to Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Frances McIlmoyle of Lindsay. Miss Dorothey Hepburn of Fenelon Falls, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a smart frock of teal blue crepe. Mr. Everett Jewell of Reaboro, cousin of the groom, was his attendant.

After an informal reception, the bridal couple left on a motor trip to southern and western Ontario.

C.G.I.T. Girls Entertain At Party

Girls of the George Street C.G.I.T., of which Miss Eva Blanch Parr is president, entertained a group of children of the unemployed Thursday evening at six-thirty with Christmas carols, a program of games, a peanut hunt, and Christmas tree.

A gaily decorated tree beside a glowing fireplace, and a table bright with holly and red candles, laden with red and green baskets of candy for all the young guests, gave the tea room a happy, festive air. Sandwiches, cake and apple cider were served, and a Christmas parcel for each child distributed following the games.

Caledonian Club Sponsors Whist Party

An enjoyable card party was held Thursday evening in the Moose Hall under the auspices of the Caledonian Club. The whist games, which were keenly contested, were played under the vigilant eye of W. Petrie. The following were the lucky winners: Ladies, first, Mrs. J. Miller (score 123); second, Mrs. J. Wyllie (119). Gentlemen, first, J. Hewie (119); second was a tie between Mrs. S. Pooley and A. Milne (115). On a draw, Mrs. Pooley was the winner. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Golds and E. Julian. After the card games refreshments were served and the prizes presented by W. May.

Next Thursday the children of the club are looking forward to their annual Christmas tree, which will commence at 7.30.

Tickets can now be procured for the Hogmanay celebration from the Petrie Shoe Store, or any member of the executive.

Extracts From Taku Letter Are Of Interest

From time to time Mrs. R. Field of 215 Princess street, receives letters from relatives residing in China, and the one sent from Taku, North China, on October eight, contains several items of general interest.

The writer, who is a sister of Mrs. Field, tells of local conditions, and says in part: "It seems as if we have had nothing but wars, floods and bandit raids now for two years—so we know what destruction they cause. Just now business in Tientsin is at a standstill—nothing doing at all, as the ships cannot cross the bar, partly on account of very low water and because the Japanese have put a three-day quarantine on all ships from Hong Kong and Shanghai, and it isn't worthwhile coming. You know, they never declared war on China, but it is war just the same. It appears to be the fashion these days to start an undeclared war."

The writer goes on to speak of a probable voyage to New Zealand, as conditions in China are "no good these days for the 'foreigner'." She speaks of the house they will leave, and says, "It is huge, and we cannot sell it. It cost £1,000, and now the value of the dollar is three pence, and it used to be four shillings, six pence; so you see, one can lost all one ever worked for—as all our shares and interests are in China. These we leave behind, and hope for the best."

"I hope the winter is not a cold one," she continue. "The Chinese are really dreadfully poor, especially after the floods. Their home have fallen down, they are only build of mud bricks, and the flood water was 11 feet in places. The hotel in Tientsin where I stayed all last winter was flooded to the first floor, and often the small was unbearable—all the people that had gone away for the summer are still away but they will be able to return now as all the water in the British Concession has gone. Some places are still under water, but mostly cellars and low-lying places. One can hardly believe that it could clear away so soon, after six weeks of flood. The damage to the property must be tremendous, as windows and floors all collapsed and the wooden blocks out of the roads all came up in huge pieces. The Chinese soon took these for fuel.

Food is very dear, people cannot buy the things—we have not been able to get milk, bread and meat. We get a few tins from the ships now and then, and we are beginning to get bread once more.

I am glad to say that things are a little better, but the Japanese are still carrying on with the blockade at the barriers. I don't need to bother, as I do not have to go up and down, but lots of people are kept standing for hours. Their clothes are searched, even to the lining of their coats. The Chinese are not allowed to carry any Chinese currency; they have to have Federal Reserve, which is not worth paper it is written on because there is nothing to back it, but the Japanese have put it on the market and they will try to make a job of it—to fill their own pockets."

FASHIONS

If you have trouble finding a dress that suits your figure and your needs for everyday and dress-up your needs, your hunt is ended This softly draped frock is just what you need for everyday and dress-up. Smooth shoulders with fullness over the bust and a gently flaring skirt, make a dress you will find very flattering and useful, too. Silk crepe in a warm, dark shade is becoming and well suited to the lines of the design. Try your gold necklace on the high round neckline for a chic effect.

Style No. 2680 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material.

Nursing Sisters Heed Rules Of Military Men

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Forty-six bright-eyed girls are eagerly awaiting troop movements that will involve their boarding a ship for England to take their part in winning the war.

They are the nursing sisters from all parts of Canada chosen from the hospitals in Military District No. 2, who have been listening to lectures on military discipline, studying anti-gas precautions, drilling and tending soldier-patients in Toronto since war was declared in September.

Ther are tall ones, short ones, plump and slightly built ones, among the nurses aged between 23 and 35. Some wear spectacles, many have curly hair and others comb their locks straight back under their filmy white veils worn over the shoulders with their Dutch blue uniforms and white aprons.

They have all signed up "for the duration" and are under military jurisdiction, the same rules applying to them as to officers, for they all hold the rank of lieutenant.

"It's the natural instinct for a nurse to want to enlist her services the minute there is an emergency," Matron Agnes Neill said for her charges. Tall and dark, Miss Neill, with the rank of captain, hails from Peterborough, Ont. Formerly she was surgical superintendent at the Toronto General Hospital. Her assistant is Miss Mary Schaffner, dark also but small in stature, whose people live in London, England.

Since qualifications state that nurses must be unmarried or widows, and the girls are all fairly recent graduates, there will not be any wedding rings noted on the capable nursing sisters' hands. Marriage is out. They can only leave the army if they are found physically unfit, unfit for overseas duty or incompetent. "And that is not likely, as they were all carefully chosen," Miss Neill said.

Chance of Lifetime.

"There's only one war in a lifetime—we may be too old to go to the next one," Nursing Sister Ruth Austin, a Toronto General graduate said. "And it is the most wonderful experience in the world."

Most of the nursing sisters' homes are in or near Ontario, but there are a few from other parts of Canada who trained in Ontario and registered with the Canadian Nurses' Association in this province.

Ethel MacKenzie from Pictou, N. S., Ruth McLean from Charlottetown and Eleanor Purdy, daughter of G. T. Purdy, member of parliament for Truro, N. S., form a maritime trio in the goup.

Isobel Millican fom Calgary, Alta., Edith Read from Medicine Hat, Alta., Margaret Whitaker from Regina, Sask., and Edith Kergen from Prince Rupert, B. C., represent the West.

Thirty-four recruits will join the band of nursing sisters before they leave for overseas duty, to complete the quota of 80 nurses allotted to the first division.

Quartered at Grace.

Entitled to a lieutenant's pay of $5 a day, the nurses have also a subsistence allowance of $1.70 a day which they lose when they move into the nurses' residence next door to Grace Hospital here where sick and injured soldiers are already being cared for.

There are fe wrestrictions set out for the girls other than the usual nursing code. They must not appear in mufti, however, and when attending formal functions they must wear their dress uniforms, similar to their service blue uniforms, only in light wool material and must always wear their veil head-dress. When off duty they may wear their recreation three piece navy wool suit with soft-brimmed tailored hat and greatcoat in navy when appearing in public.

With The Girl Guides

WITH THE GIRL GUIDES.

1st Company held a very enjoyable party on Monday in place of regular meeting — games and contests provided much fun—gifts were exchanged from a prettily decorated tree, and later dainty refreshments were served This ends activities until January 3rd, 1940, except for a church parade for all Protestant Guides and Brownies at the Salvation Army Temple on Sunday, December 31st, at 10.45. Please have a full turn-out for the new Adjutant, Norman Buckley, and show the real Guide spirit.

3rd St. George's are having a church parade this Sunday in their own church, and on Monday, supper and party at 6.30 p.m. Please bring a gift.

4th S.A.G. Guides held an open meeting on Friday last, and many parents and friends attended. Mrs. Percy Hooper was present as examiner to four girls who had tried for the Entertainers' Badge. These girls were all successful: Anna Hubel, Irene Whitworth, Betty Craig and Ruth Smith. A collection was taken at this meeting, and the money thus obtained will purchase wool for the Guides with which to knit wristlets for the soldiers.

Brownies, 1st Pack, is holding its Christmas party at St. Andrew's on Saturday afternoon.—"The Scribe."

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Have You Made Your Plans For Your Christmas Dinner?

(By MARY MOORE.)

The minds are made up or all well organized Home Managers. They could almost tell you course by course what their Christmas dinner is going to be.

My role today is to help you give it an uncommon touch.

For instance note in Dinner 2 our effort to have as little replacng of courses as possible. It is for the "maidless' 'home,—where Mother or Sister who have first had to cook the meal, serve it attractively, watch everyone's needs at table, think of the course to follow(whether it is too hot, too cold or just right) and then in the midst of it all have to serve the table. This meal makes good use of all short cuts.

Christmas Dinner No. 1.

Shrimp Cocktail (see notes).
Almonde Consomme(see notes).
Relish Tray: Avocada Marinade (note). Radish Roses. Ripe Olives.
Devilled Eggs.
Roast Chicken or Turkey.
Bread Crumb Stuffing (see note).
Giblet Gravy.
Super Mashed Potatoes (note)
Brussels Sprouts or Broccoli Hollandaise.
Christmas Salad Bowl (see note).
White Plum Pudding (see note).
Delicate Sauce. Salted Pecans.
Cafe Noir.

Notes on Christmas Dinner No. 1.

Do not smear your cocktail sauce on the shrimps. Give the diners a chance to use it or not as they wish by putting small portion in a tiny cupped lettuce leaf or in proper cocktail sauce glasses in the midst of the iced shrimps.

Serve shredded almonds in consomme or past them in place of crackers or croutons at table.

A marinade for Avocados that has converted many a timid Northerner to an avocado fan is made with French dressing as a base with just a little extra lemon juice, and a rub of garlic on the bowl, and about ¼ teaspoon finely grated lemon rind. Let this marinade stand on the thinly sliced ripe avocado (the skin is loose and seed rattles slightly when ripe) in refrigerator for at least 1 hour, then drain well and serve—it does not require lettuce.

Too many people make fowl stuffing wrong—bread crumbs should be fresh, no water used, eggs should be beaten, not more than 3 tablespoons butter added, plenty of parsley added, grated onion or juice, never chopped onion; fresh sage used sparingly, salt and white pepper—that all. Made this way it never packs, and is not so overflavored that the fowl flavor is not noticeable in it.

To 'supermash" potatoes, boil them until they begin to break, then drain them well; shake over low heat, mash until your arm aches, add ¼ teaspoon baking powder, salt, hot cream and butter mixed, and 1 beaten egg white. Beat until your arm aches some more, over low heat, then add more hot cream until very light and very hot.

The "Christmas Salad Bowl" consists of small sprigs of watercress and parsley, chopped endive and lettuce and celery, chopped or shredded pimiento and radish, and shaved slices of tomato. Pass chilled French dressing when this tossed salad is served.

I have to give you the recips for White Plum Pudding and Delicate Brandy Sauce.

White Plum Pudding

Two cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 cup of sultanas, ¼ cup mixed orange and citron peel, 2 tablespoons shredded candied pinepapple. Dredge the fruit with about 1-3 cup of the flour requirement. Sift together the remaining flour, baking powder and spices. Rub the shortening into the sugar, then beat the eggs well and add the milk to them. Sift the dry mix into the sugar mix alternately with the egg mix until all are added, then add the dreged fruit. Turn into greased pudding mould, cover tightly, and steam 3½ hours. Turn out and serve with Delicate Sauce.

Beat ¼ cup butter and ½ cup powdered sugar to a cream. Whip 1 cup heavy cream until stiff and add the butter and sugar, then stand over hot water and beat while heating. When smooth and thick add 1 teaspoon vanilla and 2 teaspoon brandy or (if teetotalitarian) 1 teaspoon orange juice. Serve warm.

Christmas Dinner No. 2.

Tomato Bouillon with Cheese Coated Popcorn.
Hors d'Oeuvres Patter:
Sardines Canapes.
Cheese Stuffed Celery.
Ripe Olives.
Roast Leg of (or Crown) Lamb.
Lemon Bread. Crumb Stuffing.
Celery in Mint Jelly Moulds.
Summer Succotash (see note)
Potatoes au Gratin.
Pear Salad (see note).
Open Face Cranberry Pie a la Mode.
Raisins, Salted Filberts. Coffee.

Notes on Christmas Dinner No. 2.

The cheese coated popcorn is commercially made with what is called in the trade "oil cheese." This is hard to find in retail stores, so melt any yellow cream cheese, drop the popped corn in it, move it about with a fork and serve hot. The Hors d'oeuvres platter and the pear salad are on the table when dinner is served and merely need to be passed—however the table must be set with bread and butter plates and plenty of silve rto accommodate them. The pear salad is made by providing as many delicate cupped lettuce leaves as there are guests to be served. On each one place a choice pear half, well drained, and in scooped out centre of pear place a ball of Philadelphia cheese, sprinkled with chopped citron or pecans. Pass Mayonnaise.

Summer Succotash is freshly cooked finely shredded green beans, mixed with an equal quantity of corn niblets and heated through in top of double boiler with a little cream, salt and pepper and butter.

Watch-The-Budget Christmas Dinner.

Cream of Shrimp (or Clam) Soup
See Note.
Iced Celery, Carrots Strips, Radish Roses.
Fried Young Rabbit or Rabbit Pie or
Roasted Fowl with Sage and Giblet Stuffing.
Baked Stuffed Potatoes.
Pimiento String Beans.
Steamed Cranberry Pudding.
Unsalted Filberts. Stuffed Dates.
Coffee.

I like the Cream of Shrimp or Clam Soup on this budget meal because it seems so definitely partyish but costs only about 25 cents for 6 medium sized servings. You use a 16 cent can of either shrimps or clams—saute them in about 2 tablespoons butter after they are drained, for about 2 minutes, then mash them with a fork (clams would have to be chopped) and add about 1½ teaspoons flour, stir, add 1 pint whole milk, liquid from can, stir until thickened—add salt and pepper (plenty) and more butter to taste. Do not strain. A little onion or curry may be added if desired.

The remainder of the dinner is easy—on the market today I saw very young rabbits selling for 35 cents a piece and rabbit pie with a short thin tea biscuit or puff paste crust is a king's dish.

Happy Christmas Dinners!

ST. MICHAEL'S, WESTWOOD.

The monthly meeting of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Michael's, Westwood, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seaborn on Wednesday, with the president, Alfred Reed in the chair.

The meeting opened with a hymn. The rector, the Rev. R. E. Lemon, led the members in prayer, followed by Scripture reading by Alfred Reid.

It was decided by the members to purchase a stove for the vestry and also to donate $5 to the centenary fund.

Following the business meeting a debate was held, Alfred Reid upholding the affirmative side and Marie Seaborn on the negative. Title of the debate was "that motion pictures are more injurious than helpful." Judges on the debate were Dorothy Peoples, Mrs. R. E. Lemon and Everett Elmhurst. They awarded the negative side the verdict.

The debate was followed by lantern slides on India by Rev. Lemon.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and a vote of thanks tendered Mr. and Mrs. Seaborn for their kind hospitality. The meeting closed by singing Auld Lang Syne.

Y.W.C.A. Bazaar Will Aid Campaign Fund

The Y.W.C.A. was a bustle of activity Thursday afternoon and evening during the Y. W. C. A. Girls' Bazaar. Arranged by the Girls' Council, which includes all groups and departments of the Y.W.C.A., the affair is an annual event of the holiday season. This year proceeds will be used for the campaign fund.

Branches of pine needles and cedar banked the fireplace in the hall, where a handsome Christmas tree was a symbol of welcome to shoppers at the homecooking table, and in the library the Yuletide decorations were effectively continued, and bazaar tables were bright with scarlet and green tissue and the gay variety of their stock of Christmas gift suggestions.

General conveners of the tea room were Mrs. Clare Collins and Mrs. D. T. Diplock, assisted by Mrs. Chas. Henderson and Mrs. A. J. Girdwood. Pouring were Mrs. R. E. Cutting, Mrs. R. Parsons, Miss A. Wood and Miss E. Morrow. Tea room assistants were Mrs. H. Bradburn, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. Thos. Gentles, Mrs. Eric Westbye, Mrs. W. Perks, Mrs. W. J. Gordon, Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. H. L. Garner, Miss Barbara Cutting.

In charge of homecooking were Mrs. Bert Austin, Mrs. Young and Mrs. J. Marshall; Fancy work, Mrs. Stanley White, Mrs. Gordon Minty, Mrs. D. Gash; Candy, Miss Nancy Sootheran, Miss Lenore Edwards, Miss Nancy Lumsden, Miss Eva Coombes; hidden treasurer trove, Mrs. A. E. Millard, Miss Doris Fanning, Miss Lillian Martin, Miss Lorraine Wellwood.

A cake, donated by Mrs. Zakos, and won by Miss Sybil Hand, was in charge of Mrs. F. Williams, and a silver cake plate containing a bowl of shortbread, donated by Weston's Bread Company, was won by Mrs. W. H. Howson.

A doll, donated by Mrs. Walter Belleghem, won by Miss Wilda English, was in charge of Miss Sybil Ecobichon. The door prize, ticket No. 30, is as yet unclaimed.

In the evening, girls of the Happy Hour Group served coffee and sandwiches. The members were Miss Marie Aubin, Miss Rosalie Hermer, Miss Doris Gardner, Miss Rita Dunbar, Miss Isobel Coward, Miss Alice Whitney, Miss Leone Todd, Miss H. Scott.

Girls' Council members who were in charge of arrangements were: Miss Barbara Richardson and Miss Doris Glover of the Friday Supper Club; Miss Susie Millar and Miss Elaine Kellog of the Happy Hour Club; Miss Anna McKenzie and Miss Esther Smith of the Old Old Country Club; Miss Helen Wootten and Miss Grace Sargent of the '38 Club; Miss Mary Sisson and Miss Mary Haddow of the Camp Council; Miss Lily Taylor and Miss Beatrice Sawyer of the Badminton Club; Miss Rose Marshall and Miss Joyce Alexander of the Monday gym class; Miss Margaret Minty and Miss Helen Hetherington of the Tuesday gym class; Miss Nancy Forbes and Miss Irene Biddle of the Silver Finettes; Miss Gladys Laidley, residence, Miss Jeanette Nieman, Thursday gym.

Holiday Hospitality Ranks Tops With Ham

The Christmas season is a social, friendly time when memories of many former gatherings send modern housewives shopping for old fashioned favorites to help recreate old fashioned hospitality. This is especially true this year with a three day holiday which will give friends more of an opportunity to drop in. For informal suppers or for more stately occasions, there is no more satisfactory meat than a fine big baked ham. Be it hot or be it cold, a ham ranks tops with guests and hostess too.

Most moderns know that the modern ham has been made extra tender by long slow smoking so that the housewife of today is saved many hours of work. It is so easy to follow the directions that come with the ham. Just wrap it loosely in clean paper, then place the ham fat side up on a rack in an open pan. For most hams, bake in a slow oven (325 deg. F.) until a roast meat thermometer placed with the bulb in the centre of the meat registers 150 deg. F. For a 15 pound ham, this will require about 15 minutes per pound if the ham was started at room temperature. However, if the ham was taken directly from the refrigerator or was very cold, allow an extra 5 minutes per pound.

The next step after this baking period is to remove all the rind, score the fat and stud it with cloves. Then sift over the top brown sugar, drizzle honey over the sugar and bake the ham in a hot oven 15 minutes or until well browned.

It's as easy as that. There's the reason so many housewives find they can keep up with all the gay whirl of todays demands and yet serve baked ham more fragrantly flavorful and tender than ever before.

For garnishes with the hot ham, use whole canned or spiced pears. Holding the stem, dip the sides into red sugar and the result will look quite like Christmas bells. Or use hot buttered broccoli studded with little pimiento stars.

A cold ham, the pride of every well stocked holiday refrigerator may be set off to perfection by green pepper cups filled with gay-plump-sugary cranberries or place star shaped cranberry jelly on green tinted crystallized apple rings.

And then, for the nibbles and snacks after the show or skating party or for those dozen and one occasions that make this season merry, how fortunate it is to have bits of ham frizzled and tossed in bits of ham frazzled and tossed in the pan to scramble with the eggs is great for a gay kitchen party. Creamed hams on waffles or a ham and celery salad may be your choice in place of one of the several reg-ulation hot or cold ham sandwiches. Whatever the choice, there's no problem in using up the last appetizing morsel of one of these ever-so-good-tender hams.

And so, as you aproach the festive Christmas season, why not be prepared to welcome family and guests. 'Tis a grand thought, "There's a baked ham in the kitchen!"

Naval Strategy Won Falkland Island Victory

Britain's strategists again are matching wits with Germany's naval experts. While the pocket battleship Deutschland, pride of the German navy, and another warship, believed to be the Admiral Scheer or Emden, range the high seas, Britain's sea dogs at the Admiralty offices in Whitehall lay plans to trap the enemy's fleet ocean raiders.

Twenty-five years ago, Germany's cruiser warfare was dealt a knockout blow when strategy, carefully planned at the Admiralty, resulted in the Battle of the Falkland Islands admittedly the most decisive naval engagement of the First Great War. There on Dec. 8, 1914, the British fleet avenged the defeat of Sir Christopher Cradock's squadron a month earlier, by destroying the powerful German Pacific squadron under command of Admiral Graf von Spee.

News of the defeat of Cradock at Coronel Nov. 1, 1914, fell like a thunderclap in London. Lord Fisher, who had succeeded Prince Louis of Battenburg as First Sea Lord, immediately laid plans to wipe out the German squadron. The crack battle-cruisers, Invincible and Inflexible, were taken from the Grand Fleet and dispatched with all possible speed to the South Atlantic under command of Vice-Admiral Sir Doveton Sturdee.

Off the coast of Brazil, Sturdee's command was brought up to strength by the addition of the armored cruisers Carnarvon, Kent and Cornwall, and the light cruisers Bristol and Glasgow. The last-named had participated in the Battle of Coronel, but, because of its speed, escaped the fate of the Good Hope and Monmouth.

British Coaling

The British squadron put in at Port Stanley to coal on Dec. 7 and the presence of such a strong force provided an unwelcome surprise for von Spee when he attempted to raid the Falklands the following day. His force was made up of the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, armored cruisers, and the Leipzig, Dresden and Nurnberg, light cruisers. Attached to the squadron were three supply ships—the Seydlitz, Baden and St. Isabel.

They had rounded the Horn from the Pacific expecting to find little or no opposition at Port Stanley. When the Gneisenau entered the harbor at nine a.m. the tripod masts of the British battle-cruisers were seen. The surprise was complete.

Von Spee scurried for the open sea with the British in pursuit. As his squadron was clear of the harbor Vice-Admiral Sturdee hoisted the "General Chase," a signal for each ship to steam at top speed after the enemy. It was a perfect summer day with a blue, cloudless sky and calm sea.

A stern chase ensued. Sturdee slackened the speed of the Invincible and the Inflexible to 20 knots to allow the cruisers to keep up. Outgunned and outnumbered, and with the engines of his ships fouled from months of cruising, von Spee ordered his light cruisers to scatter and away they went to the south followed by the Carnarvon, Kent and Cornwall.

The two British battle-cruisers took up the chase of the Scharnhorst and the Gneisenau, then about 15 miles away, the Bristol previously having been ordered to deal with the German supply ships.

Dense clouds of smoke from the British vessels smothered the range much of the time but in the terrific artillery duel that developed in the afternoon the British gunners on the Invincible and Inflexible established their mastery. At 4:15 the Scharnhorst, her superstructure in ruins, went down with all hands. The Gneisenau, under a heavy concentrated fire at a range of about 12,000 yards went down stern first at six o'clock with her colors flying. The British battle cruisers rescued 188 survivors.

Light Cruiser Fight

Things went no better for the Nurnberg and Leipzig in the battle between the light cruisers, but it was 7:30 before the former turned over and sank with her flag still at the mast. The Leipzig, blazing fore and aft, disappeared at 9:23. Meanwhile the speedy Dresden managed to escape but three months later she was sunk by the Kent and the Glasgow near the Magellan Straits.

The Germans asked no quarter and of the crews of the Nurnberg and the Leipzig only 25 were rescued. Weight of metal was the deciding factor in the day-long battle as it had been in the defeat of Cradock's squadron at Coronel. The British vessels, although hit several times suffered little structural damage. Total British casualties were six killed and 19 wounded.

The Bristol, chased the colliers St. Isabel and Baden to the southward, destroying them in the evening. The Seydlitz escaped.

Fire Losses Down

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP).—Fire losses in Canada during the week ended Dec. 9 totalled $83,000, according to the estimate of the Monetary Times today. Losses for the previous week were $328,800 and for the corresponding week last year $183,700.

Two Survivors Of The Ill-fated Rawalpindi

Typical of the naval reservists who manned the ill-fated Rawalpindi are P. O. Harris and F. J. Russell. They are two of the survivors of an encounter with the Deutschland in which their ship went down flags flying

Amusement Tax Seen For 1940

TORONTO, Dec. 14—The Ontario Amusements Tax Act which was repealed in 1937 by the Hepburn Government is apt to be restored at the next session of the Legislature, it was reliably reported at Queen's Park yesterday.

Premier Hepburn declined yesterday to discuss the situation, but it is learned on good authority that Cabinet informally has had it under consideration, and that Roy Buckley, former director of tax collections, has been called into conference on several occasions. Rumor even has it that a draft bill, providing for the restoration of the old law, has already been prepared.

If reimposed in the form and with the schedules which operated up until June 1, 1937, the Act would net the Ontario Treasury approximately $2,000,000 in revenue annually.

Most of the personnel of the former amusements tax branch are still employed at Queen's Park and could be reassembled with little difficulty in the event the old law again became effective.

The Government gives no hint these days as to its budgetary position, but there is no doubt that the demands made upon it by the war are such that if they are intensified, as is probable, it will need all the cash it can collect to meet them. Liquor sales—always a fat source of revenue—have fallen off, and Federal inroads on the Provincial purse have increased considerably. For instance the Provincial income tax revenue will be cut at least $500,000 yearly, it is reported, because of the new 20 per cent. war surtax imposed in the September Federal budget. In considering an amusements tax as one means of "picking up the slack," the Government is said to feel that it made a mistake when in 1937—nigh on the eve of a general election—it abandoned this system of "painless extraction."

Prisoners Of War Bureau Functions

OTTAWA, Dec. 14.—(CP).— The Prisoners of War Information Bureau (Canada) is now functioning under the direction of Lieut.-Col. H. Stethem of Ottawa, it was announced to-day by the Public Information Office.

The new bureau will receive inquiries concerning Canadian prisoners of war in Germany; Canadian nationals resident in Germany; Canadian nationals interned in Germany; Canadian members of the United Kingdom forces who are prisoners of war in Germany; and Canadian soldiers interned or Canadian refugees stranded in neutral countries.

Letters addressed to Canadian prisoners of war may be mailed in the ordinary way and will be directed through the proper channels by Canadian postal authorities in cooperation with the United Kingdom postal authorities.

Ace's Mother Dies

CARLETON PLACE, Dec. 15. — Mrs. Mary Brown, mother of Captain Roy A. Brown of Toronto, conqueror of Baron Manfred von Richtofen in the first Great War, died at her Judson Street home Wednesday afternoon. She suffered a heart attack Monday. Mrs. Brown was 75 years old and up to the time of her seizure had been quite active.

Widow of J. M. Brown, flour manufacturer, Mrs. Brown was a daughter of the late John Flett, whose home in Ramsay is the present site of the Mississippi Golf Club. She had been a resident of Carleton Place most of her life and was one of ts best-known citizens. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon with interment in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Rumanian Blast Kills Eighty

BUCHAREST, Dec. 15—(AP). — Eighty persons were killed and 200 others were gravely injured to-day in an explosion at a cellulose plant under military control at Zarnesti.

Many of the injured were feared to be dying. Whole families were wiped out in their sleep by the early morning blast of an overheated 1,000-gallon kettle of chemical.

A high wind spread the flames and carried chlorine fumes over the village.

Many inhabitants fled to the woods, but numerous families living near the factory were killed. Among them were the families of two factory directors and an engineer.

Janetville's Y.P.S. Entertains Guild

JANETVILLE, Dec. 15—(ENS). — An interdenominational meeting was held in the United church on Monday evening when the members of the Young People's Guild of the Presbyterian church were present as guests.

The president, Mrs. P. Hamilton, was in the chair. Meditation was presented by Miss Pearl Jordan and a delightful poem, "The Gospel According to You," was read by Miss Isabel Marshall. Prior to the short business session, the president extended a most hearty welcome to the visitors. The roll call was responded to by twenty members.

The program included three addresses, "The Young People's Work in the Baptist Church," by Miss Audrey McKay; "The Young People's Guild of the Presbyterian Church," by Mr. Leonard McNeil, and "The Anglican Young People" by Mr. P. E. Hamilton. These were interspersed with musical selections by Miss Bessie Howe and Mr. Hamilton. Rev. Mervin Bury led in the discussion of the United Young People's work.

At the close of the meeting games and contests were enjoyed under the direction of Miss Isabel Marshall and later lunch wase served.

Mr. Bryce Capstick, president of the Presbyterian Guild, expressed, on behalf of the visitors, their sincere appreciation of a most profitable and enjoyable evening.

Poultry Prices Below 1938

OTTAWA, Dec. 14—(CP).—Orderly marketing of poultry, spread over a few months instead of being concentrated within a few weeks near the holiday season, has brought a steady and confident market, the Poultry Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported today.

Prices, now at about 25 cents a pound for turkeys, and 24 to 26 cents for chickens, are about a cent or two below prices at the same time last year.

The war brought some restrictions in poultry exporting, and shipping delays have practically ruled out shipments of chilled poultry, which last year amounted to some 14,000 cases. Frozen poultry has replaced the chilled shipment, but the volume is only about 40 per cent of last year.

The discount on the Canadian dollar due to foreign exchange fluctuations has adversely affected Canadian poultry exports in most cases, but Western Ontario producers have actually benefitted in shipping to adjacent United States points such as Buffalo and Detroit, for the exchange paid the duty on the exported birds and returned the farmers a good profit.

TAX WAR PROFITS

Uruguay has a new law imposing a tax of 25 per cent on wartime profits of pastoral producers, the proceeds of the tax being used to control the prices of articles of prime necessity.

Car Production Up

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 — (CP). — Automobiles produced in Canada during November numbered 18,412, compared with 9,640 the previous month and 17,992 in November, 1938, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported to-day. Included in last month's total were 9,882 passenger cars and 8,530 trucks.

Nazi Battleship Myth Hit Blow By Scrap

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The battle between Germany's Admiral Graf Spee and the British cruisers that forced her into a neutral refuge destroyed at a blow the pocket-battleship myth built up laboriously by Nazi propagandists. Setting aside conflicting stories as to what happened, eyewitness accounts by neutral observers make that fact clear.

The Graf Spee was finally harried out of action by a pair of light but faster British cruisers hardly more formidable than glorified destroyers. Unawed by her 11-inch guns, the Ajax and Achilles darted through smoke screens to spray her with 6-inch shells. To be effective against the Graf Spee's side armor, 6-inch projectiles would have to be fired within a few thousand yards of their target. That would be virtually point-blank range for Nazi 11-inch weapons.

That the 8-inch guns of the cruiser Exeter, which was forced out of the fight early, caused the greatest damage aboard the Graf Spee is almost certain. They would penetrate her heaviest armor at 9,000 yards. Damage to the Exeter or casualties aboard her were a small price to pay for the results obtained.

Almost A Match

Tactically, a swifter 8-inch gun cruiser proved itself almost a match Of even greater importance, however Of even greate importance, however, was the fact that the two light British ships, outranged and outgunned by the Graf Spee, lurked in her smoke screen as she fled, and darted like sparrows defending their nest from a marauding hawk to drive her to neutral sanctuary.

Accounts of the battle confirm the belief that the Royal Navy has spread a wide net in far waters to deal with the German 11-inch gun menaces. The Graf Spee risked attack on a merchant vessel convoyed by a single light cruiser. Before she could break off and make away, two more British warships were upon her.

Ajax and Achilles have reached Montevideo to make sure the Graf Spee does not escape to sea again if not interned. Her chances of figuring again in this war seem slim. The Admiralty can score that off on the credit side of the sea warfare ledger, to offset loss of the battleship Royal Oak and aircraft carrier Courageous.

Yet the object lesson for other British or French light naval craft which may sight the Graf Spee's sister ships, the Deutschland and Admiral Scheer, may be the most important aspect of the battle. The Achilles and the Ajax proved that these most powerful Nazi naval units are vulnerable, particularly when in retreat with only half or less of their gun power available for fire astern.

It is a lesson every Allied light ship commander will take to heart if he sights the Deutschland or Scheer.

Sweden Guards Against Surprise

A Swedish machine-gunner, his winter uniform including snow glasses, is shown in action in the north, where the nation's army is reported concentrated to guard against a surprise invasion by Russia. The gadget in front of him is a signalling device. The gun is mounted for use against enemy aircraft.

Germans Clip Coupons For Clothes

BERLIN, Dec. 15—(AP). — Practically all basic necessities of life are rationed in Germany now.

New clothing cards have just been distributed, adding to the assortment of complicated cards the German citizen has to carry.

Keeping clothes on his back, and socks on his feet, is as big a problem as keeping food in his stomach. He can buy only one suit and one shirt a year. Women and children likewise are limited closely.

Girls who like silk stockings are allowed six pairs a year, and they cannot get enough darning thread.

Men and women, boys and girls each have special cards. They contain 100 coupons which must last a whole year.

The cards have a list of rationed articles—30 for men and 42 for women. Each item is "worth" so many coupons. Thus it is possible to calculate in advance just what may be purchased during the coming year.

A handkerchief, for example, "costs" two coupons, a man's suit 60, a woman's suit 66.

If Fritz buys a suit now, he will have only 40 coupons to get him through until October 31, 1940. That is leaving little for such articles as shirts, "costing" 20 coupons, socks, neckties, pyjamas, etc.

If Gretel buys a suit, it means her year's supply of coupons is reduced drastically. She could not, for example, get a suit and a woollen dress. The suit "costs" 66 and the dress 40.

Present War Eliminates Top Ship Fares

ROME, Dec. 15.—(CP)—Italy's near-monopoly of transatlantic passenger travel is keeping its ocean liners busy, but wartime passenger rates have practically eliminated the first-class traveller.

Tourist class fares, due largely to increased war risk insurance rates, are approximately the same as former 1st class fares. Consequently, those who usually traveled first class now buy tourist passages and many who ordinarily would have gone tourist are travelling third class.

Because of the scarcity of first-class passengers the Italian liner Saturnia on its last westbound trip dispensed with the top class entirely making the ship available to tourist class.

Mother! DON'T DOSE COLDS

Avoid Risk and Relieve Misery This QUICK External Way

Experienced mothers don't like to risk making discomfort of colds worse by drastic internal dosing. That's why they treat children's colds externally with Vicks VapoRub.

VapoRub acts on the skin like a warming poultice—and at the same time gives off soothing vapours that are breathed direct into irritated air passages. This poultice and vapour action relieves miseries of colds quickly—WITHOUT NEEDLESS DOSING.

Matchett Bros. Now Own 'Madoc Gandhi'

Madoc Gandhi has been sold to Matchett Brothers of Peterborough, another step in the career of this ten-year-old bull that has made a considerable reputation as a sire, once sold for $50 and was headed for the stock yards, says the Holstein-Friesian Journal in its latest issue.

That $50 was before his daughters began to milk. Now twenty-five of them have completed 43 records which average 11,088 pounds of milk and 417 pounds of fat with the average test 3.76 per cent. Of these records nineteen were made as two-year-olds, thirteen at three years, seven at four years and only four mature, twenty-seven were in the 305-day division and were all on twice-a-day milking.

Compare this with the records of these heifers' dams, though only thirteen of them were out of tested dams. These dams have eighteen records which average 14,555 pounds of milk and 510 pounds of fat, with average test of 3.5 per cent. Only one of these is a two-year-old record, three are at four years and fourteen mature—six were in 305 days and sixteen on twice-a-day milking.

Because most of the dams' records were mature records the comparison in total milk and fat does not look as good for the daughters as it really it. Fat percentage offers a fairer comparison, and that shows an increase of .26% in favor of the daughters. Bob Holtby is authority for the statement that he has invariably raised the fat percentage, even on high testing dams.

Madoc Gandhi was bred by the late James A. Caskey of Madoc, and was born on June 1, 1929. He was bought before he was a year old by Norman Hogg of Uxbridge for $175. It was his type and style, he always has his head up, that sold him, for his dam was sold and did not have a record. He was used by Norman Hogg and his neighbor Leslie Beare until his daughters were old enough to breed. Then he nearly went to the butcher, for no buyers came along. Finally he went for $50 to a neighbor, A. E. James, whose herd at that time was not even accredited. He was a nervous bull, and they were afraid he might do some damage, so they offered to trade him for a yearling male.

Bob Holtby had seen four of his yearling daughters in Leslie Beare's pasture, and he thought he had never seen four better together. One of these, which he says was Gandhi's best daughter, went to W. E. Bowles of New York, who later sold her for $400 to Baker Farms, Exeter, N.H. Bob like the bull himself, and as he had a yearling the trade was soon made.

Since then he has proven his ability as a sire of high-test and good type cattle. At the Port Perry "black and white" day, he was the sire of the second prize senior get-of-sire, the first prize senior yearling and junior champion, and the first prize junior yearling heifer.

To complete the cycles of various values that have been put on him he was sold to Matchett Brothers at ten years of age for $200.

The account commented that breeders would be interested in the progeny of the daughters of Hays' Supreme and the new sire.

Another time in the same issue of the Holstein journal says "Evangeline Gandhi Rag Apple" owned by the Industrial Farm herd at Burwash has made a three-year-old record on 3-time milking of 19,275 pounds of milk and 758 pounds of fat with 3.93 per cent test. Bred by R. Norman Hogg of Uxbridge she is a daughter of Montvic Rag Apple Baron 2nd, and her dam is an untested daughter of Madoc Gandhi.

People of England may buy three-fourths the amount of coal they used in the year ending June 30.

Celebrating Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stone of the First Concession of Burleigh Township, who are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today. Fifty years ago they moved into a one-roomed log cabin on their present farm, and proceeded to clear the land and work it. For 25 years they lived in the same cabin, though enlarged, until they could find time to build a new home.

(Examiner Staff Photo.)

Diamond Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated By Burleigh Couple

APSLEY, Dec. 12—(ENS).—Sixty years of married life in northern part of Burleigh Township make Mr. and Mrs. William George Stone the oldest settlers in that entire district. To-day they are celebrating their diamond wedding anniversary, looking back on a lifetime of struggle to overcome Nature.

For sixty years ago their life was far removed from the comforts of modern life. They lived the hard pioneer life of any first settlers in a virgin land, and only by years of constant toil have they overcome some of the difficulties that faced them.

Old age has been kind to them, and they are still able to live by themselves in the home they built 35 years ago when they left their old log house nearby. They have lived to see the land they cultivated worked on by their son and grandsons and they know their effort has not been wasted, that Nature is not going to be permitted to reclaim that land.

They can dip back into memory for thrilling, often poignant stories of hardship and simplicity of living in that rough country where they were first settlers. They can tell how, in their youth, black diphtheria swept through their isolated district and carried off five children of Mr. Stone's brother, and how Mr. Stone one bitterly cold day galloped to Lakefield on horseback to bring medical aid; of how he later harnessed the hores to a sleigh and drove to Apsley with one of the suffering children, yet did not catch the dread disease himself.

There are stories of outstanding courage and singlenes sof purpose, but the most intense of them all is the one that seems most commonplace—the story of how they beat back Nature and brought under control an area of land that would give them a living.

Mr. Stone moved to the 1st Concession of Burleigh when he was only nine years old. His parents had lived near Gilchrist Bay before that, but one winter they took all their belongings across the ice and landed them in the bay where G. K. Fraser's home now stands, transporting them by sleigh and by hand a few miles inland to their new home. Mr. Stone recalls that his mother brought her hens on that trip and that they all froze to death on the way.

That was the beginning, and there were a scant five families in the entire district. Father and son cleared the land, nad when W. G. Stone married Margaret Bolton of Lakefield, he brought her to nearby land they were to settle and his bride moved into a log cabin that had been set up by lumbermen who were working the district then and he set about clearing his own patch of land. In the area he set aside for himself there were a scant two acres of clearing and over the years he has brought more than 100 more under control.

He recalled recently that he used to travel to Lakefield frequently by canoe. and many and many a time walked there to do his shopping, trudging back with his purchases in a bag slung across his shoulder. In all his life he attended school for less than six months, yet is able to read and write because of candle-light lessons given him by an old sailor who came to live at his father's home. The nearest school was several miles away, and there was too much work to be done on the farm to permit studies, but at night he would sit beside the old salt and learn to spell from books and to scratch words on old wrapping paper.

Then one day he went to the shack his father had built for the old man, and he found the sailor sitting upright in his chair, an open book before him—dead. And so his schooling ended.

Church was for them a very real thing—and to go to Sunday services meant sacrifice, for they had to walk four miles. Both are members of Holy Trinity Church near Mount Julian, and have been amount its faithful members. It was only three years ago that Mrs. Stone, now 79, walked those four miles, and she is a former Sunday School teacher, often holding classes in her home when weather would not permit church attendance.

Mr. Stone is 80, but he has been badly crippled with rheumatism for some time and can't get about as well as he used to, and so church attendance is a thing of the past for him.

For twenty-four winters these pioneers lived in a log cabin, and then they built their present home, celebrating their silver wedding in it. They have one son Melville, who operates the farm now and has his home nearby, and one daughter (Vera), Mrs. John Sanderson of Lakefield. There are five grandchildren.

Trent River

The Women's Institute met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry Mann, instead of Mr. George Brooks', owing to the latter being confined to bed through illness.

Mr. Percy Tyler of Trenton, has been a recent visitor at his home.

Mr. Stanley Carnrite left Wednesday for Buffalo, N.Y., after spending a day with his mother, Mrs. Robert Carnrite.

Mrs. Eric Little, of Campbellford, spent a few days recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Scott.

Miss Chase Heads Havelock W.M.S.

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15 — (ENS). — The annual election of officers was held by the Women's Missionary Society of Knox Presbyterian Church at their meeting on Monday evening in the church basement.

Miss E. E. Chase was re-elected to the president's chair, with Mrs. Robert Scott as assistant president, and Mrs. Robert Buchanan as vice-president. Other officers appointed were as follows: treasurer, Mrs. P Colquhoun; secretary, Mrs. A. S. Thompson; home helpers and glad tidings secretary, Miss M. Sexsmith; welcome and welfare secretary, Mrs. C. Jamieson; mission band leader, Miss Helen Spencer.

Following the usual opening, the scripture lesson was taken by Mrs. Robert Scott Christmas carols were sung by the members and a reading entitled "A Christmas Meditation" was given by Mrs Colquhoun A short period of business was conducted and Mrs. C. Jamieson took the chair for the election of officers.

The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. J. Kinnaird.

150,000 In London Ready For Air Raids

By BARRHOLD FAIR
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP Cable).—London is ready for Nazi sky raiders. Behind the powerful anti-aircraft defences stands a vast civilian defence organization trained to fighting pitch to protect the nine million residents of the metropolitan area.

While the city slept last night, newspapermen were shown the system in motion and were told that approximately 150,000 men and women were engaged in the Civil Defence Services. One third are paid and the rest are volunteers. The posts have been manned day and night since the war started.

Automobiles, their blinds drawn for secrecy, took reporters through blacked-out streets to the closely-guarded never centre—the gas-immune, air-conditioned London Region War Room. Later they visited the unit control centre in one of the 29 metropolitan boroughs. Elsewhere they watched men and women routed from rest in ambulance, fire and rescue depots and spring to action.

The war room contains two huge maps to record bomb damage and a series of charts for recording information and calls for help from the nine groups of local authorities into which the region is divided. Fed by reports from telephones in an adjoining room, the charts show the disposition of hospital units, stretcher parties, ambulances, decontamination squads, and parties doing rescue work and repairs.

A dart game of ambulance drivers was broken up when an alarm sent an od dassortment of vehicles roaring from a former garage. Elsewhere the alarm sent a stretcher party quartered in an evacuated convent into action. At another point, squads whose duty is to rescue people from falling buildings, were sent out.

The tour was climaxed by a fire-fighting demonstration in the chill early morning besides the Thames. Apparatus towed by taxis plus a fire boat poured out tons of water.

Drew Denies Reference To Navy In Interview

TORONTO, Dec. 15. — (CP) — Lieut.-Col. George Drew tonight made the following statement commenting on a news story in the Edmonton Journal today in which the Journal stated Co. George Drew made the "tin pot navy" reference in an interview:

"The statement now issued by the Edmonton Journal is as false as its first report. I made no reference of any kind to the Canadian navy, either in a speech or press interview, in Edmonton."

Father To Quit Pennsylvania To Avoid Law That Would Have His Son Vaccinated

PITTSBURG, Dec. 15—(AP).—Earl Allison is getting out of Pennsylvania to escape the State's attempts to make him have his son vaccinated.

He's been arrested seven times for failing to send nine-year-old Early Junior to school. Actually the child went to school but wasn't admitted because he hadn't been vaccinated.

Refusing to let the boy be treated, the youthful father quotes this Scripture as the reason:

Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him God shall destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are."

Allison claims the virus of cowpox is included in that warning.

The father thought he had the health ruling beaten in Mercer county where he lives but an appeal from an alderman's ruling was thrown out. Two warrants await his reappearance. Now he plans to take his son to California.

Major-General Ashton Appointed As Inspector-General For Canada

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(CP). — Defence Minister Rogers announced today the appointment of Major-General A. C. Ashton of Ottawa as Inspector-General of the military forces in Canada.

The minister also announced the appointment of Brig.-Gen. Thomas Louis Tremblay as Inspector-General of the militia and Canadian active service force units for Eastern Canada, an area comprising Quebec and Maritime provinces.

Brigadier J. C. Stewart, District Officer commanding military district No. 11 (Victoria, B.C.,) has been appointed officer commanding Royal Canadian Artillery, 1st Division, Canadian active service force.

Brigadier C. V. Stockwell, of Kingston, Ont., formerly commanding the Divisional Artillery, 1st Division, C.A.S.F., will succeed Brigadier J. C. Stewart as district officer commanding M. D. 11.

Lieut.-Col. C. E. Connolly, Assistant Adjutant and Quarter-Master-General, Military District No. 11, has been appointed District Officer Commanding M. D. 13 (Calgary) with the rank of Colonel (temporary Brigadier) in succession to Brigadier G. R. Pearkes who has already been appointed to command the 2nd Infantry Brigade, 1st Division, C.A.S.F.

Major.Gen. E. C. Ashton, C.B.N., C.M.T., V.D., has had long and varied experience as an officer who has served in the appointments of Adjutant-General, Quarter-Master-General, and chief of the general staff.

During the Great War he proceeded to England in command of the 36th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, commanded the 9th reserve Canadian Infantry Brigade and the Canadian Training Division at Shorncliffe, being promoted to Brigadier-General, in March, 1917.

For war services Major-General Ashton was created a companion of the most distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George. He was also created a Companion of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath in the birthday honors list in commemoration of the completion of the 25th year of the reign of King George V.

Through Great War

Brigadier Stewart, D.S.O., served in the ranks with the Princess of Wales' Own Regiment from 1904 to 1908, and graduated from the Royal Military College, in 1911. He served with the Canadian Artillery throughout the Great War and received promotion up to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and Brigade Commander, 8th Field Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery.

Brigadier Connolly, D.S.O., enlisted in Lord Strathcona's Horse (Royal Canadians) in 1911, and held the appointment of Brigade Major, Canadian Cavalry Brigade, France, from March, 1918 to April, 1919.

Brigadier Stockwell, D.S.O., R.C.A., proceeded to England with the 3rd Brigade, C.F.A., C.E.F., as Captain, in October, 1914, and served in France and Belgium. He was mentioned in despatches three times.

Brig.-Gen. Tremblay, C.M.G., D.S.O., E.D., A.D.C., graduated from the Royal Military College in 1907. During September, 1917, he assumed command of the 5th Canadian Infantry Brigade, and in July, 1918, was appointed Brigade Commander of this unit. For outstanding services during the war he was created a Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, and a Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, and was four times mentioned in despatches. In addition he was awarded le Legion D'Honneur Croix D'Officier.

COASTGUARD WATCH GERMANS

MEXICO CITY—(AP).—The National Defence Secretary today dispatched the coastguard cutter G-26 to Tampico to keep an eye on German merchant ships anchored in the Panuco River, and sent the cutter G-27 to a new base at Mujeres Island in the Caribbean Sea.

IN MEMORIAM

BROWN. — In loving memory of William Brown, who departed this life December 15, 1938.

Thou are gone to the grave,
But we are wrong to deplore thee;
For God was thy ransom,
Thy guardian and guide;
He gave thee, He took thee,
And He will restore thee;
For death has no sting,
Since the Saviour has died.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

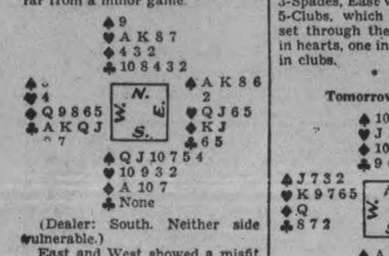
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

BALANCE THE FACTORS

IN DECIDING close questions between No Trump contracts and minor suit ones, a sound and thorough bidder weighs one factor against another. Holding singletons in his partner's suits will discourage him from No Trump because he can lead only once for a finesse, and may take no tricks in it at all. But having one of his own suits solid, or approximately so, should partly offset that risk, as he seems likely to be able to make a run of tricks there which brings him pretty close to a No Trump game without counting on side tricks, yet leaves him pretty far from a minor game.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

East and West showed a misfit quickly on this deal. West began by bidding 1-Club, East 1-Spade, West 2-Diamonds, East 2-Hearts, West 3-Diamonds to indicate his six-five distribution and East 3-Spades, showing his five-four and also the strength to go farther.

West, a sound card counter, knew absolutely that his conventional partner had exactly four cards in the minor suits, and would be bound to have either two-card support for his six-card clubs or else three-card support for his five-card diamonds. But to make a game in either of those suits meant avoidance of three losing tricks, whereas at No Trump he could afford to lose four. He decided in favor of 3-No Trumps because his clubs appeared solid.

The decision turned out favorably, as he made an overtrick at No-Trump, losing only one trick in diamonds and two in hearts. Had he bid 4-Clubs over his partner's 3-Spades, East would have gone to 5-Clubs, which would have been set through the loss of one trick in hearts, one in diamonds and one in clubs.

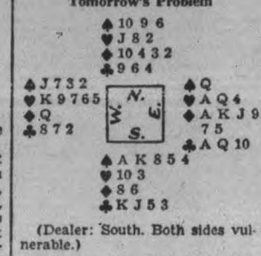
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding which leads West into a slam on this deal, after South's opening 1-Spade?

Ciano Blames Allies For Red Move

Drove Nazis To Her; Italy Neutral To Limit Conflict

ROME, Dec. 16—(AP).—Foreign Minister Count Ciano declared today that Italy is staying out of the war by agreement with her ally, Germany, and reaffirmed Premier Mussolini's readiness to help restore peace.

In a lengthy explanation of Fascist foreign policy, however, Ciano told the Chamber of Fasces and Guilds that Italy is determined to safeguard her own interests.

"Fascist Italy continues to follow the development of events with a vigilant spirit, ever ready, if possible, to give once again her contribution to world peace," he said.

"But she is equally determined to protect with an inflexible firmness the interests of her land, air and sea traffic, not to mention her prestige and her future as a great power.

"This protection finds itself guaranteed in the resolute and active discipline of the Italian people, in the staunchness of our weapons and in the will-power and wisdom of Il Duce which are as high and secure as the destiny of the country itself."

Ciano disclosed he had informed Germany that Italy considered three years necessary to "bring preparation of its war means to the desired level, namely, the maximum, because of the heavy drain of the Ethiopian and Spanish wars."

"But nobody has the right to deduce from that that Italy was unprepared at the time of test," he added.

Il Duce occupied a government bench amid his new cabinet in the Chamber, crowded with blackshirts, as his son-in-law blamed Great Britain and France for Germany's nonaggression pact with Soviet Russia and the peace treaties after the last war for Europe's plight.

Shopping Woes

Kansas City, Dec. 16 (AP)

MR. and Mrs. Harley Brown waited five hours within a few feet of each other to keep their Christmas shopping date—then finally got together, 200 miles apart, by telephone. They drove here from Fort Scott, Kas., and agreed to meet at a department store. Mrs. Brown thought he said "mezzanine floor," he thought she said "front door." Faithfully each waited until the store closed for the night. Then Mrs. Brown went home by train. On a long chance, she telephoned a hotel where Brown sometimes stays here and found him there.

Finns Fall Back In North; See Year's War

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 16 (AP)—Leaving villages in ashes, the Finns were reported falling back today before the onslaught of Soviet Russian forces in the mining sector of Salmijaervi, key objective in the Soviet Arctic campaign.

Bridges were dynamited and the ice on lakes blasted by the Finns as they prepared to face the enemy further south. The Canadian International Nickel Company's properties at Salmijaervi were reported wrecked before the arrival of Russian troops from the Petsamo area.

(A correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph at Rovaniemi, south of Salmijaervi, said he watched Finnish engineers lay dynamite charges in the International Nickel Mine Company mines during the night just before the Finns retreated. He said the Finnish headquarters staff later told him the "entire workings" were blown up.

(The Russian military headquarters at Leningrad reported the occupation of Salmijaervi and said that in central Finland the army advanced 80 miles from the east frontier, which would place the troops mid-way across the country.)

Dispatches from the northern Finnish-Norwegian frontier said cannon fire could be heard and in some places troop movements could be seen in the distance.

General Kurt Wallenius, Finnish Commander on the central front, predicted the Finnish-Russian war might last a year and declared he hoped heavy snows soon would aid his defence against the enemy.

Move Out By 5 p.m. Sunday Uruguay Warns Graf Spee As Officials Decide Raider Can Be Put Seaworthy; Nazi Captain Lays Worst Damage To Light Cruiser Guns

Daring Seamanship Fuel Shortage Beat Them Says Nazi

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 16—(AP).—Depleted fuel, and daring British seamanship which was "more than seemed credible," forced the German warship Admiral Graf Spee into a running fight dangerously near shore, Captain Hans Langsdorff told port authorities today.

In the first authoritative account of Wednesday's 14-hour battle with three British cruisers, the German commander spoke with matter-of-objectivity.

About 6 a.m. Wednesday, he said, he sighted the British cruiser Exeter off the Brazil coast. The Admiral Graf Spee headed to the south, for Langsdorff said his vessel had been unable to establish contact with the supply ship Tacoma and consequently was short of fuel. The Admiral Graf Spee had a full complement of 1,096 men and was in full possession of combat facilities, however.

While Langsdorff was taking stock of the Exeter, he suddenly found himself in the presence of the British cruisers Ajax and Achilles and by this time was opposite the Uruguayn coast.

Fearing he might go aground in shallow water, and yet unable to run to sea for an open fight because of little fuel, Langsdorff said he found himself "between the devil and the deep blue sea."

Open Up On Exeter

Therefore, he went on the offensive and opened fire on the Exeter with his 11-inch guns.

The Exeter replied with eight-inch cannon, and a thunderous duel ensued. Langsdorff said he damaged the Exeter severely before the Ajax and Achilles could bring their six-inch guns to bear.

When the smaller ships did so, however, they were the ones which really hurt the Admiral Graf Spee.

Langsdorff said they inflicted "enormous damage," battering the bow and control tower and causing many deaths and injuries.

Other deaths were in a chamber forward near the waterline, where Langsdorff declared 'powerful shells' exploded after piercing the Admiral Graf Spee's four-inch armor plate.

Captives Of Graf Spee Freed

British and French merchant seamen who were aboard the trapped German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee are shown being taken ashore at Montevideo Harbor, where the Graf Spee sought shelter from British cruisers. There were 62 captives, including six captains, aboard the German warship as a result of her raiding activities. This picture was flashed by radio and then transmitted by phonephoto.

Battleship Refuels Likely Fight To Save Prestige

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 16 — (AP). —The alternative of life in internment or possible death on the high seas faced Germany's shot-riddled pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee to-day.

The Uruguayan Government, accepting the report of a naval board that the warship was unseaworthy, gave its commander, Captain Hans Langsdorff, until 5 p.m. Sunday (3:30 p.m. EST) to sail or let his ship become a prisoner here for the duration of the war.

Lurking outside the harbor was a squadron of British warships, including the cruisers Ajax and Achilles, which with the cruiser Exeter battered the German vessel from waterline to fighting-top in a 14-hour battle on Wednesday.

The British Admiralty said the cruisers had been "strongly reinforced." It was indicated the British cruiser Cumberland had joined them, and that the French battleship Dunkerque was en route.

German sources here asserted the British ships on guard included an aircraft carrier, a battleship of the Renown type, one heavy cruiser, two light cruisers, and two or three destroyers.

Britain had made two urgent demands that Uruguay intern the Admiral Graf Spee, or force it to leave its refuge. The Uruguayan Foreign Office previously had said the ship could be made seaworthy before sailing, without setting a deadline. Subsequently, the Naval Board was asked to determine the necessary time, and Commander Rodriguez Varela and Lieut.-Commander Mario Fontana reported the Admiral Graf Spee could navigate without extensive repairs.

Raider Refuelled.

A well-infomed naval source said, however, the warship's pumps were throwing out water, indicating damage below the waterline, and that masses of debris on deck showed where British shells had struck.

The position of the Admiral Graf Spee in the water indicated refuelling had been completed. Captain Langsdorff, who praised British marksmanship in Wednesday's battle as "more than credible," said a

THE British cruiser Exeter was believed today churning her way toward the Falkland Island British naval base in the South Atlantic.

R.A.F. Out To Get Air Mastery New Raids Show

LONDON, Dec. 16 — (CP). — Aggressive tactics by the Royal Airforce were described today as an attempt by Great Britain to assert mastery of the air as well as the seas.

As further details came to light concerning the sky battle Thursday over the North Sea, in which three Canadian airmen took part, British officials said five German planes had been shot down, instead of four previously reported.

It was the third time in four days that British warplanes droned over the North Sea in an attempt to keep German mine-sowing aircraft grounded at their bases on islands off the German north coast.

Observers said the flights indicated a British decision to carry aerial warfare to the enemy, rather than to wait until German raiders are sighted off British shores.

Military men said the mass flights of Britain's "security patrol" in the face of Germany's boasted air power, opening a new phase of hostilities, might gain momentum quickly.

Already the struggle for air supremacy over waters which have been the graveyard of most shipping sunk since the outbreak of war has cost both sides some of their newest fighting planes.

The British acknowledged the loss of three in the North Sea air battle. (The Germans claimed 10 of 20 new British bombers were shot down, and one Nazi plane was forced to alight.)

After Crippled Cruiser

One account of the big air battle said British naval squadrons had been searching for the crippled German cruiser which the British fliers discovered at sea near Jut-

Think Scheer On Way To Help Spee

London Tip Claims Time Limit Up At 8.30 p.m. Tonight

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP)—The German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer may appear off Montevideo to help its damaged sister-ship, the Graf Spee, run the gauntlet of waiting Allied warships the Daily Express predicted today.

"There are strong rumors in Latin-American countries," the newspaper said, "that the Admiral Scheer, a second pocket battleship, is on her way to attempt revenge.

"It is reported that both pocket battleships will try to engage the British and French squadron in a bid for freedom."

The Press Association said today it had learned from official sources that the Uruguayan government had fixed a 72-hour limit for the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee to remain at Montevideo and that presumably this period began at 10 p.m. Wednesday, Montevideo time, when the German ship entered the harbor.

Therefore, said the Press Association, it will expire at 10 p.m. to-night (8:30 p.m. E.S.T.).

(An Associated Press dispatch from Montevideo said the Uruguayan government's time limit would not expire until 5 p.m. Sunday (3.30 p.m. E.S.T.). The discrepancy between the London and Montevideo advices arose from the failure of the Uruguayan government to state at exactly what time the period of grace began.)

Spee Steams Up A Bit

In Montevidoe increasing rain today reduced visibility to about one mile, providing what naval authorities said would be good weather for an attempt to run the blockade. Later, however, the rain stopped and visibility increased.

The Admiral Graf Spee's officers, who had been in consultation ashore during the night, returned to their ship but expect for increased smoke from her stacks there was no sign she might be preparing to leave.

The warship was headed toward the shore near other vessels and expert said it would take at least half an hour, even using tugs, for her to turn about and slip out toward the sea.

The crew of the German ship were seen cleaning her guns, loading materials from a barge alongside and repairing battle damage. Workmen also were preparing to instal new armour plate.

British seamen aboard two armed merchantmen anchored near the Admiral Graf Spee watched as the Germans worked.

The government of Uruguay lodged formal representations with the German and British governments against the fighting in River Plate waters which Uruguay considers territorial. Informed sources said the notes were sent last night and were

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON.—The German steamship Tenerife, 2,436 tons, was scuttled by its crew after it had been intercepted by British warships and when patrol boats were approaching, it was disclosed to-day. The time and scene of the sinking were not immediately revealed. The Tenerife is the 41st German merchant ship scuttled or captured since the outbreak of the war. Total tonnage is over 192,00.

LONDON — Chief Officer A. H. Thompson of the British merchantship Huntsman, recently sunk by the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee off the African coast, advised the owners from Montevideo today that 84 of the Huntsman's crew had been transferred to another German ship, presumably still at sea. Thompson was one of the captive British seamen released when the shell-battered raider was forced by British cruisers to take refuge in the Uruguayan port.

U.S. May Quiz Spee Captives On How Good Raider Is

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 — (AP). — A Congressional sub-committee to-day sought a means of questioning British seamen released from the Graf Spee about the performance of the German pocket-battleship in its fight with three British cruisers in the South Atlantic.

Chairman James Scrugham of the House Naval Appropriations Sub-Committee told reporters that accurate data on the battle might "profoundly affect the naval policies of the United States." He said he had asked the Navy Department to investigate the possibility of obtaining the testimony of the British seamen who were released from the Nazi warship after the battle.

The Nevada Democrat, whose committee starts hearings early next month on the Navy's regular Appropriation Bill, was doubtful whether he or other members of his committee would fly to Montevideo, Uruguay, to get the testimony, although he said such a trip would be justifiable.

He indicated an effort might be made to have some of the British officers come to Washington or to answer questions by naval and engineering experts before they leave Montevideo.

Scrugham said the primary reason for questioning would be to learn how the ultra-modern, high-pressure steam machinery and fittings of the pocket-battleship withstood the strain of actual combat. There has been considerable controversy in the United States Navy over the use of such equipment.

It was the use of high-pressure, super-heated steam in the United States Navy's newest class of destroyers that led, Scrugham said, to their tendency toward top-heaviness under certain conditions.

Naval Defeat And League Stand For Finns Sees Week Go Badly For Nazis And Reds

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Cable Editor.)

Victory for the Royal Navy in the first full-fledged sea battle of the war and strong support for Finland through expulsion of Soviet Russia from the League of Nations tipped the scales of war heavily against the aggressor countries in the 15th week of hostilities.

The German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee, surprised in the South Atlantic off the coast of Uruguay, was engaged by the British cruisers Exeter, Achilles, and Ajax and, after an all-day running battle with the lighter-armed British craft, fled badly crippled into the neutral harbor of Montevideo.

In expelling Russia, the League Council put its entire technical organization at the disposal of the Finns and urged League members to give Finland all possible aid. Prime Minister Chamberlain declared Russia's acts had "outraged the conscience of the whole world" and announced Britain was hurrying deliveries of aircraft and other supplies. France and the United States also promised help.

Finns Hang On

After 16 days of fighting the Finns still were struggling valiantly, holding the Red army to modest gains and at the same time organizing counter-attacks. The most dangerous Russian thrust appeared to be directed at Finland's "waist"—an attempt to cut the country in two by driving through the central area to the Gulf of Bothnia. In the far north the Canadian-owned nickel mines were reported to have been blown up by the retreating Finns.

A second British naval success of the week was the damaging of a German cruiser in the North Sea by a submarine. This underwater craft, which a day previously had spared the liner Bremen rather than follow Germany's example in violating international law, also succeeded in sinking a German U-boat.

In an attempt to finish off the damaged cruiser, Royal Air Force planes attacked enemy warships convoyin her to port. The R.A.F also established an air patrol of enemy island bases across the North Sea in an endeavor to keep a check on activties of German mine-laying seaplanes. On Thursday and Friday these bases were bombed.

The week's most serious British loss at sea was the sinking in collision of the destroyer Duchess, with a loss of 120 lives. German raiders, submarines and mines continued to take daily toll of two or three allied or nentral merchantmen. On the other hand, several German ships were scuttled by their crews when intercepted by British warships and a German freighter was captured off the west coast of South America.

Inquest Ordered Into Deaths Of Two Youths

An inquest will be held on Wednesday night into the death of Gordon Wagar, 18, of 253 Wolfe street, and Arthur McMaster, 18, of 496 Stewart street, victims in yesterday's truck-train collision in North Monaghan township. Condition of the driver of the light truck, Adelbert Wagar, 26, brother of Gordon, was said by Nicholls Hospital authorities to be somewhat improved this morning, although he is still in a critical condition. He has regained consciousness from time to time since yesterday afternoon.

One victim was first believed to be Archie McMaster but it was learned later he was a brother, Arthur. Similarly, the man in hospital was found to be Adelbert Wagar, not Roy Wagar as earlier reported.

Absurd Decision Says Moscow Of League Act

MOSCOW, Dec. 16 (AP) — An authorized statement today described Soviet Russia's expulsion from the League of Nations as an "absurd decision" and charged Great Britain and France with basing their policy on "continuation of the war."

Tass, Soviet News Agency, said "this absurd decision of the League of Nations calls forth an iron smile" in Soviet circles "and can only make a laughing stock of its ill-starred authors."

"It must further be noted that relations between the Soviet Union and Finland were settled by a pact of mutual assistance and friendship concluded Dec. 2 between the people's government of the U.S.S.R.," the statement said.

The statement said the pact "solves to the satisfaction of both parties the problems of insuring the independence of Finland and the security of Leningrad."

Beaver Trapped By Overseers

Fish and Game Overseer I. J. Lyons, accompanied by Overseer Windsor, made a special trip down Eel's Creek from Haultain to the mouth of the creek a few days ago to investigate the beaver situation and trapped the rodents found near Stoney Lake.

A number of complaints had been received this summer from Reg. Blomfield and Harry Grubbe of Toronto who own cottages at the mouth of Eel's Creek that their property was being damaged by the tree-cutting activities of the beaver in the neighborhood.

As a result of these complaints the Department decided that it was desirable to remove the cause of trouble.

To "Civilian-Bombers" U.S. Will Ban Plane Supplies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP) —The United States Government undertook today to stop the shipment of plane-making materials to nations which bomb civilian populations.

It reminded manufacturers who export war materials that the 'moral embargo" previously invoked against the plane sales to Russia and Japan applied as well against any materials essential to the manufacture or aircraft.

Speculation arose in the capital as to whether the broadened ban might pinch Germany as well as Russia and Japan, even though she has not been mentioned specifically by officials as being embraced within the "moral embargo."

In its letters to manufacturers, the state department specifically included molybdenum (an essential ingredient for hard steel) and aluminum under the ban. Russian imports of molybdenum have increased tremendously since the war began, and reports are current here that some of it is being reexported to Germany.

The basis of the "moral embargo' 'is simply the government's appeal to manufacturers. Although there is no power of enforcement, other than public opinion, the embargo has proved effective in the past.

The American Red Cross meanwhile received a prediction from one of its officials in Finland that the Finnish army might hold out against Soviet invaders until spring, and for a "long, long time" if adequate military aid arrived The Red Cross appropriated $250,000 for Finnish war relief.

The minister, Hjalmar J. Procope, made public a letter from the Archbishop of Finland expressing appreciation for the "sympathy and help" of the American people. Procope said he had sent the letter to leaders of the Christian Church in the United States in connection with plans for observance of "Finland Day" tomorrow.

Mad Slayer Lays Murders To Self Defence

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 16—(AP). —The story Winnie Ruth Judd wants to tell from the witness stand —of killing two women friends in self-defence and of having an accomplice who hired a physician to dissect one of the bodies—today was in the hands of officers who returned the mad slayer to the Arizona state hospital for the insane.

After giving a detailed, connected account of the eight-year old killings, the 24-year-old stenographer was locked in a private cell at the asylum from w. ch she escaped 12 days ago—the second time in six weeks—"because I couldn't stand staying all the time in one room full of screaming, raving, sick, dying people."

Shouting hysterically that "they're going to cut my head off," Mrs. Judd was placed in a ward of a new building from which authorities said escape would be more difficult. Hospital officials said she would be watched constantly.

Byrd Discovers Pitcairners In Sad Plight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd reported to the United States navy yesterday that his antarctic expedition found 200 inhabitants of lonely Pitcairn Island in the South Pacific to be in a sad plight because of the war.

The islanders, many of whom are direct descendants of mutineers from the British sailing ship Bounty, were suffering from food shortage and lack of medical attention. Some of them were in rags.

The North Star, antarctic expedition flagship, visited the island yesterday en route from the Panama Canal to Dunedin, New Zealand.

Chief magistrate Richard E. Christian told Byrd that there had been no passing vessel since Oct. 24, because the war had disrupted Pacific sailing schedules. The breakdown of the island's one radio transmitter had prevented an appeal to British authorities at Suva, Fiji Islands.

From the expedition's stores, the islanders were provided with 4,000 pounds of flour, sugar, potatoes, matches, lard, and also gasoline to run the radio power plant.

Youth, Girl Shot On Lonely Road

ORION, Alta., Dec. 16—(CP)—A youth and his girl companion were shot to death on a lonely country road last night and police began an immediate search for a man who had called at the girl's home during her absence.

The slain couple were Irene Bogin, 20, and her 24-year-old escort, Ivan Ridley, both of this farming district 120 miles southeast of Lethbridge. The couple were returning from a motor ride when they were attacked.

It was while the couple were out driving that a man called at the home to see the girl. He left immediately when told that Irene had gone for a drive with Ridley.

Search for the man was concentrated on a barren area southeast of here.

Actress Plunges To Death From Nazi Baron's Room

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(AP)—Lola Laszlo, 21, Hungarian motion picture actress and daughter of Aladar Laszlo, composer, plunged to death today from the 10th floor apartment of Baron Frederick Von Oppenheim of Cologne, Germany.

Her body crashed onto the Marquee of the Gladstone hotel in 52nd street, where the wealthy baron resides.

Passersby, including some who were leaving nearby night clubs along the "Swing Street," heard a shriek from the air and looked up to see the black evening-gowned figure hurtling downward.

Miss Laszlo's father arrived at the hotel a half hour later and, learning of the death, became hysterical.

Detectives said Von Oppenheim, who described himself as a long-time friend of the Laszlo family, told them he and Miss Laszlo had been on a party celebrating his planned departure today for California, Japan, China and finally Germany.

He said he had purchased gifts for her and her parents, and that while Miss Laszlo was looking at them, he stepped into another room.

He returned, he told the officers, to find her missing and a low-silled window open.

The detectives said Miss Laszlo had left no notes. Nor did they find any evidence she had been depressed.

Spare Civilian Middle Class Writer Warns

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP).—Warning that if the war is allowed to shatter the great army of the civilian middle class, "it will shake the foundations of that very Britain that we esteem ourselves to be fighting to preserve," is sounded by Collin Brooks, noted publicist, in the December Journal of the Royal Society of St. George.

The Middle class, he adds, is the one most severely threatened by the economic forces now let loose.

"Short rations, discomfort, lack of certain organized amusements to which urban dwellers have long been accustomed unemployment, some regimentation of movement, are each and all of them symptoms of a tremendous economic and social "shift'," he writes.

"The collection of high taxes, which helps to diminish the business of luxury shops in the west end of London, and the disbursement of higher wages in Midland and Northern areas; the distraction of money from theatre and restaurants and its attraction to certain of the textile industries must, if long continued, change not temporarily but quasi-permanently the balance of economic power in Great Britain."

Brooks sees the "black-coat" classes, who habitually conceal their economic distress, as the very basis of a Christian state; they exalt the home.

The Main Danger

"If small property owners of all kinds are now, by the stress of war, dispossessed, the forces of the left in politics will grow stronger and it is those forces which will be exerted when tedium and discomfort have sapped the patience and patriotism with which all wars begin

James Bay Bishop

The Papal legation in Ottawa has announced the appointment of Rev. Father Henri Belleau as the first titular bishop and apostolic vicar of the new James Bay vicariate. Father Belleau, 43-year-old native of Ottawa, has been an Oblate missionary in Canada's northland for the past 15 years. He will be consecrated in Ottawa.

Ontario Market With Britain Due For Boom

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—(CP)—A substantially expanded wartime market in the United Kingdom for Canadian ham and bacon, cheese, processed milk, eggs and canned goods is forecast by the Ontario Department of Agriculture in its December crop report.

After detailing the agricultural results of the first great war, the report reviews the marked increase in productive capacity since that time and analyses immediate trends.

A possible curtailment in British imports from Scandinavia because of the uncertainties of North Sea shipping, for instance, will increase the demand for several several specific Canadian products.

On the other hand, less interruption than last time is looked for in the flow of South American beef to Britain "owing to the greater superiority of the Allied navies now as compared with 1914." As a result Canadian farmers may expect to see little change in the frozen beef situation. Live beef, of course, is out for lack of shipping space.

British imports of hams and bacon have already been reduced from European countries and it is likely North American will be required to fill an increasing proportion of the 565,000,000 pounds of ham and bacon Britain imported from Northern Europe in 1939 according to the department. In 1938 Canadian shipped 169,000,000 pounds but under the agreement recently announced Canada will export from 233,000,000 to 291,000,000 pounds a year to the United Kingdom, a minimum increase of 40 per cent. The figure will be affected by Denmarks' success in maintaining shipments and British purchase from Yugoslavia and Rumania.

Cheese Tables Turn

Cheese exports to Britain have declined steadily for 20 years but in September showed a "decided rise"—about 40 per cent. Diversion of milk from butter to cheese production would do much to improve the situation of the dairy farmer, the department observes. Empire tariffs will help to preserve the British market from United States exporters.

The dairy industry may be further stimulated by 'greatly enlarged" exports of processed milk, which Britain usually obtains chiefly from the Netherlands and Denmark.

Strong demand for canned fruit and vegetables is looked for, not only because of their keeping qualities but because of increased attention being given to army diet.

Interlude From War

Like other British youngsters, the children of the Duke and Duchess of Kent have been evacuated to the west of England. The Duke, now serving with the Royal Navy, is shown here playing with his son during a leave of absence.

Cups And Prizes Are Presented At Lakefield School Concert

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 16 (ENS) — The Memorial Hall, Lakefield, was filled to overflowing on Friday evening for the annual concert of the Public School. Every available seat being taken before seven-thirty and many having to stand. Much credit is due the teachers for their untiring work in the training of the children, for there were very few noticeable mistakes during the entire program. The many hearty bursts of applause and cheering of the children who were not taking part, showed the way in which the different items were being received.

Frank Erskine, chairman of the School Board, was chairman and during the evening called on E. W. Bailey to present the prizes won on field day. Individual silver cups were presented to the grand champion girl, Theresa McFadden and to Carl Skelcher and George Hopkins who were tied each receiving a cup.

Theresa and Carl were also senior champion girl and boy received an eversharp pencil. Pencils were given to the intermediate champion girl, Helen Hill, and boy, George Hopkins. To Evelyn Spencer and Uubrey Morrison went the junior championships also eversharp pencils.

The trophy for the half-mile race, a large silver cup, was won by Carl Skelcher.

Mr. Bailey congratulated these young people upon winning these trophies. He made the suggestion that the annual field day be held in the spring in order that the pupils would have more time to practice for the different events.

Everett Sloan, the principal of the Public School was introduced as he has only been on the staff since September. He thanked all those who had helped to make the program so successful, especially the mothers who helped with the different costumes. Special mention was made of the two dollar prize donated by the Catholic Women's League for History at the entrance examinations. The winner to be announced later.

The Program.

The program opened with a chorus, 'Rule Britannia' and 'There Are Many Flags in Many Lands,' with Charles Renaud directing. Helen Geraldi's recitation welcomed all for the evening.

The windmill lance was one in which the kindergarten children took part. They were quaintly dressed in Dutch costumes and won the hearts of everyone. Those taking part were Margaret Calberry, Delma Sloan, Lahring Langley, Ruth Bullock, Evelyn Dunford, Barry Sabatino, Ida Holland, Rayden Hockaday, Barbara Jean Graham, Ruth Graham, Donna Edwards, Ross Calberry, Kay Grier, Barbara Hamlin, Eugene Sabatino, Gilbert Hunter, Donald Hill, Billy Twist, Barry Myers, Douglas Darling.

Room five pupils had as their contribution a two part song, 'The Fairies' and 'The Hunter's Poem,' both conducted by Mr. Renaud.

The rhythmic boys' exercises was a group of twelve boys, who gave a demonstration of physical training exercises, timed to piano music.

The public school orchestra made its first bow to the public when it appeared under the leadership of Cameron Trude with Jack Chittick doing the announcing. The personnel consisted of Ken Carveth, Hastings Wong, Russel Eagleton, Bob Eagleton, mouth organs; Jerome McCarthy, Rae Hopkins and Barbara Hunter guitars; songsters, Teddy Morin and Kietha Pearson, assisted at different times by other members of the cast. Spoons, Carl Ainsworth.

The new orchestra drew much applause upon its first appearance, putting on many numbers, which made a most interesting program in themselves.

Betty Eagleton, popular young tap dancer, had as her number a military song and dance.

The highlight of the program was a short play in two acts, entitled "The Magic Ring."

The first scene was in the palace garden, where Rose Marie, the princess, (Theresa McFadden) and her ladies in waiting (Joan Pue, Barbara Brown, Evelyn Moore, Dorothy Bullock, Jean Foster and Lenore Morin) were discussing the many suitors who had come seeking the hand of Princess Rose Marie. The princess being tired was left to rest and fell asleep. While asleep Prince Charming (Paul Butcher) arrived and awakens the princess ,who pretended she wa sanother person, learned that the prince was not seeking her for her position but because of his love for her.

In scenes two and three are laid in the banquet hall. The king (Carl Skelcher) and queen (Lillian Calberry), with their page boy (Terry Brown) are discussing the invitations which the forgetful king has misplaced. New invitations are sent out but the witch (Jean Tanner) arrived on the scene and because she had been left out of the invited guest list was so angry that she cast a spell over the princess who falls asleep for a thousand years, and the only manner by which she may be awakened is with the magic ring. Prince Charming and the minstrel (Jerome McCarthy) start off in their search for the witche's den, for it is she who holds the magic ring.

In scene three the witch is seen stirring her stew over a grate, with five mischievous imps (Teddy Eagleton, Eugene Payne, Bernard Hutt and Reginald Wannamaker, Gordon Coyle) all hopping around. The witch is captured by the brave prince and minstrel, the ring obtained and they return to the sleeping princess. When Prince Charming places the rng on her finger she awakens and soon plans are made for the wedding.

The four bakers who arrived with a large three story wedding cake were Bobby Delledone, Aubrey Morrison, Billy Geraldi and Charles Ridpath. During the wedding celebrations the guests were entertained by the Scotch dancers, Doreen Kelly, Betty Eagleton, Helen Hill, Pearl Hockaday, Ida Dunford, Daisy Hopkins, Elizabeth Watson and Isobel Miller. The kindergatren dancers were Jean Coyle and Norma Pue, who had as their number a snappy tap dance.

Barbara Hunter and Kietha Pearson were the sailor dancers, while the junior dancers were Jean Eagleton, Shirley Conley, Alta Bullock and Joan Northey. The Herald who announced the different arrivals was taken by Billy Hudson and the maids were June Webster and Betty Hi. The fairy queen, Leeana Doubt and her fairies were Marion Sloan, Grace Huddlestone, Mary Elizabeth Hamlin, Jean Geraldi, Letty Wannamker, Evelyn Spencer and Florence Orr.

Between the scenes piano instrumentals by Mary Northey, Jean Spence and Doreen Kelly, and a mouth organ selection by Ken Carveth. The finis was one in which the cast all joined in singing a 'Song of Love.'

Accompanists for the evening were Miss Aileen Young and Miss Marion Comrie.

yesterday as she was making a telephone her husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, to meet her in Yuma last night.

During the drive to Phoenix, Mrs. Judd told Sheriff T. H. Newman and news men what she said was a 'true story" of the murders of Agnes Ann Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, Oct. 16, 1931.

Physician Did Dissecting.

Her detailed account was an elaboration of statements contained in a 12-page letter which she had in her possession. In this letter she claimed she killed the two women during a fight, and that a friend hired a physician to dissect the body of Miss Samuelson so the two would fit into trunks which were shipped to Los Angeles.

The letter, in longhand, written before she fled from the hospital December 3, named the physician and the friend who employed him. The friend, she said, then bought her a train ticket to Los Angeles, where she was arrested a week later.

Mrs. Judd told part of her story to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles in 1932, while trying to escape the gallows.

In her more detailed account, she said she quarreled with Miss Samuelson and Mrs. Leroi. They threatened to tell Dr. Judd she had been "stepping out" with another man and she retaliated with a threat to disclose they were perverts.

"Miss Samuelson came at me with a small automatic," Mrs. Judd said, "I grabbed a butcher knife and stabbed her twice in the left shoulder. The knife bent double.

"Then as I grabbed for the gun, I was shot in the hand. I caught hold of her hand and twisted it, and Sammy was shot by the gun which was still in her hand. The gun fell to the floor."

Shot In Scuffle.

She said Mrs. Leroi then attacked her with an ironing board and while they were tumbling about the floor she recovered the gun and shot her.

After she returned to her own apartment a friend came by "while I was still very excited," and said he would get someone to "take care of the bodies." Mrs. Judd claimed she never saw the bodies after she fled from the duplex apartment occupied by the women.

"I couldn't have done that," she said of the surgery. "I knew nothing about surgery. I was only a medical stenographer."

Physicians commented at the time on the evidence of skilled surgery exhibited in the dissection of Miss Samuelson's body.

All of this, Mrs. Judd said, she wanted to tell from the witness stand. Since her attorneys denied her the privilege in her trial for killing Mrs. Leroi, she wants to be tried for killing Miss Samuelson.

The Samuelson indictment, she said, named "Richard Roe, John Doe and Ruth Judd" and she wants to identify her alleged accomplices.

As an alternative, Mrs. Judd said she should be given insulin and metrozol treatment to cure her. She insisted she had received no medical treatment at the hospital.

designed to protect Uruguay's freedom of action and to provide a basis for a case should indemnity claims result from this or future fighting.

"If She Runs——"

The Times commented: "On the expiration of the 72 hours allowed her by the Uruguayan Government, the Graf Spee will either submit to internment for the rest of the war, or she will emerge once more to encounter Commodore Harwood. Of the outcome in that event there is no possible doubt."

In an editorial on the battle between the Graf Spee and three British cruisers Thursday, The Times said:—

"New Zealanders are justly elated over the part played by the Achilles in the victory. She belongs to the New Zealand division of the Royal Navy, which in peacetime is maintained and controlled by the dominion, and when war broke out was placed immediately and unreservedly at the disposal of the Admiralty.

"New Zealand may well be specially proud of the part played by her sons in this important naval action. But it is not the first occasion that they have seen action in this war. Her airmen, like the airmen of the other dominions, have already distinguished themselves."

Lindsay House Is Destroyed By Fire

LINDSAY, Dec. 16 — (ENS). — Fire destroyed the residence of Louis Porter on Thursday. The firemen were fighting a blaze in the hen house on the property of Mrs. Wallace, Bond street, when they noticed a reflection near the eastern boundary of the town. The blaze in the Porter house had gained considerable headway before the brigade arrived, and it was impossible to save the structure. Some of the furniture was saved by Mr. Porter. The loss is covered by insurance.

Three cars figured in an accident east of Lindsay Wednesday night. A car driven by W. McMillan of Sunderland, was involved in a collision with a car driven by R. Greenway, of Woodville. The McMillan car crashed into the ditch and the Greenway car collided with an eastbound car driven by A. Halward, of Cannington. The Halward car turned over in the ditch.

Seek Re-election.

Four members of this year's council will it is understood, offer themselves for re-election at the municipal elections. Mayor Claxton, who some time ago, announced that he would retire at the end of his two year term, will, it is announced, allow his name to go on the ballot paper. Dep. Reeve John Baker will again seek re-election as will also Ald. L. Jordan and Butler. The latter will enter the Mayoralty race in case Mayor Claxton retires.

Bailieboro Holds Lighting Debate

BAILIEBORO, Dec. 16—(ENS)—Cavan and South Monaghan councils with the ratepayers of the village of Bailieboro, gathered in Fletchers Hall Monday evening to meet Mr. Nattress of Toronto, Hydro representative for Ontario, to receive the estimates on street lighting. Details were discussed and it is now in the hands of the respective councils..

The ladies of the Anglican church sponsored a garment demonstration in the basement of the church Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Wright lecturer; Mrs. Watson and Miss Plunkett, corsetiers, and Mrs. Neeley modeling, all of Peterborough. About 40 were in attendance.

The ladies served a delicious tea from a table lovely with lace cloth and red candles in silver holders and silver service. Mrs. James McCamus and Miss L. Jackson poured tea, a silver collection being taken added financially to the project.

The Women's Institute staged another euchre and dance in Fletchers Hall Wednesday night, eight tables being occupied, in aid of the Red Cross. High score lady was Miss Vance of Warsaw; high gentleman Gerald Armstrong; consolations, T. Wood and Lawrence Johnston. A supper of sandwiches and pie was served at the close, followed by dancing, music supplied by Walter Kinsmen of Centreville with Everett Wood at the piano.

Mr. Drain and sister Varrilletta, of Warsaw, and Miss Vance of Peterborough, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher Wednesday.

Hunter's Luck

Johnstown, Pa., Dec. 1 (AP)

A DEER HUNTER who shot at a buck and missed had more than one reason to be sorry today. The bullet zipped through the woods and struck the automobile of Game Warden Elmer B. Thompson. When the hunter, John Rabold, emerged from the woods Thompson took him into custody and arraigned him before a justice of peace who fined him $25 and costs for shooting across a highway.

The Attorney General's proposal arises out of the recommendations of F. H. Barlow, Master of the Supreme Court who recently made a survey of Ontario's judicial system. Most of the Barlow recommendations required more study than is possible if they are to be implemented at the next session, the Attorney General said. But he revealed that he proposes to advance legislation to give effect to the Barlow suggestion that experts or assessors should be appointed to assist Judges in the trial of civil actions.

Annual Carol Service To Be Held Sunday

Well-loved Christmas carols will be sung by a thousand voices at the Peterborough Collegiate auditorium on Sunday night when the annual Community carol service is held under auspices of the Y.M.C.A

"O Come All Ye Faithful," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "Joy to the World," "The First Noel," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night,"—these are some of the beautiful songs that will be sung by Peterborough folk on Sunday night. E. Trethewey is chairman and G. E. Nicholls is leader. Harry and Stan Northrop will be pianists. The program will include solos by Mrs. Goldie and zylophone selections by the Salvation Army Ladies' Quartette.

Canadian Legion Notes

A chiel's amang ye takin' notes, and, faith he'll print them.
—Burns.

The regular monthly meeting of the branch will be held on Monday next at 7.30 p.m. sharp. There will be the usual entertainment and refreshment provided, and after the business meeting there will be a draw for poultry for which only members in good standing are eligible. By members in good standing we mean those with their dues paid up to July 31.

The Legion's annual carnival and draw will take place on Friday next. There will be wheels with prizes well worth winning and a thrifty and lucky housewife can take home enough poultry and other eatables to enable her to invite all her relatives and friends for Christmas dinner with the knowledge that she has the wherewithal to feed them. The door prizes will be drawn every 30 minutes after 7.30 p.m. Will all members having carnival tickets to sell kindly return all stubs, unsold tickets and money to the office not later than Thursday evening.

Will those members having tickets or money from the Remembrance Day dinner kindly return the same at their earliest convenience to enable the committee to complete the statement.

HELP HUT FUND.

The Peterborough police department has made a donation to the fund for the Canadian Army Huts project of the Knights of Columbus. A similar donation was made by the department to the Red Cross some weeks ago.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins By Rev. E. R. James

THE MIND OF CHRIST

Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus Our Lord. —Philippians 2:5.

"THE MIND OF CHRIST." How it thrills us in this age of psychology, the study of the mind. The mind of Hitler is revealed in his book and in his acts. The mind of Stalin similarly. It is quite natural for St. Paul, who had spent the main portion of his life in the study of the deep things of God and His Christ to utter this wish to his readers. He had been saturated with the mind of Christ. Think of the price he paid for that knowledge. "Yea, doubtless, I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus Our Lord, for Whom I have suffered the loss of all things that I may win Christ and be found in Him." These are not the words of an excited young man but of a middle aged—Paul the aged—from his prison cell. Your thoughts will sooner or later reveal themselves in your face. The man whose mind is filled with the coarser things of life will soon reveal it in his face. An artist, after many years of absence in study, saw his mother and the next morning exclaimed to his sister: "How beautiful Mother is growing." "Yes" was the quiet reply, "for she has spent her days in prayer."

In what way did the Lord Christ reveal His mind? Just three for our mediation.

God desired to be undistinguished when He became Man. A startling thought for a self advertising age. He chose a poor, but devout Virgin, who by the operation of the Holy Spirit gave birth to the Son of God.

It is inspiring to remember that some of the most beautiful lives are lived by the poor. They are the very salt of the earth. The Jews of Our Lord's day called them "The quiet ones." How such a title rebukes us. Generations have been thrilled by the reply of Mary: "Behold, the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to Thy Word." That Holy Thing born of her in the obscurity of the stable of Bethlehem is truly the Son of God. "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us."

The mind of Christ was full of compassion for the poor, the degraded and the deseased. He touched "the man full of leprosy." He went about doing good; healing the sick and comforting the mourners.

A famous German philosopher says: "Pity and mercy are sentimentalities tending to exalt the incompetent, to preserve the unfit and to hinder progress."

Another German thinker teaches: "To prefer in this world the poor to the rich, the fool to the wise, the sick to the healthy is a great error."

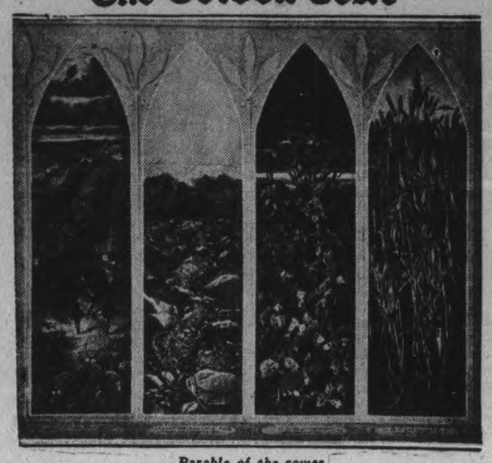
Hearken to the words of the Carpenter of Nazareth: "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." "The poor hath the Gospel preached unto them." Multitudes have come, listened and discovered in their personal experience that Jesus is indeed the Saviour of the World.

Above all the mind of Christ is saturated with a deep and wonderful faith in God. "He trusted in God" is the testimony of His enemies. His Apostles, who were chosen "that they might be with Him", more or less drank in this spirit in spite of their past religious atmosphere. When He was arrested and put to death on the Cross their faith received an awful shock. "How could God permit such a horror to come upon His well beloved Son?" But His resurrection revived their faith. He came to show man how to live in simple, trustful faith in God. "Have faith in God" is His constant comand. When the end came He fulfilled His own injunction, He proved His faith by crying: "Father, into Thy Hands I commend My Spirit."

At this Christmas season will you go about doing good quietly, helping the poor and unfortunate. Above all will you pray for a deeper faith in the Heavenly Father, Who will bring out of this terrible war the blessing of peace in His own good time. Thus you will witness to your friends that you have something of "the mind of Christ."

"ALIVE UNTO GOD THROUGH JESUS CHRIST OUR LORD."

The Golden Text



Parable of the sower

"Incline your ear, and come unto Me; hear, and your soul shall live."—Isaiah 55:3.

Highlights Of S.S. Lesson

PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for December 17 is Matthew 13:1-53, the Golden Text being Isaiah 55:3. "Incline your ear, and come unto Me, hear, and your soul shall live.")

The word "parable" means something cast alongside of something else that is a comparison. Jesus often talked in parables telling stories that illustrated His message.

In this lesson Jesus "spake many parables." They all illustrate the way in which the message Jesus brought work in the world to those who accept it and follow His teachings.

First in our lesson He told the story of the man who went forth to sow. Some of his seed fell by the roadside, and birds quickly gobbled it up. This means, of course, that no matter how eloquent the preacher and how marvelous and helpful his message, there are some who do not respond or understand.

Some of the seed fell on rocky ground where it sprang up in the soil that covered the stones, but was quickly withered when the sun came out brightly because it had no roots to give it moisture. These are the people who listen to the message, but it does not sink into their consciousness and soon passes out of mind. Some fell among thorns, and were smothered by them, meaning that some who heard let wordly things crowd out the Good Word.

Some Heard and Believed

But some there were who heard and believed and tried to follow the teachings, and these were the seeds that fell into good earth and grew and ripened and were harvested.

The Kingdom of Heaven Jesus likened to a grain of mustard seed, which is the tiniest seed known in Palestine. Mustard sometimes grows to the height of 15 feet in Palestine, and that parable shows how the teachings of Jesus grow from a small beginning to a great height, filling one's life.

The Lord said the Kingdom of Heaven also is like leaven, or yeast, as we say, which a woman puts into a mixture of meal and in time it makes the whole mass light. You will know what He meant if you have ever seen a woman make bread or raised dough of any kind. It is also like a treasure which has been hidden in a field. A man finds it and then sells all he has and buys the field, because the treasure is worth more than everything else a man might own.

And finally, He compared the message to a pearl of great price, the perfect pearl, which the pearl merchant was seeking, and when he found it, he sold all his other wares and bought this perfect one.

Sent Multitude Away

After telling these parables, Jesus sent the multitude away and went into the house. As His disciples gathered around Him they asked to have the parables He had been telling explained. So He told them what He meant, and told them other stories, asking them if they understood what He had been saying and they said they had. Whereupon Jesus departed thence."

The Christian religion surely is a "pearl of great price," and we should indeed, sell all we have and take it and live it.

"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law," it is written in Galatians 6:22, 23, and it goes on, in verses 25 and 26: "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another."

If one lives the real Christlike life one lives as these last quoted lines indicate: "Be not deceived, God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he reap."

Churches Add 45 New Members

ZION, Dec. 16—(ENS).—Results were most gratifying to Rev. Mr. Murray who has been putting forth much effort to add the names of new members to the rolls of the three churches in his charge, when a total of forty-five accepted Communion on Sunday.

Keene United Church topped the list with twenty-five new members, Bethel following with eleven and Zion with nine.

At the service in Zion church, Mr. Murray expressed his appreciation and pleasure in the fact that the entire group who received the membership of Zion church, was of teen age boys and girls.

Personals

The "Zionettes" have resumed their project class work.

Mr. A. Thompson of Hoosier, Sask., is visiting at the home of his brother, Mr. Wm. Thompson.

Friends will be glad to hear that Robert Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, is convalescing splendidly after a serious illness.

One case of measles has been reported here.

Apsley W.A. Lays Christmas Plans

APSLEY, Dec. 16—(ENS). — The Women's Association of the Apsley United Church met for their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Lean on Tuesday evening with a good attendance, Miss Eva Tucker, president, in charge. Mrs. W. Lean, assistant secretary, was in charge in the absence of Mrs. F. McFadden. It was decided to pack Chirstmas boxes for several old people and shut-ins and to send a year's subscription of Chatelaine to Miss Paula Rayment, who is a patient in the Mountain Sanitarium in Hamilton, and an Eversharp pencil to J. Rayment, a member of the choir who at present is in training with the Oshawa Battery.

Final arrangements were completed for the Sunday School Christmas tree and concert on Friday evening, December 15, in the Parish Hall. Plans were also laid for decorating the church for Christmas services.

Lunch was served by the hostess and helpers.

A jolly time was spent at a quilting party held on Tuesday at the farm home of Mrs. Albert Wilson, two miles north of the village. A bounteous dinner was served to the guests at noon by Mrs. Wilson and her daughter Betty. Among the ladies present were: Mesdames F. Tanner, R. Scott, J. Pashler, W. Lean, W. Peters, John Tucker, A. Downer, and C. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McColl and Mrs. C McColl spent Tuesday in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Lean motored to Peterborough on Monday.

Mrs. H. Tucker, Mrs. W. Reynolds, Mrs. T. Windsor, Miss Irene Tucker, spent the day in Peterborough on Tuesday.

White Gift Sunday In Many Churches

On Sunday next an interchange of ministers will take place between the minister of Bridgenorth and St. Andrew's churches.

Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Bridgenorth will give the Christmas story at the White Gift service in St. Andrew's school room in the afternoon at which the white gifts will be given by the boys and girls of the Sunday school. The manger scene at Bethlehem will be staged by the members of the Young People's Union with Miss Dorothy Ridyard and James Harvey in charge. This will be the background of Mr. Trumpour's story. Mr. J. A. McKone, superintendent, will be in charge of the service.

Dr. E. W. Young will visit the Fairview congregation in the afternoon and Bridgenorth in the evening, and will bring the findings of the Commission of the Peterborough Presbytery that visited the charge on Thursday, December 7. The members of the commission were E. W. Young, Alpine McNab, M. C. Parr and C. E. Stevens.

The Presbytery has arranged that every charge will be visited during this conference year, and that the findings of the Commission will be given to the congregations on a Sunday following the visit. Rev. M. C. Parr will bring the message to the Selwyn congregation early in the new year.

Hastings Y.P.U.

HASTINGS, Dec. 16 — (ENS). — Christmas was the theme carried through the Monday meeting of Trinity United Y.P.U. when over thirty members were present and Miss Helen Collins presided.

Mrs. J. E. Glover took charge of the worship period. Six young ladies, Miss Claudine Hoard as a Canadian, Miss Margery Scriver a Dutch girl, Miss Jean Sherwin a Ukrainian, Mrs. Wallace Orr a Japanese girl, Miss Helen Collins a South American girl, and Mrs. Grant Sine a Polish girl dressed in native costumes, dramatized the Christmas story as from their lands. A two-minute silent prayer was observed for Poland.

Hymns in keeping with Christmas were sung, accompanied by music by the orchestra. A program on "Olympic Games" proved entertaining. Groups of three were formed to represent England, France and United States and they took part in the playing of the games. Standing broad jump, hammer throw, 50-yard dash, lightweight race and handicap relay.

Mrs. H. Edwards and Mrs. H. Orr were judges and decided that the group, "England" was the winner for the games.

Following the meeting, practice for the annual Christmas concert, to be held on Christmas night, was held.

Parables of the Kingdom — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 13:1-53

The Kingdom of Heaven said Jesus, is like a grain of mustard seed (the smallest of seeds) which a man sowed in his field and it became a tree.

The Kingdom of Heaven He also likened to leaven or yeast which a woman took, put into three measures of meal, and the whole mass was leavened.

Again, the Kingdom of Heaven is like unto a treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and sold all he had and bought the field.

It is also like a perfect pearl which, when a pearl merchant finds, he sells all that he has to buy it.

(GOLDEN TEXT—Isaiah 55:3).

The War Is Going On

Jean Giraudoux is head of the French General Bureau of Information, and a man in such a position has to make addresses when asked to do so. He spoke to the American Club in Paris and among other questions answered the one often asked: "Why aren't we fighting?"

The answer of Jean Giraudoux was that we are fighting; we are fighting exactly the kind of battle which should be going on now; we are fghting Hitler in his own way.

Hitler's own idea is a matter of printed record: "We will not use armies in the mass as in 1914...A hostile people must be demoralized, must be ready to capitulate before military action is effective."

The French official explained that the war was going on every hour of the day. Every vessel which was unable to arrive at or depart from a German port was effective warfare and it was hurting Germany. The process might not be spectacular; it probably is regarded by some as slow, and it probably does not meet the theories of others who want to see real war and real fighting from the first day until the point of exhaustion is reached.

We have no hopes that Germany is going to collapse suddenly, and we place little enough confidence that Germany will soon be asking the Allies to join with her in fighting Russia. At the same time the British navy is weakening Germany, a nation which must live by the trade which she can carry on with the outside world.

We doubt if there is a nation in existence more susceptible to injury through strangulation of trade than is Germany. When she started her campaign of expansion it was on the principle of barter, and with "blocked marks." That means when Germany imported anything it was on the basis that part of the purchase price had to be taken out in made-in-Germany goods. It was in that way that Germany was overcoming her own shortage in raw materials.

When that trade came to an end Germany could neither import nor export by sea, and it is estimated a good fifty per cent. of her trade depended on that.

There are 80,000,000 people in Germany, and while that is a tremendous reservoir of man power for army purposes, it is also an equally formidable liability when not gainfully employed. There is enormous productive power there, but of what use is productive power when the product cannot reach the buyer or the consumer in world markets?

The form of warfare at present being waged against Germany by the British navy may not be spectacular; it may not appeal to the people because they cannot see it. But it is none the less real. We venture the opinion that the chasing of the Graf Spee back into port gripped popular fancy more than the blockade of German ports, and yet in terms of serious consequence to the enemy the blockade would rank infinitely higher than the more spectacular engagement at sea. Make no mistake about it—the war is going on 24 hours each day, and Germany is not winning.

Shooting At 12 Miles

Edouard Legris, director of the Havas News Agency at Montevideo, was a passenger on the French liner Formose when going to his post. He witnessed the battle at sea in which three British cruisers attacked the German battleship Graf Spee. Even a man who deals with news seldom has an opportunity to see an engagement at sea.

The battleship in this case had superior equipment. It used 11-inch guns, while the best the cruisers had were 6-inch. A direct hit from an 11-inch gun would be serious for a cruiser, so the business of the cruiser is to keep from being hit. We gather from the story of Legris that such a battle at sea is one of constant shifting of position, the laying down of smoke screens behind which vessels can move great distances, and emerging again for another shot at the enemy.

In one place Mr. Legris says a British cruiser fired first from a range of 12 miles, and was a little short, but the next volley a few minutes later crashed the forward turret of the Graf Spee. So that's the way they shoot at 12 miles?

To get some idea of what that means, and following the straight-line distance as a shell would, it would be the same as shooting from Peterborough to Bailieboro, to Millbrook, or Omeme, or within a mile of Young's Point. And it would also mean hitting the target at that distance. When trying to get a correct idea of such a feat it is well to remember that the vessel from which the shot was fired would be moving and so would the enemy craft at which the shell was aimed. Nor is this battle over. It will be necessary for the Graf Spee to come out of the neutral port after damage has been repaired.

Who Controls The Business?

There appears to be some doubt whether the Liquor Control Board or the bootleggers control the business in this province. There is one thing even plainer than that—when the Liquor Control Board desires to announce a change in prices of their goods the obliging newspapers give them such service free of cost, something which is not done for the merchandising world in general.

It seems to be regarded as news that 25 cents has been knocked off the price of a bottle of rye. The government has declared it is illegal to advertise that fact, but it is all right to announce it through the news columns.

But to return to that other point. These reductions in prices have been made because the bootleggers and the illicit makers of drink have been touched into renewed action by the increase in prices which followed the federal government's quest for more war revenue. Prices have been increased and that made an attractive situation for the bootleggers who can sell cheaper and find more customers ready to do business with them on the basis of less expenditure.

The fact that the province finds it necessary to reduce its store prices is a rather open admission that it sees no prospect of controlling the bootleggers, and it is further admission that the government recognize the bootleg business as being so formidable that it has to come out in the open and compete with it in the matter of prices.

With the coming of beverage rooms and stores it was freely predicted it meant the end of the bootlegger. Today we have the uncomfortable situation in which the government regulates its prices so the bootlegger will find it more difficult to compete.

The League Does Something

The League of Nations has at last done something. It has informed Russia that it will have to get out.

For years that has been the complaint registered against the League. It was afraid to do anything. It did nothing when Japan pulled out and started to take China to pieces. It did nothing when Germany walked off and began to rearm.

This time the League of Nations told Russia it would have to vacate its place in the assembly at Geneva because it had done something which outraged the members there.

It is one sure way of pointing the finger directly at Stalin and Molotoff and saying "You're guilty." It does not leave any room for argument.

What practical difference it will make we do not know. But at least the League of Nations has demonstrated that it had sufficient spine to tell Russia to get out.

We Need a System

A summary dealing with the Christmas tree business in Canada placed the total cut at something over 4,000,000 trees. At best that is but an estimate because there is so much cutting done of which there is no record. It will be the same this year as in years before—a day or so after Christmas merchants and dealers will be having bonfires or else surplus trees will be taken to various city dumps for burning.

Most people are entirely unaware of the positive waste which is going on. The Examiner presents this example which took place in the northern section of Peterborough county. A large tree was desired for a church or school entertainment, and a forty-foot pine, a fine upstanding tree, was cut down so that the nice piece at the top might be removed for a Christmas tree.

And it takes a stretch of years to produce a forty-foot pine.

False Teeth Safely Moored

It is an accepted fact that false teeth can be made to stay in place in the upper jaw more readily than in the lower. The lower one is the place where the wagging takes place. Talking or eating it is the lowers that have to "take it."

That is what makes them click and rattle a little at times. But now some smart man has been demonstrating how to make the contraptions stay put. He has worked toward the end that the plates will hold fast to their moorings and he is doing it with magnetic plates. One little dohickey on top and another on the bottom, so arranged that they push against each other. Shove the top ones back and shove the lower ones back and there you are. The magnets need to be touched up once a year and the operation takes only a few seconds.

We learn too that a person with false plates bites with a pressure of 40 pounds while the individual who retains the full set of teeth can, if necessary, raise the pressure to 150 pounds, after which he is liable to change his butcher or dunk his toast in the coffee pot.

This magnetic business may be what the users of double plates have been waiting for. Some of them at present are handicapped. Expression of worded thought is mutilated by a form of sputtering which resembles the percolator getting under way. If once they were electrically equipped and newly charged they could proceed, firm in the knowledge that uppers and lowers would remain as though driven through by a large spike. Days ahead actually look brighter.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Starch is becoming scarce in England, so the man who likes to keep up a stiff front during war years will have to do it some other way.

One soldier who enlisted in Toronto takes boots size 14½. If that lad happens to get out of step what will the drill sergeant do about it?

Two members of the Ontario Legislature have been named to move and second the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Yes, your guess is right—they are both Liberals.

Ald. Gregory of Stratford is reported as saying "traffic lights are a nuisance." Now and then a motorist when paying a fine in court for running through them comes to exactly the same conclusion.

In London during the month of November there were 926 fatal traffic accidents, and 674 of them were during the hours of blackout. If there is not much war at the front there is a casualty list on the home front.

Canada made about 700,000 pounds more butter in November than in the same month a year ago. We seem bound to keep on making more butter even if we have more than enough.

Messenger in Toronto was carrying $2,181 to the bank when a mug knocked him down and took it away from him and evidently that is simpler than robbing the bank after the deposit had been made.

U.S. Ambassador Kennedy is home from London and says United States could not make things one whit better by entering the war. We think we get the idea, but the saying is open to several interpretations.

There is so much horror in the world today that we lose sight of much of it. Since Japan started driving in China there have been 40,000,000 people who had to leave their homes, and the death list from war and disease has been between five and nine million.

Lieut.-Col. George Drew, on returning from the West, expressed surprise when he found he had delivered a speech at Edmonton in which he referred to our "tin-pot" navy. So there are now two people on the spot—Mr. Drew and the reporter.

United States may sell some of its merchant marine vessels to Canada or any other nation which cares to buy them. The despatch containing this information also blandly says some of the vessels are so old they will have to be discarded.

Children are being born in communities to which the family was sent when removed from London to escape bombing. One baby saw the light of day at Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire. The child was named Leighton on that account, and how fortunate the naming stopped right there.

STUCK

(By A.H.R.)

¶ My Uncle Eben puzzled me, I can't think what his gift should be, for he's got everything; he owns four suits where I've got one, another one for spring's just come, he wears a diamond ring.

¶ To buy him socks I wouldn't dare, for he must own some thirty pair, and he's got neckties too; and he's got shirts stacked everywhere, he needs no brush to fix his hair, for that is done and through.

¶ It's no use buying books for him, his reading hours are few and thin, not like it ought to be; for he is rather old today, and I have often heard him say, it's kind of hard to see.

¶ I can't pick out some brand of soap, or hand to him some shaving dope, 'twould be no use to him; for Eben started long ago, to let the spinach rise and grow, for whiskers on his chin.

¶ Some gay pyjamas he would hate, for Uncle Eben's out of date, for him they'd be no treat; he wears a woollen nightgown now, and often has he told me how, he wraps it round his feet.

¶ If he was more like what I am, and just a fairly hard-up man, 'twould help me quite a lot; it's like a lump upon my mind, to try and look around and find—a thing he hasn't got.

How Long Can Finland Stand The Struggle?

By H. B. ELLISTON

WHAT the Russian invasion means to Finland may be dimly glimpsed on the outside, but inside the country conviction runs deep and strong that civilization as we have known it rides with the white-clad skiers of Finland's defense forces.

The Finns almost to a man would rather go down fighting than submit to the doubtful benefits of the loudly proclaimed Communist State. Moving among them during the first week of the invasion, I came to the conclusion, probably rash but still my inexpert judgment, that little Finland may be able to hold out all winter against the Russian colossus.

Such a feeling could only spring from something remarkable in the Finnish character. For years the world has slowly been awakening to vocal admiration of this sturdy northern people. But more than Finnish character explains the miracle of what is going on. The meaning of this undeclared war is the real explanation.

For Finland, the immediate and most urgent meaning is national independence. Submission again to any kind of foreign domination, least of all Russian, is not written on Finland's book.

Yet the timing of this stand, and the fact that it is the first challenge to Soviet Russia's expanding influence, lifts Finland's action into historical greatness. Finland overnight has become the rallying point for all world forces supporting the right of small nations to live in the face of unvarnished aggression.

Even if Finland should be overrun, the thing Finland stands for today will spring into action elsewhere.

Much has been written about Finland's white-garbed ski soldiers, using white revolvers, and even white machine-guns. Unseen on snow-covered slopes, they swoop down upon the Russians. My interest turned quickly to the economic front. How long can Finland hold out in military supplies, trade and food?

Outside help is pouring in from Italy, Britain, the United States. A fourth element of strength is thus added to David-like Finland's internal defenses.

On the economic front, Finland is self-sufficing in dairy products, meats, and other basic foodstuffs except for a minor percentage of wheat.

Fortunately for Finland, this campaign occurs after the harvests. Rye and wheat are the Finnish staples and Finland has sufficient of both cereals to last till next September.

AT THE SAME time, sowing must be done again next spring. And Finland may then find itself suffering from: First, a shortage of fertilizer, which must be imported; and second, from a diversion of field workers to the battlefield. A more potential handicap is the human withdrawal from national production. For all Finland is up in arms to repel the Muscovite. A regular army said to number 300,000 is backed by a civil guard of another 100,000. Moreover, as time goes on the entire nation, women and all, will take up whatever weapons they can rustle.

On December 8, when I left Finland, there was no lack of foodstuffs. Of all the daily consumables only coffee and sugar were rationed. In other respects the economy withstood the initial reverberation of the Russian steam-roller without the slightest flinching.

Prices remained steady, though some of them—chiefly for necessities—had already been fixed by Government edict. And the currency stayed as unmoved as a block of Finnish granite.

Still the Finnish economy is closely attached to the world's. I should say that 30 per cent of Finnish trade is foreign. Sugar and wool are the two commodities of main concern for which Finland depends upon imports. The Finns sell lumber and pulp in return for sugar, wool, fertilizer, raw materials, machinery, and other ingredients of a living standard which is much higher than the Russian. If this trade is choked, then the Finns will have to pull in their belts more than a few notches.

HOW CAN Finland keep up its trade? Normally there are four outlets to world markets: 1, through the Danish Sound and out by way of the Kattegat; 2, through the ice-free Arctic; 3, across to Stockholm and by rail to Gothenburg; 4, by rail around the Gulf of Bothnia and by road and rail out of the Norwegian port of Narvik.

All four outlets are as yet in use, though several are impeded to Finnish produce. German mining of the sound has impelled Finland to use smaller boats for shipment as far as Gothenburg, where goods are transferred to Swedish ocean-going vessels. The Russian blockade of the Finnish coast is sound and fury, signifying very little. There's a minefield, partly Swedish, partly Finnish, stretching clear across the Bothnian Gulf and it acts as a kind of breakwater against the Russians. Consequently the Finns can still ply between their Bothnian ports and stockholm with no more impediment than the risk of encountering a solitary Russian submarine that is supposed to be lurking in north Bothnian waters.

No words of mine can give any idea of the grim resolution of the rugged Finns. Although I wouldn't go bail for any Government, the people of Finland are a breed of natural fighters, fierce patriots, who despise the Russians and who are unafraid of and used to hardship and privation. I left them braced for a united effort to preserve their exemplary Democracy against the onslaught of their ancient enemy.

• Early Trial For Murder Well Covered

THE STORY of one of the first murder trials in the history of Peterborough is reviewed today from the columns of a copy of the Peterborough Review of October 13, 1876, kindly furnished by a reader of the Examiner.

The prisoner, James Ryan, long a resident of Peterborough and living on Simcoe street, was charged with having murdered his wife, Mary Ryan, by stabbing and the report of that 63-year-old newspaper was complete to the last detail, taking almost an entire page of close print to tell of the proceedings.

The crown prosecutor of the memorable trial was George E. Henderson, Q.C., of Belleville and the prisoner had the benefit of the skill of a battery of Peterborough lawyers, J. Hillyard Cameron, Q.C., J. D. Armour, Q.C. and W. H. Scott, Q.C.

Selecting the jury occupied some little time as counsel for some reason or other challenged fourteen of the panel However, the final selection saw the following twelve good men and true chosen to decide the fate of the prisoner: John Galvin, John Dwyer, James Ingram, E. Allen, Jr., Mat Breckenridge, A. Drummond, Henry Smith, James Gillespie, Pat. Logan, Simon Sexsmith, A. Fairbairn and O. Macarthy.

Fourteen Rejected

The fourteen men who were rejected and who were doubtless quite satisfied to escape the responsibility of deciding whether or not a fellow citizen should be taken out and hanged by the law were James McKibbin, Fred Edwards, John Brown, R. Kidd, Jr., James Bell, John Spence, Jr., Wm. Ferguson, Sidney Payne, Mat Foley, Michael Clark, Richard Hope, Wm. Cook, John Graham and Thomas Hetherington.

The Crown Prosecutor opened the trial the report tells us by outlining the case the crown expected to prove and his summary gives an accurate summary of the principal points of the case. The circumstances he said were rendered more painful by the fact that the prisoner was charged with the murder of his wife and that his daughter would have to give evidence against him.

The prisoner, Mr. Henderson said, was an old resident of Peterborough, a married man with a family of three children. Whether there had been any ill-feeling between the married couple, he could not say but they had lived together as man and wife until the day of the murder. The prisoner had lived a temperate life until the 17th or 18th day of March before the murder when he took to drinking hard and on the day before the murder he drank two pints of whiskey and was undoubtedly intoxicated.

Alone With Wife

At the time of the murder Ryan and his wife were the only two persons in the house. The young daughter had come home from school but had gone out again after some conversation, leaving them sitting side by side a few minutes before the fatal stab was inflicted.

She had gone out for a moment to tell a young friend who was at the gate that her mother would not let her go out when she heard a fearful scream and saw her mother rush out with her hand over her heart.

The mother said, according to the Review's report of the Crown Prosecutor's address, "Minnie, this is the last time I will walk on this sidewalk." Mrs. Ryan then fell, and the child screaming, the neighbors came to her assistance and she was carried to the next house where she died. Mrs. Cole, who was one of the neighbors heard her say "Minnie, he killed me" and then expire.

The wound was found to be a narrow but deep one on the breast bone, of such a nature as to require great force, the knife having penetrated through into the breast bone and then passed almost completely through the heart.

The Crown Prosecutor finished, the Review says, by telling the jury that the coroner had found a knife secreted under some boards outside the kitchen.

The evidence called by the crown bore out the opening address and among the witnesses was Mrs. E. Phelan, grandmother of Nagle Phelan, John Dunlop, proprietor of a tavern and Chief of Police George Johnston, remembered by older residents, Dr. Kincaid and Dr. O'Sullivan.

The Defence Witnesses

The defence called some well known citizens to prove that Ryan's nature had been greatly changed by the drinking habits he had suddenly acquired. Among those who gave testimony for the accused were Michael Halpin, hotel keeper, Adam Dobbin, James Stevenson, afterwards mayor and member of parliament, and J. I. Davidson who ran a book store here.

The argument of John Hillyard Cameron, defence counsel, was that the prisoner had been insane because of delirium tremens when the crime was committed. He argued that Ryan was not responsible for what he had done.

The crux of the argument used by the Crown Prosecutor was that if the prisoner did not know the difference between right and wrong, because of his condition, as was contended why should he have hidden the knife after the stabbing?

Mr. Chief Justice Patterson took up considerable time over the insanity plea but left it entirely for the jury to decide from what they had heard whether or not the accused knew what he was doing.

It took the jury only 100 minutes to decide that Ryan was guilty. They added a recommendation for mercy.

Mr. Justice Patterson, remarking that he would forward the jury's recommendation to the proper quarter and sentenced Ryan to be hanged on November 21 and the cause celebre was finished.

• Something Wrong With the Stars

SOMETHING went wrong with the stars last month. They had it all set that Herr Hitler was to pass out of the picture. Of course, he nearly did that little thing, missing by a margin of only about ten minutes. You recall that bomb in the beer hall? It went off just after the boss of Germany was well out of the way.

We are still waiting for explanations. Seems as though the astrologers ought to tell us what went wrong with the stars as well as with the bomb. Fate having brought Hitler and the bomb into propinquity, the fault for the failure of solemn predictions must have rested with the stars. However, the stars have a way of letting down their faithful followers. They do it so often that it is a wonder there are any faithful followers.

But there are, and now we learn from them that 1940 is going to have bad moments for Herr Hitler. Just what they are to be and just when they are to be are not quite clear. But we gather the impression that, from this or that or something else, he is to go into retirement. This time the stars do not indicate more than that, so far as he personally is concerned. But even that, it appears, may bring about political changes which will lead to peace and possibly to a recasting of national lines and imperialistic ambitions.

All of which is so much to be desired that the wish we had more faith in the stellar power to control our destinies. Like a good many individuals, however, the stars seem to be long on promises and short on performances. — Buffalo Courier-Express.

FORGET GAS MASKS

Some old country cinemas are turning away dozens of customers a day because they have forgotten their gas masks, and therefore, under a government regulation, cannot qualify for admission. Many leave their masks on London buses. One man pursued a bus by taxi to recover his own. If the box of the gas mask bears a name and address a postcard is sent to the owner; if not, the mask is kept for a week, and if it is still unclaimed it is returned to the government depot. — Toronto Star Weekly.

LAUGHTER

Laugh and grow fat. Falstaff had his full share of this world's troubles, but never became one of that lean kind, such as Casius. The editor of The Petrolia Advertiser-Topic evidently prefers men of omnipoint, a laugh and a smile. So do we. Says he:

Our friend, Frank Davis, of The Carleton Place Canadian, says he does not know if it is always an advantage to grow fat, but "we do know that it is an excellent thing to laugh, both for the body and the soul. The Good Book itself says that the merry heart doeth good like a medicine, though it always warns us against the laughter of fools, comparing it to the crackling of thorns under the pot." That's just it. So many people can't tell where the medicine part ends and the fool part begins. But we don't object to a laugh now and then or even to a wry smile.

WAR'S UNREALITIES

(Detroit News)

The fact that the Finns are "being taught by the English to hate Russians" prompts a display of grief in the Soviet press that recalls the Walrus' tears in "Through the Looking-Glass." It was explained to Alice that the Walrus wept with a purpose, since the Carpenter was kept from noticing who was getting most of the oysters.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

The Pharisees also with the Sadducees came, and tempting desired him that he would shew them a sign from heaven. He answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red. And in the morning, It will be foul weather to day: for the sky is red and lowering. O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?—Matt. xvi, 1-3.

A Bit Of Nonsense

Comparison

American Sailor: Battleships.... Why, the flagship of our navy is so big that the Captain goes round the deck in his car.

British Sailor: You ought to see our flagship. Have a look at the kitchen. It's so large the cook has to go through the Irish stew in a submarine to see if the potatoes are cooked.

All Figured Out

A small crowd had collected to see the departure of the bride and bridegroom, when an old villager, passing along the road, met a friend and asked him: "What's goin' on 'ere, Joe?" By way of reply, he received this bit of philosophy: "It's a man givin 'away 'alf his dinner to get the other 'alf cooked!"

"Now, children," said the school mistress, "how do you suppose Noah passed his time on the ark?"

There was no reply.

"Come, come," she went on. "It's my opinion that he did a lot of fishing. Am I right or wrong?"

"Wrong," replied little Freddie.

"Wrong, am I?" smiled the teacher. "And why?"

"Noah, couldn't have done much fishin'," replied the boy, "'cause he only had two worms.

Shirley Allen Announced Winner Of Examiner's Color Contest Which Saw Over 400 Works Of Art

Shirley Allen, 354 George Street, a sixteen-year-old entrant, has captured the Examiner's Christmas color contest and wins the capital prize of $25.00 offered for the best-colored book submitted in the competition.

The twelve-page book, full of Christmas advertising, was published in the November 30 edition of The Examiner and the contestants were invited to color the cover, back page, and the interior advertisements according to their own ideas.

Over 400 children from the city and district took part in the contest, and the all-round excellence of most of the work submitted was a surprise to the judges. The skill and taste shown by many of the contestants, the attention they paid to details, the amazing effects they succeeded in obtaining from clever use of crayons or water colors, or, in some cases, both, would have been noteworthy had the books been colored by adults; coming as the handiwork of youngsters the display was much more ambitious and artistic than The Examiner had ever dreamed of and the judges had a real job to select the winners. The work generally was so fine that it was a matter of regret that every entrant could not have been rewarded for the time and talent devoted to the task.

Practically every street in the city, every town, village and rural route in the district had at least one representative entered in the color contest.

Contestants ranged in school age all the way from five years upwards, and some of the youngest entrants did a surprisingly artistic job. It is apparent that nearly every contestant must have devoted many hours to the task of coloring the twelve pages. The result was a triumph for the girls who practically swept the boards. As a matter of fact, only one boy contestant, Jack Ridyard, who finished in sixth place, succeeded in crashing into the parade of cash winners.

The complete list of prize-winners and those considered by the judges as worthy of special and honorable mention follows:

Prize-winners.

First Prize, $25.00—Shirley Allen, 354 George Street South.

Second Prize, $10.00 — Fern E. Brown, Box 784, Peterborough.

Third Prize, $5.00—Margaret Mason, 139 Hunter Street E.

Fourth Prize, $3.00 — Catherine Boyle, 263 Hunter Street W.

Fifth Prize, $2.00—Joyce McCammon, 56 Appleton Avenue, Toronto.

Sixth Prize, $1.00—Jack Ridyard, 470 Rubidge Street.

Seventh Prize, $1.00—Gladys Galley, Box 884, Wolsley Street.

Eighth Prize, $1.00—Renee Rumary, 352 Weller Street.

Ninth Prize, $1.00—Phyllis Sage, 420 Donegal Street.

Tenth Prize, $1.00—Marion O'Toole, 40 Centre Street.

The prize money cheques are being mailed to the lucky winners today in plenty of time for some extra Christmas shopping.

Harvey Township Has a Thriving Industry

Thriving industry in Harvey township is the White Valley Chemicals, Ltd., a recently formed company that mines amorphous calcium carbonate, discovered less than two years ago by W. S. Potts. The intervening time has seen him change from proprietor of a lumber mill to be superintendent of a mine. Mr. Potts is seen at the EXTREME LEFT of the group in the picture at LEFT ABOVE. With him are H. L. Garner, general manager of the Peterborough Examiner, and J. J. Duffus, M.P., who made a trip to the plant this week. At RIGHT is the plant itself. Inside it is close to $100,000 worth of equipment.

Work Horse Sinking Through Mud On Edge Small Lake Is Given Credit For Discovering New Mineral

Because a work horse sank through the mud at the edge of a tiny lake while hauling logs, and its forefeet came up covered with a white substance that looked like calcimine, W. S. Potts of Harvey Township may be a millionaire before long.

For already, as a result of that whitened foot, a huge refinery stands in that desolate spot in Harvey, a plant that has cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 so far. A company has been formed with president, general manager, board of directors, consulting engineers, and all the trappings of big industry. It replaces the old saw mill of Mr. Potts, and is named the White Valley Chemicals, Ltd. Mr. Potts is superintendent, and is rumored to have retained a sizeable chunk of the company's stock.

Experimenting completed, most difficulties ironed out, the company is now prepared to work at top speed. The Ontario and Federal Governments have constructed a road leading to the plant from the Bobcaygeon-Kinmount Road, and electric power has been brought in from Lakefield.

Market Not Crowded.

Of market there is plenty and to spare, for the material that W. S. Potts found in that tiny lake was amorphous Calcium carbonate, used in a multitude of products, and the White Valley find is the only sizeable deposit ever found in North America. Now imported from England, France and Belgium at a market price of$17 to $18 a ton before the outbreak of war, 30,000 tons are used in Canada each year, together with substitutes, and the United States uses vastly more of the substance. Mr. Potts said that a thousand test holes have been sunk and that engineers estimate that close to 4,000,000 tons of calcium carbonate lie at the bottom of the lake. At an average price of $15 a ton—which is the price the company expects to receive for its product—a gross income of $60,000,000 lies there waiting to be dug up. The present plant is only equipped to remove about 10,000 tons a year, at which rate there is enough to last for 400 years. Yearly estimated profits, based on 75 per cent. production of plant capacity are $60,000—gross revenue standing at $112,500 and estimated total costs, including delivery to Ontario points, $52,500.

Strange Substance.

Amorphous calcium carbonate is a strange substance; the remains of millions upon millions of tiny animal shells that have lain on the bottom of this tiny northern lake for countles scenturies, waiting for a lucky man to find what it was. Small quantities have been found elsewhere, but none have been large enough to work satisfactorily.

Here are some of the uses of amorphous calcium carbonate:

Calcium carbonate, amorphous, is used in the manufacture of asphalt filler, calcimine, ceramics, chalks, and crayons, cigarette paper, cleansers, dyes, engraving, explosives, feed for cattle, fertilizers, fireworks, glazed paper (as coating), insecticides, insulated wire and cable, leather goods, linoleum, medicines, netwsprint and book papers, oilcloths, paints, plaster, polishes, putty, rice refining, rubber tires, mats, boots, shoes, textiles, tooth paste and powder, white shoe dressing, window shades, and countless other products. It forms the base of all better paints.

In appearance it is like pastry flour, but actually it is many, many times more fine, because it has to pass through a 325 screen before being bagged. That means that in the screen there are 325 holes to the square inch, which means in turn that the holes must be very small indeed.

It was a lucky day, then, for W. S. Potts when curiosity compelled him to send a sample of the unknown substance to Toronto for analysis. Probably he would never have done it had he not had a friend who was employed by an Ontario government chemical analysis department. That was two years ago this past fall and the intervening time has seen W. S. Potts change from a lumberman to a miner.

96 Per Cent Pure

Although the substance is 96 per cent pure when it is dredged from the bottom of the lake, the preparation of it for market use is a difficult matter, one that required tedious research to overcome. It is dredged from the bottom of the lake and carried to the mill on a long conveyor belt. (A steam pipe runs alongside the belt to the water's edge so that operations can be carried on in sub-zero weather). At the mill the most elaborate machinery has been installed to remove the water. Impurities are removed by the fine screen and the product is bagged more than 99 per cent pure.

The drying process has always been the bug-bear of the industry—for it has a tendency to form into solid concrete blocks when moisture is removed. When the wet substance comes into the mill it is shaken about in a sort of rocker and some moisture removed. Then it travels on to a huge vat and more runs off. Then it is carried along on a conveyer belt to a round drum. The cover of the drum is of a porous material and inside is a near-complete vacuum. The substance is held to the outside of the drum by the suction from the vacuum which also draws through a great deal of moisture. Then it travels on a conveyer belt past a blast of 900-degree air that is drawn by suction from the top of a nearby furnace. This hot air travels over the material and completely dries it. (So intense is the heat from the furnace that were the substance to be passed directly over its top, the metal conveyer would be melted. Then the solidified substance passes under a huge hammer which breaks it up into a fine powder.

Danger of Fire

The other week fire came close to destroying the plant when heat broke the furnace wide open and scorched the roof of the building. Only presence of a pipe line for such an emergency saved the structure.

"That just shows what we're up against," commented Mr. Potts. "That furnace was made to specifications, but it went nevertheless." It is being reconstructed now.

Such is the state of affairs at the newly constructed plant. The only thing worrying Mr. Potts right now is whether he's going to be able to truck out the material this winter. The Ontario government has provided only a small section of snow fence for the new road and has informed him the snowplow will be available for use there only when not in use elsewhere—which presumably means only when there is no snowfall.

Customs Revenue Up By $5,527,253

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 — (CP). — The National Revenue Department announced to-day net revenue from customs duties, excise taxes and duties and sundry collections in November totalled $32,765,830 compared with $27,238,577 in November, 1938, an increase of $5,527,253.

Collections during the first eight months of the current fiscal year, starting April 1, amounted to $205,213,340, an increase of $4,903,015, compared with collections of $200,310,324 in the corresponding period the previous fiscal year.

Collections by items with figures for November, 1938 in brackets:

Customs duties $9,911,833 ($7,240,600); excise taxes $16,815,453 ($15,199,217); excise duties $5,992,706 ($4,726,012); and sundry collections $46,837 ($72,745).

Income tax collections in November dropped to $3,786,300 from $4,436,474 in November, 1938, while during the first eight months of the present fiscal year they totalled $115,293,462 compared with $124,878,589 in the same period the preceding fiscal year.

Income tax collections during the first eight months of the current fiscal year with comparative figures in brackets:

Ottawa $7,119,885 ($7,388,666); Kingston $412,401 ($266,202); Belleville $462,525 ($565,685); Toronto $39,621,110 ($43,621,112); Hamilton $7,527,988 ($8,137,888); London $9,537,736 ($10,648,149); Fort William $386,790 ($469,201).

CANADIAN NATIONAL

In The World Of Business

Building contractors, supply men and many local people who had intended to build new homes in 1940 welcome the news that the government has extended the National Housing Act for a further term. Under the revised Act, loans up to $4,000 may be obtained for private dwellings. No further loans are being made for duplexes or apartment buildings.

Official building figures for North Monaghan township reveals there were 37 new homes built in area supervised by the building inspector and eight outside this area, a total of 45. In Smith township bordering the north west corner of the city, it is estimated that at least six new homes were built. This with the city's total so far of more than 100 makes a formidable building total for the year about to close.

Farmers will be interested in a statement recently published in a survey by the Canada National Carbon Company which indicates that in 1929 it cost 6½ cents an hour to operate the 6 volt battery radio sets but refinements in radio sets now on the market reduces the cost to ¾ cents per hour on the new 1.4 volt sets which are much more powerful than those made 10 years ago.

It is reported that William Tinker plans to demolish the old house at the corner of Clifton Street and Armour Road next Spring. Old timers claim this house is without a doubt the oldest in Ashburnham and perhaps the oldest in the entire city. It was formerly a log house but in recent years it was sheeted with matched lumber.

A Hugh Wong who at one time worked at the DeLuxe cafe is said to be making plans to open a cafe in the building just east of the C.N.R. tracks on Charlotte street.

R. Y. Eaton, president of the T. Eaton Company and the Canadian Department Stores paid a visit to the city last Saturday and spent a day in the local store.

Herbert Jamison, manager of the Canadian Department Store, Charles Saunders of Richard Hall, Limited, and Denis Fitzgerald of Zellers report that buying so far this year is way ahead of the same period in 1938. Shoppers are apparently aware that prices may jump anytime and have also learned that there is only a limited stock in some of the regular Christmas lines.

Louis Billiards plan to open a modern billiard parlor in the vacant Loblaw store on Charlotte street according to main street gossip and it is said they will cater to business men who wish to enjoy a game of billiards in a room by themselves and may partition off a section for women billiard players.

Rumours indicate that Buehlers may change their store location next Spring to the store under the market recently vacated by A. and P. Stores, and that Ed Riley, may move his smart clothing business to the store now occupied by Buehlers.

Another change on the main stem in the New Year will be amalgamation of the two local branches of the Bank of Montreal. All business will be done at the Water street branch which is undergoing extensive renovation at the present time. The George Street branch will be closed.

A. Field has opened a tobacco store and barber shop on George Street opposite Grafton's and a gift and novelty shop will open today on Charlotte street next to Borland's Drug Store on Charlotte Street. The owner is L. T. Heppenstall who has been in Peterborough for the past three years.

Bell Telephone Company have removed all machinery from the old exchange on the north side of Hunter street and the new owner of the building, James Lynch, local druggist plans to convert the building into a modern apartment house.

Many people have commented on the bulletin service being given by the Examiner since the war started. So many bulletins are posted daily that the use of boards have been discountinued temporarily and the bulletins are now applied to the window glass, with narrow strips of adhesive cellophane. This system makes the bulletins much easier to read being at eye-level or slightly above eye-level.

Every employee in the Coca-Cola plant who has been on payroll since January 1st last received a full month's pay as a Christmas bonus this week. Many employees who had left the Company to join the army and who were otherwise eligible were also given this substantial Christmas gift.

Employees in the local Kresge Store at the corner of George and Simcoe street will share a Christmas nest egg totalling more than $500. There are 49 employees on the payroll and the extra compensation will be divided according to length of service of each employee. The bonus is more than 25 per cent higher than in 1938. This is in addition to the two weeks holidays with pay which every regular employee gets at vacation time.

G. Cecil Moore, General Manager of The Imperial Life Assurance Co., of Canada has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of the Company. Mr. Moore has been associated with The Imperial Life since its inception in 1897.

Lorne C. Bateman, Branch Manager of the Continental Life was elected president of the Life Underwriter's Association of Peterborough at the meeting held this week. This is a signal honor particularly in view of the fact that Mr. Bateman has been in this city only two years.

When interviewed, L. W. Beebe, General Manager, of the A&P Food Stores in Canada, said, "All full-time employees with the Company six months or over earning less than $5200 annually will share in the bonus of $1,500,000 just announced by John A. Hartford, president of the company. Those members of the organization earning $25 a week, or less, will be given a full week's salary. Those receiving more than $25 and less than $100 a week will be remembered with a Christmas cheque of $25.

Billy Marquart Takes Too Long In Getting-Up

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(CP)—Billy Marquart wrote off a "long count" to experience today and headed back to Chicago to start the climb up the hill again.

Last night in Madison Square Garden the young Winnipegger came off the floor at 10 instead of nine in the third round of his fight against Lou Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., and that split-second error stayed temporarily Marquart's four-year campaign for a shot at the lightweight boxing championship of the world.

It was a dramatic round. Marquart, who held the advantage in the first two stanzas, sprung from his corner at the start of the third and almost blasted the Texan into the press coop with a blistering left hook. The crowd of 20,000 was on its feet whooping for the kill when the former Canadian Olympic star ran into Jenkin's right and was pounded into the canvas under a fierce barrage of lefts and rights.

The fans, who had seen Marquart come off the floor a month ago to stiffen Billy Beauhuld, sat stunned as the referee tolled the count. At seven Marquart was on his knee following the referee's hand through dazed eyes. Apparently recovered he rose at 10 ready to carry on but the referee waved him to his corner. Billy protested but the fight was over.

"I was hurt all right but I could have got through the round," he said dejectedly in his dressing room. "I got mixed up in the count."

Marquart weighed 134¾ and Jenkins 129¼.

In the main 10-rounder of the evening Al Davis, 146¼, of New York, recent conqueror of Tony Canzoneri, took a boxing lesson for four rounds from Tippy Larkin, 138¼, of Garfield, N.J., and then uncorked his murderous left hook in the fifth to batter Larkin senseless to the canvas.

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

ROY CONACHER
Boston Bruins

By Central Press Canadian

Third of the three famous hockey-playing brothers to make his appearance in the National league was Roy Conacher, who followed the footsteps of Lionel and Charlie, only more emphatically, by scoring 26 goals for Boston Bruins last season, to lead the league in that department in his first season. It was the first time a rookie had led in goal - scoring since Nels Stewart broke in in 1925-26, only "Old Poison" had a combined total of goals and assists large enough to be official scoring champion, while Conacher III, with a point total of 37 finished in a tie for 10th place. He started in the Bruin line-up with no minor league experience, Art Ross having plucked him straight from Toronto amateur ranks, starting point of all the Conachers in their climb to the hockey heights. Started on a line with Mel Hill, another rookie, and either Cooney Weiland or Gord Pettinger at centre, but it was when Bill Cowley took over the centre slot that both rookies began to burn up the league. Close to 180 pounds in weight, Roy celebrated his 23rd birthday last October. An even six feet in height, he skates smoothly and makes his moves cooly and deliberately. Outstanding feat occurred last Feb. 21 when he sank four goals against Chicago. Two weeks previous he had scored three against Rangers, only player in the league to perform both stunts last season.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Dec. 16.—(CP)—New York Rovers and Atlantic City Sea Gulls battled to a 5-5 overtime time last night in an exciting Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League game. One of Red Storey's goals was a penalty shot in the overtime period.

Balmies Close With Banquet

TORONTO, Dec. 16 — In the same happy-go-lucky way they started, Balmy Beach wound up the 1939 football season last night at the Royal York Hotel with a banquet. Feature of the evening was the surprise presentation to Floyd Muirhead, sponsor of Toronto's O.R.F.U. senior club, of a mantel stein and cigaret lighter, which was a gift from the players of the club.

Outlining the past season, President Ab Box told of the fine co-operation he had received from players and executive alike and scoffed at reports which he said had circulated, that Balmy Beach would not operate next year. "Unless the war situation changes everything for us, and I hope it doesn't, Balmy Beach will be back next year, stronger than ever before. We had more fun this year with a young bunch of players, than probably any Beach team which went before us."

Floyd Muirhead, backer of the Old Gold and Blue, said he had never before enjoyed the association with football that he had this season. He expressed the hope that Beaches would be back in 1940 with a team which would "give them all a run for their money."

Each player was the recipient of some tangible token by Mr. Muirhead. Speeches were also delivered by Coach Alex Ponton, who spoke of the harmony evident in the 1939 club, and said: "Not in fourteen years with this club have I enjoyed a season so much. The boys gave me all they had—that's all anybody could ask."

Gord Downard, middle wing star of Beaches, who is soon to join the ranks of the benedicts, was felicitated by his mates. Archie Campbell, popular trainer, led the entertainment staff in his usual inimitable manner. The squad was complete, apart from Frankie Seymour, Busher Young and Bill Croxford.

Chit-Chat

Five out of the eight games played so far this week reported double wins. BESL No 8 went down under in a close fought battle with the last season's leaders.

The Bonnerworth gang slipped way down under the wheels of the heavy CNR freighter but recovered sufficient strength to win their first double of the season by walloping the league babies to the tune of 35 to 8

Rumaries antiques are still going strong and resisted all the onslaughts from the Curtis brick yard gang.

The funds have taken a sudden slump, no doubt owing to the Christmas shopping. Why not make it the aim to have fees paid before the end of 1939?

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

Dunno what local gents are banking on doing any O.H.A. refereeing this winter, but possibly Lou LeBarr and Herb Payne will put in their monickers. Cy Whatley is undecided and maybe one or two more are flirting with the idea. With Johnny Sabatino of Lakefield the only well-known O.H.A. arbiter of this immediate district, there should be an opening for a few Peterborough arbiters—that's if these gees are crazy enough to tackle the job. However, the pay is right good, and a guy who gets two or three O.H.A. games to handle a week can boost his wages considerably. After all, there are O.H.A. intermediate "A" and junior "B" groups right around here, besides the intermediate "B" setups around Lindsay and down along the lake front. And Trent Valley Loop and Industrial League tilts—and maybe other fine bets for good referees. And in the course of a year or two a good newcomer to the refereeing ranks in Peterborough might get a big area to cover.

* * * * * *

Speaking of ye arbiters—who are practically always in the dog-house or back of the eight-ball, with never a friend in the world (though they're well paid)—naturally leads to the thought of penalties. And it might not be amiss at this time of the season to point out to players—what they surely know by now—that penalties frequently prove costly. They're unfair to their own teammates, coach and home fans, as they weaken the club, giving the rival squad an advantage in manpower. Now players don't try to get penalties, but often they forget themselves or take chances and a little cool thinking and self-control would avoid a term in the cooler.

* * * * * *

In Durance Vile

That word "cooler" is an apt expression as a two-minute sojourn in a cell-like bin—open to the vulgar gaze of the public, too! — whilst your teammates are battling madly to protect their goalie and make up for your mistake, well ain't ya ashamed of yourself? The poor guy sits there stolidly as the hot blood coursing through his veins cools off, and he is usually a well-behaved puckist when his time is up. It's funny, too, to see two rival players swinging fists bitterly and then both sent off to sit shoulder to shoulder in the cramped quarters of the sin box. Frequently, they're chatting pleasantly together when the timer yells: "Okay, you guys, out ya go!"

* * * * * *

Of course, fans can appreciate that penalties often are given out unfairly—the referee partly missing the accident or blaming one guy and letting the equally guilty rival escape. Or a player may accidentally trip an opponent and the arbiter has to wave him off. Clumsiness, especially with a body-checking defenceman, sometimes draws a needless penalty, also. It is up to referees to use judgment, be right on top of the play, know their rules and act fairly and unhesitatingly. After all, fans come out to view the players in action, not the referee — and they do not improve in humor when play is stopped for every minor infraction, or when guys are being chased regularly in a game which is really clean. The Petes play a clean game, so clean in fact that they're unprepared for a bone-crushing bunch like Niagara Falls when they meet 'em in playdowns.

* * * * * *

All Ready To Go

Our O.H.A. junior "B" Colts are champing at the bit nowadays awaiting for ice at the Brock St. arena. It may take another week but the first night the ice is anyway stiff and level at all, the gang will be called for an open practice. With all lads under 20 years in the city invited to try for berths. Smart puck prospects are practicing regularly by themselves now at the canal and will be in fair shape by the time official drills begin.

* * * * * *

O.H.A. sub-committee had a huddle the other eve and gave the okay to Ted Olliver and Cy Allen to play for Niagara Falls, but just until Christmas—and then the Falls must secure other replacements. Among transfers passed were Wardie Wright, Frank Jopling, Jack Jopling and Jim Ellis to Peterborough. All local talent but the last three played elsewhere last season and Wright had a transfer from here to Galt. It is likely that the luckless Galtonians—minus Mickey Murray as coach—will start to roll shortly in senior "A" company as they're now permitted to use all Brantford puckists. Prexy Jim Douglas and Ross Clemens, vice-president of the O.H.A., will attend the semi-annual meeting of the C.A.H.A. in Toronto next Thursday and Friday.

Down Baltimore Way

Pick Hines' Orioles of Baltimore are managing to stick in third place in the U.S. eastern amachoor loop, right on the heels of the new Washington outfit. High scorers were listed the other day with Bill Calladine in sixth place with 11 goals and seven assists for 18 points, Collins of the Rovers being tops with 33. Roy Covert of Washington—another former Peterborough player—had 17 points, so the blond forward apparently is fitting into the U.S. hockey picture like a candy in a kid's mouth. No mention of Ned Vitarelli but only a small percentage of the scorers was listed this time.

Standing of the Girls' Basketball League is in tonight's paper. The "Y" Gym colleens continued to steamboat along at a lot of knots per hour with a close 16-12 nod o'er the up-an'-coming Westclox femmes, and it gave the "Y" gals a top place tie with Orfuns. St. John's kept in a second place tie with Quaker Aces by knocking off the Aces 21-13 in a wide-open cage duel. And the high-powered Orfuns stepped on the gas this joust to rack up a 47-9 decision against Quaker Debs. Whew, but they must have been peeved over their reverse the previous week! A. Bowler, E. Clarke and I. Gynane topped St. John's scorers with P. Lawless leading Aces. R. Dalliday dusted off her artillery and went sniping to again lead "Y" Gym, as half a dozen Clock Cuties figured in the scoring. A. Craig and B. Blade had a field day in dropping baskets for Orfuns, as J. Metcalfe topped the Debs.

MORE COOPERATION

PARIS, Dec. 16—(CP-Havas). — Fuller German-Soviet cooperation as a result of Russia's expulsion from the League of Nations was predicted today in the Paris press.

Pertinax, writing in L'Ordre, said "it must be feared that the exclusion of the Soviet Union will lead to tightening of German-Russian cooperation and postpone the point of rupture of Soviet-German interests."

Genevieve Tabouis, in L'Oeuvre said that League circles are convinced "Russia's exclusion will be the signal for a German attack against the west or in the Balkans."

Making Good In Major Puck Loop

Never backward at bringing forward new blood in their campaigns from year to year in the National League, Toronto Maple Leafs have even gone themselves one or two better this season with no less than seven rookies on their roster, including a couple who played four or five games at the fag end of last season. Two of the best newcomers, on their showing thus far, are shown here, Red Heron, LEFT, and Jack Church. Heron, last year with Toronto Goodyears in senior amateur ranks, patrols left wing in capable style, while Church, who was seasoned at Syracuse in the Int.-Am. League, has been a standout at the blue line, yielding nothing in ability to the veterans of the team.

Byron Nelson Is Sharing Lead With Gene Kunes

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 16—(AP).—Byron Nelson, the United States open champion who is fighting an uphill battle for the country's golfing supremacy, shared the lead with a dark horse today as a sensational-scoring field reached the third round of the $10,000 Miami open.

Little-known Gene Kunes of Philadelphia came out of yesterday's twilight shadows with a sparkling 66 to tie Nelson at 137 at the half-way mark. The open king's chief rival, Henry Picard was three strokes back.

Nelson not only had a chance to overcome Picard's five-point advantage and win the Harry Vardon trophy, but a revised tabulation gave him at shot as top money winner. The corrected money standing gave Nelson $8,844, Picard $10,202.

Kunes got no attention at all with his first round 71, when Nelson and seven others shot 68's, but he turned the tournament into a mad-house with his four-under-par 66, the best score to date.

Nelson, combating a wicked crosswind that had subsided when Kunes came in, scored a 69, his second subpar card.

Ralph Guldahl, always a dangerous contender, stayed up near the front with a par 70 for 138, where he was even with E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark. Guldahl came back with a scintillating 32 as his putter began to work on the back nine.

Denny Shute, former British open and professional champion, shot a 70 to 139. He shared that spot with Johnny Revolta, another former professional ruler, Dick Metz of Chicago and Ben Hogan, White Plains, N.Y.

The round's disappointment was Sam Snead of White Sulpher Springs, W. Va., who blew himself to a 72 after opening 68. Nine others were bunched at 140, including Stanley Horne of Montreal who shot a 72 yesterday to add to his 68 in the opening round.

Grads Are Entered In Juvenile Group

Dave Leether, former president of the City Softball League here and a present member of the Ontario Softball Association executive, is managing and coaching the Peterborough Grads, a new entry in the Ontario Juvenile Hockey Association. The Grads will probably seek a bye into the O.J.H.A. playdowns, possibly playing some exhibition contests in the meantime. They are also entered in the juvenile section of the Southend Puck League. Assisting Coach Leether is Eddie Jobe.

The first workout of this provincial club will be Tuesday night at seven o'clock in the Sacred Heart rink. All players in the city, under 18 years of age by Jan. 1st, 1940, are invited to try out for berths. The team will be picked after a few workouts and be set for its Southend Loop schedule. The provincial playdowns will not commence till Feb. 1st. Players wanting information might get in touch with Dave Leether at 5660 or phone Eddy Jobe at 7827.

Earl Seibert Ready

CHICAGO, Dec. 16—(AP).—Earl Seibert, husky defenseman, who has been out of action since Nov. 16 with a leg injury, worked out with Chicago Black Hawks today and will be in the lineup Sunday night against Boston Bruins at the Stadium. Seibert, who missed eight games, will team with Art Wiebe on the rear line.

Toronto Granites Win

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—(CP)—Toronto Granites, skipped by D. J. P. Kelly, won the 11th annual Thauburn Memorial trophy curling competition here last night by defeating P. Dietrich's Galt rink 12-6.

The consolation event was captured by Toronto Royal Canadians, skipped by Ed Young. The Toronto quartet defeated Toronto Granites, skipped by E. H. Pooler, 15-8.

Marching to the final in the feature event Kelly's rink defeated Dr. Malcolmson's Toronto's 9-8 in the quarter finals and won from Bert Kennedy's 9-6 in the semi-finals.

Galt advanced to the final with a 10-7 victory over J. R. Beaven's Galt four in the quarter finals and a 10-5 triumph over A. Simmon's Barrie rink in the semi-finals.

Aces, Debs Lose As Westclox Also Defeated

St. John's held on to their first half margin to conquer Quaker Aces 21-13, while 'Y' Gym continued on their wining streak to edge out Westclox 16-12, and Orfuns ran wild over Quaker Debs to the tune of 47-9, in the Ladies' Basketball League last night. Standing of the teams to date, follows:

	W.	L.
Orfuns	3	1
Quaker Aces	2	2
St. John's	2	2
Westclox	1	3
Quaker Debs	1	3

Although outscored 10-8 in the second half, St. John's having gained a decisive first half margin, were too much for Quaker Aces. The winners played perhaps their best basketball of the year and had a good lead almost all the way. At the half it was 13-3 for the winners and though outplayed in the final stanza they earned their victory with good passing and fairly good shooting. A Bowler, E. Clarke and J. Gynane shared the winners' scoring with P. Lawless high for the Aces. The teams:

Q. Aces—D. Weese, S. Alexander, M. Duncan, J. Fowler, M. Sullivan, A. Grady, P. Lawless, V. Wood, M. Hooton.

St. John's—A. Bowler, E. Clarke, E. Foster, T. Laus, E. Harte, Maxwell, D. Groombridge, E. Gynane, F. Gynane.

Referee, W. Thirnbeck. Umpire, H. Smith.

A Small Edge.

"Y" Gym had a small edge in scoring in each half to nose out a win over the Westclox and continue in a tie for first place. They led 7-6 at the half and added an extra 3-point edge in the final, rough and fast period. The winners' shooting was slightly superior to Westclox and both sides checked hard with plenty of fouls being called. Westclox were guilty of fouling 10 times and 'Y' Gym on 11 occasions. The winners made 4 chances and Westclox sank but 2. R. Dalliday continued to lead 'Y' Gym with 7 while the losers' scoring was well split up. The teams:

Westclox—J. Hair, M. McFadden, V. Britnell, M. Goldie, N. Pammett, B. Saunders, C. Metcalfe, A. Flynn, P. Wolstenholme, J. Crowe, J. Veyash, D. Dawson.

'Y' Gym—B. DeMaio, R. Sullivan, S. Florence L. Wesley, I. Young, B. Flynn, R. Dalliday, F. Craig, S. Zakos, S. Zacks.

Refree, H. McDonald. Umpire, J. Cooper.

Orfuns piled up another big score to hang up a top heavy win over Quaker Debs, amassing a 27-5 edge in the opening period and adding more in the final half. The winners' passing was far superior and Quaker Debs semed unable to start any kind of a sustained attack, their passing and shooting being poor. The Orfuns scored mostly on breakaways, after unsuccessful Deb attacks while the losers couldn't work in close to the Orfuns' basket. A. Craig and B. Blade each had 17 points for the winners and J. Metcalf led Debs with 4. The teams:

Orfuns—A. Livingstone, M. Ferguson, D. Ackford, B. Blade, M. Clark, R. Thompson, A. Craig.

Quaker Debs—H. White, R. Farr, B. Fenner, B. Frizelle, J. Metcalfe, G. Allen, D. Gibbs, A. Laing, D. Smith.

Referee—W. Thirnbeck. Umpire, H. Smith.

SAILORS DEFEAT SAINTS 1 TO 0 WITH A THIRD PERIOD GOAL

Three Top Teams Making O.H.A. Real Keen Fight

By The Canadian Press

Unlike last season when Toronto Goodyears dominated the field, the Senior "A" division of the Ontario Hockey Association is getting harder to figure out each day.

Take for instance the three top teams and figure out the angles. Goodyears have beaten Port Colborne Sailors twice but have been unable to take the measure of St. Catharines Saints in two clashes. Port Colborne have lost their two games with Toronto but have defeated the Saints in the two tilts with them this season.

Boil it all down, consult the crystal ball and take your choice for the league title—not forgetting the up-and-coming Hamilton Dominions Dominions who occupy fourth rung on the league ladder.

Down in Port Colborne last night the Sailors and the Saints zipped through the best hockey match there in two years and the Tars won out 1-0 on a thrilling third-period goal. The result kept the Saints tied with the idle Goodyears for the league lead and strengthened the Tars third-place grasp.

Hamilton, showing improvement each time out, defeated Niagara Falls Cataracts 5-3 right in the latters' backyard. The loss left Cataracts in fifth place with but two wins this season in 10 games.

Game Postponed

Galt Moosemen, cellar occupants were scheduled to clash with Goodyears in a third game last night but an ice carnival in the Galt arena forced postponement of the match. Just to keep up with the boys, however, Goodyears, who have been playing much hockey of late, will take on a group of retired professionals in an exhibition game at Toronto today.

Last night's game in Port Colborne was featured by the sensational work of the rival net guardians, North Bay's Bas Bastien for the Ports and Ran Forder of the Saints.

The only goal came from the dynamite-laden stick of Earl Laroche with but five minutes of play remaining. The score came after Laroche took a pass from Mac McKelvie, a clever forward formerly of Toronto Native Sons Juniors.

Dominions, always slow to start, scored three goals in the second period to erase a 2-1 advantage for Niagara Falls in the opening frame.

Art Stuart scored all Cataract counters with Teddy Olliver and Cy Allen, imports from a Toronto Commercial League, each snaring an assist.

Dinny Dinning shot home two counters for Hamilton. Single scorers were Nick Nichol, Johnny Conick and Minny Miocinovich.

English Jockeys Aid the Cause

In various branches of the army now are these four British jockeys, all rated near the top, but they couldn't stay away from the horses. The cameraman caught them together at one of the "bob-tailed" meets being held in England, at Windsor. Each of the four has ridden a winner in the world-renowned Grand National Steeplechase, F. Walwyn, LEFT, on Reynoldstown in 1935; F. Furlong, next, on the same horse the previous year; T. Cullinan, on Shaun Goilin in 1930; and Bruce Hobbs, on Battleship, 1938.

Coach Is Ousted

PALO ALTO, Calif., Dec. 16—(AP).—The Stanford Board of Athletic control voted last night to oust C. E. (Tiny) Thornhill as football coach.

The Board voted, 7 to 2, to recommend to Stanford's president, Ray Lyman Wilbur, that Thornhill's contract not be renewed when it expires in April.

Thornhill has been connected with the school in a coaching capacity for 18 years, the last seven as head coach. During the latter period he put out three Rose Bowl squads.

Stanford, winning only one game this season, completed its most disastrous schedule in history.

Home Fans Are Critical Of N.Y. Rangers

New York Rangers, almost neglected by some observers because, of the things that are happening to other National Hockey league clubs, are actually going through a strenuous test.

The Rangers, for the first time since their formation, are under the direct supervision of someone besides Lester Patrick and so far they are doing neither sensationally well nor remarkably badly. Coach Frank Boucher has them in a contending spot — fourth position — while Manager Patrick looks on in hope that he can make his retirement from the bench permanent.

But soon the Rangers, to silence some of the New York critics who have called them a middle-of-the-road club, must begin to move up. A big chance comes this week-end in a doubleheader that might even put them into first place if other results are right.

Three points behind the first-place Toronto and Boston clubs, the Rangers meet the Canadiens at Montreal tonight and the Red Wings at Detroit tomorrow. Even if it didn't move them to the top, a double win would give the Broadway Blueshirts something to throw in the faces of their attackers.

The main criticism in New York has been that the Rangers have no great individualist, like an Eddie Shore or a Syl Apps. Patrick has laid down a pattern of team play for the club, the argument goes, and the result has been a similarity in the playing style of every Ranger.

If Boucher can lift the swift-skating, pretty-passing Rangers above the pack, though, the antagonists will lose most of their argument. New York fans would be satisfied with a winning team even if it were composed of robots.

To let the Rangers ascend to the top, Toronto and Boston must lose their week-end engagements — which seems highly improbable. The Maple Leafs oppose the Americans at Toronto tonight and again at New York tomorrow night. Boston's Bruins meet the Black Hawks at Chicago tomorrow.

Oshawa Trims Marlboros 7-6

OSHAWA, Dec. 16.—Oshawa Generals, Memorial Cup champions and residents in the throne room of Canadian junior hockey, opened the 1939-40 defense of their trophies and laurels last night with a 7-6 victory over Hal Cotton's Marlboros in the local junior O.H.A. opener.

Remember When—

Ending a brief but hectic career, "Battling" Siki, Sengalese negro fighter, was found dead in New York's "Hell's Kitchen" 14 years ago tonight. The little boxer, who had won the light heavyweight title from Georges Carpentier in Paris in 1922, had been shot. Mike McTigue won the crown from Siki in Dublin in 1923.

$22,000 Yearling Of 1938 Saratoga Sales Yet To Make Appearance Under Silks

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Fourteen of the highest priced yearlings of 1938, purchased for a total of $196,300, earned, collectively, only $8,975 as 2-year-olds this year, less than 6 per cent of their original investments. All of which emphasizes the old saw that buying yearlings is still the greatest gamble in racing.

Six of them did not even get to the post, while only four managed to grace the winner's circle. Biggest flop of the 1938 Saratoga sales was Romanov, a son of Ksar-Duration, for which Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, patroness of the Brookmeade Stable, paid $22,000. He has yet to make his appearance under silks.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, owner of the Milky Way farm, one of the most active bidders at the annual sales, had no better luck. She paid $21,500 for Rough Passage and $10,500 for Tough Hombre. Rough Passage did not start, while Tough Hombre earned only $1,575.

Warren Wright, boss of Calumet Farm, bought Little Risk, a filly, for $16,000, while Millsdale Stable paid a like sum for Sir Mill. Little Risk won two races and placed twice in four starts, all she earned was $1,400. Sir Mill earned even less—exactly $200, for finishing second in his lone 1939 start.

H. M. Warner and Louis B. Mayer, movie moguls, also wound up with so-called "lemons." Warner paid $15,000 for Cinesar, and $11,000 for Sky Dog. Cinesar was left out of the money in five starts, while Sky Dog has never started. Mayer also bought Annapolis Blue for $13,000 and Sir Jeffrey for $11,300, and between them they earned a measly $150. Sir Jeffrey was in one race and finished second.

Then there was Star Hunter, for which John Hay Whitney paid $14,000, another that failed to run this year. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lunger, owners of the Christiana Stable, gave $12,000 for Briar Sharp and he has earned only $700. He finished second to Bimelech in the Saratoga Special—his best race—but the purse was all to the winner.

J. H. Louchheim, Philadelphia sportsman, thought he had the makings of a nice colt in Pharanor when he took him out of the yearling sales for $11,500. So far Pharanor has been a floperoo. He ran only once, finished second and earned $150.

The others that did not race to their costly price tags were Perfect Love and Call to Colors, although the latter has earned more than any of the others mentioned in this group. Mrs. E. Graham Lewis paid $12,000 for Perfect Love, which has never started, while Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, owner of the Manhasset Stable, bought Call to Colors for $10,500. This son of Pennant-Call Girl may yet prove his worth. He started four times, won two races, and took third in the Belmont Futurity, his best performance. Altogether he earned $4,800.

Native Sons Take Lead Over Frood

COPPER CLIFF, Dec. 16—Toronto Native Sons took a one-goal lead in the all-Ontario S.P.A. junior "A" final series last night when they scored a 5 to 4 victory over Frood Tigers, Northern Ontario's hope for the honor. The second game will be played in North Bay Saturday night.

Native Sons winged into a 1-0 lead in the first period and increased their margin to 5-2 in the second period. The scrappy Frood kids, playing their first game of the season, turned it on in the final period, and outscored the Toronto team 2-0.

Native Sons displayed a smoother-working team and seemed to be better-coached and outskated the Tigers. Chick Webster was the standout for the Toronto team, with his line-mates, Bobby Dew and Al Percival, also showing well.

Fights

By The Associated Press

New York—Len Jenkins, 129¼, Sweetwater, Tex., knocked out Billy Marquart, 134¾, Winnipeg (3). Steve Dudas, 196, Edgwater, N.J., outpointed Pat Comiskey, 207, Paterson, N.J. (8); Al Davis, 146¼, Brooklyn, knocked out Tippy Larkin, 138½, Garfield, N.J. (5).

Chicago—Billy Seward, 131¼, Ingomar, Mont., outpointed Tommy Parker, 135, Lexington, Ky. (6).

Kingston, N.Y.—Melio Bettina, 178, New York, former light-heavyweight champion, stopped Mario Liana, 179, South America (4).

Dallas—Bob Pastor, 183½, New York, outpointed Buddy Scott, 176½, Dallas (10).

Bob Pastor Wins

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 16—(AP).—Stout Bob Pastor, the former New York University halfback with a yen for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, Friday defeated the hometown boy, Buddy Scott, but he had to keep his rapier left going the full 10 rounds.

Constant poking of a stiff left jab kept the local lad off balance throughout the early rounds, but, as is his custom, he started getting bolder after the fifth round and chose to stand up and slug it out in the seventh, his only round.

Never did Scott, a lean lad with lots of boxing talent but few killing punches, actually threaten the challenger to Louis' crown, but he did edge in and win a round and hold the New Yorker even in a couple more.

CHRISTMAS BOOKS RIGHT OFF THE BOOKSHELF

Memories Of Blinkbonnie

To the thousands of persons who knew the Rev. William Allan and to the tens of thousands who never saw him but have heard him, "Memories of Blinkbonnie" will recall that most interesting set of weekly radio reminiscences of last winter. "Memories of Blinkbonnie" were assembled by Andrew Allan, his son after he returned from Scotland this fall following the loss of his father when the Ahenia was torpedoed.

This is a second book of musings by the pen of Mr. Allan and to those who have sat under him when he preached or have heard him on the radio can vividly in their minds see him telling these reminiscences. "Blinkbonnie" was ever in the heart of Mr. Allan. While you will not find it on any map of Scotland, nevertheless to Mr. Allan it actually did exist. In some sense it was his birthplace, beneath the changing cloud shadows on Ochil Hills; but in a larger sense, it was the local habitation and the name he gave to all his dearest dreams and aspirations. And in this sense "Blinkbonnie" ran like a golden thread through everything he wrote.

With the "Memories of "Blinkbonnie" Mr. Allan will ever live in the minds and hearts of those who knew him. The book is published by Thomas Nelson and Sons, $1.00.

Reviews

DID YOU KNOW that "THE REVOLUTION OF NIHILISM" went into seven printings within four weeks of publication? That in the November issue of "Reader's Digest" it appears in a condensed version for the Digest's 4,000,000 readers? And that its sale is now averaging one copy a day for each bookstore in the U.S.A.?

WHAT REVIEWERS ARE SAYING ABOUT KITTY FOYLE.

"KITTY FOYLE has every chance of being, and every right to be, a whopping best-seller," — Chicago Daily Tribune.

"A rare portrait of an American girl....so rare is Morley's art, so perfect his portrayal and tender his understanding, that to call it his book is to reduce its magnificent stature....It is Kitty Foyle's book as he intended it to be, it is her story, told in her language....Morley has created a character that will take its place among lasting American portraits."—New York Herald-Tribune.

A SCOOP! THE FIRST TALKING BOOK FOR CHILDREN.

MOTHER GOOSE ON PARADE is the first of a new series of unusual juveniles which are designed to provide children with a new kind of entertainment. The series will be known as "The Talking Book." Each book in it will have special phonograph record as a complement to the tex tand pictures. MOTHER GOOSE ON PARADE is illustrated in full color by Charlotte Steiner, already famous for her popular "Lulu." With it goes a 10-inch record on which the children will hear the verses sung, with appropriate sound effects. For instance, you hear as well as see Little Boy Blue blow his horn, Old Mother Hubbard's dog bark, Pied Piper play, and all the other things that happen in Mtoher Goose. The book sounds like a natural for the Christmas trade. The idea was developed by two advertising men Will Adams and John Drake. MOTHER GOOSE ON PARADE will be ready November 15, and the price will be $1.39.

Another juvenile which will be ready in time for the Christmas trade is GULLIVER'S TRAVELS. The book will be ready around December 1, and will be priced at only 75c. It will be the Official Popular-priced Movie Edition. The movie, backed by one of the biggest advertising and publicity campaigns in Paramount history, will be released for the Christmas season. Our edition of this great classic is a gay, colorful one, especially designed and written for small children, and illustrated by the famous cartoon animator, Max Fleischer.

STILL FURTHER PRAISE FOR HACKETT'S "QUEEN ANNE BOLEYN"

"A forceful and impressive picture of a period of ruthlessness, political imbroglio and religious conniving . . a book that never loses interest...Sometimes it is very hard to make the living blood flow through the flesh of characters, but Mr. Hackett has brilliantly accomplished this feat...A great historical novel."—New York Times Book Review.

GOOD NEWS! AND BIG NEWS!

Stock of Philip Guedalla's THE HUNDREDTH YEAR has just arrived. It is, of course, a sequel to "The Hundred Years." The Saturday Review of Literature says of it: "It is hardly necessary now to tell any literate persons how Philip Guedalla writes. This book reminds us that eighteenth-century grace with steel at the end of its hand may still be deadly; the thrusts, for instance, which impale Mr. Stanley Baldwin—as he was then—are as neat as Alexander Pope's. The manner of the book is familiar, but its method is newer, something that was aproached but not so firmly grasped in "The Hundred Years," a series of pictures of historic moments, brilliantly visualized and surrounded by compact comment."

Hugh Walpole has given us a brilliant psychological novel in THE SEA TOWER. Here are a few early reviews: "Mr. Walpole knows how to make his reader's hair stand on end."—The New Yorker. "It is Walpole's equivalent of 'The Women' and you will also find yourself comparing it with 'Rebecca'."—N.Y. Herald-Tribune.

WHAT ENGLAND IS READING

England is still reading, war or no war. In a radio broadcast from London, we heard an interesting commentary on what is popular in books. Apparently everybody is reading Noel Coward's TO SET ASIDE, which Doubleday is publishing in Canada on December 1st. Price, $2.75. This book of seven short stories is proving immensely popular, and is another proof of Noel Coward's versatility. Incidentally we hear that Noel Coward has joined the British Navy.

THE NEW YORK TIMES' REVIEW OF STALIN

"Boris Souvarine's STALIN is a work of first importance and a penetrating analysis of the evolution of a movement dedicated to the creation of a free, Stateless society into a personal totalitarian despotism... an excellent, comprehensive account of the whole Soviet revolution down to the present time."

HITLER'S TWELVE APOSTLES

An interesting book which is ready for publication comes from England. It has the strinking title of "HITLER'S TWELVE APOSTLES." Author, Oswal Dutch, whose previous books were "Thus Died Austria" and "Germany's Next Aims." Naturally the "apostles" are Hitler's henchmen —Goering, Goebbels, von Ribbentrop, Streicher, Dr. Ley, etc. A book that gives much interesting information on the men surrounding Hitler. Illustrated. $3.25.

Book Of Memories

Rev. William Allan, who lost his life on the Athenia, but whose last winter's radio messages have been compiled into book form known as the "Memories of Blinkbonnie" published for this Christmas season.

Prize Winning Books

On November 10th, the Swedish Academy announced that the 1939 Nobel Prize for Literature had been awarded to the Finnish novelist, Frans Eemil Sillanpaa. Up until this time it had been rumored that several prizes for 1939 including the Literary award might be postponed until next year.

The Julia Ellsworth Ford Foundation has awarded the $2,000 annual prize for 1939 for the best children's manuscript submitted in the usual contest to Elinor Blaisdell for her book "Falcon Fly Back."

Another prize was announced recently when the winner of the second All Nation's Prize Novel Competition, sponsored by ten foreign publishers, the Literary Guild of America and Farrar & Rinehart was declared to be Major Robert Henriques, a British army officer now on active service. His winning novel, "No Arms, No Armour" will be published by Oxford Press in Canada sometime in January. His novel is set around a background of the Blue Nile where he spent his first army years, trekking on camels across to the Dinder River on the Abyssinian frontier.

John Murray have announced that they will publish a book by Margaret Shay Gilbert, called "Biograph of the Unborn." It won a prize for the best book on a scientific subject for general reading. It is a story of the human embryo in the nine months before birth, and Murray's say that it is. "Of great interest to laymen as well as medical men."

Selecting Books About War

A number of booksellers have suggested that there should be compiled a list of good books about the war. Apparently they feel that such a list would aid materially in making suggestions to "war-minded' customers. One bookseller after making that suggestion, completed a letter by saying: "And after all about sixty per cent of my customers are war-minded these days."

Any attempt to compile a list of books about war would require a good deal of research and close study. Moreover when the list finally appeared there would be sure to be people who would take exception to some of the chosen titles. Such questions as:

"Should books by commentators and journalists be included?"

"Should good war novels merit a place?"

"Should books of history be included?"

are open to lengthy debate and raise points to which there can be no final answers.

Because the present conflict is peculiar in that most of the action has taken place upon the sea, naval books should be popular, and fortunately for the bookseller there are some very good standard works as well as some new books, in the course of preparation, which admirably cover the subject of naval operations. The standard authority of course is "Jane's Fighting Ships" which although its founder, A. T. Janes died in 1916, has been kept up-to-date ever since. A forthcoming volume is entitled, "Evolution of Sea Power" and is a symposium by naval officers and experts all of whom have drawn upon the practical experience gained in the last war. The naval editor of the Daily Telegraph in London, Hector C. Bywater, has added a new book on his special subject which is called "Cruisers in Battle" and is an account of the actions in which cruisers were engaged from 1914-1918. Based upon official results it is supplemented by personal letters from officers who took part. Again, the naval volume of the series "Deeds Which Held the Empire" is written by A. D. Devine, and is more or less an historical treatment brought up to date. Finally the most recent naval biography is "A Story of a Naval Life" by Admiral Sir Hugh Tweedy, who retired in 1936, after 46 years of service.

There are some very good general books on war, for instance: "The World in Arms," "In Defenec of Britain," "How Strong is Britain," "The Ramparts We Watch," "Strategy of Raw Materials," "What Will Happen and What to Do When War Comes," "How War Came," "The Revolution of Nihilism," "Ahriman, A Study in Air Bombardment," and some others.

Books by correspondents like Dorothy Thompson, John Gunther, Pierre Van Paasen, could be regarded as almost essential to a complete understanding of the conflict.

Biographies of Stalin and Hitler, and books by statesmen like Winston Churchill's new one, the Chamberlain book and Benes' "Democracy To-day and To-morrow," should also be included.

However, any list of books would not be complete without mentioning two inexpensive but very necessary items. First, "The British War Blue Book" published by Musson in Canada, and available also in the Penguin edition. And finally, "The Oxford Pamphlet," retailing at 10c. apiece, which are a magnificent contribution to clear thinking on the present armed conflict. Incidentally, Oxford are planning a series of Canadian pamphlets which deserve all the promotion that the book trade are able to give them. Booksellers might quite reasonably suspect some exaggeration from the publisher who asserts that books on the war are easy to sell now. Quite a few people still like to read war new in the newspapers, but there is no gainsaying that the increasing demand for the journalist surveys of European affairs that have been so popular during the last few years have paved the way for selling some of the works listed above.

Many booksellers have already set aside a table in a prominent position and are devoting it exclusively to a selection of books on the war which helps the intelligent Canadian to interpret garbled headlines and an oft-times over-zealous censor's blue-pencil.

William Arthur Breyfogle, whose name is rising from the mists of obscurity that surround most people, to a high place in Canadian letters. He is a Peterborough man, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle, 593 Weller street, and was a Rhodes scholar.

Jesuit Martyrs of Huronia

THE CHAMPLAIN ROAD, by Franklin Davey McDowell. Macmillan, $2.50.

This book is good and a credit to Canada.

For the first time the heroic story of the Jesuit martyrs of Huronia has been used by a Canadian author in fiction worthy of the theme. Mr. McDowell is Protestant in faith. And a widely known feature writer in Canada.

In the course of hunting copy he went to the Shrine which stands on a hill four miles from Midland on Georgian Bay and marks the place where Fort. Ste. Marie was three hundred years ago, the central home of the Jesuit missionaries. He began to read into that amazingly detailed primary source material of early Canadian history —the Jesuit Relations. He began to have the story feeling. And "The Champlain Road" is the result.

He has made the life lived three hundred years ago in and around Fort Ste. Marie one of the most realistically human stories we have in Canadian literature. It is without any doubt a Canadian classic. And a most interesting story. It opens with Father Rageneau, superior, in charge of the mission to the Huron Indians, looking far out over the country from the Look-out—on the hill that was behind Fort Ste. Marie—and seeing the smoke rise from the massacre of St. Joseph where Father Daniel was martyred. It was in the summer 1648 and the story moves slow into the detail of the last months the life of Fort Ste. Marie.

Apart altogether from its integrity to Canadian history, "The Champlain Road" belongs to the small fine treasury of literature the books which help us through story to reconcile the spirit, going its way through mortal defeat and personal suffering, with the unseen wisdom and leave us feeling the human story is not futile.

Fishing and transportation in the Netherlands have been seriously affected by the war.

Civil Defense Is Required For Canadians

Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne of Belleville gave Kiwanians a recipe yesterday for bringing realization of the meaning of the word "blackout" close to home in this country. "Just try going down cellar at night with the light out and fixing your furnace fire," he suggested. "Be careful of your language when you discover painfully that the furnace isn't where you thought it was."

Recently returned from England, he was speaking on "England Under War Conditions." He had a recipe for realization of the terror that comes with blackout. "Just imagine yourself walking along a perfectly dark street and seeing two dim lights looming up out of the night a short distance away. Then quickly feel for the edge of the sidewalk for fear you have wandered out into the middle of the road at a crossing—straight into the path of that oncoming bus whose driver can't see you by his feeble light."

In such fashion did he bring the realization of war close to his listeners. He told of the millions of gas masks that are being worn at all time by Englishmen going about their daily work, of the sight of the great balloon barrage about London, of the elaborate precautions being taken in homes in the event of air raids. For example, he said that each home contains a pail of water, a pail of sand, a long-handled shovel and a hand pump to combat incendiary bombs. He pointed out that such bombs only pierce through the roof of the house and then set fire to the remainder, unlike the explosive bomb which would demolish the building. When a householder hears an incendiary bomb fall he is expected to rush upstairs and cover the bomb first with sand, picking up fragments with the long-handled shovel, then spray the sand with a fine cloud of water by means of the hose.

He had praise for the way in which the English people are facing the reality of war, and praise, too, for the Prime Minister. "No man in the world has been criticized so freely and so unjustifiably as has Mr. Chamberlain," he declared.

Most amazing sight he encountered in England was that of the methods of civil defence that have sprung up, he said. He outlined the general plan of the country's defence and paid high tribute to the men guarding England. Scoring Canada for her lack of defence, he warned, "Don't run away with the idea we aren't vulnerable here. We are, and it behoves us to look to our defences."

He was introduced to the club by Leo Copp and Ernie Gregson moved a vote of thanks. Soloist of the luncheon was Miss Margaret Westbye, who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Edna Borland. Both are students at Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School.

Legal complications have handicapped the Government's rebuilding plans in the earthquake area of Chile.

Obituary

FREDERICK BOLTON.

The death of Frederick Bolton occurred Friday afternoon at his home near Burleigh Falls. He was in his 72nd year.

Born in Lakefield, he had lived in the district all his life. He was a member of the Anglican Church, of the Dummer Loyal Orange Lodge, and of the Norwood Black Preceptory.

Surviving are his wife, formerly Maggie Stone; two daughters, Mrs. Allen Douglas of Warsaw and Mrs. Kenneth Robinson of Peterborough; and five sons: Albert at home, Wilfred of Warsaw, Reginald of Warsaw, Alfred of Young's Point, and Norman of Burleigh Falls; also two brothers, Arthur of Harvey township and W. A. Bolton of Burleigh; and three sisters: Mrs. Archie Tedford of Dummer, Mrs. W. Beatty of Renfrew, and Mrs. W. G. Stone of Burleigh. (Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stone marked their golden wedding anniversary on the same day her brother died).

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence, Rev. Mr. Moore of Young's Point officiating. Interment will be at Hillside Cemetery, Lakefield.

Truck Carried 1,350 Feet By Train

Bent into a V-shape is this light delivery truck that carried two Peterborough youths to their death in a level crossing crash on Friday. The truck was carried 1,350 feet along the railway tracks by the speeding train and came to a halt in the position shown here—tossed on its side along the right-of-way. This picture was taken just as the train started to move off after the crash. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

Suspended Sentence Given Ex-Constable

Suspended sentence was meted out in police court this morning to William Harris-Smith after the latter had pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to charges of obtaining $5 under false pretences from W. Kenneth Hill and also to the theft of a fountain pen from the same complainant.

The accused who had been in jail for two weeks on remand at his own request changed his plea to guilty this morning.

His counsel, John A. Bradshaw, pointed out that it was Harris-Smith's first offence. "Restitution has been made in these two cases and also in regard to other matters," he told the court in urging leniency for the accused.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., said that he was satisfied with a suspended sentence and the Magistrate complied with the defence request on condition that the accused pay the expenses involved.

Supply Of Toys Is Assured Firemen

"Every needy youngster in the city is going to get a toy this Christmas," declared Fire Chief George Gimblett this morning. The department's 10-day drive for old toys ended at midnight last night and Chief Gimblett declared it had been successful. All that remains now is for firemen to work overtime until Christmas morning painting and repairing toys.

Chief Gimblett expressed his thanks to the people of this city for their generous response. "The need for toys was greater this year than in other years and the response has been correspondingly greater," he declared.

CHARGE DISMISSED.

After Ross Kimball had been convicted Friday on a charge of having assisted a young girl to escape from a training school, another charge of vagrancy that had been laid at the time as he was arrested was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.

COTTAGE ROBBED.

Provincial Constable David Silvester has received word that a summer cottage at Chemong Park has been broken into and possibly a number of articles stolen, but so far he has no particulars in regard to the affair.

CITY NOT TO BLAME.

If there is a shortage of water in the Otonabee River the city folk are not to blame. Reports presented to the Utilities Commission Friday show that the pumpage of water in November was 64,281,000 gallons, as against 70,421,000 gallons in the same month of 1938.

REACHES LAKE HEAD.

It was reported to the Utilities Commission Friday that in November the Hydro power line to Pringle's cottage near the mouth of Jack's Creek at the head of Stoney Lake was completed and in operation. The power line was in use in the Crowe's Landing sector during the past summer and has now been extended around the head of the lake.

CONSUMPTION DECREASED.

Gas consumption in Peterborough this year has decreased slightly reports from the gas department of the Utilities Commission show. However, there are 2,637 domestic customers, 164 commercial and ten industrial customers being served by the department.

24 MEMBERS ADDED.

On Friday night at the preparatory service held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr welcomed twenty-four new members into the congregation, making the total of new members added during the year as 72. St. Paul's membership now stands at the highest in the church's history.

CASE DISMISSED.

At Port Hope on Thursday Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell dismissed a charge of stealing clover seed laid against Earl Dixon, Lakefield, after witnesses had testified that Dixon was at home on the day the theft was committed. James McGill, assistant manager of a grain elevator company at Oshawa, identified accused as the man who had sold his firm clover seed under the name "T. Smith, Port Hope," and received a cheque for $112.25 which was cashed. When the accused was asked by the magistrate to write the name T. Smith for comparison with the name on the cheque he replied that he could not write.

CHRISTMAS PARTY.

Peterborough Rotarians will hold their Christmas party and ladies' day at the Empress Hotel at noon Monday. There will be a Christmas menu, Christmas carols and Christmas presents and the latter will afterwards find their way to the Children's Shelter for distribution among the children there.

A MINOR ACCIDENT.

As Rollie Windover, 33 Hunter Street West, was moving his car out from the curb on the east side of George Street, just south of Brock Street, where he had been parked Friday afternoon, his machine and that of A. M. Johnston, Port Hope-Peterborough Highway, who was travelling north on George Street, came into collision and both received fender damages.

HONORS SOLDIERS SONS

Belleville's 75 sons, who enlisted in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, will receive a pound sterling as a gift from the City of Belleville, upon their arrival in England wit hthe C.A.S.F., His Worship Mayor Bone announced. The suggestion of the presentation of some token of recognition for the Belleville boys who enlisted in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was thoroughly discussed at a recent City Council committee meeting and under the prevailing circumstances that surround the Canadian militia, the council voted to present each Belleville man in the Regiment a pound note sterling.

Skidding Car Hits Garage On Cavan Road

"There is no option in the matter," declared Magistrate O. A. Langley K.C. in police court this morning when John A. Bradshaw urged that the car-impounding penalty should not be inflicted in the case of his client Elmer Campbell, R.R. 4, who had pleaded guilty to having been drunk while in charge of a car.

Campbell was sentenced to seven days in jail and his counsel arguing that it was not a flagrant case, urged that his car should not be ordered impounded. While he could not drive it himself as his license would be suspended by the Highway Department, Mr. Bradshaw said the accused had sons who could drive his car and he needed it to get to and from work.

"That is all very fine," said Magistrate Langley "but it has been ruled that there is a peremptory order upon the police to impound the car for three months in all such cases. It is not a part of the sentence but the magistrate's duty is to instruct the police to see that the order is carried out."

Campbell had been arrested on Barnardo by Constables Clarke and Hardy after a complaint had been received by the police.

Car Is Impounded For Three Months

A skidding car played havoc with the front of the garage of Albert Tinney at Cavan Friday night in a spectacular accident in which the newly-fallen snow was a factor.

Jack Ferguson, R. R. 3, Peterborough, driver of the car, who was unfamiliar with the district, did not see a stop sign until he was close to it and when he applied his brakes his machine skidded on the snow and crashed into the front of Tinney's garage.

A number of cement blocks were knocked out of the front wall after the car had first hit a post, the glass in the front window was shattered, and a partition and the counters in the office were damaged.

The car sustained surprisingly little damage. The front bumper and grill showed signs of the impact but otherwise the machine escaped without injury. Ferguson and his two passengers were unhurt. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable J. Sutherland at Port Hope.

War 25 Years Ago

(By the Canadian Press.)

Dec. 16, 1914. — English east coast towns of Scarborough, Hartlepool, and Whitby bombarded by German cruisers, 113 killed, 400 wounded. Germans evacuated Dixmude, Belgium, advanced in the Argonne, and were repulsed in Alsace.

Dec. 1, 1914. — King George V. and Lord Kitchener inspected the First Canadian Division on Salisbury Plain. Brigadiers and battalion commanders left for Isle of Wight for special field training. British Protectorate proclaimed in Egypt.

Cyclist Is Tossed Over Car Bumper

Tossed over the bumper of an automobile and lighting heavily on the ground, Billy Brooks, 12, of 194 Hunter street, is suffering from lacerations, shock and possible concussion as the result of a collision between the bicycle on which he wa riding and a motor car driven by W. E. Perdue, 269 Rubidge street, shortly after 5 o'clock Friday evening.

The boy, with his father, George Brooks, who was also riding a bicycle, was travelling east on Charlotte street and Perdue was driving south on Queen street. The accident occurred at the intersection.

As a result of the war the number on relief rolls in Belgium rose from 188,729 to 235,018 in three weeks.

Heavy Increase In Power Required In City

Increased activity in Peterborough has been responsible, Manager Ross L. Dobbin declares in a report of electric operations here in November, submitted to the Utilities Commission at Friday's meeting for a jump upward in power consumption of almost 1,400 horse power over the peak in November of last year. The total was 11,000 horse power as against 9,623 horse power in the same month last year.

"Almost all the loads of local factories have increased during the month" Mr. Dobbin's report stated.

At yesterday's meeting a credit note of $15,450.50 was reported from the Ontario Hydro Commission on account of flat rate water heaters brought from the commission.

An agreement was tentatively reached with the Good Rich Refining Company for a supply of 80,000 gallons of gas oil at 8 2-5 cents per gallon for the use of the gas department.

A claim from W. J. Bull for damages because of an accident in which his car collided with a Hydro pole on Jackson avenue had been sent to the commission from the city council.

The commission took the stand that it was not liable and Mr. Bull will be notified accordingly.

Present at the meeting were G. S. Matthews, chairman, E. R. Shirley and Rolan Denne.

Home Owners Reduce Drafts

A spectacular test was made recently by the T.V.A. (Tennessee Valley Authority), community planning division, Knoxville, Tenn., between an insulated house and a non-insulated house under identical conditions of weather, living habits of the occupants, heating unit, etc.

It was found that air movement across floors was about 40 feet per minute in the uninsulated house and only 30 feet per minute in the insulated house. In other words, air in the uninsulated house travelled 33 1-3% faster, thereby contributing to dangerous draughts. Occupants in both houses were required to rise at 7 o'clock in the morning and turn the furnace on at high. The uninsulated house required from three or four hours to reach 72 degrees. The insulated house required only one hour to reach this desirable temperature. At night it was found that the insulated house retained furnace heat much better than the uninsulated house, causing bedrooms to be 10% warmer. Also floors where tiny children play were much warmer in the insulated house and heat was more evenly distributed. Mineral wool insulation is a 20th century contribution to better living and better health. Every home owner should avail himself of the increased comfort and high fuel saving which mineral wool insulation makes possible. Lumber and building supply dealers are able to provide full information and quickly estimate the cost of insulating any home. When installed at this season of the year insulation will give home owners full fuel saving through the balance of the winter and largely pay for the initial cost.

Noted Actor Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Alexander Frank, 73, English-born actor who as a youth carried messages to Prime Minister Gladstone and 45 years later took the role of Gladstone in the play, "Parnell," died yesterday after an extended illness. Frank left the London theatres at the turn of the century and came to the United States where he played in company with such actors as Mrs. Leslie Carter, George M. Cohan and the Barrymores.

King Or Death

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Dec. 16.—(AP) Old Joe, dethroned king of Pennsylvania's only Buffalo herd, is to be "executed" by a firing squad Monday because he just won't be bossed. A younger bull overthrew the 2,100-pound king a few weeks ago and took over leadership of the herd at the Trexler-Lehigh county game preserve.

Keepers said Old Joe brooded over defeat, became dangerous and disrupted the discipline of the herd.

Westwood W.I. Plans Some War Work

WESTWOOD, Dec. 16—(ENS). — Over twenty members attended the December meeting of the Women's Institute on Tuesday afternoon in the Town Hall. The president, Mrs. James Clysdale presided.

The Christmas spirit featured the meeting, beginning with an exchange of gifts in answer to the roll call. Excitement ran high as each member unwrapped and displayed her dainty gift, thanking the donor.

During a lengthy business discussion it was decided to hold a public meeting, for both men and women of the community, on January 8, for the purpose of considering the best ways and means of organizing for war work.

Anumber of letters of appreciation were read by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Aubrey Wood. Next month the meeting will be devoted to the library of which Mr. Lawrence Doherty is librarian. Donations of books, new or used, or money will be very acceptable.

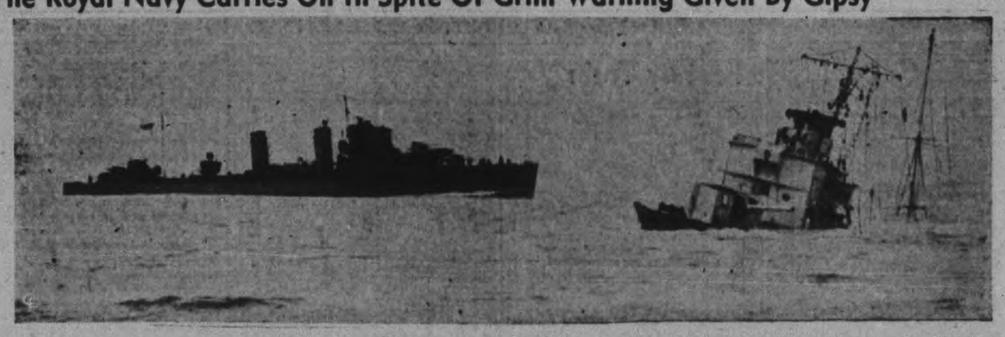
A number of Christmas carols and hymns were sung with Mrs. Birdsall at the piano.

The lucky jar was won by Miss Edna Clysdale. Conveners of current events and a contest for the January meeting will be Mrs. J. Clysdale and Mrs. S. Graham respectively.

A splendid report of the annual convention held in Toronto at the Royal York Hotel, November 22-24 was given by the delegate, Mrs. Fred Faux. Misses Edith Bray and Rita Faux were appointed to take charge of a bazaar table, where a varied assortment of articles were sold at the close of the meeting.

Following the bazaar, dainty refreshments were served and all enjoyed a social time.

The Royal Navy Carries On In Spite Of Grim Warning Given By Gipsy



In spite of the grim warning given by the battered wreckage of the British destroyer Gipsy, another destroyer of the Royal Navy carries on its duty of patrolling the sea along England's coast. The Gipsy was broken in two and sent to the bottom when she struck a German mine after altering her course to rescue two German airmen, whose plane crashed into the sea after being driven off while attempting to attack London. The Gipsy struck the mine after bringing the two airmen to shore for medical attention.

Gifts For Home Are Acceptable

Christmas gifts for the home-combining luxury and necessity in an all year-round Christmas reminder, have become increasingly popular and acceptable, especially to the housewife. Radios, refrigerators, lamps and other pieces of household furniture have been finding their way down chimneys and into Christmas stockings during the past few years.

To the chatelaine of the home, there are possibly no gifts more welcome than those which add to the attractiveness of the surroundings in which she spends so many hours, and those which increase her leisure hours by their time-saving devices.

For example, for the housewife who spends many weary hours in the kitchen, one of the modern labor-saving sinks or other kitchen conveniences, would make an ideal and original gift, suggests the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating. A modern planned kitchen is probably the dream of every housewife, and a new sink as the first step towards its realization is a Christmas gift which loses nothing in sentiment and will be received with joyful approval.

Home conveniences and improvements of all kinds offer ideal avenues for Christmas gift investments, says the Institute. As a gift from "Father to the family," the installation of a shower, if the home is lacking in this convenience, or the renovation of basement space into a "rumpus room" would be keenly appreciated by all members of the household.

W.M.S. Contributes Annual Love Gift

COTTLESLOE, Dec. 16—(ENS).—Owing to illness, the attendance at the December meeting of the W.M.S. was small. The Christmas program "Jesus the light of the World" was followed. A missionary reading was given by Mrs. Toms, Mrs. J. E. Gallagher rendered a solo "The Light of Life." Missionary Windows was given by Mrs. Webster. The Study Book was taken by Mrs. Patterson, assisted by Mesdames McMillan, Gallagher and Toms.

The election of officers took place and little change was made. Mrs. Blakley being returned for the second year as president. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Kidd.

Y.P.U. Meets

The Y.P.U. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallagher, with a splendid attendance. The worship service was in charge of the president with prayer by Mrs. Gallagher; Bible readings by Everett Toms and roll call was answered by a verse of scripture. Readings were given by Madeline Toms and Mrs. C. Cooper.

At the close a half hour of games and contests were supervised by Mac Webster. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Barr.

Taylor last night announced establishment of a New Brunswick agricultural supplies committee to co-operate with the Dominion Agricultural supplies committee and serve as a medium for the federal committee, the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the producers of New Brunswick.

Cottesloe W.M.S. Re-elects Officers

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 16—(ENS). — The annual "Love Gift" meeting of the W.M.S. of the Lakefield United church was held on Wednesday evening when the members met at the lovely home of Mrs. James Hendren, Water street, Lakefield.

The Love Gift is an added contribution which the members place in mite boxes at any time when there is the occasion to be especially thankful for any added blessing.

Mrs. P. Darling, president, opened the meeting by reading a poem suitable to the occasion and season. Different members of the society read extracts from the broadcast delivered last Christmas from the International Congress in Madras, when representatives of about seventy different nations sent greetings.

A Christmas hymn was sung, with Mrs. J. McKercher at the piano. The liberal response of the mite boxes, it was found, will bring the receipts of the W.M.S. to about $400.

Following a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess for her kind hospitality, dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

The society has accepted the invitation of Mrs. F. J. Burgess to hold their next regular meeting at her home on the second Tuesday in January.

Progress of the Russian-Finnish war is shown on this self-explanatory map. The territory seized by the Red invaders has cost the Soviet a terrific toll in dead and wounded as the Finns continue to fight desperately in the face of overwhelming odds.

Housing Act Still In Force

That the benefits of the National Housing Act are still available to everybody who has started construction since the first of last June or who intends to begin before the end of next May is made clear in a letter received by the city clerk's office from F. W. Nicholls, director of housing.

The communication says:

I have to inform you that Order-in-Council P.C. 4021 was passed on the 5th day of December under and by virtue of Section 22 of the above part, which limits the period in which construction of a house may be commenced, by those wishing to qualify for taxation benefits, to the 30th day of May, 1940.

This as you will note has shortened the period by seven months but it in no way affects applicants who had or intend to commence construction between the period of the 1st of June, 1938, to the 30th of May, 1940, from making application in the usual way."

The letter then quotes the order-in-council as follows:

"No municipal taxes shall be paid by the Minister of Finance to a municipality in respect of any house, the construction of which is commenced on or after May 31, 1940."

Better Basements Are Essential

The general functions of the basement are ordinarily to house the heating plant and auxiliary equipment such as water heaters, water softeners, the laundry and storage space. In addition to this, it is an ideal place for a game or recreation centre.

In laying out the basement, the most desirable location of the boiler is the first point to determine. With this decided, the remaining elements of the basement more or less naturally fall into their place. Your heating contractor can advise regarding the most suitable heating system for any particular requirement. For example, the greater headroom offered by a steam or hot water plant is often an important consideration in planning a usable recreation room. With the better automatic heating systems a clean basement is assured regardless of the fuel burned, and it is possible to have a game room, work shop, or recreation room in the basement. These, of course, may be designed, decorated and laid out to suit individual fancy. And the laundry, whether in the basement or adjoining the kitchen, offers a splendid chance for functional planning. It should be laid out so that the clothes move in a direct line from the time they enter the laundry until they leave. A well-equipped laundry must have ample laundry tray space. These laundry tubs should be glistening white, easy to clean.

Modern Kitchen Sinks Big Aid To Housework

No single item of equipment in the home gives greater service than the sink. It is used constantly for countless household tasks.

A well designed, well built sink means countless hours saved in kitchen duties—a more pleasant, more comfortable home besides. Such a sink incorporates many features; it is just the right height for comfort; it has a low back which fits easily beneath windows; faucets and spout are within easy reach of the fingers yet out of the way of the washing; there are removable strainers in the sink compartments to catch crumbs and fruit parings, and there is a retractable hose spray which is a great aid in cleaning vegetables and in washing dishes. Many of these new models can be installed with all-steel cabinets which have ample storage space for pots and pans as well as drawers for other kitchen accessories.

Other advantages of the modern kitchen sink are available from any architect, plumbing contractor or master plumber.

DO YOU KNOW
That the National Housing Act is still in force for loans up to $4,000 to finance building of private dwellings. For each $1,000 borrowed for a 20-year period, it requires $6.54 per month to cover interest and principal, plus taxes of 1-12 of the amount required for year's taxes.
Furthermore if you build a home in 1940 you get the first year's taxes on the house thrown in; 50% of second year and 25% of third year. Pretty nice offer, isn't it? For further information see—

Soldiers' Socks Are To Be Longer

Women will play their knitting needles more than they had thought to in this war. Legs of socks must be longer, and new military uniforms are responsible for the change.

The Army Ordnance Department of the Canadian Active Service Forces has issued the statement. It was announced at Red Cross headquarters in Toronto that the regiation sock should be "sixteen inches when finished from top of cuff to underheel." Apart from this there is no change. The number of stitches cast on remains the same, the length of the feet is unaltered. It is merely a matter of increasing the length of the leg.

Household Assistants' Training Course To Open

The Y.W.C.A. Educational Committee, at a meeting of the Board of Directors this week, announced the opening of a Household Assistants' Training Course on January 17. The class is to be limited to thirty, and because of the popularity of this course in recent years, registrations should be made early.

The committee has completed arrangements for a presentation of pictures of the visit of the King and Queen on January 18. Twelve students have already registered for the Bible Study course, which will be held Tuesday evenings at 6.45 to 8 o'clock, commencing January 9. The Handcraft classes completed their course in pewter, leather and felt last week.

Reporting for the Girls' Work Department, Mrs. H. Paige Rowell mentioned the Collegiate Supper Club of 90 enthusiastic members, who are holding a dance in the Christmas holidays. The 38 Club reported 12 new members, and enthusiasm in their hostess course; the Happy Hour Club of 35 members donated a fine basket to the club rooms, and are holding a dedication service this week; the Old Country Club has been busy knitting for the Red Cross and making novelties for the bazaar. A new club for unemployed has been organized with an average attendance of 18, and meets each Thursday from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. The Keen Club meets for lunch 3 days each week, and is especially interested in handcraft and discussions. The two Saturday Junior Clubs have an attendance of 40.

De Laval Group Holds Successful Winter Party

The De Laval Social and Athletic Association was host at a winter party in the Y.M.C.A. Thursday evening, which was attended by well over two hundred members. The guests were welcomed by the Association president, Mr. G. H. Cutmore, and Mr. G. A. Macdonald.

The large gathering enjoyed many activities, including bowling, ping-pong, checkers, billiards, cards and dancing. The Y.M.C.A. officials co-operated in fine spirit, with physical instructor Al. Clarke leading a gym class exhibition, and Gordon Minty holding a fine swimming show in the big "Y" pool.

Arrangements were capably carried out by the following: Refreshments, Miss Phyllis Lawrence; cards, Mr. T. Griffin and Mr. W. Winterbottom; music, Mr. E. Abraham; games, Don McIntyre; bowling, Mr. P. W. Johnson; music for square dance, Mr. W. Conroy and Mr. J. Stewart; special music, Mr. Fred Griffin.

At supper time Mr. Wm. Sangster, Mr. G. H. Cutmore and Mr. G. A. McDonald officiated at the drawing of prizes, which resulted as follows: Door prizes, Mrs. D. Wood, Mr. Ken Hewitt; card prizes, Mrs. Fred Griffin, Mr. Wm. Cooke, Mr. R. Galbraith, Mr. E. Styles; bowling prizes, Miss Olive Childs, Miss Edith Abraham, Mr. J. Lee, Mr. H. Hammer; spot dance, Miss Doris Armstrong, Mr. Lloyd Grose.

Branch Notes

ST. JOHN'S BRANCH

The meeting took the form of a musical night, with only a few members present. There was a short business meeting at the start of the evening followed by the singing of carols. A questionnaire was read on some interesting facts about music. The evening's entertainment was under the direction of Fred Hooper and Wilf. Gynane. The program ended with some dancing.

ST. GEORGE'S BRANCH.

The annual Christmas party was held on Thursday evening, with about thirty members present. A very entertaining program had been arranged and after games and dancing, refreshments were served by the social convener, Miss E. Millard, and her committee. The evening closed with the singing of God Save the King.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended, by the president, to Mrs. King, Mrs. Ray and to the social committee.

There will be no regular meeting next week as members have been asked to attend the carol service on Wednesday evening instead.

ALL SAINTS' BRANCH

About twenty members of All Saints' A.Y.P.A. on Monday night participated in packing a bale of toys and miscellaneous Christmas gifts for the Rev. Horace Ashmore and his parishioners at Paddockwood, Sask. Under the leadership of Miss D. White's work committee the workers carefully packed and dispatched almost a hundred different articles to bring a little of Yuletide happiness to many of the impoverished settlers in the northern part of that province.

At the completion of the work program a short business session was held. With Miss Selena Buck in the chair final arrangements for the forthcoming entertainment of some of the children of the parish, were made. The meeting was drawn to a close by a short sing-song of favorite Christmas carols.

BOWLING

We wish to draw to the attention of all A.Y.P.A. bowlers the annual Christmas prize roll to be held at Duffus' Alleys tonight. Arrangements have been made for the use of all 16 alleys, so that everyone attending will be able to bowl three full games. The schedule has been postponed for the evening, therefore team standings will not be affected by the scores turned in.

Fourteen prizes will be distributed as follows: Ladies and Men's High Singles, Ladies' and Men's High Threes, and 14 Blind scores. We would like to have the best possible turnout, so try to be one hand. And, above all, please be on time.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH

Art Sayers' group was in charge of Thursday night's meeting which was the last one of this year. A large variety of games including musical baseball and musical chairs were played.

Blowing a feather over a piece of string almost winded the participants but added lots of fun. At the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Members are asked to help with the decorating of the church next Thursday evening. There will be no further meeting until Jan. 4th.

Over 300 Attend Yuletide Program

One of the most successful Christmas entertainments yet held, with over 300 in attendance, was presented in Murray Street Baptist Church Friday evening, when the annual Sunday school program and Christmas tree party took place in the Sunday school rooms.

Decorations, arranged by the Young Men's Class, of which Mr. H. Mills is teacher, were unusual and beautiful. Streamers of red, green and white formed a canopy overhead from a star emblem to the balcony railings, and two stately Christamas trees flanking the platform were gay with lights and Yuletide motifs.

An important feature was the presentation by Dr. A. J. Madill, superintendent of the Sunday school, and Mr. W. G. Shiner, secretary-treasurer, of books for faithful attendance each Sunday, and Temperance certificates from the Women's Christian Temperance headquarters, to a number of the members who had successfully completed the course.

A Yudetitde program of excellent quality, with its highlight a presenation of white gifts by the various departments of the Sunday school, which will later be used to pack from twenty-five to thirty baskets of Christmas cheer, was as follows: Selections by the Sunday School Orchestra, and by the Junior Choir; guitar numbers by Mrs. Helen Ludbrook Galvin, Miss Velma Scott, Miss Grace Hunt, Miss Jean McIlwain, and Mr. James Sands; solos by Miss Mona Gibson; a piano duet by Miss Edna Borland and Miss Barbara Nicholls, and two playlets, "The Christmas that Bounced," directed by Miss Ruth Ellis, in which the following players took part: Barbara Pearson, Wm. Ellis, Jr., June Wallis, Kenneth Gillespie, Jean Metcalfe, Della Smedmor, Reta Burgess, and "A Christmas Revolt," in which the junior players, directed by Miss Marion Wray, were Robt. Kennedy, Jack Sutcliffe, Betty Yelland, Peggy Blewett, Donald Grant, Marion Cocks, Jack Harding, Mr. Walter Fitzgerald assisted with both productions.

Books for regular attendance each Sunday were awarded to: Paul Frise, Marion Colley, Jack Sutcliffe, Betty Yelland, Gray Zavitz, Robert Frise, Raymond Sutcliffe, Joan Smedmor, Rosaline Lasenby, Thelma Zavitz, Betty Wilson, Davis Graham, Lois Whatley, Margaret Wynne.

Intermediate Temperance certificates: Honors, June Wallis, Joyce Foster, Joan Smedmor, Raymond Sutcliffe, Catharine Scott, Billy Wilson, Marion and Blanche Quinn, Verna Yelland, Duncan Watson, Hugh Watson, Hugh Graham, Thelma Zavitz. Pass: Dorothy Anderson, Betty, Jack and Peggy Blewett, Betty Brown, Verna Buchanan, Rosaline Lasenby, Jessie Mines, Jack Matthews, Audrey Metcalfe, Lorna Parrott, Orville Sellon, Joan Stenton.

Certificates were presented as follows: Jr. Temperance certificates, honors: Helen Quinn, Donald Grant, Viola Parrott, Howard Hempstead, Gray Zavitz, Jack Sutcliffe. Pass: Barbara Brown, Marion Colley, Kenneth Eason, Bobby Frise, Donald Frise, Catherine Graham, Jack Harding, Norman Harris, Betty Yelland.

DOROTHY DIX

Most Wives Should Be Thankful When Their Husbands Keep Their Silence, For They Are Satisfied With Life—When They Become Critical It Is Time To Watch Things.

IF I were asked to specify the one particular thing above all others that makes marriage a failure for women and turns it into cinders, ashes and dust, I should unhesitatingly say it is their husbands taking them for granted.

Somehow, it is their special peeve. More tears are shed over husbands who never remember anniversaries, or notice when their wives have a new hair-do, or tell their wives how much younger and prettier they look than any of the debutantes, than are over philanderers, or drunkards, or whatever it was they drew in the matrimonial lottery.

To this column come every year hundreds of thousands of letters from women telling of their domestic woes, and in more than half of them the wife's vrievance is that her husband takes her for granted. She will tell of what a fine character he is and how high he stands in the community. She will say that he is sober and moral and that in all of the twenty-five or thirty years they have been married he has never even so much as looked at another woman. She will say that he is good and kind, considerate and easy to live with, and that he is a fine provider and generous to her; that she has a beautiful home, fne clothes, her own car, trips South in the Winter and North in the Summer.

But—boo-hoo, boo-hoo—he takes her for granted! He doesn't ell her how he loves her and how he would jump in the river if anything untoward happened to her. He doesn't tell her what a wonderful manager she is and what a good cook, and how fortunate he is to have got such a paragon of a wife. He just eats his good dinner without making any comment on it and subsides in his comfortable chair with his paper without even bothering to talk much. He doesn't notice her any more than if she were a picture on the wall or the fire on the hearth. He just takes her for granted. Hence these lamentations and breast beatings.

Now these unhappy women have my sympathy because an imaginary sorrow can make you just as miserable as a real one. Also, if you crave to be fed on chocolate creams, it is gooey sweetness you want and not rare roast beef and potatoes. Furthermore, since the women who are starving for a little flattering and jollying have no hesitation in making their wants known, it is not only mean and chinchy, but also stupid of men not to oblige the ladies. Nothing else in the world is so cheap as words, and if a few compliments will make a wife happy and contented, why in the world shouldn't her husband dish them out to her? Especially as most husbands really do think that their wives are the Great and Only and prove what pickers they were.

But, anyway, in the slang of the day, women don't get it when they interpret their husbands taking them for granted as an insult. In reality, it is the grandest tribute that a husband can possibly pay his wife, because it shows that he is perfectly satisfied with her and he doesn't consider it necessary to be continually calling attention to her virtues, for no matter how good a stunt she pulls off, it is no more than he expected of her.

He doesn't feel that he has to tell her every day that he loves her. He is proving that by the hard work that keeps her soft and comfortable. He doesn't rave over her being a faithful wife and a good mother and an excellent housekeeper because he has never thought of her in any other way than as a woman of high principles who would live up to her ideals and do her duty in every condition of life. It is a pity that women can't get this slant on the subject and see that the reason their husbands take them for granted is because they admire them so much and have such confidence in them that they feel that they do not have to ballyhoo it any more than they would the fact that they were honest men, or it was a lovely day and that they were feeling fine. We take our blessings for granted. It is our misfortune that we cry aloud to heaven. In reality, the time for a woman to get worried about her husband is when he begins parading his affection.

Just as no one tells us how young we are looking until we begin to show signs of age, so the wives with kissing-bug husbands who are always handing out bouquets are the ones who need to watch their fences, not the women who are married to the good, old-fashioned take-'em-for-granted husbands. They can rest in peace.

FASHIONS

The lowered, pointed waistline of this new frock is most becoming to the school age crowd. It helps to give your young daughter a smartly ripped in waistline. Plain combined with plaid is a grand, colorful formula that goets right to the heart of every fashion wise little girl. Either piping or button trim to accent the blouse seaming that reflects the military influence seen in grown-up fashions. Make this dress for her to wear right now or as a gift for her to find under the tree on Christmas morning. There is no doubt that she will be delighted with her new frock.

Style No. 3063 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1¼ yards of 39-inch material for skirt, collar and cuffs; ⅞ yard for blouse.

Do You Know?

Ever tried floor polish for cleaning windows? Makes them clear and bright and they stay clean longer.

When dyeing garments, tack them with long stitches and add a spare piece of material to the dye. After dyeing carefully, take out the tackig and you will have both material and cotton for mending.

No last minute risk of spoiling the appearance of your cakes if you cover the cooling rack with a sheet of waxed paper before turning them out on it. So much more hygiene, too. It's impossible to keep that wire entanglement really clean.

For Quick Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

Splendid Results. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

You'll be surprised how quickly and easily you can overcome a bad winter cough, when you try this well known recipe. It gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money and you'll find it very pleasant and dependable, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle. Add your syrup and you have 16 ounces of medicine that will surprise you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine—children love it.

This home mixture takes right hold of a severe cough. For real results, you'll say it's splendid. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Banks wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Margaret, to Francis Edward, youngest son of Mrs. Sidwell and the late Mr. George Sidwell of Hamilton. The marriage to take place January 20.

DIED

BOLTON, Frederick. — On Friday, December 15, 1939, at his home near Burleigh Falls, Frederick Bolton, beloved husband of Maggie Stone, in his 72nd year. Funeral on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late residence; Rev. Mr. Moore of Young's Point officiating. Interment at Hillside Cemetery, Lakefield.

WAGAR (Gordon) Norman K. — Accidentally on Friday, December 15, 1939, Norman K. Wagar, in his 19th year. Remains resting at the D. Belleghem and Sons' Funeral Home, 199 Hunter street west, until Saturday evening, then to his late residence, 253 Wolfe street. Funeral, Salvation Army Temple, Monday, December 18, at 2 p.m. Interment in Little Lake Cemetery.

McMASTER, Arthur Floyd.—Accidentally on Friday, December 15, 1939, Arthur F. McMaster in his 19th year. Remains resting at the D. Belleghem and Sons' Funeral Home, 190 Hunter street west, until Saturday evening, then to his late residence, 496 Stewart street. Funeral from Salvation Army Temple, on Monday, December 18.

IN MEMORIAM

WITHERS.—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. William Withers, who entered into rest December 17, 1932.

Seven years have passed, dear mother,
Since the angels came for you,
Yet through the mist of these long years
Your face comes smiling through.
Each lonely hour that we have spent
Is woven through and through
With golden threads of memory
Dear mother of you.
But we know some day we'll join you,
And with all parting o'er,
We'll stand once more beside you
Upon that shining shore.

—Lovingly remembered by husband and daughter, Mrs. E. Sutherland.

CARD OF THANKS

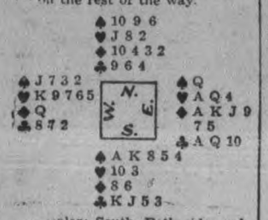
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

AT LEAST TRY HIM OUT

EVEN THOUGH your partner's first bid was forced out of him by your informative or takeout double, he nevertheless may hold a few cards of value. If your own hand is so strong that you need very little from your partner to produce a slam, it is worth a try in order to find out if he has something. Even if his hand is next thing to worthless, he probably has about one honor card of some kind, sufficient to keep your slam try from being costly in case he has to pass it. But if he has a couple of well-placed honors, he can [illegible] on the rest of the way.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South's opening 1-Spade on this deal was passed to East, who doubled. West answered with 2-Hearts, whereupon East forced with 4-Diamonds. When West this time bid 4-Hearts, East passed, and at mere game it was played. The only trick lost was to the spade K, and an argument ensued between East and West.

East pointed out that his partner had shown him nothing except five-card length in hearts, and might not have an honor in his hand, since West's first bid was forced out of him by the double and the second by the diamond jump. That is true enough, but the probabilities, since South did not bid again and North did not, favored West having just a tiny bit of honor strength.

Had East, over the 4-Hearts, raised to 5-Hearts, West said he would have accepted the invitation to small slam, because he had the heart K, which had not been shown and a splendidly placed Q in his partner's diamond suit, which being singleton would help his partner to ruff up the suit if necessary over South, who had shown where the strength of the opponents lay. West could know from the bidding that North was nearly blank of any real strength.

Monday's Problem

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

What bidding would you recommend on this deal?

Percy Institute Donates Books

WARKWORTH, Dec. 16—(ENS). The December meeting of the Percy W.I. was held on Wednesday afternoon in the Council Chamber, with a very large attendance of members and a few visitors. Mrs. Hutchinson opened the meeting. The motto, "On earth peace, good will to men," was given by Mrs. James Black.

The business included planning for a card party to be held on January 5, and a committee was formed to make arrangements. A special meeting for the demonstration on meat cooking will be held on January 10, when the ladies will enjoy another pot-luck dinner.

In keeping with the Christmas season favorite carols were sung with Mrs. C. Puifer at the piano.

Mrs. James Black was in the chair for the following program: Mrs. Leigh Isaac gave a splendid paper on "Keeping Christmas in the Home." This was followed by a sing-song of Christmas carols. Mrs. Fred Denike gave an interesting report of the second day at the Belleville convention. She brought home the facts that now as never before the Institute women are needed for home and country and be prepared to step into any emergency.

A splendid donation of books was presented to the local library by the members and Miss Blanche Baker, the librarian, expressed her appreciation on behalf of the Library Board.

Home-made candy was sold during the afternoon and the members enjoyed the usual exchange of Christmas gifts.

At the close lunch was served by the hostesses and the lunch committee, and the singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

Personals.

Miss Blanche Baker spent Tuesday in Peterborough.

Mrs. W. J. Baker visited her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Wilson, on Tuesday.

ship, the German said simply, "they aimed effectively."

With dead and wounded strewn about, the remainder of the crew in confusion and Langsdorff himself slightly injured, he desperately tried to run to sea in the hope of engaging each of his tormentors in turn.

All Moves Beaten

"But my every attempt at manoeuvre was frustrated," he admitted. "The command of the British squadron, operating from the crippled Exeter, ordered the Achilles and Ajax to close in.

"The Achilles and the Ajax, both risking more than seemed credible, even in the high moments of a battle, crossed through a smoke screen that one of them laid, and got within a mile of the Admiral Graf Spee, scoring some effective hits on both sides of our ship."

The Exeter was out of the fight by then, but took up a position to the north, preventing any German sally in that direction.

Flight Best Strategy.

At this point, Langsdorff found flight his best strategy, and after scoring a hit "either on the Ajax, or the Achilles, I cannot recall exactly," turned southward.

Then began what the British Admiralty called "a running flight," with the naval warships blazing away as they sped down the Uruguayan coast.

The Ajax and the Achilles surged ahead in the stern chase, and even the battered Exeter stuck doggedly to the pursuit at a slower pace.

Near Wolf Island, somewhere between Punta Del Este and Montevideo, Langsdorff said the British vessels came "perilously near."

At least one new victim of the sea warfare was disclosed with the arrival at Rotterdam, Holland, of 11 members of the crew of 20 of the Ursus, 1,499-ton Swedish vessel which sank off the English coast yesterday after an explosion apparently caused by a mine or a torpedo.

The Ursus raised the two-day total of sinkings to four British and three neutral ships and indicated a loss of about 80 lives.

Reports in Rotterdam said also the 5,217-ton Greek steamship Germaine had gone down in the Atlantic, and that the Netherlands steamship Pennland had picked up the crew.

Train Strikes

An inquest has been ordered for next Wednesday night.

There will be a double funeral on Monday afternoon for the two victims of Friday's level crossing accident in North Monaghan, Arthur McMaster and Gordon Wagar. It will be held at the Salvation Army Temple at 2 o'clock, and Adjutant Buckley will officiate.

Arthur McMaster was eighteen years of age and was born in Bowmanville, coming to Peterborough as a small child. He was a son of William A. F. McMaster and Cora Pearl Matthews and his relatives live at 496 Stewart Street.

Gordon Wagar was for many years associated with the Central Ontario News Company here as a delivery boy and was known to scores of Peterborough business people as "Old Faithful," a nickname that followed him to the time of his death. He was known to people who ordinarily would not be expected to know a boy of his year, for he managed to turn up wherever there was excitement or news. At fires he was on the scene before the fire department a good deal of the time, racing off on a bicycle at the first sound of the alarm. Reporters came to know him well for he was always telephoning them to give news leads.

When he lay unidentified at the crash yesterday one of those reporters recognized him.

and so few have ended."

The task of combating this menace, says Brooks, is twofold.

By the expression of opinion: "....to allow heresies against the British tradition to pass unchallenged or uncontroverted from contempt, is to betray those who most need support and reassurance in a time when principles and ideals are being tried to their utmost by adverse circumstances."

He calls this the propagation of "Englishry."

"It demands the abandonment of those affections which have been the social virtues of the days when men were not ashamed to wear their hearts on their sleeves. It demands the valor of that unfashionables quality—enthusiasm."

Secondly, there is the practical work of providing aid to those whose old livelihoods "are menaced if not ruined by the Great Shift."

This should be done by the organized bodies of the "black-coat" workers.

Brooks sees on the other hand, that "myriads of British workers, who had been honestly misled, lost forever their bedrudgged infatuation for Moscow," following Russia's grab of Poland and attack on Finland and can be rallied to support Westminster if "they are assured that the social justice and economic sanity which they sought in the Russian mirage can be found in British reality.

Ciano Blames

the war when he visited the Fuehrer and German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop at Salzburg last August.

Ciano said Italy is opposed to formation of a Balkan bloc of neutral powers, contending such a step would be useless, but he reaffirmed the Italian policy "to maintain and consolidate peace and order in the Danubian and Balkan sectors."

He was critical of Anglo-French negotiations for an anti-aggression bloc before the Soviet joined Germany to invade Poland, arguing they had resulted only in the non-aggression alliance between Moscow and Berlin.

"If the great democracies had only ignored Russia, Germany would have had good reason to do likewise," he said.

"For what directly regards us, I will say that the question had been croached with the German Government as far back as April and May, and that at that time we had agreed to proceed to a policy of lessening the tension with regard to Russia.

"Our objective was to arrive at neutralization of Russia and keep her from entering the encirclement line-up planned by the great democracies. . .

"At Saltburg I was apprized of the fact that commercial negotiations conducted in Moscow had proceeded favorably, giving rise to hopes of further development.

"And finally, on the evening of August 12, at 10 p.m., Von Ribbentrop telephoned me that he intended to go to Moscow the next day to sign a non-aggression pact between Germany and Russia."

Ciano blamed the peace treaties after the last war for having brought Europe to this war.

He said Mussolini had predicted in May 26, 1927, that crucial moments in European history would come between 1935 and 1940, and that war would be certain unless the treaties were revised.

"That peace treaties had lacerated Europe dividing it definitely between the victorious and defeated states, and placing the latter in a condition of permanent subjection."

Ciano claimed Poland was the last country that would have been involved in Germany's claim for revision of the peace treaties.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM J. BATEMAN.

MARMORA, Dec. 16—(ENS). — Following a lingering illness, William Johnson Bateman died at his home in Marmora at noon on Wednesday, in his fifty-seventh year. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Bateman of Rawdon Township, and for the greater part of his life followed the occupation of cheesemaker. He moved to Marmora from Camden East about three years ago.

He is survived by his widow, three sons: Harold, Verona, and Ernest, Blairton; George on active service, and two daughters, Mrs. Burley Hamilton, Marmora, and Carrie, Toronto; five brothers and four sisters; Burton, Fred, Alexander, Edward and Christopher, all of Rawdon Township; Mrs. George McMaster and Mrs. Ira Bustol, Rawdon Township; Mrs. James Nickle and Mrs. William Brown, Madoc Township.

Mr. Bateman was a member of Springbrook L.O.L. 442, under whose auspices the funeral took place on Friday with service conducted at St. Andrew's United Church at 1.30 p.m. by Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher.

Interment followed in Mt. Nebo Cemetery, Sprngbrook.

LEVI LEGROW.

MARMORA, Dec. 16 — (ENS). — Within a week of the demise of his brother, Tom Legrow, Levi Legrow passed away in Belleville General Hospital early on Friday morning at the advanced age of eighty-five. Unmarried, he had not resided continuously in Marmora since first moving here, but had followed lumbering occupations in various parts of Northern Ontario.

He is survived by one brother, Joseph, Toronto, and three sisters: Mrs. W. Phillips of Havelock, Mrs. William Darrah of Marmora, and Mrs. Charles Mitchell of Stirling. The funeral arrangements are not announced as yet.

State Etiquette Saves Reception

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP).—Smiling diplomats, resplendent in gold braid, plumed hats and clanking swords, thronged the White House last night for a reception which, on the surface, moved as smoothly as if there were no war abroad.

It was a victory for state protocol, which kept representatives of unfriendly nations from meeting face to face.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt, greeting the envoys of 53 countries, shook hands successively with the Chinese and Japanese delegations and a little later received representatives of Spain, Soviet Russia and Great Britain in that order.

Careful spacing by aides kept the groups from rubbing shoulders in the reception line. After it broke up, little knots formed in the state dining room as distinct as if they were miles instead of feet apart.

Nobody appeared to rush away, but an hour and a half after the party started at 9 p.m., all the chiefs of mission had left the presidential residence.

The Finnish minister, Hjalmar Procope, was greeted warmly wherever he turned. At one point, Finnish and German envoys were the centres of adjacent groups, but Procope moved toward the refreshment table for a cup of punch with the South African ministers and others.

shortage of fuel was a contributing cause of the Graf Spee's defeat.

It was reported principal damage to the ship's fighting equipment was the ruin of its two scouting planes and a shell-hit in the control tower.

Reports were circulated widely in Montevideo and Buenos Aires that the ship would sail ahead of the deadline. German business leaders here said "national prestige" would require the running of the British gauntlet.

British Navy Signs Up Polish Liner

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—(CP).—The crack Polish liner Batory, now in a Canadian port, has been chartered by the British Admiralty, it was revealed yesterday at a court hearing into her Italian builders' application for an injunction to keep her from sailing.

Counsel for the Gdynia America Line, owners of the 14,000-ton motorship, made reference to the charter as he argued against granting of the injunction. "No injunction may be issued on government property, and this ship is government property for the time being," he declared.

Decision was reserved in the application, second since the war broke out. An earlier injunction was lifted a few days ago after settlement of a $6,000 payment which the court ruled due on the ship's mortgage.

The Batory was built under a barter agreement whereby Polish coal was to be used to pay for her. She was in New York when war broke out.

Gifts Exchanged By Belmont W.I.

HAVELOCK, Dec. 16—(ENS). — "An exchange of gifts" was the method by which the members of the Belmont Branch Women's Institute enthusiastically responded to the roll-call as they met for their regular December meeting yesterday afternoon in the Township Hall with Miss Iva Smith, the president, occupying the chair.

An interesting report of the Central Ontario Area Women's Institutes convention recently held in Toronto was given by the Belmont branch delegate, Mrs. H. L. Scott. Among the most striking talks of the entire convention, she said, was Dr. Cameron's on "Cancer."

The memory poem for the day was given by Mrs. James McMillan, entitled "Life's Mountain Peak." A vocal trio, including Mrs. William Anderson, Mrs. M. Rylott, and Mrs. William Smith, sang very beautifully "Mother's Voice." Several Christmas carols were sung by the members to conclude an enjoyable program. Refreshments were afterwards served by the committee in charge.

United W.M.S.

With a splendid attendance of both members and guests, the Women's Missionary Society of the Havelock United Church met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Wing. The devotional portion of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Andrew McLauchlin, the Biblical story of the "Birth of Christ" being given by Mrs. J. Cochrane. The roll-call was well responded to with verses of Scripture beginning with the letter "L."

A chapter from the study book, "Moving Millions," concerning the Madras Conference was portrayed by Mrs. L. Weese, assisted by several of the other members.

A number of Christmas carols were sung in unison by the members, and a vocal solo was contributed by Mrs. G. W. Chiles.

During the business period suggestions for next year's program were discussed. The new executive will be installed at a special candlelight service to be held on Sunday, December 31.

BRITISH SUB SINKS NAZI CRUISER IN ELBE RIVER; FUEHRER SENDS GRAF SPEE TO "SUICIDE" DEATH

1039 Off Spee Pull Into Buenos Aires

Argentine Will Free Officers On Oath, But Intern Crew

BUENOS AIRES Dec. 18.—(AP).—A high Argentine official said the 1039 crewmen of the sunken German pocket-battleship Graf Spree, who arrived here to-day, would be interned.

Officers of the 10,000-ton battleship, now a mass of wreckage in the Plata river, the official said, probably will be released on their personal pledge not to participate in the war.

The official recalled a similar case in 1914 when Argentina interned the crew of a German ship but released the officers.

A German embassy spokesman announced "more than 1,000" members of the Graf Spee's crew had arrived in port.

Previous reports indicated 600 had come to Buenos Aires but the embassy spokesman said several hundred others who were placed aboard the German tanker Tacoma before the Graf Spee was destroyed, also had arrived.

Captain Hans Langsdorff of the destroyed ship was on one of the tugboats.

The two tugboats and the barge were identified as property of Antonio Delfino, firm of German navigation agents.

Crowds lining the dock waved a greeting to the sailors who were spared by the German decision to scuttle their vessel rather than try to run the gauntlet of Allied warships waiting off the Plata estuary.

Engineer Is Arrested.

The Graf Spee's chief engineer and three members of the crew who were among the last to leave the ship were brought into the Montevideo port captain's office under government arrest. Officials said they were wanted for questioning about exactly how the blasting was done.

Six Chinese cooks from the Graf Spee were brought into port aboard the Uruguayan minelayer Lavelleja and arrested.

New explosions shook the tangled wreckage at noon to-day, sending columns of smoke skyward. The explosions apparently were caused by gas working in confined spaces from burning fuel oil.

Late in the morning the British cruiser Achilles, which was one of three ships that battered the Graf Spee last Wednesday, drew near the smoking wreck while British sailors peered over the rail at their one-time adversary.

Captain Protests.

(Captain Hans Langsdorff of the Admiral Graf Spee in a letter of protest last night over Uruguay's time limit said acticle XVII of the Hague Convention provided "warships belonging to belligerent nations may be granted stays in neutral ports sufficiently long to permit repairs indispensable to security of their navigation.")

Earlier, the German news agency said the German Ministed to Uruguay had protested against the order expelling the Graf Spee as a "flagrant breach of International law."

Uruguay "under a flagrant breach of international law and usage refused to grant the damaged warship a permit for the stay self-evident under the circumstances as needed for re-establishing seaworthiness," the agency reported.

34 British Bombers Lost In Raid Over Heligoland Nazis Say

BERLIN, Dec. 18—(AP).—Thirty-four British bombers were said by Germany to have been shot down in a terrific air battle off the north German coast in the vicinity of Heligoland this afternoon.

Forty-four British planes were said to have participated in the attack. Heligoland, a German naval base, is an island off the north coast of Germany.

(There was no immediate official comment in London on the German claims).

The German account said German fighters rose to attack as soon as the British flight, the biggest unit yet used against Germany, was sighted.

Two German planes were lost, it was said. Their crews took to parachutes. First reports indicated it was the biggest air engagement of the war, wtih sharp fighting over the sea and an intensive anti-aircraft fire coming from land batteries.

"Several" of the British raiders broke through in the direction of the Wilhelmshaven naval base and dropped bombs, but the Germans reported they caused no damage.

The crews of two British planes were taken prisoner, it was added.

The German news agency claimed today that German bombers sank four British merchantmen in an air attack yesterday.

In elaborating on a high command communique which said "one vanguard ship" was sunk by a bomb, the agency declared German planes attacked a British convoy with bombs and machine guns. It claimed "one group of

Puzzle Contest Jails Mother Who Slew Son

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18—(AP).—A newspaper puzzle contest returned a murder charge instead of a prize award to-day for a 35-year-old mother, who, police said, confessed suffocating her 20-months-old son, sawing up his body, and hiding the torso, wrapped in the newspaper near a cemetery.

Detective Captain James Ryan quoted the woman, Mrs. Tillie Irelan, as saying she smothered the baby last Wednesday night with a blanket and pillow. For two days the body lay hidden in her room at a boarding-house Saturday she bought a saw, dismembered the body, and carried the torso to the nearby cemetery.

She told police she had been separated from her husband for eight years. Unable to obtain steady work as a children's governess, she said she decided she could not raise the boy. Ryan also quoted her as saying the boy interfered with her work and kept her from attending parties.

Mrs. Irelan's appearance before Coroner Charles Hersch last night followed only 24 hours after a motorist found the torso. Detectives later found the missing head, arms, and legs, neatly packed in a small suitcase in the rooming house closet, awaiting disposal.

Pencil impressions of a name and address, written under a picture puzzle in the newspaper covering the torso led detectives to the woman. All except the words "Tillie" and "1750" were obliterated.

After scientific efforts to bring out the unreadable parts failed, detectives made a house-to-house check of all homes bearing the number "1750," until they located Mrs. Irelan.

May Ask Uruguay Pay For Spee Is German Hint

BERLIN, Dec. 18 (AP)—Possibility that Germany may claim damages from Uruguay for the scuttled pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee arose today when authorized sources explained the basis of a German protest to the Uruguayan government.

These sources cited article xvii of the Hague Agreement of 1907 and said Uruguay had contravened international law in granting only 72 hours for repairs to the battle-damaged German warships.

They professed to believe that Uruguay acted under British pressure.

Although not committing themselves directly, these sources voiced the opinion that if Uruguayan responsibility for the scuttling of the Admiral Graf Spee can be proved, Germany can demand reparation for an illegal act.

Reports which could not be confirmed said the German pocket batleship Admiral Scheer, sister ship of the Admiral Graf Spee, was in the South Atlantic and might attempt to carry on the raiding work of the scuttled vessel.

The scuttling of the Admiral Graf Spee was mentioned in the army high command communique today, as follows:

Factory "Mass Production" Tactics For Air Taining

OTTAWA, Dec. 18. —(CP) — The British Commonwealth Air Training plan will apply the principle of factory mass production to air force training and education.

Student pilots, observers, and air gunners will pass from one specialized school to another, acquiring essential knowledge and practice in each.

Under the new plan it will take 26 weeks to turn out a qualified pilot and in the course of that time the students will pass through three different schools.

Observers will aslo undergo 26 weeks training but will pass through four different schools. Air gunners in 24 weeks training will pass through three schools.

The young recruit offering himself for flying service, assuming he passes the severe physical tests and measures up to the education standards required will go first to one of three initial training schools.

These schools will probably be in the nature of large military camps, accommodating 1,000 or more men at a time. There the recruits will don uniforms and un-

Finns Smash Red Drive On Main Line

30 Tanks Destroyed Two Russian Armies Surrounded

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Russian attempts to crack Finnish defences on the eastern flank of the Mannerhein Line with heavy tanks were reported today to have been smashed by the defenders' field guns.

The difficulties of the Soviet mechanized warfare in the snow-drifted terrain of Finland's south-eastern lake country were reflected in a Finnish communique telling of destruction of 30 tanks Friday and Saturday, including three "land battleships"—30-ton machines.

Particularly intense was the combat yesterday north of Lake Ladoga which the Reds had been trying to round from the south and east to roll up the flank of the main Finnish line. The Finnish forces reported all attacks repulsed on the Karelian Isthmus and elsewhere in the southeast.

Meanwhile, the commander of Finnish troops on the Salla and Petsamo fronts told Swedish correspondents that two Russian forces, of about 10,000 men each, were surrounded in the vicinities of Tolvajaervi and Suomussalmi, about 45 miles and 245 miles, respectively north of Lake Ladoga.

The Tolvajaervi force would be part of the army Russia is trying to send around Lake Ladoga while the Suomussalmi troops would be of the spearhead shoved into central Finland.

Patrols Go Out Despite Gales

PARIS, Dec. 18 (CP-Havas) — Despite unfavorable weather conditions, German patrols engaged in raiding activity yesterday along the entire central portion of the western front from the Saar to the Vosges.

Action was on a smaller scale than on previous days, however, and the German attacks on small French advanced posts were driven back by automatic rifle fire. The forces used by the Germans were smaller and less aggressive than had been employed in similar tactics during last week.

The front was extremely cold. Gales swept the snow-covered ground, blocking any aerial activity and making land operations difficult.

French military observers believe German raiding activity is for the Berlin Protests

Berlin, Dec. 18 (AP)

THE Nazi news agency, DNB, announced today that the German minister to Uruguay had protested against the order which yesterday gave the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee the alternative of quitting Montevideo where she sought refuge from British cruisers or facing internment.

The protest, DNB said, was made on the contention that Uruguay, "under a flagrant breach of international law and usage, refused to grant the damaged warship a permit for the stay self-evident under the circumstances as needed for re-establishing seaworthiness."

9 Finns Cut Down 700 Russians Massed On Road

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 18—(AP).—Norwegian reports from Northern Finland today described forest fighting in which a patrol of nine Finnish soldiers was said to have killed 700 Russians in an exposed highway position.

Exhausted Finnish soldiers crossing into Norway told how small patrols equipped with machine guns and light field guns were harassing the Russian advance in the north.

They explained the tremendous loss in one engagement as due to the fact the Russians were massed on a road exposed directly to Finnish guns.

Wilkins Anxious To Get Fighting

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.—(CP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, Australia's man of the Arctic and Antarctic, wants to get into this war against Germany and with as little delay as possible.

For that reason the 51-year-old explorer, attached to Australian headquarters staff during the first Great War, was in Ottawa today to offer his services to the Dominion Government in Canada's war effort.

Ten minutes after war was declared he offered his services to the Australian Government but was informed he was not needed immediately as Australia would have no men in the field before the middle of next year.

"Being a colonial I am more anxious to serve in the Dominion force sthan with those of the Motherland," said Sir Hubert.

"That is why I am here. And if I find there is no spot where I may be used I shall go ahead with plans for geographical survey work in the Antarctic."

Lulled By Absence Of Great Nazi Air Raids Britons Settle To Winter Of Waiting

LONDON, Dec. 18.—(CP)—Britons, lulled by absence of air raids that amount to anything, have settled down to a winter of waiting, ready to jump at a moment's notice should conditions change suddenly.

Life in this country, meanwhile, has assumed an air of normality that few expected during the early days of the war. Except for the blackout, reduced train services, gasoline rationing and the prospect of bacon and butter rationing, London, at least, seems little different from the days of peace.

Children Seldom Seen

Differences there are, certainly. Sandbags are stacked against the sides of buildings, streets and public places are full of men and women in uniform, newspapers do not carry weather forecasts, children are seldom seen and there are more police in the streets.

When those things developed in the first weeks of war they seemed a bit unreal. Now to almost everyone here they have become a part of life—a life that is far less inconvenient than many imagined.

Becoming Settled

In country reception areas where hordes of evacuated children brought chaos even before the declaration of war most of the rough edges have been worn smooth by time and new habits.

Children who misbehaved when they arrived at their billets have learned to live at peace with their hosts and neighbors and the clatter of complaint which rose in September has fallen below the volume of a murmur.

Thousands of civil servants, accustomed to life in London, gradually became accustomed to life in small towns to which they were evacuated at the start of the war. Some, however, especially those married, complained their pay did not allow them sufficient margin to travel to their families at weekends or to have their families visit them.

Big Business Moved Out

Similar conditions prevailed in many large businesses, such as insurance firms, whose executives decided on immediate evacuation when hostilities started.

Shadow plans exist for evacuation of the rest of the civil service and parliament itself should air raids develop to a point where London is regarded as untenable.

For the moment, at least, such a course appears unlikely, as such German air raids as have taken place over the United Kingdom have proved costly to the enemy and have resulted in little damage.

Daring Britons Run Line Of Six Destroyers To Bag 6000-Ton Fighter, And Escape; Nazi Air Raiders Sink 3 Ships In North Sea

Raider's Fighting Top Her Tombstone In Mud Of The Plata

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 18—(AP).—Her ponderous might forever silenced, the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee settled today into the ooze of the River Plata, twisted memento of a compromise between battle and internment.

Only the fighting top, rising like a tombstone, marked the grave in Montevideo harbor where the warship's master fulfilled the order of Adolf Hitler yesterday and scuttled her in three dramatic minutes within sight and sound of the city.

Captain Hans Langsdorff, last to leave the doomed ship, himself carried the light cable which set off internal mines and sent the Graf Spee to the bottom.

Destruction at German hands apparently was the middle course for the Graf Spee.

It saved the lives of more than 1,000 sailors who would have risked death had their commander chosen to let their ship brave the cannon of British warships lying in wait outside the Montevideo breakwater.

It saved German naval pride the ignominy of seeing the once-mighty Graf Spee out of battle for the rest of the war, tied up in interment by Uruguay.

Safely hidden in the glowing furnace she became beneath the waves were the secrets the Germans had built into this fighting ship—10,000 tons of speed and power no single Allied ship of comparable size could match.

Before the Graf Spee went under, apparently broken almost in two, every member of the crew which Germans Machine Gun Trawler Crews, Chased Off By R.A.F.

LONDON, Dec. 18. —(CP)—Three British ships were lost and a fourth was abandoned in a sinking condition as the result of large-scale German air raids on North Sea shipping involving at least 13 ships last night and early today.

The trawler Pearl was abandoned after three of her crew had been wounded by the German raiders.

This new phase of warfare, pitting planes against small ships, also sent the trawler Eileen Wray into port with a damaged hull.

In addition the Admiralty announced the naval trawler Evelina and Sedgefly were so long overdue they must be considered lost. Their crews totalled 25 men.

Two fishing trawlers and the 487-ton steamship Serenity were lost in raids which included attacks on other merchant ships as well.

Acknowledgment of the air raid losses followed an Admiralty announcement that a submarine had penetrated German defences at the mouth of the River Elbe and sunk a 6,000-ton German cruiser.

The lost trawlers were the "New Choice" and the Campagnus.

During an attack on the motorship Tuscan Star the second wireless operator was killed by a bomb fragment. Other ships reported attacked without serious damage were the trawlers Dervish, Arnold Bennett, and Dromio, and the Italian steamship Valentino Coda.

The announcement said machine guns were used in attacking the Tuscan Star and that Royal Air Force defence planes engaged the raiders in falling dusk and "inflicted damage" before they were driven off.

Admiralty Statement

A joint communique issued by the Admiralty and the Air Ministry follows:

"Attacks were made by enemy aircraft on British and neutral merchant and fishing vessels in the North Sea yesterday.

"During the morning bombing attacks were made on the small motor vessel Serenity and the fishing trawlers New Choice, Benclair and Graitgielea. The Serenity and New Choice were sunk.

"The enemy also attacked the Craigielea with machine-gun fire, two of the crew of the latter being wounded. On the approach of British aircraft the enemy made off before contact was established."

The Admiralty said the submarine Ursula, a relatively small craft constructed for work in coastal waters, knifed through a screen of destroyers and sank a 6,000-ton cruiser of the Koln class.

The press association, at the same time, announced it had learned on good authority that this stroke had no connection with the torpedoing and damaging of a slightly larger cruiser last week although both attacks apparently took place Thursday.

Cruisers of the Koln class have a speed of 32 knots and are armed with nine 5.9 inch guns and several smaller pieces. The commander of the Ursula identified her only by the silhouette so it may have been either the Koln, Karlsruhe or Konigsberg.

In a typical laconic communique the Admiralty stated the Koln class cruiser was "screened by six German destroyers" when the Ursula manoeuvred into position for the attack. This terse phrase indicated the daring of the exploit because it is almost suicidal for a submarine to creep within torpedo range of a

Soldier Killed, 5 Injured In Train Wreck

MONCTON, N.B., Dec. 18.—(CP)—One soldier was killed and five others were injured early today when a westbound Canadian National Railways freight train fouled an eastbound passenger train at Amherst, N.S., and derailed one of the passenger cars. The six men came from London, Ont.

The dead man was Corporal R. W. Connors. His companions, who suffered slight injury, were Lance-Corporal J. I. Hood and Privates J. B. Hendrick, F. C. Hanley, C. B. Forbes and H. G. Landry.

A statement issued at the C.N.R. regional headquarters here said the accident occurred at four o'clock. The announcement said the crew of the freight train mistook the position of a switch and pulled foul of the other train.

Mother, And Son 8 Perish In Fire

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Dec. 18. — (CP).—A mother and one of her five children perished in a fire that swept their Chicoutimi home early to-day. The woman, Mrs. Philippe Lemieux, died when she attempted to save her eight-year-old son Omer.

The fire broke out early to-day while the family slept and swept through the frame building with such rapidity that the father barely had time to carry four of the children to safety. Two families occupied the wooden structure.

The 32-year-old mother was asphyxiated when she tried to save Omer. Firemen recovered the bodies in the ruins.

Last Minute News Flashes

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Veteran members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery and many in Ottawa official circles mourned today the death in Penticton, B.C., of S. W. Dafoe.

Mr. Dafoe served a long period as Ottawa correspondent for the old Western Associated Press and later as chief of the Parliamentary Bureau of The Canadian Press.

In 1921 Mr. Dafoe found it necessary, because of failing health, to seek a milder climate and he went to British Columbia's Okanagan Valley, where he became a successful fruit farmer.

End Of The Spee Branded "Ignominious"

LONDON, Dec. 18—(AP). — The exultant headlines reporting the end of the German raider Admiral Graf Spee found a ready echo today in London streets where the prospect of one less menace to the nation's shipping lanes was hailed delightedly.

A picture occupying the entire front page of the tabloid Daily Sketch showed the Nazi pocket battleships Admiral Graf Spee, the Admiral Scheer, and the Deutchland. A large cross "cancelled" the Graf Spee. A caption under the picture commented: "Now there are two."

The comment in The Daily Mail was typical. "The end of the Admiral Graf Spee acknowledges the inevitable superiority of British seapower," it said. But there was a certain amount of disdain for what The Times, The Daily Express and The Daily Herald called the "ignominious suicide" of the powerful surface raider.

The Times said there have been full justification for the Uruguayan government's internment of the Nazi vessel "which would have ensured Germany resuming possession of the ship at the end of the war —always assuming that she won it."

"'Scuttle rather than surrender' has been adopted as the maxim of German merchant ships encountering their enemies. That, at least, is understandable since the ship will be lost to Germany anyhow and scuttling only means preventing her enemy from benefitting by the loss. No such consideration operated here and unthinking application of that not very inspiring maxim will appear neither sensible nor creditable."

The Times quoted a high naval authority as saying "to have steamed out and fought would have been magnificent; to have been interned might have been understandable, but they have chosen an ignomini-

$29.50 Cheque Pricks Myth Of Western "Millionaire"

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—(AP).—The "millionaire" Prince Charming on whom a pretty hatcheck girl had pinned her Cinderella ambitions was in jail today, just a personable pencil salesman charged with writing a worthless cheque.

It was only a week ago that the Night Spot habitues gasped over the gossip that Maxine Montgomery, Stock Club hatcheck girl, was going to marry "David Kellogg," Midwestern "millionaire."

But a checkup produced a mystery. Nobody seemed to know much about him.

Saturday night Prince Charming, resplendent in tails and topper, took Maxine dining and dancing at eLon and Eddie's, to the tune of $15.90.

The Prince called Proprietor Leon Enken aside, spoke of an elopement and requested "a slight accommodation" in the form. Enken subsequently told police, of cash for a $25.90 cheque on a Detroit bank.

The police and Enken came to the conclusion the cheque was no good, picked up "Kellogg" on a petit larceny charge and booked him as—David Levine, 20, a pencil salesman, from Brooklyn.

Canada Signs Great Air Training Pact

Will Cost Dominion $350,000,000; 67 Training Bases

OTTAWA, Dec. 18.— (CP) — Training young men of the Empire for Air Force duties will be one of Canada's greatest contributions to the Allied cause.

Some details of the estimated $600,000,0000 British Commonwealth Air Training plan, showing the magnitude of the project, were given last night by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a broadcast over the National network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Signed early yesterday morning on behalf of the Governments of Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand, the training agreement will run for more than three years, expiring March 31, 1943, and will make Canada the centre of the greatest mass air training program the world has known.

Cost Canada 350 Millions.

The cost to Canada, the Prime Minister said, will be about $350,000,000, of which some $48,000,000 will be spent in the first year. A staff of 40,000 will handle administration and instruction at the 67 training bases to be established in this Dominion.

Hundreds of aircraft will be supplied, mostly by the United Kingdom, and some 60 new airports are to be built in addition to enlargement of a score of existing fields.

"The joint air training program," Mr. Mackenzie King said, "provides for the training of many thousands of pilots in Canada each year, about three-fifths as many air observers, and a slightly larger number of air

Reds Say Troops 80 Miles Into Finland

MOSCOW, Dec. 16. —(AP) —Inclement weather is keeping vast numbers of Soviet Russian planes grounded, but land forces have driven more than 80 miles within central Finland, according to today's Red Army communique.

The weather and the low visibility of the Arctic twilight, Russians reported, are grounding airmen on nearly all of the front.

Meanwhile, the Government newspaper Izvestia declared that expulsion of the U. S. S. R. from the League of Nations had given her a "free hand."

Izvestia said the expulsion was all the more valuable because it placed responsibility "fully with the League itself and its Anglo-French ring leaders," adding:—

"It is not the Soviet Union which will lose because of the Geneva decision. This decision releases the U. S. S. R. from moral responsibility for 'activities' of the Geneva institution and at the same time releases the Soviet Union from obligations ensuing from the covenant of the League of Nations."

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said the league assembly sessions were held "behind closed doors, but in the presence of an American 'observer,' Mr. Edgar, in the role of school supervisor. He was silent, but watched carefully over the behaviour of Latin American diplomats.

According to Plan.

"They conducted themselves according to 'the plan.' The representative of the single American state which is carrying on a policy independent of the United States—Mexico— objected against the expulsion."

Slav Exporter Is Slain In Pistol Duel

BELGRADE, Dec. 18.— (AP).— Dr. Edo Markovitch, director general of the Yugoslav State Export Society, was killed to-day in a pistol duel with police who attempted to search his apartment in a series of raids for evidence of foreign sponsorship of communist demonstrations.

Dr. Markovitch's daughter, a Belgrade university student, was arrested last week and charged with being one of the leaders of a student demonstration in which two persons were killed and 30 wounded.

A servant said Dr. Markovitch mistook place, who entered his apartment at dawn, for bandits and fired in self-defence.

Authorities said they were investigating reports the series of communist demonstrations were financed with funds by Germany.

At Split, one person was killed and seven wounded when a crowd estimated at 1,000, shouting communist slogans, stormed police barracks and battled officers with pistols and stones.

Hastings Club Is Defeated

HASTINGS, Dec. 18. —(ENS) — St. Paul's parish badminton club of Cobourg defeated the Hastings club seven games to five in a round robin tourney between these two clubs. The Hastings club, who went down to a 12-0 defeat in a previous tourney at Cobourg, showed more aggressiveness and staged a strong comeback reinforced by picked Hastings players. Girls of the Hastings club won every game in the ladies' doubles to give the locals a fair margin on games played but, in the men's doubles, Hastings gave up every game to the visitors. Winding up the evening's entertainment, lunch was served and players of both clubs enjoyed an evening of dancing.

Results.

Mixed Doubles—Mary Collins and Russel Jones of Hastings defeated G. Young and Dr. Richards of Cobourg 11 to 9 and 11 to 4. A. Tait and P. Niles of Cobourg defeated Mrs. C. M. Baker and Fred Crate of Hastings 11 to 5 and 11 to 0. D. Lloyd and J. Rogers of Cobourg defeated Dorothy Kerr and William Whitred of Hastings 11 to 7 and 11 to 2. M. Roberts and G. Forbes of Cobourg defeated Mrs. A. Thompson and Paul Bailey of Hastings 11 to 7 and 11 to 8. Marion Phillips and George Bonds of Hastings defeated M. Pratt and A. Boundey of Cobourg 11 to 6 and 11 to 4. J. Young and D. Rattray of Cobourg defeated Mrs. Dit Clapper and Alton Thompson of Hastings 11 to 4 and 11 to 3.

Ladies' Doubles — Dorothy Kerr and Mary Collins of Hastings defeated D. Lloyd and G. Tait of Cobourg 11 to 7 and 14 to 13. Marion Phillips and Mrs. C. M. Trenton Woman Is Killed In Car Smash

PICTON, Ont., Dec. 18.—(CP)— Mrs. G. W. Ketcheson of Trenton, mother of Captain Stanley Ketcheson of the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment here, was killed Saturday and another woman was injured seriously when two automobiles, owned by brother officers in the same company of the regiment, collided west of here.

Mrs. Ketcheson died shortly after admittance to hospital. Mrs. Gerald Ferguson, wife of Major Gerald Ferguson of Consecon, suffered several face and head lacerations when her head struck and broke the windshield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson were taking their son's car back to Trenton following a visit here and Major and Mrs. Ferguson were bound for Picton at the time of the crash. Major Ferguson and Mr. Ketcheson suffered cuts and bruises but were not admitted to hospital.

The possibility was acknowledged, however, that the underwater explosion noted in the German communique of December 14 as damaging a German light cruiser may have been caused by a British submarine.

(In London, the Press Association said the announcement by the Admiralty that a German cruiser had been sung had no connection with last week's announcement that a German cruiser had been torpedoed).

Bulging Packs Net Trio As Burglars

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 18 (CP)— Three men hurrying along a downtown street carrying large packsacks were arrested by city police early today and $2,000 worth of merchandise allegedly stolen from the clothing shop of George Moses was recovered.

The three arrested on charges of breaking and entering were: Joseph Chisson of Winnipeg, Robert Pearson of Fort William and Arthur Caron, no fixed address.

A constable trying doors in the downtown area discovered the break-in. After the arrests, more loot was recovered in a shack in Victoria Park. Seventy-five suits, along with leather windbreakers, socks, shoes and gloves were included.

No details were given in the cable.

Train Collides With Auto; Driver Unhurt

Four persons had a narrow escape from injury Saturday night in a level crossing accident at Charlotte and Bethune Streets that badly frightened not only themselves but members of the train personnel and a number of eye witnesses.

For the train crew it was their second experience in two days of colliding with an automobile for the conductor J. L. Wollicott and the engineer, T. E. Peart, both of Toronto had been in charge of the C. N.R. train which the day before had been involved in the level crossing accident in North Monaghan in which Arthur McMaster and Gordon Wagar were killed.

Saturday's accident was caused when J. H. Raper, member of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Trenton driving his car west on Charlotte Street, crossed the C.N.R. tracks at Bethune Street just in time to find himself in front of a passenger train pulling into the station from the north. Fortunately the train was running very slowly and the automobile had almost cleared the rails before the collision with the result that the impact was at the rear right wheel of the motor vehicle and no damage was done while the occupants of the car were unhurt.

With Raper, was his mother, Mrs. Raper of Millbrook; L. Scott, another member of the R.C.A.F., Trenton and Gwen Braund, 350 Carlisle avenue. The accident happened at 8.15 o'clock and a number of eye witnesses who saw it expected disaster as they realized a collision was inevitable.

The warning signals were operating at the time but Raper told police that he thought the train had just passed and was at the station.

dergo the measure of disciplinary training necessary to adapt men to life in the fighting services. There will be some physical training, some lectures and instructions about the theory of air operations.

At the end of the four weeks' initial training course those found unsuitable for flying will be weeded out and the remainder divided according to their talent and taste for pilot work, observing or gunnery.

Those selected as student pilots will proceed to one of a large number of elementary flying schools where they will learn to fly. These schools will be numerous because one instructor will be required for every two or three students and in elementary flying instruction too many aircraft operating from one field will not be desirable.

Finally they will go to one of 16 service flying schools for a 14 weeks' course. There they will learn the special tricks of flying under military conditions and flying the fast fighters and heavy bombers used in active service.

From the initial training schools the air observers will move to one of 10 air observer schools where they will learn to navigate aircraft, to carry on reconnaissance and to operate aerial cameras. That will take them 12 weeks and they will then pass to one of 10 bombing and gunnery schools for six weeks instruction and finally to one of two air navigation schools for four weeks.

The crop of air gunners leaving the initial training schools will go first to one of four wireless training schools for 16 weeks' instruction. There they must acquire the required speed in sending and receiving messages by wireless, for the air gunners must be wireless operators as well.

Then they will move on to one of the same 10 bombing and gunnery schools attended by the observers. They will spend only four weeks in these schools against six spent by the observers. The air gunner's instruction in these schools will make him a machine gun specialist while the observers concentrate on bomb aiming.

Santa Claus To Visit Salvation Army Children

Santa Claus will be a special guest to-night (Monday) at the children's annual Christmas program in the Salvation Army Temple. The program will be presented by approximately 400 children of the Sunday School, under the direction of Sgt. Major R. C. Braund and the Sunday School teachers, and will include an interesting variety of dialogues, readings, carols and Christmas playlets.

The Temple will be gaily decorated fo rthe ocacsion, and a large Christmas tree, twinkling with lights and laden with gifts, will be a centre of interest.

A carol service has been planned for Christmas Eve in the Temple, when the Songsters will present the "Hallelujah" chorus, and a ladies' xylophone quartette will give several Yuletide numbers. Special music has been arranged by the band, and Adjutant N. Buckley will present a short Christmas message.

Friday Supper Club Serves Christmas Dinner

The Christmas meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Friday Night Supper Club, which has a membership of ninety-four 'teen-age girls, took the form of a holiday dinner. Complete with turkey and all the "trimmings" the dinner was prepared and proudly served to eighty people by girls of the executive. Dinner was served in the Green Room by the light of gold candles surrounded with evergreens—a combination typical of the Club colors of green and gold. Christmas gifts were brought by each member, and will be wrapped in gay tissue by the girls for distribution at the Children's Shelter.

The Club, of which Miss Barbara Richardson is president, is an educational group of enthusiastic girls who plan their own menus, do their own shopping, and prepare their own suppers each Friday. Since they are much interested in the vocations, the girls usually invite a guest speaker to address them on such subjects as social service work, art, handicraft, household economics, etc., as a vocation, or talk to them of art, music or literature.

The executive is now busy arranging for a formal dance, which is to be held on the 29th of December for the Supper Club members and their friends, and promises to be one of the most delightful of the holiday parties. It will be held in the gymnasium, and interesting decorations are being planned by Miss Doris Glover and her committee.

After-Church Meeting Is Held By Knox Y.P.U.

An after-church meeting in place of the regular Tuesday evening meeting which has been cancelled because of other Yuletide activities, was held by the Young People's Union of Knox United Church on Sunday evening at the home of Miss Gladys Gerard.

A program was presented by Mr. O. Benson, culture convener, and included the singing of Christmas carols. "Christmas Customs in Many Lands," was the subject of the topic, given by the convener. He was assisted by Miss Marjorie Lewis, who told of Christmas customs in England, her native country. Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt told of holiday festivities in Germany, where he had taken post-graduate work. Assisting in the worship program were Miss Irene Graham and Mr. Stuart Laing. Miss Gertrude Lancashire was accompanist for the carol singing.

A diversion during the program took place when the members paused to hear the speech of Premier King on air-training schools.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. J. M. Gerald and Miss Gladys Gerard, assisted by Miss Eunice Thexton.

IN ALL THEIR GLORY

By ALICE ALDEN

WHATEVER the cause, business is better—and that means many a husband's bonus can go toward diamonds this Christmas. The stones may be small though sparkling, set in earrings you can slip on your lobes, or, in Paris manner, on the neckline of a gown. Whatever the size, have your diamonds set beautifully in a piece of jewelry to be cherished. The designer of the handcuff bracelet shown today makes a practice of making plaster casts of his clients' wrists and modeling the bracelet to fit. It's a service many require, wrists varying so greatly. Diamonds in several shapes are massed in front in this bracelet, thus making the most of their glory and sculptured in curves on a wide band of platinum.

FASHIONS

Young moderns like to dress as nearly like mother or older sister as possible. A suit is an essential in your wardrobe, and is also very important for the young school girl. Besides making her look smart and well dressed, a suit is warm and cosy under her coat on the coldest days. Suspenders hold the skirt up securely all day long. There is plenty of room for activity in the flared skirt. Worn with contrasting sweaters and blouses this will be her favorite all season long with its matching hat.

Style No. 3066 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1⅛ yards of 35-inch fabric for the skirt; 1¼ yards for the jacket. Hat No. 2812 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 years.

Fife-Miller Vows Are Spoken At Bethel Church

Bethel United Church, decorated with golden chrysanthemums against a background of evergreens, was the setting for a charming wedding ceremony Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, when Miss Ruby Cavell Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Miller, became the bride of Mr. Donald David Fife, only son of Mr. Edwin Fife and the late Mrs. Fife of Indian River. Rev. George Murray of Keene officiated, and Miss Harriet Reid of Bethel presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of wine velvet, cut on graceful princess lines, gold accessories, and carried a sheaf of white roses and fern. Miss Adeline Fife, sister of the groom, wearing green velvet and gold accessories, and carrying a bouquet of red roses and fern, was the bridesmaid. Mr. Earl Miller, brother of the bride, attended the groom. The ushers were Mr. Lloyd Miller, brother of the bride, and Mr. Stewart Fife, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Miller receiving in a gown of blue crepe with corsage of red roses.

The bride and bridegroom left later by motor for Toronto, Hamilton and Detroit. For travelling the bride wore a blue tailored frock, a black topcoat, and black accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Fife will live on the farm where the famous Fife wheat was cultivated by the late David Fife, great grandfather of the groom.

Do You Know?

Often the toes and sides of children's brown shoes get rubbed and kicked. These can be improved if the rubbed parts are repainted with iodine, then polished in the usual way.

To remove candle wax from fabrics, scrape off as much of the wax as possible, taking care not to injure the fabric. Place on ironing board with a blotting paper both under and over the spot. Press gently with a warm iron so that the wax is absorbed into the blotting paper. Repeat if the spot is not removed by one treatment. Sponge with a non-inflammable dry cleaner if traces of wax still remain.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 19

A particularly active and progressive day is forecast from the dominant planetary figures. It is a time for reaching for important objectives with the assurance of the hearty support, financial and friendly, of those in power to promote major interests, especially in the realm of writings, advertising, publication, promotions and all manner of transportation and communication agencies. Short journeys might advance development of plans. A major denouement with confidential or secret roots may materialize.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of unusual success, with high attainments and fulfilled ambitions forecast for them. Objectives may be realized in writings, publishing, advertising, promotion, any or all things involving correspondence, transportation, communication and short journeys. While success seems to find stimulation from hidden influences, the denouements may be conspicuously public.

A child born on this day may be talented in many directions, and have a fertile mind and much creative dexterity, intuition and illumination. Those in high places may contribute to its ambitious achievements.

Romantic Love Seems To Fly Out The Window After The Marriage Vows Are Said, And In Its Place Comes Something Unexplainable.

WHY do husbands and wives act the way they do? What is there about marriage that makes both men and women suffer a change as soon as the wedding ceremony is said over them and that makes them no more like they were in the days of courtship than vinegar is like nectar?

These are questions that millions of married people are continually asking, and to which they find no answer. So far as they can see, there has been no dirty work at the crossroads. No malevolent fairy has changed their Johns and Mamies from the dream-boys and angel-pies they thought they were marrying, yet in manners and conduct and speech they are so altered that they scarcely know them and often wonder if, somehow, they haven't swapped partners and got somebody else's mates.

Why, innumerable Mamies ask vainly of the heavens, is it that before marriage a man can't get enough of a girl's society and after marriage he can do with so little of it? Before marriage he camped on her doorstep and her father had almost to summon the police to evict him at night. But after marriage he puts on his hat as soon as he has had his dinner and fares forth to spend the evenings at his club, or with the boys in a poolroom, leaving his wife by her lonesome.

Mamie's I. Q. hasn't been affected by marriage. She carries the same line of conversational twaddle as a wife as she did as a maiden, and what she can't understand is why her stock as a fireside companion has slumped from an all-high record to zero.

Before marriage John regarded Mamie as the one perfect woman in the world. At any rate, he told her he did. He praised her taste in hats. He listened with respect to her opinions. He laughed at her stories. He gushed over her mother.

But after marriage, when he noticed what she had on, he poked fun at it and told her that her brand-new dress made her look fat, and asked was that a hat or a cat's nest she had on her head. He contradicted her opinions and told her she didn't know what she was talking about. When she tried to tell a funny story, he remarked he had heard that in the cradle. And the things he said about her family sent her to bed in tears.

Also, before marriage John never wearied of telling Mamie how much he loved her, but after marriage he never mentioned the state of his affection again. Apparently he only regarded her as a household gadget that made for his comfort and convenience. If he had given her a kiss that wasn't as cold as if it had come out of the refrigerator, or shown her any sign that he still regarded her as a Lady Love, she would have dropped dead with surprise.

Before marriage John was a spender. He said it with flowers and candy and gifts. He could always remember anniversaries and all of her little fads and foibles and tastes; that she preferred roses to violets and wore blue things because they matched her eyes.

But after marriage he put a lock on his pocketboook. He grumbled over the bills and made her feel that she was a failure because she couldn't run a house on air. When she bought herself any little trinket she had to pinch the price out of the grocery money. About the first year after marriage he developed married men's amnesia and could never remember again her birthday, or their wedding anniversary. When prodded into recalling them, the nearest approach he made to a present was a check with "get yourself something, I don't know what you want," which turned it from a romantic souvenir to a handout.

Before marriage John was always doing something to show Mamie he loved her, that her happiness was his chief concern. But after marriage he seemed to think that just being married to him was all the fun that any woman could possibly desire, and that she could ask no livelier amusement than just spending the evening listening to him snore behind his paper.

Now John is a good man and a good husband according to his lights. He works hard to support his family and gives them a nice home and cars and things. And he still loves Mamie and his way of treating her is just the ordinary husbandly way of treating a wife, which makes us wonder why husbands act the way they do.

SPRATS PROVE BURDENSOME

GRAVESEND, England—(CP). — Sprats sank a fishing vessel off England's east coast here. The Boy Dinks made such a large catch her motor broke down; she was taken in two, the rope broke and the vessel sank without warning. Her crew was picked up.

Great Grandson of David Fife Weds

There is history linked with this wedding, for the principals were Ruby Cavell Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Miller, and Donald David Fife, son of Edwin Fife and the late Mrs. Fife, of Otonabee township. Donald Fife is the great-grandson of David Fife of Fife wheat fame, and his marriage to Miss Miller took place Saturday afternoon in Bethel Church, Rev. George Murray of Keene officiating, just across the road from the field on the Fife farm where the few grains of wheat were first grown—that wheat that was to become Canada's favorite. They will make their home on his great-grandfather's farm. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

Check Your Telephone Manners

How revealing our manners are—telling our background, the kind of people we are used to. And there's no more revealing test than our telephone manners.

What a good impression a guest makes if when he must use the telephone he asks his hostess' permission, makes his call as brief as possible.

When making a social telephone call, incorrect to ask to whom you are speaking until you have given your own name. Say "This is Martin Jones. Who is this speaking?" Nor do you ask the name of a person calling your home. You let him volunteer it. But, receiving a business call, quite correct to ask the name.

And how well do you pass other etiquette tests? In elevators, on the dance floor, on a stairway who goes first? The girl. But who leaves an automobile first, who goes first at the theatre if there is no usher? The girl or the man?

Foolish to blunder when our 32-page booklet makes gracious poised behavior so easy. Here is etiquette for formal, informal gatherings; for games, the theatre, other public places. Gives pointers on invitations, introductions, visiting, travelling.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps for your copy of ETIQUETTE: THE CORRECT THING TO DO to The Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Hitler Called For Suicide

There will be no need for the present generation to rely on historians to tell them what became of the Graf Spee. That smart and powerful German battleship, whose 11-inch guns looked formidable enough to blast their way to death or victory at sea, was blown up by its commanding officer, Captain Langsdorff, and he was acting on the instructions of Adolf Hitler.

No one event of the war had so attracted world interest. The Spee before turning tail and running to port in an engagement a few days ago, had put up a good fight, and had inflicted damage and loss of life to three British cruisers. The anticipation was that when the Spee emerged from harbor the fight would be continued to a finish, but the finish came by the pressing of a button, fire and explosion, after which the German battleship went to rest on the mud bottom of the River Plata, the open road to the sea from Montevideo.

It is not necessary to say much about the incident. The Graf Spee had the decision made for it by Hitler, and that decision was to quit. In a practical sense—and war is practical and nothing else—there is one less sea raider in operation. That means that the ocean-borne traffic of the Allies will move with greater freedom and safety.

Hitler's decision which favored suicide at sea adds nothing to German tradition. A battleship is the most powerful agency in the sea and its purpose is to fight until it can fight no longer. Whatever shame there was in the decision is the exclusive property of Adolf Hitler.

Can't Be All Wrong

Hon. Dr. Manion has given expression to a feeling that Canada's war effort is weak, and has not been well managed. His view is summed up in the words: "The Government had done little or nothing to solve Canadian problems in peace-time, and the war effort thus far has been a continued exhibition of unpreparedness." Dr. Manion is also certain that Empire air training as proposed has not been advanced rapidly enough.

There are undoubtedly cases where people have a right to feel that there is something which should be remedied. We have before us a small poster issued by the Air Force telling of the openings which exist and informing applicants where to apply. In one place it is mentioned that photographers are wanted, and we know of two press photographers who applied weeks ago and have not yet received any word or even a note saying their applications had been received. In ordinary business such matters would be attended to at once.

In the larger field we believe the efforts toward securing personnel and equipment and premises for an air force have been pushed ahead rapidly. Actually it is an enormous undertaking because so many men needed in the business had to be trained from the ground up. It takes from eight to nine men for every aviator who goes up in a ship and all these men require special knowledge of the work which they have to do. We were not an air-minded people previously; until Trans-Canada Airways began operating the enterprises were largely private in their nature.

Locally we have had some experience in what it means to locate an acceptable landing field. Our City Council has been busy at it; an engineer has been engaged and Government men have been here to look over the situation. It would surprise some people who have not given much attention to the matter how much apparently good enough land is not considered acceptable. It is necessary to plan and consider such matters as likelihood of fog, the nearness of other open spaces where a forced landing might be made with a fair chance of success. If other phases of the work are surrounded by like handicaps then it is reasonable to come to the conclusion that rapid development would be difficult.

We make airplanes in this country, but our output has not been great. It was only within recent weeks that the market in United States was opened to us so we would secure a sufficiency of planes for purposes of training and instruction. Our Canadian Government had nothing to do with this; it was something which had to be attended to by Congress at Washington.

In a general way we mean there is nothing to be gained by a system of fault finding. We believe a government, regardless of its political complexion, which is called upon to lead this country through a war period, is entitled to all the support and encouragement the people can reasonably and properly give it. That does not mean we must accept or condone its weaknesses or its visible failures, but we should at least be substantially certain of facts so that criticism offered would come in the way of helpful suggestion.

If Dr. Manion or any other individual can with certainty and assurance place the finger on a weak spot and show where strength can be injected then Dr. Manion or any other individual has a right to be heard. But that general claim that our entire war effort has been weak and ineffective is not well grounded. Truth is we refuse to believe it.

Berlin Has Been Hushed

Berlin was fast on the trigger to launch the charge that the British cruisers in their battle with the Graf Spee had made use of shells containing mustard gas. Premier Chamberlain may be by now hardened to claims from Berlin, for his reply was that no such shells had ever been made for the navy, issued to the navy or used by the navy.

Day following the claims from Berlin had tapered down. There was no cocksure attitude because doctors from a neutral nation had been called on board the Graf Spee to attend to the injured, and if mustard gas had been used these doctors would have found evidence of it. They found no such evidence.

How badly this German battleship was used we do not know exactly. For a long time it had not been in action. Its business had been the hunting down of merchantmen, and it was not much of a trick to send them to the bottom. They were slow-moving creatures, and their powers of resistance were limited to a few guns, and at times to none at all.

When a battleship, armed to the neck, is thus employed for some weeks, it possibly gets an exaggerated idea of its might and importance. It has not been accustomed to limping into port to save itself from extinction, and the business of turning tail and running away may be a manoeuvre to which it has not been familiar.

In such circumstances it is well to have the head spokesman at home send out the report that the enemy used mustard gas. Possibly that may be "Explanation No. 2" on the fifth page of the book of propaganda, and admittedly it must have been embarrassing for the propagandists in Berlin to be confronted with the evidence of the visiting doctors who said they saw no evidence whatever to indicate any such gas had been used. In case you may have overlooked it—Berlin has had nothing more to say about the use of mustard gas. Possibly there was nothing on the propaganda book covering a case where denial from disinterested sources had been so quickly forthcoming.

Much Easier To Believe

It was in 1936 and 1937 that the world heard much of the purges which were taking place in Russia. Always there was the same reason given—plotters were seeking to sell out the Soviet to the enemy world outside.

The stories were so amazing and so frequent that we dare say a good many readers found it difficult to believe them. They were more inclined to believe the parlor pink apologist when he said such stories were propaganda engineered to injure communism in the eyes of the capitalistic world.

Of trials and fair hearings there were none at all. There were men who had risked their necks in the revolution and who had been with Stalin for years, but out they went. It was a German of wide knowledge who presented the estimate that Stalin killed 1,350,000 in all his various purges.

Events of more recent times have made it easier to believe the happenings of 1936-37. It is not difficult now to believe that the Stalin who informed Russia that Finland was going to attack him, the Stalin who bombed Finland's defenceless centres of population, could quite well have engineered and ordered the slaughter of his own people under the guise of plotting against him. The murderer of 1936-37 is the murderer of 1939.

In Fairness To Mr. Drew

Lieut.-Col. George Drew has returned from a speaking trip in the Canadian West. When he was in Edmonton a report was placed on the Canadian Press wire telling of Mr. Drew's reference to our "tin-pot" navy. The Examiner accepted the report as being correct. We did not like the reference to the "tin-pot" navy and said so.

Mr. Drew says he made no such reference, and his claim is given the backing of the Edmonton Journal, which explains the phrase was not used either in an address nor yet in an interview given by Mr. Drew to a Journal reporter. There must have been a nice-sized blunder some place in that western city otherwise the "tin-pot" part would never have been placed on the wire.

The Examiner is quite ready to accept the explanation, and to express its regret that such information should have been forwarded. Comment in these columns was based in good faith on the report as it was received. That report having been found incorrect we can only express regret that the comment was made.

In The Wrong Place

Ivan Gorelchin was recently appointed Soviet ambassador to Italy. He was on the job for fifteen days when he pulled out and went back to Moscow, and information from Italy is to the effect Ivan may not return.

During the diplomat's stay in Rome there were announcements made officially saying Italy was vitally interested in the affairs of the Balkans, and that was the same as saying Russia had better keep out of there.

Then the papers of Italy were decidedly pro-Finnish and students staged anti-Soviet parades and demonstrations outside the Russian embassy. Yes sir—right outside of Ivan's office.

Conjecture in Rome leads to the conclusion that Ivan Gorelchin felt he had been snubbed in Rome. No person appears to have made much of a fuss over him and he was made to feel about as welcome as the chap who got into the garden party by knowing where there was a loose board on the line fence.

What Stalin or Molotoff will do with a sensitive diplomat who appears to be a trifle fussy regarding what people think of him is not clear. A nature of that kind is badly miscast in being poured into the diplomat mold as designed by the uncouth Stalin. He should have the thickness of skull through which the finer feelings of people would not penetrate, and that perverse mental equipment which would interpret jeers as cheers. Ivan left Rome in somewhat of a huff feeling he had been snubbed. And we can think of no good reason why such treatment should not have been measured out to him.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Moscow says that the decision of the League of Nations to put Russia out was absurd. We had expected stronger language than that.

Dog fancier in Toronto paid $12,024 for an English bull dog. One thing in connection with this dog might be of interest to Adolf Hitler—it has never yet been defeated.

There were 252 bags of mail from United States for Germany picked up by the British patrol, and all were forwarded to London. Possibly people in the censorship office like to read the postcards.

Two men appeared in court at London, Ont. One had used a knife and the other a chair leg for fighting. There was no decision as to which was the most effective weapon, as the fine of $25 or 30 days for each contestant indicates the court declared it a draw.

President Roosevelt says he will ask Congress to continue the reciprocity pacts with Canada and Britain which are due to expire next year. The whole world needs more of it, but it was difficult to make the Canadian voters believe it in 1911.

One apple centre in Vermont received a shipment from the government of 1,600 barrels of apples for distribution to needy families. It was not possible to give half of them away, and now the officials have been notified that another 1,600 barrels are on the way. And possibly government officials may be led to boast regarding how well they look after needy people.

WEE ANGUS

(By A.R.R.)

¶ Wee Angus had to speak a piece, so long I thought 'twould never cease, 'twas at the Christmas tree; he learned an added verse each day, which seemed to be the proper way, and right enough to me.

¶ When I got home at supper time, I'd have to hear each new-learned line, point out where he went wrong; I'd try to help him say the thing, where he should go like days in spring, not blurt it out too strong.

¶ 'Twas elocution that I taught, so he would get it like he ought, and emphasize it right; not just so rattling through the stuff, and know that he had said enough, on entertainment night.

¶ It must have been a good foot long, and words in there knit bold and strong, of syllables had four; it was dramatic in a way, and needed lots of wind to say, at times a little more.

¶ But when come entertainment night, Wee Angus went clean through all right, he came as a surprise; but I was telling him at home, he ran it through in just one tone, and didn't emphasize.

¶ Wee Angus said he thought of that, the thing had left him rather flat, big adjectives and verbs; much emphasizing brought delay, he figured that the safest way—was spilling out the words.

Naval Losses Were Heavier In Previous War

THERE ARE still two pocket dreadnoughts abroad and the British navy, with the Admiral Graf Spee disposed of, will redouble its efforts to round up the Deutschland and the Admiral Scheer. This may take a lot of time. The ocean in large and the North Atlantic particularly at this time of the year, where the Deutschland is operating, is a fine scene for a dodging battleship. There are only a few hours of daylight; storms and fogs perpetually hang over the North Sea and North Atlantic. The Deutschland may escape for a long time and may yet do a lot of damage. The Admiral Scheer was last reported off the South African coast and it will not be easy to run her down in the vast spaces of the Southern Atlantic. There may be dark days ahead, but it will only be a matter of time until the last German ship has been swept from the seven seas.

For those people who sometimes get a little pessimistic over the situation we might say that there is no comparing the strength of the Allied navies this war as against the German navy of 1914. Twenty-five years ago the Germans had a navy which was little short in size that of Great Britain's. As a matter of fact it was the Kaiser's ambition to become the greatest sea power and to secure control of the ocean, which had much to do with the bringing on of the last war. He honestly felt that the German navy was a match for Britain's.

There were black days early in the last war when one wondered if the German boast was true. People who remember back to the last war will recall that blue day of September 17, only two weeks after the declaration of war, when a German submarine sank three British cruisers, the "Cressy," "Hogue" and "Aboukir." They were steaming abreast on patrol work in the North Sea when the Aboukir was suddenly hit by a torpedo from a submarine. Its fellow cruisers evidently thought a mine had been struck and went to the rescue. The other two were hit in succession, as they closed in to pick up the survivors. In this disaster 1,400 lives were lost.

THE FATE of the German dreadnought, Admiral Graf Spee, says London Free Press, reminds one a week ago was the 25th anniversary of the defeat of the German fleet at the Falkland Islands under the command of Admiral von Spee. When war broke out in 1914 the commander of the Pacific Squadron of the German fleet was Admiral von Spee. On Japan's entrance into the war on the side of the Allies his position was untenable and he decided to make for South America with his five cruisers. The commander of the British fleet in the South Atlantic was Admiral Craddock. He was searching for the Dresden. Hearing it was off the Chile coast he rounded the Horn and headed up the west coast of South America. It was on November 1 that by accident the two fleets met off the Chile coast and the Battle of Coronel was fought. It was a victory for the German navy. Two British cruisers went down with Admiral Craddock himself and the others escaped to the Falkland Islands.

The news created consternation in Britain and immediate steps were taken to retrieve the position. There was likewise somewhat of a panic on the British Columbia coast. No one knew whether von Spee would round the Horn or make north to bombard the cities of British Columbia and seize needed supplies on the Pacific coast. Gold was hurriedly shipped inland from Victoria and Vancouver and Premier MacBride, of British Columbia, bought at Seattle a submarine which was being built for Chile. It had no torpedoes, but no one knew this. It is believed that German agents warned von Spee of the submarine and he decided to make south. It was on December 8 that the British fleet under Admiral Sturdee off the Falkland Islands met and destroyed the German squadron. Only one German cruiser, the Dresden, escaped. It was not until the following March that the Dresden was finally captured and sunk.

There have been losses at sea in this war and there will be more doubtless before the missing dreadnoughts are rounded up, but there have been no losses comparable with the sinking by one submarine of three cruisers and the Battle of Coronel. Britain much more definitely than in the last war has control of the seas.

As a matter of fact the whole situation for the Allies is much stronger today than it was at this time 25 years ago. In the last war at this period the Germans were deep in the heart of France. The drive to Paris had been stopped, but the menace of conquest by land was far from over. Today the Germans so far have not dared to attack the Maginot Line. The French army is more efficient and better trained than in 1914 and there is no comparing the British forces of today with 1914. In the last war unified command was not obtained until early in 1918. Lack of co-operation between the various Allied armies had much to do with blunders which were made in the last war. Today by land, air and sea there is a united command.

• Poles Not Through With the War

REPORTS of armed insurrection in Russian-occupied Poland, emanating from Rumania, coincide with dispatches from Paris, telling of guerrilla warfare in that part of Poland which is occupied by German troops, necessitating the retention of strong Nazi forces in the area.

In France itself a new and well-equipped Polish army has been formed, which is receiving constant additions from all parts of the world. The largest infantry camp of these volunteer forces is situated in Brittany where there are already two divisions, with others on the way.

Approximately one hundred thousand conscripts are liable for service, out of the Polish residents of France, working in different parts of the country.

Apart from these conscripts, there are large numbers of refugees from Poland, with officers and men from the forces conquered by the Nazis, who managed to get out of the country, as well as others who had not been called up for service.

There are distinguished names among these volunteer regiments—former ambassadors and consuls, literary celebrities, artists and other professional men, a number of whom have gone to France from this continent.

There is not yet accommodation for all who wish to serve, thousands of applicants from the United States and Canada waiting for the summons. There will be a separate Polish unit of 15,000 with whom will be incorporated the Canadian Poles.

The command is Polish, but French instructors teach theory appropriate for military operations, on the western front.—Hamilton Spectator.

• Are Grand Juries Needed Now ?

THE QUESTION of the merits of the grand jury system is thrust to the fore again by the action of a grand jury which at the Kingston Court House on Dec. 6 assumed the responsibility of forestalling ventilation of a case in which a young man, member of a respected Kingston family, was accused of "driving in a reckless and dangerous manner," resulting in an accident in which four young people were killed.

Details of the incident are set forth in the Kingston Whig-Standard, which expresses the view that the grand jury "committed a very serious error." The Whig-Standard feels that everybody, including the relatives and friends of the victims and the relatives and friends of the accused, and who has had no opportunity to clear himself, would have been better satisfied if a True Bill had been returned and all the facts in the heart-rending tragedy disclosed.

According to eyewitness stories, two cars crossed the LaSalle Causeway at the eastern entrance to Kingston in the early hours of Sunday, Oct. 15, at a high rate of speed, estimated by one responsible witness at 45 to 50 miles an hour. One of them, in attempting to pass the other, collided with the framework of the bridge and the four people in that car were killed—two young men and their wives. The grand jury decided that the case should not go to trial and returned No Bill. There had been no coroner's inquest. The only evidence the public has heard is that which was taken at a brief preliminary police court hearing. This is considered inadequate from the point of view of the accused and others vitally interested, to say nothing of the interests of justice.

That grand juries make mistakes is admitted. Distinguished jurists recognize that emotional factors frequently have tremendous influence on juries. The late Chief Justice R. M. Meredith, who was on the bench of the Supreme Court of Ontario for forty years, once observed that as nearly every one is a motor-car owner or a motor-car driver it is difficult to get justice even in a civil action. He may have exaggerated when he added that nearly all car-driver jurors have speed fever, and self-preservation instincts are so strong that they will not be persuaded to decide against drivers who have been no more unlawful than they themselves often, if not commonly, are.

On the other hand, Chief Justice Rose contends that grand juries are a bulwark of democracy if they work intelligently and realize their responsibilities. But if grand juries perform their duties perfunctorily they might as well be abolished. They have been abolished in England, South Africa, British Columbia, Manitoba and Quebec, and have never existed in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. No vital interest has been sacrificed by reason of the lack of such machinery either in England or Canada, and the Kingston case is not likely to remove doubts that exist in Ontario about its value. — Globe and Mail.

• Thinks Ontario Cars Are Ferocious

ONCE in a while a Hungarian partridge strolls unconcernedly down a Lethbridge city street. Wild ducks, geese and swan come to visit us each year at Henderson park. Antelope are sometimes seen close to the city during hard winters. A bobcat or lynx was shot in a tree in the Riverview section of the city a few years ago. And on the odd occasion someone has to kill a rattlesnake that gets strayed from its proper habitant and invades our city.

And just because of these natural phenomena, we suppose some of our "down East" friends would consider that we are living on the outskirts of civilization, the last frontier. No doubt Premier Hepburn of Ontario would mutter something under his breath about the wild jackasses of the prairies, while it would recall to others in the "effete" sector that Albertans were the hillbillies that voted funny in 1935.

But whatever they may think of us, one thing we do not do here in Alberta is to go round spattering unoffending deer all over the landscape. The other night a train killed a deer on the C.N.R. tracks near Princeton in southwestern Ontario. The public prints from that part of Canada inform us that another deer was killed by a motor car near Wardsville on No. 2 highway, while a number of these beautiful creatures have been killed by motorists on highways in Huron County. Game Overseer Peter Prior reported at Brantford recently that, in the past few weeks he has picked up in Brant and Oxford counties of old Ontario 11 deer which have been the victims of cars and trucks, radial railway cars and illegal shooting.

And that in the industrial, commercial and cultural centre of Canada. The next time a big grizzly bear makes a foray from the vicinity of Waterton National park and slays a few cattle on a ranch in the South Albertan foothills we won't even shudder, for the ferocity of our wild animals here in Alberta is as nothing to the deadliness of the motor cars of the Banner Province.—Lethbridge Herald.

DON'T FORGET CHINA

CHINESE living outside of China are reported to have contributed $100,000,000 in the last 20 months to their country's war chest.

When it is considered that relative few of these Chinese are wealthy that is a considerable sum of money for them to send home to help defeat Japanese aggression.

Whether rich or poor, Chinese as a rule, are liberal with their money for any purpose that seems worthwhile to them.

And most of them are intensely patriotic and race-conscious.

Wherever they go they remember China.

When they die abroad they wish their ashes to be returned to their native villages to be buried beside the ashes of their ancestors.

While alive they are willing to give out of their meager earnings to protect those villages from invasion and despoliation.

The privilege of being Chinese is to them worth fighting and paying for.—Detroit Free Press.

22 HOURS

AN EPIC of the sea worthy of being indelibly written in the annals of the seamen of Britain came over the short wave on Sunday, an official version.

A British trawler was shattered by shell-fire from a submarine, and the lifeboat had a big hole in it. The crew took to the boat, when the submarine came close and then drew off, leaving the crew to their fate. The lifeboat was filling with water rapidly. One man removed his boot, put his foot in the hole while the crew packed the foot in the hole with tallow and grease. For hours, that man plugged the gap and only after 22 hours was rescue of the crew effected. And the North Sea at this period of the year is as coldly penetrating as our own Lake Nipissing!

What a test of endurance! But it saved the lives of those sailormen! —St. Catharines Standard.

SOLDIER IN ACTION

CANADIAN TROOPS have not seen action in France yet. But one soldier at least has found it necessary to open fire on the enemy.

On guard duty near Revelstoke, a British Columbia militiaman found himself attacked by a large grizzly bear. Varying the standard musketry drill, he promptly fired seven rounds rapid. Five shots struck the grizzly, but it kept on coming.

The sentry resorted to the bayonet. The bear replied with a sweep of his paw that smashed the rifle. Not done yet, the soldier leaped smartly sideways and beat a strategic retreat up a nearby tree.

The grizzly was bested. After growling for a while at the foot of the tree, it fell dead of its wounds.—Winnipeg Tribune.

LOW MARK IN HISTORY

"Riches," said the teacher, as he was reading to his class, "take unto themselves wings and fly away. What kind of riches does the writer mean?"

Blank looks met his gaze.

"Surely some one can answer a question like that. You, Brown, what kind of riches did the writer mean?"

Brown hesitated for a moment, and then plunged, "Ostriches, sir."—Chicago News.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork....By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. He gathereth the waters of the sea together as an heap; he layeth up the depth in storehouses:....

The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought; he maketh the devices of the people of none effect. The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations. Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance.—Ps. xix, 1; xxxiii, 6, 7, 10-12.

TWO PICTURES

AN incorrigible criminal guilty of the most contemptible form of theft,—robbing the Red Cross, the Catholic Federated Charities, and the tubercular patients of the Royal Edward Institute of at least three hundred and ten dollars,—was fined fifty dollars and costs, or one month in jail as an alternative, by Judge Guerin yesterday.

This criminal, who has a number of aliases, is forty-six years of age, has had twenty-six convictions recorded against him in forty years, and has been sentenced in all to fifty years' imprisonment. He is a degenerate, a pervert, an open sore on the face of society. His record is literally a horrible one; yet this poisonous individual is now turned loose on society free to renew his nefarious career after having paid fifty dollars and costs.

Yet a short time ago a youth of seventeen, hungry, stole a loaf of bread in Montreal. He was sent to jail for several months. What is the matter with our vaunted justice that such things can be? Either the law stands inn sore need of immediate amendment—or something is very radically wrong somewhere! — Montreal Star.

SKILFUL DIPLOMACY

IT WAS the skilful diplomacy of Sir Percy Loraine two years ago, when he was British Ambassador to Ankara, which laid the foundations for last week's completed Anglo-French-Turkish Treaty.

He succeeded in convincing Kemal Ataturk that in the event of Britain and Germany becoming foes free passage of British warships through the narrow Dardanelles to the Bosphorus and Black Sea would be invaluable in protecting Turkey from German aggression through the Balkans.

The name of Sir Percy Loraine, who is at present British Ambassador in Rome, is known to all race-goers as owner of some of the finest racehorses in the country.

When he took up his appointment in Italy he had a string of his thoroughbreds shipped to that country, where they have been competing on the racecourse which lies a few miles outside Rome.—News of the World.

Wage Increase Suggested Civic Employees

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18 (ENS) —An increase in wages for town employees was forecast by Chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee MacMillan at the statutory meeting of the Town Council held on Friday. It was during the discussion of giving the road foreman a bonus for the use of his car this summer that the suggestion was [illegible] Councillor, who felt that a general increase in wages for work done by the town would cause other employers to re-adjust their wage scale in the same proportion. On motion the foreman was granted a bonus of $25.00.

The installation of two new lights was left with the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, Harvey Donald, to go into with the manager of the Water and Light Commission, P. C. Denyes. J. J. Lewis Hay addressed Council concerning a light on Second and King Streets and handed Council a letter from Mrs. P. B .Nelson, in which the Council was urged to take action. Reeve Calver included in his motion that a light should also be installed at the south end of Front Street.

On recommendation of Councillor MacMillan, Wellington Green will be assessed $50.00 payable in two instalments for his sewer connection on Canrobert Street. The Council recognized the difficulty Mr. Green had experienced in building the sewer and had taken this into consideration in making the nominal assessment.

Regarding the sewer at the south end of Front Street, Councillor MacMillan said the work was practically completed with the exception of disposing of some large rocks which could not be used for refill.

On motion of Deputy-Reeve Locke and Councillor MacMillan, th $10.00 account rendered by Dr. W. F. Loucks for treatment of an indigent patient in 1935 was added to the pay sheet. Mayor Long passed on to the Council the thanks of Rev. G. N. Maxwell for being granted permission to hold an Apple Day for the Boys' Brigade last Saturday. "The boys had a most successful day," reported the Mayor. "They realized about $35.00 from the sale."

The Mayor also gave a report of the meeting at which all churches and charitable organizations were represented. At his suggestion the Council offered to contribute towards this fund as has been their custom in previous year. Councillor Battisby was placed in charge of collecting the contributions.

Following the Mayor's report that the Water and Light Commission had paid over to the town $3,000, the balance of their grant for the year, Councillor MacMillan sponsored a motion thanking the Commission for the splendid manner in which the town had been decorated with colored lights. He remarked there seemed to be more strings of red and green lights than had been used in previous years, and drew attention to the two huge Christmas trees at the Commission offices and Fire Hall.

Be No Overdraft.

Reeve Calver, chairman of the Finance Committee, promised that a balanced budget was assured. He recalled that a meeting of the committee several weeks ago had revealed $15,352.45 would be required to complete the year in the blue side of the ledger. Up to Friday, which was the last day for the payment of the current year's taxes, approximately $15,000 plus $845.91 in arrears had been collected. Tax Collector J. C. Birmingham looks for another $1,000 to come in before the end of the year, reported the Reeve.

"I think the Council has made an enviable record since not only was the tax rate lowered 3½ mills during the current year, but we also oiled the streets, leaving them in better condition than they have ever been in years, and have also constructed several sewers." The Reeve indicated that during the current year there had been a comparatively small amount of tax arrears to collect and as a result the collector had made proportionately less money in commissions. He recomended the collector should be given a bonus of $50.00, and that the 1940 Council consider the matter of revising the commissions paid. The motion was carried unanimously.

Only two tenders for the town weigh scales were received, James F. Wilson, who offered to pay the town $162.00, and E. F. Clark, who was re-hired, on motion of Reeve Calver and Councillor Dorie, at $210.00.

The annual nomination meeting will be held in the Masonic Temple on Friday evening, December 22, beginning at 7.30, with election on January 1.

The election by-law naming deputy returning officer, poll clerks, and locations of polling booths was passed as follows: Ward 1A, Police Office, Stuart Nelson and Mrs. R. J. Bullen; 1B, Police Office, Alexander Dunk and Mrs. F. Hendy; Ward 2, Herald Office Bruce Grills and James Wilson; Ward 3, (a) F. Linton and W. J. Abernethy, (b) Harry Redden and Walter Lowe; Ward 4, H. Coxwell and George Boyd. The rent to be allowed for polling booths was placed at $4.00 and deputy returning officers and poll clerks are to be paid $4.00 and $3.00 respectively.

After the accounts had been passed, Mayor Long thanked the members of the Council for the very efficient manner in which they had carried out their work during the year.

VESUVIUS RAMPAGES.

NAPLES, Dec. 16 — (AP). — Vesuvius sent two new 50-yard-wide streams of lava pouring down the mountainside to-day toward the "Valley of Hell" and the town of Terzigno. After a first alarm, however, officials said there was no danger to the populace.

Suffering heavy losses as it meets the stubborn defence of Finnish troops, the Russian army is staging three major drives and a series of minor offensives. Scene of the heaviest fighting is on the Karelian Isthmus in the south and in the central region where Russian troops hope to cut a path to the Gulf of Bothnia.

Hastings St. Andrew's And Trinity W.M.S. Groups Elect Officers

HASTINGS, Dec. 18. —(ENS) — K. Perrie opened her home at the manse on Thursday for the Christmas meeting of the W. M. S. with Mrs. Charles Dodd in the chair.

The hymns and scripture were in keeping with Christmas and carol singing was led by Mrs. Reta Johnston.

The roll call was a test of the members knowledge of the Bible.

The secretary, Mrs. J. A. Brown gave a very envouraging financial report, the members almost raising their allocation.

The topic on "Keeping the Spirit of Christmas throughout the Year" was given by Mrs. William McEachnie.

Mrs. E. Hahn and Mrs. D. K. Perrie conducted a Christmas Quiz.

Rev. D. K. Perrie then took the chair for the election of officers as follows: President, Mrs. Charles Dodd; 1st vice-president, Mrs. E. Hahn; secretary, Mrs. J. A. Brown; treasurer, Mrs. H. B. Wilson; Glad Tiding's secretary, Mrs. J. A. Brown; welcome and welfare secretary and home helper's secretary, Mrs. H. B. Wilson; supply secretary, Mrs. William West; literature secretary, Mrs. D. K. Perrie; pianist, Mrs. H. B. Wilson; auditors, Mrs. E. Hahn and Mrs. Reta Johnston.

Trinity W. M. S.

Mrs. Albert Brooks extended the hospitality of her home on Thursday afternoon, when a large number of ladies gathered together for the Christmas meeting of Trinity W. M. S. and for their election of officers for the New Year. Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe presided. Encouraging reports were given by various secretaries and congratulations were extended to the Mission Band leader, Mrs. Clarence Lockhart who has carried on the work so successfully.

Rev. J. E. Glover then presided for the election of officers: President, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Fleming; recording secretary, Mrs. Gordon Fox; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. Way; treasurer, Mrs. H. Oliver; christian stewardship and finance secretary, Mrs. Robert Collins; associate helpers', Mrs. W. Way and Mrs. Throop; associate assistants, Mrs. J. E. Glover and Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; temperance conveners, Mrs. Alex German; mission band leaders, Mrs. C. Lockhart and Mrs. J. E. Glover; supply secretary, Mrs. J. Trotter; missionary monthly, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; literature secretary, Mrs. W. Way; peace secretary, Mrs. J. Small; pianist, Mrs. William Tate.

Mrs. Small gave an interesting talk on "Pioneer Life in Western Ontario" giving her own experiences of thirty five years ago when as a minister's wife, she and her late husband went west as settlers and although they endured great hardships, found the work in the mission fields a joy.

The call to worship was featured by a solo, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" by Mrs. William Tate.

Mrs. E. Hess and Mr. H. Edwards sang as a lovely Christmas number, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

The main feature of the program was a nimpressive candle-lighting service with "Jesus the Light of the World" as the theme. Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe led in the service by lighting the white taper, and read Jesus' own words, "I am the light of the World, he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

Mrs. J. E. Glover recited "A Little Light in Bethlehem" as the executive lighted their candles. The story of the "Service of Holy Fire" written by Mrs. E. C. Murray a member of the General Board of the W. M. S. was read by Mrs. A. M. Brooks.

As a benediction, Mrs. William Tate sang the 4th verse of "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem."

Freindship Circle

The Friendship Circle of the Fleming Line met at the home of Mrs. George Pickens on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. James Beamish and Mrs. Pickens as hostesses and serving Christmas refreshments. During the afternoon, the ladies completed sewing and exchanged Christmas gifts.

2 Drivers Fined In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18.—(ENS)—A non-support charge against Percy Allan Tweedie of Hepworth filed by his wife was adjourned by consent when the accused failed to appear in Police Court. Mrs. Tweedie consented to the adjournment through the advice of her counsel J. F. R. Douglas who appeared on her behalf.

Two traffic cases were dealt with by Magistrate O. A. Langley K.C. of Peterborough who presided. Edward Cryderman contributed $5.00 and costs for driving in excess of the 50-mile speed limit on No. 30 highway and Robert Newhall of Havelock paid $2.00 and costs for driving with improper lights.

Painful Boils Bad Blood the Cause

When boils start to break out on different parts of the body it is an evidence that the blood is loaded up with impurities.

Just when you think you are rid of one, another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the lancing and poulticing you may do will not stop more coming.

Why not give that old, reliable, blood purifying medicine Burdock Blood Bitters a chance to banish the boils? Thousands have used it for this purpose during the past 60 years.

Take B.B.B. and get rid of the bad blood and the boils too.

Axe Saves Him

Orillia, Dec. 18.

GORDON BARTLETT, youthful mink farmer of the fifth concession, is thankful today that it was only one jackrabbit that attacked him yesterday, and not two—or it might have been embarrassing.

While cutting wood on his farm, Bartlett was suddenly attacked from the rear by the animal as he was stooping over to retrieve a piece of split wood.

"It was the biggest jackrabbit I have ever seen. It had a kick like a mule," said the farmer victim. "It ripped my pants clear down one leg from thigh to ankle. I scared it away with my axe. But next time I stoop over I'll be mighty careful. I've only got so many pairs of pants."

Members Named By Omemee Leaders

OMEMEE, Dec. 18 (ENS).—The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church was held at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon. It was in charge of Mrs. Rea, leader. After the usual routine business the four group leaders for 1940, Mrs. Moyer, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. V. Laing, drew the names of their group members.

Rev. R. M. Patterson installed the officers of the society for the coming year.

The lesson theme was "Jesus, the Light of the World," and interesting papers on it were given by members of Mrs. Rea's group. "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung by Mrs. C. Rutherford.

Lunch was served by members of the group and a social hour enjoyed.

Seymour Farmer Is Injured By Car

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 18 (ENS) —Thomas Mahoney, West Seymour, narrowly escaped serious injury when he was hurled fifteen feet after being struck by a car on Front Street at 10.30 on Saturday evening. Mr. Mahoney stepped out into the street in the middle of the block, failing to observe the car which was coming from his left. Gerry Mitchell, East Seymour, who was in charge of the car, brought the vehicle to a quick stop. Mahoney was struck by the front bumper and thrown to the pavement ahead of the car. He was rushed to the hospital in an unconscious condition, but soon revived.

After being treated for a slight head injury he was able to proceed home suffering from a severe shaking up and shock. Provincial and local police are investigating the accident.

Keene Society Elects Officers

KEENE, Dec. 18. —(Special). — The meeting of the W. M. S. of the United church held in the club room on Wednesday was one of the most interesting meetings of the year. The attendance was larger than usual.

After the business period, "A Candle Lighting Ceremony," followed in keeping with the theme "Jesus, the Light of the World." Mrs. Rennie sang very nicely "Holy Night." Chrisms hymns were used throughout the program.

Rev. Mr. Murray took the chair for the election of officers:— Mrs. James McFarlane was elected president and Mrs. Murray vice-president. A few changes were made in the other offices. Mr. Murray spoke briefly, complimented the women of the society on their willingness to do their part. He stressed the need of prayer—for the people out of the church as well as those in it. The spirit of thoughtfulness for others at all times.

Mrs. Knox, the wife of Rev. Henry Knox of Vancouver, a visitor in Keene, owing to the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. James Nelson, gave a short address which will long be remembered by those who were privileged to hear her, her theme was "The Keepers of the Light." Her many friends, old and new, were delighted with her message.

Mr. Murray closed the meeting with prayer.

Tea was served and a social half hour spent, bringing to a close a splendid meeting, the last one until the New Year.

Cotton grown in Mexico this year is estimated at 240,000 bales.

Reaboro Farmer Is Victim Of Gun Accident

John Endicott, well known Reaboro-district farmer, was shot and instanly killed between nine and ten o'clock on Saturday morning on the "power line road" five miles northeast of Reaboro. Dr. G. C. Collison, Lindsay, declared there would be no inquest, the decision having been made that the death was accidental.

Police believe Endicott, who was carrying a double-barreled shotgun, fell on the ice and the shotgun exploded. The heavy charge entered his right side and into his right lung.

He was found on the road, dead, by Stanley Rusk, East Emily, who was driving a truck, at about ten o'clock.

A keen hunter, Mr. Endicott left his home Saturday for a fox-hunting trip through the district east of Reaboro. He was to have been met by two other men.

Provincial Constable Cecil Taylor, reconstructing the accident, said he believed Mr. Endicott had slipped on the ice of the road and that the gun went off when he fell.

Deceased is a member of one of the best known families in the county. His brother, Harry, is Reeve of Omemee and another brother, Sam, is an ex-Warden of the county.

He was a prominent member of the Orange lodge and active in all the community affairs of the Reaboro district.

Strong Naval Base

The mouth of the Elbe is strongly fortified as a German naval base with the harbor of Cuxhaven on the south side and Brunsbuttel on the Kiel side.

The Ursula is a small submarine of 540 tons completed a year ago at a cost of £200,000 ($894,000).

The August navy list showed the submarine Ursula was in command of Lieut. Commander G. C. Phillips.

It was confirmed in London meanwhile that the German steamship Antiochia, 3,106 tons, was scuttled by her crew last month when pursued in the North Atlantic.

The destruction of the Admiral Graf Spee by her own crew was termed "ignoble suicide" by the British press today.

72 British Killed

New praise was given to the crews of the British warships which drove the German pocket battleship to cover in Montevideo, while relief was expressed that the death list in Wednesday's 14-hour battle was no higher than 72 dead and 31 wounded.

Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, and high naval officers remained at their desks until late last night receiving reports of the battleship's destruction, but declined to issue a statement.

It was announced 61 men were killed and 23 wounded on H.M.S. Exeter, which bore the brunt of the day-long battle off the Uruguayan coast, backed up by the cruisers Ajax and Achilles.

The admiralty said a temporary hospital ship had been dispatched from Buenos Aires to take care of the dead and wounded on the Exeter, which was headed for the British naval base in the Falkland Islands.

Nazis Bomb Steamer.

As the Admiral Graf Spee went to her death, German planes attacked shipping on England's East coast. From a seaside promenade, crowds watched Royal Air Force planes and anti-craft batteries chase off the German bombers. The 487-ton British steamship Serenity was bombed and sunk in what was believed a raid on a fleet of mine sweepers off the Northeast coast.

Some witnesses in the coastal raid said they believed one of the enemy planes was shot down in the aerial combat. Although gunfire was heard over a wide area, no air raid warnings were sounded.

Landing of a crew of 14, who spent seven hous in the open sea, disclosed the sinking of the 1,162-ton British steamship Amble, which struck a mine in the North Sea.

An unidentified Norwegian ship was reported sunk off the coast of Scotland, and another was aground near the Northeast English coast.

Eight crewmen were reported missing in the sinking of the 321-ton Norwegian steamship Strindheim, and the crew of the Jotun, 534 tons, also Norwegian, was rescued after she ran ashore.

went out to scuttle her had reached safety. They, including their captain, went aboard other boats.

All appeared destined for internment in Uruguay, or Argentina.

About 700 were reported en route to Buenos Aires aboard tugs and launches, to surrender there to the Argentine government.

The rest of the crew—except those left dead and wounded in Montevideo after the battle with three British warships from which the Graf Spee fled riddled to this port last Wednesday — had been put aboard the German freighter Tacoma.

The master of the Tacoma was arrested last night for violating a port-closing order when his ship, which followed the Graf Spee's course, returned here.

Authorities said they would intern all Graf Spee crewmen who remained in Uruguayan waters.

Sacrifice of the marauder which had cost Great Britain nine merchantmen, although it disposed of the issue of what to do about her, left to Uruguay the protest of Captain Langsdorff who claimed that she had left him "no other solution than to sink my ship."

The question of the crew was not fully resolved, although internment was considered a likely possibility. It was said that Argentina, where Captain Langsdorff and other of the ship's officers were believed headed, might choose to treat the Germans as survivors of a marine disaster, rather than interning them.

Another Version

(An expert in Washington said Uruguay might intern the others, or give them freedom. If the battleship had been interned, the crew would have been, too, he explained. But with their ship sunk, he declared, they would not necessarily be regarded as fleeing like soldiers and, if considered merely shipwrecked seamen, might be permitted to go home.)

Forced by an expiring Uruguayan time limit to leave her neutral refuge or be interned the Graf Spee headed toward the sea at 6 p.m. 4:30 p.m., EST).

One hour and 25 minutes later, a thunderous explosion in the bows sent flames and smoke towering to the sky.

Two more rumbling blasts quickly followed. They echoed for many miles and sent thousands of startled Uruguayans to their roof-tops to witness what they thought was a second great naval battle off South American shores.

In three minutes—at 7:28 p.m. (5:58 p.m., EST)—the Graf Spee was a scuttled ship, a fearful, burning hulk, steaming and hissing under 25 feet of water.

All Montevideo saw or heard her blown up, the Nazi swastika still flying, as a sunset haze drifting in from the sea was about to hide her from the shore and from the guns of British warships waiting below the horizon.

Soon only her superstructure showed, and even this sank from view about half an hour later when a second series of explosions shot a column of flame and smoke from the wreckage, apparently as flames reached munitions and fuel untouched by the first blasts.

The ebbing tide early today uncovered parts of bow, stern and some remaining superstructure. This correspondent, making a two-hour launch trip around the water grave, found the Graf Spee almost split in two, but still upright.

Her prow was warped, and her hull glowed from the heat, but her guns, turret and stack were in position. For about 1,000 yards around the odor of burned fuel oil was almost overwhelming.

From the tower of Montevideo's tallest building, I saw the Graf Spee first move out of the harbor limits as though headed toward sea, where powerful telescopes could see what appeared to be a British cruiser on patrol.

How many Allied ships waited to engage the Graf Spee had she made a run for it was not known.

However, it was believed the British light cruisers Ajax and Achilles, whose guns put the Graf Spee to flight Wednesday were keeping guard.

But when three miles offshore and still well within Uruguayan territorial waters, the German warship went hard to starboard and moved slowly for a time with the slower Tacoma in her wake. Then she appeared to anchor as a pair of tugs from Buenos Aires, one of them towing a barge, drew alongside.

Within a few moments, the crewmen came tumbling overboard, into the barge, the tugs and the launches.

Then came the explosion.

Thousands ashore watched in open-mouthed astonishment as a great plume of smoke rose over the wreck.

(In Berlin, D.N.B., official German News Agency, said Adolf Hitler, as supreme commander of Germany's armed forces, gave the order that destroyed the pocket battleship.)

sembly to condemn Russia as an aggressor, but at first was reported to have abstained. A United States Vice-Consul, Donald Edgar, attended the Assembly session as an observer.)

To-day's military communique, aside from announcing a continued drive into Central Finland, said Red troops had driven almost 50 miles along the road south of Petsamo.

Moscow observers found it increasingly apparent the Red army would be unable to deliver the final stroke in Finland as a "birthday present" on Thursday for Joseph Stalin. He will be 60 years old, and that "present" was reported to have been one of Russia's original aims.

Pravda also printed an accusation that Great Britain had backed much of the spying within Russia since the last war and said courts were investigating many cases of alleged espionage in behalf of Finland.

gunners than pilots."

(In London signature of the agreement was announced simultaneously by the Air Ministry and the Dominions Office. A communique said "the scheme is an outstanding example of Empire cooperation. . . . The organization thus created will produce a steadily increasing output of trained airmen and is destined to play a decisive part in the achievement of victory.")

The agreement was signed in the Prime Minister's Office on Parliament Hill shortly after Saturday midnight and climaxed nearly two months of discussion of the plan here by representatives of the Governments concerned. Lord Riverdale, head of the British Mission, signed the agreement on behalf of the United Kingdom Government, and initialled the document on behalf of the Australian and New Zealand Governments. Mr. Mackenzie King signed for Canada.

Many Orders Coming.

"The enormous variety of equipment required for the program is being listed in detail so that orders may be promptly placed," the Prime Minister stated. "To prevent delays in obtaining supplies required from outside Canada, protective orders have already been placed.

"Now that the agreement is in force, the War Supply Board will immediately begin to let the necessary contracts. Plans for the schools have already been prepared, and no time will be lost in their construction."

Even while the discussions were in progress here, preliminary steps had been taken, the Prime Minister revealed. Royal Canadian Air Force stations at Camp Borden, Ont., and Trenton, Ont., have been turned into schools for instructors, so that a supply of trained flight instructors would be established as a nucleus. Provincial Governments cooperated with the central Government in helping to choose airport sites.

A most thorough course of instruction will be followed by the Empire air recruits, Mr. Mackenzie King said. "Practically all air recruits in the United Kingdom will be trained at home. In Australia and New Zealand, all air recruits will receive their initial and elementary flying training at home. Most of the Australian pupils and some of the New Zealand pupils will also receive advanced training in their own countries.

"Under the agreement, however, about one-fifth of the pupils to receive advanced training in Canada will come from the other two Dominions. Some pupils will be received from the United Kingdom, Newfoundland and elsewhere the great majority of the pupils, however, will be Canadians.

(Lord Riverdale said in an interview here last night that Britain will provide at least 10 per cent of the pupils in the air schools established under the scheme. If there are vacancies due to any inability to obtain sufficient recruits in Canada, more British youth will be sent here to train.)

"The first stageof training in this country will be initial training, which is a ground course to prepare recruits for flying and for air force life in general. This will be given in three large schools. At the end of four weeks initial training, a selection will be made of those to be pilots, observers or gunners, and they will then go to the appropriate schools," the Prime Minister said.

Start on Light Craft.

"Pilots will go to one of the elementary flying schools, where they will learn to get the feel of a plane, and to fly light machines. After some eight weeks, they will graduate to the service flying schools. It is at this stage that the Australian and New Zealand pilots, who will receive their initial and elementary training in their own countries, will come to Canada to continue their training. In the service flying schools, of which there will be 16 in Canada, pilots will spend about 14 weeks learning intermediate and advanced flying, including night and instrument flying. They will receive instruction in bombing and fighting as well.

"The air observers, including those from abroad, will spend about 12 weeks at the air observers' schools. There will be 10 of these schools at which pupils will be taught navigation, reconnaissance and photography. They go on from air observers' schools to bombing and gunnery schools for a course in the theory and practice of bombing and gunnery. The course will take about six weeks. There will be 10 bombing and gunnery schools. Finally, in order to learn more advanced navigation, the observers will spend about four weeks in one of two air navigation schools.

"The air gunners, who also serve as wireless operators, after their initial training either in Canada or abroad, will take a 16 weeks' course in the wireless training schools. There will be four wireless training schools. In them, air gunners will be taught not only the essential principles of radio work, but also operating practices in the air. They will then proceed to the bombing and gunnery schools for four weeks to learn that phase of work before proceeding overseas."

Reds Use Norwegian Road?

The commander also was quoted as saying that the Finnish command was convinced that a Russian tank corps which recently attacked Salmijaervi, on the Norwegian border in the Petsamo region, northernmost Finland, had used a Norwegian road. Norwegian authorities, however, said they had been informed of no such violation of their border.

From the Salmijaervi front came unofficial words that the Reds had faltered in their assault on that centre of the nickel mining area where properties of the International Nickel Company of Canada are located. That town's defenders were making a fierce stand in the Arctic darkness and temperatures ranging to 13 degrees below zero, these reports said.

The Salmijaervi fighting, however, went unmentioned in last night's army communique.

President Kyosti Kallio, broadcasting yesterday to the armed forces, appealed indirectly again for "substantial aid" from the world to meet the Russian invasion.

ous end."

Spee's Name Dishonored.

The Express, whose headlines said "pride of the Nazi navy commits suicide" also called the act ignominious and said the Admiral Graf Spee had "dishonored her name." The paper recalled that "when Admiral Von Spee faced Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee's squadron in the last war he preferred death to the way of the open seacocks."

The Daily Herald said:

"Good-bye Graf Spee! Your end is ignominious. You committed suicide. Clever brains designed and built you. Brave men sailed in you. You were doomed from the moment of your launching because Hitler planned to use you in his offensive against free peoples—an offensive that cannot succeed.

"Your doom was doubly sealed when, at the outbreak of war, you began a campaign of ruthless destruction against helpless merchant vessels for that hunt brought against you irresistible forces of the British navy."

The News Chronicle struck a slightly different note with the comment that "odds awaiting the pocket battleship had she chosen to fight again, were overwhelmingly against her and brave men on both sides would have been sarificed to no good purpose."

PREMIER 65 SUNDAY

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King spent his 65th birthday tomorrow at Laurier House, his Ottawa residence, as in past years. The Canadian Press report of yesterday that he would be at his country home in Kingsmere in the Gatineau Hills for his birthday was incorrect.

The prime minister was at his office in the east block throughout yesterday and until an early hour this morning, after which he returned to Laurier House.

Two people were killed in Rome, Italy, when a house collapsed following a gas explosion in the cellar.

1,400 Children Enjoy C.G.E. Christmas Tree

Heralded by several preliminary telegrams that he was on his way and would be on hand shortly, Santa Claus arrived, and the jingle of sleigh bells, at the Collegiate Auditorium on Saturday afternoon and received an uproarious welcome from 1,400 excited children.

It was the annual Christmas party promoted by the Canadian General Electric Company's Social and Athletic Club for the benefit of the families of employees and the 1939 edition of this joyous occasion will go down in history as one of the most successful yet held.

Not one of the huge gathering of children was neglected when St. Nicholas started to hand out presents fronf the fifteen-foot high, colorfully decorated and illuminated Christmas tree. There were hockey sticks galore for the boys between seven and 14 and there were dolls and games and pull toys, and books and handkerchiefs and in addition every child was handed a bag containing toffee, an orange and a chocolate bar.

Enjoyable Program.

The arrival of Santa Claus was prefaced by a short but enjoyable program, with "Bill" Bennett, chairman of the committee carrying out the duties of chairman in able fashion. The program opened with the singing of the National Anthem and with a prayer by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Adam Sands and his associates then staged a skit, "The Wizard of Oz," arranged by Mr. Sands and with the performers wearing striking costumes.

C. A. Salmonsen, works manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, gave a brief address in which he extended Christmas greetings to the children and to all employees of the company.

Another enjoyable skit by Mr. Sands and his company followed and then came the triumphant arrival of Santa Claus. The children had been kept in a high state of excitement by the telegrams that had been coming in from the benevolent old gentleman and when at last his familiar figure was seen there was a memorable welcome. As is usual with anything undertaken by the Social and Athletic Club the whole affair was run off with machine-like smoothness, a committee of some forty members looking after the arrangements in faultless style.

CITY HALL MEETINGS.

Two meetings already posted for the week before Christmas at the City Hall are—Police Commission at 4 p.m. Tuesday, and Board of Health that evening at 7.30 o'clock. It is likely that a special meeting of the council will be called before the end of the year, possibly this week.

Carol Service Is Big Success

The capacity attendance and the heartiness with which the audience entered into the singing of well-known Christmas airs left no doubt of the complete success of the community carol service under the auspices of the Friendly Hour Group of the Y.M.C.A. in the Collegiate Auditorium Sunday night. Every seat was filled and chairs had to be used to take care of the overflow.

With George Nicholls as song leader and the two-piano team of Harry and Stanley Northrop providing a very effective accompaniment, the audience sang most of the well-known Yuletide carols during the course of the program. Such favorites as "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Christians Awake," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "Joy to the World," "As With Gladness," "Once in Royal David's City," "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Silent Night," were included in the list and the audience seemed to enjoy every minute of the singing.

In addition to the community numbers there were other enjoyable items on the program. A trio consisting of Tom Smith, cello; Stanley Northrop, violin, and Harry Northrop, piano, contributed a group of three numbers: "Dancing Doll," a selection from Lucia, and "La Zingana," in masterly fashion.

Mrs. James Goldie's fine soprano voice was advantageously displayed in two Christmas songs, "The First Christmas Morn" and "The Holy City," the latter by request.

The third group of guest artists was composed of a women's xylophone quartette from the Salvation Army, who very effectively played "Star of the East" and "Brightest and Best," and as an encore contributed "Christmas Awake."

Elmer Trethewey, president of the Friendly Hour group, thanked the audience for its splendid attendance and extended an invitation to young people to attend the regular sessions of the Group at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday evenings.

AN ARABIAN TRAY.

An Arabian tray with an elaborate and ornate hand fretted design was shown to the Examiner today by Stanley Page, 688 Ross Street. It is made of teakwood. Mr. Page obtained the design from the Old Country, and from enquiries he believes that it is the only one of that kind in Canada. It is an attractive piece of wood work that required a great deal of skilful use of a hand fret saw.

Many Features Of L.C.A. Called Absurd

"You should go into the next election with that argument," said Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning when John A. Bradshaw was making a heated attack upon what he called the absurdities of the Liquor Control Act.

"I certainly intend to," replied Mr. Bradshaw, with determination.

The condemnation of the Liquor Control Act came after Leonard Prevost whom Mr. Bradshaw was representing had pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

"It's not a question of the amount of the fine," defence counsel said when the matter of penalty was being considered. "This man is not in a position to pay any fine."

"No one abhors the use of liquor more than I do," continued Mr. Bradshaw, "but the fact is that the Liquor Control Act is absurd in many of its features. The government sells men liquor and then makes it an offence to have it anywhere but in their home. If they take it to a friend's house and offer him a drink they are breaking the law but if they give him the bottle unopened that is quite legal. Again, a man is guilty of an offence if he takes liquor to his garage. Men will submit to even-handed justice meted out by their fellows but they object to a slot-machine justice by which a button is pushed and out comes a sentence. And the magistrate has no more choice in the matter than I have."

It was at this stage that Magistrate Langley intimated that Mr. Bradshaw might devote his attention to the political atmosphere of the matter.

Prevost who had been arrested by Constable Bruce Menzies after beer had been discovered in his car in North Monaghan township was fined $100 and $6.65 costs or three months in jail.

Family Overcome By Gas Fumes

Fred Storey, 150 Maria street, is probably shopping around for a new furnace or also calling in a heating expert this week, following a near escape from death from coal gas fumes that he, his wife and three children experienced last week.

Only action of a neighbour, Mrs. Harry Wickenden, 114 Marie street, saved them from probable death. Mrs. Wickenden's husband and Mr. Storey work at the Canada Packers and when he found that the Storeys were not up when he was leaving for work one morning he instructed his wife to drop in to see if anything was the matter. Mrs. Wickenden did so and found the house filled with gas fumes. Mrs. Storey was unconscious in bed and could not be roused while Mr. Storey was awakened with difficulty. Two children Shirley 9 and Margaret 12 were both ill from the fumes. A third daughter Mary 14 seemed in normal health.

Fred Storey went to work that morning but collapsed shortly after he reached the plant and had to be taken home. The four were ill for the entire day. It was the second time that coal gas fumes have escaped into the new house from the furnace to make its inmates ill.

Obituary

HAROLD VINCENT ELCOMBE

Harold Vincent Elcombe, 21, of 93 Hunter street, died in Nicholls Hospital this morning after an emergency operation for appendicitis.

Well known here, where he spent all but the first year of his life, he was a bookkeeper at the Quaker Oats Company, and was a graduate of Central School and the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School. He was an usher in George Street United Church.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Elcombe of the same address, and had been born in Folkestone, England, coming to Canada as an infant.

Surviving besides his parents are one brother, Douglas, and two sisters, Jean and Norma, both at home.

The remains are resting at the Funeral Home of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water street, and the funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon from George Street United Church, Rev. M. C. Parr officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

SEEK RE-ELECTION

Gossip from the northeastern section of the county intimates that Reeve Norman Lean and the other members of the Burleigh-Anstruther council are likely to offer themselves for re-election, and that the ratepayers may return the council by acclamation.

HEARING DEFERRED

On account of the opening of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court here this afternoon, Judge Smoke postponed until Wednesday afternoon his hearing of an appeal by J. T. Braund against the assessment of his new building on Charlotte street.

CONDITION "NOT SO GOOD."

The condition of Adelbert Wagar, 153 Wolfe street, who was critically injured in a crash between a light truck that he was driving and a train, in North Monaghan Friday afternoon, was reported "not as good" today at Nicholls hospital. His two passengers were buried in a double funeral this afternoon.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

"Just about the same," was the report today on the condition of Helen Lytle, aged 8 months, critically burned when her two sisters and brother perished in their blazing home, near Norwood, last month. She is still in Nicholls hospital. She has lain in hospital since the day following the fire, November 15.

No Adjournments For Over Christmas Season In Liquor Cases Two Defendants Warned

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., cracked down in police court this morning upon men charged with liquor offences who wanted adjournments.

"Men who want to get drunk this week and use the argument that they want to be out for the Christmas holidays had better understand," said His Worship, "that their trials will go ahead."

The first man to appear on a drunk charge this morning, after one adjournment, asked for another delay of two weeks, but ran into a stone wall. Magistrate Langley finally said that he would consent to an adjournment until December 27 but the accused submitted that if he could not have two weeks it would be of no use to him.

Then the date of trial was set for tomorrow but the accused came back into court later, changed his plea to guilty and was fined $10 and 75 cents costs or seven days.

"That will get you out for Christmas," remarked the court.

Another man charged with consuming liquor while he was on the interdicted list, pleaded not guilty and asked for an adjournment. Magistrate Langley was informed that the police witnesses were present and the prosecution was ready to go on with the trial.

Accused pleaded that he had a job of cutting wood to go to but the Magistrate said that was not a good excuse for a long delay.

He adjourned the case until Wednesday, warning the accused that he must be prepared to go ahead then.

Driver Suffers Painful Injuries To Head

When his head was shot through the shatterproof glass of the windshield after the car in which he was riding had crashed into a culvert Saturday afternoon, Archie Wilson of Oshawa sustained terrible facial injuries and is now in Nicholls Hospital.

The accident happened on the Peterborough-Port Hope highway four miles out of the city when an automobile driven by Thomas Foley, a Peterborough resident working in Oshawa, ran off the highway into the ditch on the left side of the road, passed over one culvert, smashed off a highway sign and then collided with another culvert. Wilson was in the front seat with the driver and his face smashed through the windshield. Foley escaped with a cut lip and Edward Roughley of Oshawa, a passenger in the back seat had an abrasion on the head. The car was badly damaged.

Wilson's nose and cheek bones were broken by the force of the impact with the windshield and he sustained other facial injuries.

This morning the driver Thomas Foley faced two charges before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. He was charged with dangerous and drunken driving and on the two counts asked for a remand without plea or election. John A. Bradshaw represented him.

Foley was by consent remanded until Wednesday, December 27, with bail fixed at $500.

Road Accounting System Explained

Details of a new system of local accounting of road costs were explained to township clerks, treasurers and road superintendents by two representatives of the Ontario Department of Highways at the Court House this morning.

L. B. Teetzel and P. D. Brown of the municipal roads audit division of the Department discussed the simplified system of bookkeeping which goes into effect on January 1. It is desribed as a job cost method of accounting designed by the Department to obtain full value for the grants paid by the provincial government for road work, and it will facilitate the Department's auditing. Several reeves attended the meetings which concluded this afternoon.

Mrs. P. M. Howard Dies In Toronto

HASTINGS, Dec. 18.—(ENS) — Mrs. P. M. Howard, well known in Hastings and district, died suddenly in Toronto Sunday night in her 63rd year. Requiem Mass will be sung in St. James Roman Catholic church, Toronto, Wednesday morning and the funeral cortege will proceed to Hastings, arriving shortly after 12 o'clock noon for interment in Mt. Carmel cemetery.

Daughter of the late John Tracey, Mrs. Howard was born here and a member of one of Hastings' prominent families. She took an active part in affairs of the village and church. During the war years she was president of the I. O. D. E. branch and later was president of the Catholic Women's League.

Her husband, the late Patrick Howard, who died about eight years ago, operated a furniture and undertaking business here, retiring about 13 years ago. Surviving are three children, Kathleen, John and Patrick.

The Rambling REPORTERS

MISSES DEATH TWICE

Percy Edwards, the Lakefield boy who was rescued from drowning a few weeks ago, escaped serious injuries on Saturday evening, when the bicycle on which he was riding, slipped on the street near Foster's garage and threw him to the street in the path of a car driven by Alfred Davis. The car hit the bicycle, but the driver was able to avoid the young lad.—E. B.

City Council Is Likely To Stand For Re-election

Approaching end of the municipal year will be flagged on Friday by acclamations for twelve elective civic offices for 1940.

At the head of the list of expiring responsibilities is the mayoralty, the duties of which have been performed by Mayor Hamilton during the last two years.

Members of the aldermanic board whose two year terms are closing are Robert S. Cotton, Walter Stocker, Roland M. Glover, George N. Gordon and James Juby.

The vacancy in the Utilities Commission is simply the ending of the three years of service for which Roland Denne was elected.

And the members of the Board of Education whose two-year terms of trusteeships are nearing the end are Mrs. Kate Morris, John R. Marshall, David G.H. Melton, Dr. G. R. Scott and H. G. Walker.

Two by-laws have been prepared for approval by municipal electors. One is to authorize the selling of $10,000 debentures to provide funds for the construction of a footbridge over the Otonabee river, north of the Quaker Oats dam; the other submits a question as to whether the people wish to have the Charlotte street wine shop closed.

If the ratepayers wish to avoid an election, it was learned of late that every member of the city council is agreeable to continuing in municipal work.

The aldermen who were elected a year ago for two years are: Malcolm McIntyre, E. R. Wilson, James Dutton, H. I. Bradburn and H. J. McCannan.

On the school board it was rumored that one member, Dr. G. Raymore Scott, was retiring and that possibly the health of J. R. Marshall would force him not to seek re-election. Mr. Marshall is the chairman of the board, but has not been able to act for more than two months.

Truck In Collision With Passenger Car

LAKEFIELD, Dec. 18.—(ENS)—What might have proved a more serious accident occurred about four miles out of Lakefield near the home of Albert Darling on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garbutt were coming into the village when Roland Coons, a nephaline truck driver, going in the opposite direction pulled out to pass a team of horses and wagon driven by Vincent Dunford. Owing to the icy condition of the roads when Coon applied the brakes the truck swerved and he struck the Garbutt car. Mrs. Garbutt received facial cuts, bruises and suffered shock. Chief Wallace Hendren investigated.

Albert Stratton Dies Suddenly In His 74th Year

Albert H. Stratton, former newspaper publisher in this city and prominent for many years in municipal affairs, died suddenly at his home at 373 Park Street North on Sunday. He had been ill lonly a short time, and was in his 74th year.

His first business venture in Peterborough was as a book store proprietor, but later he bought the Peterborough Review, an evening paper, in 1916. A few years later he bought the Peterborough Times, a morning paper, amalgamating the two into a single evening paper, the Review. In 1920 he sold the Review to the Peterborough Examiner, holding only the job printing plant. The Examiner had been published for years by his brother, the late Hon. J. R. Stratton, former Provincial Secretary and Federal member for Peterborough, and prior to that by his father, James Stratton.

In 1933 Mr. Stratton closed his connection with newspaper publishing when he sold his Review job printing plant to E. G. Hand, present proprietor.

Active in civic affairs, he was a member of the City Council during the years 1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. He took a prominent part in sports as a golfer, curler, and cricketer, and was president of the Brock Street Rink, whose controlling company was then known as the Peterborough Hockey Club, Ltd. He was president of the Peterborough Hockey Club in 1905-06, when this city won the Intermediate O.H.A. title. An enthusiastic golfer, he was captain of the Peterborough Golf Club in 1910.

Mr. Stratton was postmaster here during the years 1910-1911. He also took a prominent part in many clubs and was a leading Mason and a staunch worker in St. John's Anglican Church, where he was a former warden. He was a charter member of the Peterborough Club and a member of long standing in the Ketchecum Hunt Club.

Born in Peterborough on January 1, 1866, he was a son of the late James and Rosanna Stratton. Surviving are his widow, the former Clare Wilkins of Belleville, and three sons, Wilford, Reginald, and John, all of Toronto.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from St. John's Anglican Church, Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

With The Boy Scouts

With St. Luke's

Many tests have been passed during the past two weeks. Ernie Ferguson has completed his scout laws, stars and compass. Cecil Hunter, scout laws. A. Choate, signalling; B. Graham, tenderfoot knots.

Three boys were invested into the world brotherhood of scouts at a ceremony. They were B. Graham, B. Laing and Harry Withers.

Attention, All Saints' Rink

Owing to unforseen circumstances the central den has been closed and there will be no meeting this week. The Crew members are requested to get in touch with Rover Mate Gord White at 6161.

The scouters' training course ended on Tuesday. A.D.C. Ernie Wolfe thanked all who attended.

Scouters' Club.

The scouters' Christmas party went off in fine style. Some 25 scouters were on hand. Singing was led by G. Brook. Mr. H. Hope led in games and the world's best stories. During the evening carol singing was enjoyed; everyone present brought a small gift, which were distributed. Any member getting chocolates shared with those present, while the gifts were afterward gathered up and delivered to the fire hall.

Mrs. Langhorne was in charge of refreshments and was assisted by Mrs. Rose, Miss McCarthy and another lady member of St. George's Auxiliary.

With H.M. Forces

Jim Beattie, former assistant at Mark Street cub pack, is in hospital at Trenton, undergoing an operation.

At Murray Street

The pack was busy practising for their Christmas play, but to give the lads a change games of Shoulder Charging," then the old timer of Cowboys and Indians were played.

The White Wolves, under Don Grant won most points. On Friday night the cubs sang two numbers at the Sunday school concert. Trevor Davies and Howard Hempstead presented a dialogue, "A Good Plan," and Gray Zavitz a recitation entitled, "The Twins."

At St. John's.

The cub pack held another successful meeting where several games were played. The hightight of the evening was the investiture of John Greatrix. John made his promise as a cub to Akela Pammett.

Another ceremony of importance happened when Sixer Garry Braund came into scout work in a going-up ceremony.

At closing, Akela was sorry to announce that Cub jack Murphy had met with a bad accident, and was in St. Joseph's Hospital. The pack and all cubs in the city join in wishing him a speedy recovery.

It was also reported that the pack had won the Bill Coleman Memorial Trophy, and would be presented next Friday night.

The cub pack Christmas party will be held Friday at 5.30 p.m. The Green, Brown and Black Wolves are to bring sandwiches. The Gray and White Wolves will bring cakes. The Red Wolves will bring cookies. The Old Wolves will supply drinks. Dress: Full uniform (except shorts).

At St. George's

The Wolf Cubs attended church parade with the Guide on Sunday morning, a good turnout being enjoyed.

All cubs and invited are to meet at the church on Friday night next at 5.45 p.m. sharp, where a Christmas party will be held.

Sacred Heart

The cub pack held another, successful meeting when Jack Crowley received his first star.

On Tuesday next the cubs and scouts will meet in a body in a Christmas party, which the parents are asked to attend.

At St. Andrew's

Two new scouts took their promise as scouts before the scouter, Assistant Mr. Hardie and Rev. Dr. Young. They were Gerald Davis and Ronald Watson.

The scouts are putting on a play at the Sunday school Christmas party, with Scouts McTavish, Dinsdale, Hill, Johnson, Fanning, English, Beaton, Crowe, Embry and Florence taking the parts.

The Cubs are also putting on a scripture sketch with the story of the good Samaritan. Douglas Morrison reading the story, while the following boys act the parts: Robert Waite, Davis Johnson, R. Crowe, D. Crawford, D. McDonald; and the rest of the pack as the gang of thieves.

Mr. Ingham, scouter of St. Andrew's, presented the scouters' club with photo of Kingston conference; same to be hung in association headquarters.

Mild Weather Record

DETROIT, Dec. 18.—(CP)— Mild weather prevailing here this month has broken all Detroit weather records it was disclosed today. Not since the weather bureau began keeping records way back in 1871 has the season gone beyond December 15 without some measurable snowfall.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Monday e'en may seem like an odd eve indeed to stage a girls' basketball tussle, but it isn't so queer. For one thing, the damsels might prefer Monday as it's frequently a slim night for dates—and again this is Christmas week and 'twould never do to bill a cage joust for the last part of the week, at all, at all. So, the Quaker Debs play "Y" Gym at seven p.m., this p.m., a scheduled Girls' Basketball League fixture. And then on Wednesday, the other two tilts are lined up, Quaker Aces meeting Westclox at 6.30, followed at 7.30 by St. John's vs. the Orfuns. Some keen competition is expected in all these contests, and no doubt the damsels are right in the pink of condish after their strenuous Christmas shopping.

Comes a program of an ice hockey game in Nottingham, somewhere about central England, we believe. Game was betwixt the Nottingham Panthers and the Grantham Royal Air Force, the latter squad copping a 7-4 win. The R.A.F. gang used Canadian puckists, including Jerry Wooll on the forward line — and young Wooll is a Peterborough boy (now in the Air Force) who used to play hockey in the Church League here. Friends here will be interested in knowing he is still zooming along the ice lanes as well as in the upper air.

From Many Towns

Games start early in the Nottingham Stadium, this one being billed for 6.30 p.m.—and 'twas played on Nov. 15th. On the team with Wooll were puckists from Montreal, Edmonton, Port Arthur, Calgary, Fredericktown, Prince Edward Island and Toronto. The Panthers were all English and a chap from Calgary was referee. The program announced: "After the match the audience are invited to skate without extra charge. Hire of boots and skates 3d per pair." And in another place, it said: "Jolly, friendly and sociable gatherings (at the Stadium) to enjoy a grand sport." They skate at this spot from 10.30 in the morning till well out in the evening, and also on Sundays.

C.G.E. Shop Hockey Loop is in process of re-organization now, while the Southend League and the Church Circuit are squaring around for the winter. When these loops get going, along with the Industrial League, the School League, the O.H.A. teams, and a few more—well, Peterborough will again show the way to smaller cities in ice activity. Something like 60 local squads will be playing the great Canadian winter game, and it'll tax all the rinks available nightly to accommodate this horde of hockeyists. They don't fool when it comes to puck-chasing in this town, gosh blink it!

All In Playoffs

The VanHorne Cup series in Kingston—where Bella Villa and the Airmen get their pre-seasonal training to play the Petes—ended its schedule the other day. And now, the first and third place squads (Queen's and Belleville) have a sudden-death semi-final whilst the second and fourth clubs (Fliers and Smiths Falls) do ditto, the winnah to playoff in January. The Fliers-Falls' fray is booked for Wednesday, but the Collegians and Redmen do not deign to clash till New Year's Day. It isn't much of a puck loop on the whole, there are usually only slim crowds in attendance, and the series upsets O.H.A. schedules around the district—but nonetheless it provides fine practice for the R.C.A.F.-ers and the Thomasites each winter.

From Lindsay cometh this item: "Prospects for a good junior hockey club look brighter. Coach Ralph Wakelin informed us last night that Freddy Owen of last year's Midgets was back home again. It was at first thought he would be lost to the team after going to Stratford. A little on the light side last season, Fred has put on some weight and with added experience should help the club. Another report from Omemee way cheers us up. Two members of the 1938 Blackhawks are still eligible for junior company and are anxious to line up with the Midgets. Don Osborne, manager of the arena, stated yesterday that if the weather stays cold the ice will be ready for Monday."

Cagers Will Meet

Another re-organization meeting of the City Basketball League is set for tonight at eight in the Y.M.C.A. Those interested in entering teams should be represented. No dearth of clubs is expected, but a bit of engineering has inclined to gum up the works so far, there being some objections to a team or two for having too many good players aboard. Won't be long now till the male cagers are thrilling big crowds in the "Y" gym at regular hoop duels, with baskets being sunk as neatly as the Graf Spee.

Local swimmers, directed by Gord Minty, took part in a friendly aqua meet at Toronto Broadview "Y" on Saturday. The more experienced Toronto wave-cutters (having many more performers available) won by 50 points to 30, but the Peterborough guys made a good showing and had a fine time. And the experience won't hurt 'em a bit, y'know. Stan McBride and Jerry Fitzgerald made a neat impression in this meet, and the visiting squad won the men's senior relay. In the senior men's 40-yard free style event, Stan McBride splashed home first. Results are listed elsewhere in tonight's gazette.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By BILL KING (Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

Associated Press Sports Writer).

BOSTON, Dec. 18. —(AP). —Before the All-America's semi-centennial year dies call upon Rev. Charles O. Gill of Orwell, Vt., who was rated as greater than the legendary Pudge Heffelfinger by no less an authority than the late Walter Camp, to step out of retirement long enough to take a bow.

Gill, now going on 72, played left tackle between Alonzo Stagg and Heffelfinger on Yale's 1889 football team and after Camp selected that trio as the Elis' only representatives on his first All-America list, he presented the former with a trophy that reads: 'To Charles O. Gill, for all-round excellence as a football player."....That was the season Gill won his fifth football 'Y" for he was attending divinity school .. In addition to being the first All-American to enter the ministry, he is remembered in Hanover, N. H., as Dartmouth's first paid football coach and the salary, he recalls, was just enough to pay his tuition at the Union Seminary in New York ....

Joe Cronin isn't doing any moaning about the Red Sox' inability to come up with a much-needed star catcher....He is willing to gamble with George Lacy, the youngster up from Minneapolis and the only American Association backstop to work more than 100 games last season.

Cute Casey Stengel, who seldom gives away his trade secrets, says he made a hitter out of Maxie West by making him whistle at the plate ....'West was much too tight, as I was when I broke in with the Giants," Casey explained. "John McGraw advised me to whistle 'Yankee Doodle' and in no time at all I was swinging as loose as a goose and getting myolof hits."

Miss Norma May Rolls 760 For High Three

Monday

Results in the St. James' Y.P.S. League:

D. Freeman ...	834	683	686—2203
N. May	967	961	852—2787
Z. Harvie	862	788	839—2509
V. Freeman	896	761	740—2379

J. Meeks	626	592	644—1862
G. Langton	752	934	735—2421

The best bowling up to date in the league was turned in this week when several players scored in the high brackets. Miss Norma May, who has been consistently up with the leaders surprised all previous scores, men's or ladies', when she cracked the pins for 760 with three steady singles of 256, 269, 235. This is exceptionally fine bowling for a lady and this may give the other girls something to try and beat for the rest of the season. Ken Meredith with a big 326 had high single. Other scores which passed the 600 mark were as follows: J. Dawson 605 (250), V. Tarkington 632 (240, 211), Violet Freeman 600 (221, 221), L. Davis 617 (237, 217), Stan Leggitt 603 (224, 232), B. Garvey 631 (239, 247), K. Meredith 659 (326).

E. Deyell	625	673	615—1913
A. Lester	581	567	701—1849

This week's bowling saw the league leading team, captained by Tommy Williams, take the second place team of Ed Jenkinson's 6 points to 2 to retain their lead of 10 points. Geo. Gurnett battled the pins and came up with a new high three and high single for the league to date. His 338 single beat George Pryde's 310 effort also rolled this week. George had a new high three of 756 to beat his own high of 729 rolled a couple of weeks ago.

Good scores were as follows: George Gurnett 756 (338, 229), George Pyrde 636 (310), Mike Doris 609 (250), Tommy Williams 665 (215, 251). For the girls Amelia Lazure with 599 (200, 240) was tops. Lil Trollope had a 256 single in her 561 three, I. Cooper 201, Evellyn Blodgett 216 in her 566 score. Marg Hickson 542 (225).

Wednesday

The Wednesday night league bowlers turned in some good scores during the week with 18 of the 40 bowlers topping the 600 mark. Red Fisher was high man with 650 (297, 259) closely followed by Ray Clifford 749 (208, 254, 287), Pat Blodgett with 739 (296, 273) and Ab Evans with 738 (255, 229, 254) were next in order. Two chickens offered as high singles were won by Pat Blodgett 296 and Red Fisher 297. Fred Scates, anchor man of the crack (ed) Coca-Cola team threatened each game to take home a chicken but dropped off at end of each game with a bad break or two.

Downer's team, league leaders, pounded the Coca-Cola into submission by taking all eight points. Fred Martin, who bowls for the Coca-Cola boys, being snowed under by Red Fisher and Ab Evans of the Downer's team. The luckless C.P.C. also took an eight-point trouncing at the hands of Anthony's fruit store. C.G.E. with eight points handed a shutout to DeCarlonis. In the other game the up-and-coming Lansfield's team defeated the powerful Johnson Motors teams 6 points to 2 to roll into second place for the second section.

This league will not roll until after the holiday season is over when the boys promise to get in and throw some real high scores.

Over 600 for three games: Fred Martin 658 (268, 234), F. Scates 670 (234, 246), Turk Walton 685 (211, 284), J. Gray (211, 234), P. Coursey 610 (204, 251), W. Masters 656 (227, 233), E. Asta 604 (237, 212), J. DeNoble 640 (246, 243), E. Johnson 615 (207, 232), Tommy Martin 650 (232, 240), W. JIMMY ORLANDO—Detroit Red Wings

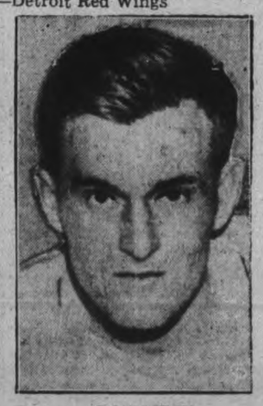
CHUCK SHANNON
New York Americans



DON METZ
Toronto Maple Leafs

Playing impressively in the National League this winter are these three young players, who may some day be the names in headlines. Orlando hails from Montreal and takes his place on the defence for Jack Adams' floundering crew. He's an aggressive, hard-hitting type of player, although inclined at times to wield his stick in the manner of a broad sword. Shannon started on the defence for Americans, but was sent down to the minors, only to bounce back to add a dash of youth to Red Dutton's aging squad. He's the only major leaguer to wear glasses. Metz was plucked from the amateur ranks by Toronto and is making good in a right wing spot.

Despite Recent Fuss Baseball Will Go Smoothy On Its Way

By IRVING VAUGHAN
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

CHICAGO,, Dec. 18.—The recent hubbub raised by the National leaguers because they failed in their effort to slip Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis into a legislative straitjacket may have sounded as if some sort of war was about to start between the 16 major league magnates. There is, however, no cause for excitement.

If it is the purpose of the National league, seemingly dominated at this time by the St. Louis, Cincinnati and Brooklyn clubs, to heckle the commissioner until he walks out on the job it is entitled to make the effort.

Thrives On Criticism

But the more the heckling, the longer Landis may sit on the throne to worry his new enemies. As for pushing him off the pedestal it hardly can be done. He still has that old agreement, signed by 15 clubs when he took office, that he can stick just as long as he pleases and that his judgment, even if wrong, can't be questioned. He can even expel a league president for life.

The farm system and the working agreement by which the majors juggle and retain holds on players is such a complicated process that not even most of the big league owners understand it. But some of them have been slick enough to devise ways in which, contrary to ethics, they have rounded up an extensive layout of youthful players. Landis has caught some of the guilty owners and undoubtedly will chastise a few more, rules or no rules.

It is easy to figure out why the minor leagues' association voted for the amendments which the National league supported and the American league and Landis voted down in the joint session in Cincinnati.

A House Divided

The crowd now dominating the National league has such extensive minor league affiliations that it can lead the latter. And to protect what it controls in the minors the National league quite logically wanted to pass regulations which would have forced Landis to make decisions strictly according to rules instead of his own judgment.

What Landis may do about making free agents of ball players in the near future is what worries the chain store disciples. The chain store in itself is needed. It helps to develop ball players, because the interested majors find them and pay the bill in the minors, if necessary, while the player is developing.

In this way the minors are aided. But evils have crept in as already proved by the commissioner's investigation and he has made decisions, maybe not strictly according to the rules, but on the basis of mistreatment of players, such as handicapping their advancement.

Hamilton Club Threatens To Quit League

HAMILTON, Dec. 18.— Officials of the Dofasco Hockey Club hinted today that they might withdraw from the senior O. H. A. race following Tuesday night's game in the Garden City against the league leading Saints. The final decision will be reached at a meeting to be held on Monday night.

Dofascos are of the opinion that the O. H. A. is trying to block efforts to build up a group contender by refusing them the right to use Walter Greig of Brantford for the remainder of the year. They are also peeved over the ruling which sent two Toronto players, Cy Allen and Teddy Oliver, to Niagara Falls. Yesterday George Weifenbach, business manager, who made the announcement regarding the withdrawal, was in conversation with Ross E. Clemens, local O.H.A. representative, and while he refused to divulge what happened, the belief is that he informed Clemens that Hamilton would have to get help or withdraw.

'Galt officials told us at the O.H. A. meeting in Hamilton last October that we would be able to use Brantford players, and it was on the strength of this that we decided to enter a team," said Weifenbach today. "Now they step in with crying towels and threaten to withdraw unless Greig is declared their property. We are trying to get senior hockey back in public favor here and if we are forced to carry on with a mediocre club, we are not going to make any friends. We might as well withdraw right now unless the O.H.A. gives us assistance to our efforts."

Mowers Marked N.H.L. Timber

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 18. —(CP) —Hockey fans from Stratford to Detroit have words of praise for the 24-year-old goalie, Johnny Mowers, despite the fact that he plays for the lowly Detroit Pontiacs in the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League. Many feel he will make National Hockey League ranks with the Detroit Red Wings.

Mowers was born and brought up in Niagara Falls, Ont., a Detroit scout watched him set up a mark of eight shut-outs when he played for Niagara Falls Brights last year in the Ontario Hockey Association and the Wings sewed him up tight using him in the nets to relieve Tiny Thompson in the city series.

Pontiacs are at the bottom of the league standing, but fans maintain it is no fault of Mowers. Others say he's getting even better with the amount of rubber he gets poured at him every game, he had had 52 goals scored against him, compared with 25 his team has scored.

Records Broken By The Yanks

Record-breaking was somewhat on the down side in the American League in 1939, compared with the season 1938. A various assortment of sixty-four records were engraved on the ledger in 1938, whereas in in 1939 the total diminished to forty-six.

As might be expected the World Champion New York Yankees set the pace in establishing new records both for team and individual play. Most important of the new figures was the performance of the Yankees in breaking the American League record and equalling the modern major league mark of four straight pennants. The Yanks also won their fifth world series in four straight games, the 1939 World Series finding them with a team batting average of only .206 and with only sixteen men left on bases in four games.

Other outstanding feats of the Yankees during the season in the realm of new major records included most home runs and most total bases in a single game and most home runs in a double header. In the first game of their twin-bill with the Athletics on June 28, the champions shattered a major mark with eight round-trippers. Five more circuit smashes in the second game enabled the champs to top their own previous major league record for most homers in two consecutive games which they had set in 1936 with eleven. The Yankees also reaped fifty-three total bases, which was three more than their own league standard established in 1932.

The Yankee season of 1939 also saw Atley Donald setting a record of twelve straight wins for a first-year pitcher. The year of 1939 also regrettably marked the close of Lou Gehrig's remarkable string of 2,130 consecutive games.

During the season, for the tenth time in history the New York super-club blasted three home runs in a single inning. The champions accomplished this rare feat in succession in the game of June 28 against the Macks.

TORONTO LEAFS TAKE NEW YORK AMERICANS IN TWO GAMES

Kelly Scores Three In Third Period On Sunday To Give Leafs Undisputed League Leadership

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Now that Toronto Maple Leafs are back in sole possession of the National Hockey League lead, the pack will be in full cry at their heels again.

Gord Drillon

"Sometimes I think it is harder to stay in first place than it is to get there," says Manager Conny Smythe. "When you get to the top, they all aim at you and concentrate on ways of stopping you. Well, bring 'em on."

The Leafs rode into undisputed possession of the lead by defeating the plodding New York Americans twice during the week-end, 5-1 before 9,645 paying customers at Toronto Saturday and 4-1 before 12,000 at New York last night. Boston Bruins, previously tied with Toronto at the top, defeated the Black Hawks 4-2 at Chicago last night but dropped two points off the pace.

Ross Sees Game

It was significant, in view of the first-place fight and in view of Smythe's remarks, that Manager Art Ross and assistant manager Cooney Weiland of the Bruins stayed in Toronto Saturday to see the Leafs play before dashing to Chicago. After seeing their club tie Toronto Thursday, the Bruin leaders wanted to study their rivals some more.

Ross and Weiland saw a show of attacking strength and the Toronto team might have scored 15 times but for the brilliant goaltending of Earl Robertson of the visitors. As it was, the Leafs produced a new distribution of scoring punch when Nick Metz and Gus Marker fired their first goals of the season and Hank Goldup got his first on Toronto ice since turning professional.

Gordon Drillon scored twice for the Leafs on those inevitable breath-taking plays designed and set up by Syl Apps. Both times Drillon had merely to tap the puck behind Robertson when Apps got it to him—the way old Nels Stewart scored the Americans' goal in the first period after Toronto had grabbed a two-goal lead. Stewart, aided by Eddie Wiseman and Murray Armstrong, scored his third goal of the three games since he began his comeback last week.

Kelly Returns

Reg. (Pep) Kelly, who wasn't dressed by the Leafs Saturday, returned to the lineup with a vengeance in New York to score three times in the last period. After Drillon had registered on a pass from Apps and Hooley Smith had tied the count for the Americans.

Pep Kelly

When Kelly made it 2-1, Robertson was removed from the nets and Kelly promptly potted an easy score on a breakaway. Robertson returned and Pep dashed away again to beat the goalie in the final second.

Manager Red Dutton's troubles were renewed, although Harvey Jackson and Al Murray returned to the Americans from the hospital list for the Sunday engagement. Charlie Conacher suffered a bad knee bruise at Toronto and missed the home game.

The Bruins came from behind twice and Gordie Pettinger and Bill Hollett scored in the last period to whip Chicago's determined Hawks before a huge throng of 17,264. After Cully Dahlstrom gave the home side an early lead, Art Jackson tied the score. Bill Carse sent the Chihawks ahead again and Herbie Cain pulled the Bruins level.

Five Wins For Rangers

New York Rangers, perhaps as hot as Toronto and Boston, attained a string of nine games without a defeat by beating the Canadiens 4-2 at Montreal Saturday and playing a scoreless draw with the Red Wings at Detroit last night. The results left them in third place, two points behind the Bruins.

Rookies Kilby McDonald, with two goals, and Alf Pike, with one, set the pace at Montreal. Bryan Hextall got the other for the Blueshirts, while Doug Young and Toe Blake scored for the Habitants.

The defencemen were the stars of the Detroit stalemate and Goalies Dave Kerr of the Rangers and Tiny Thompson of the Red Wings were seldom tested. A hard-luck guy from away back, Mud Bruneteau of Detroit, needed 13 stitches to close a cheek cut after crashing into a goal-post in the second period.

N.H.L. Leaders

(By The Canadian Press.)

Standing—Toronto, won 9, lost 3, drawn 3. Points 21.

Points — Drillon, Toronto, 12 goals, 6 assists, 18 points.

Goals—Drillon, Toronto, 12.

Assists—Apps and Davidson, Toronto, 9.

Penalties— Blake, Canadiens, 20 minutes.

Shutouts—Broda, Toronto, 4.

Leading Rookie With Maple Leafs

Lex Chisholm, high scoring amateur who is playing his first year of pro hockey with the Toronto Maple Leafs. Chisholm played last year with Oshawa in the O.H.A. where he led the circuit in scoring. This year he is well up with the leaders, having acquired five points in the last Canadian Press N.H.L. standing.

DiMag Crowds Ruth Record With .381 Batting Average

CHICAGO, Dec. 18 .— (AP).— Just in case the fans can't agree on a successor to Babe Ruth as baseball's hitting king, Joe DiMaggio of New York Yankees apparently will do until some one better comes along.

That "some one better" will have to be good to take the honors from Joe, according to the official American League hitting records for 1939, released to-day. He had such a brilliant season that he amply fulfilled promise of edging right alongside such diamond greats as Ruth, Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb.

DiMaggio wound up the campaign with a batting average of .381 in 120 games, winning the league championship by a margin of 21 points from Jimmy Foxx of Boston Red Sox, who set the pace in 1938. In spite of illness, Foxx hit .360 last season for runner-up honors.

DiMaggio belted 30 homers and hit for 310 total bases during the season. Foxx, however, won the home run title for the year, getting 35 circuit clouts, followed by Hank Greenberg of Detroit with 33. Buddy Lewis of Washington led in tripies, with 16, while Red Rolfe of New York made the most doubles, 46. Ted Williams, Boston freshman, was high in total bases, with 344.

Rolfe was high in hits, making 213, a dozen up on the total notched the year before by Joe Vosmik of Boston. Rolfe also set the pace in the runs scored—139. George Washington Case, with 51 stolen bases, had no competition for honors in that department, while Iron Mike Kreevich of Chicago led in sacrifices, with 22.

Following DiMaggio and Foxx in the batting standings were Bob Johnson, Philadelphia, .338; Hal Trosky, Cleveland, .335; Charlie Keller, the sensational New York youngster, .334; Rolfe, with .329; Ted Williams, .327; Ken Keltner, Cleveland, and Charlie Gehringer, Detroit, each at .325.

Boston Red Sox retained their team batting laurels, but sagged eight points to .291 from their 1938 figure. In second place was New York, with a mark of .287. New York smashed 166 homers in 1939 for the bast total in the league, eight less than their 1938 total.

Remember When—

Harold (Jug) McSpadden, Massachusett's golfer, put on team in the home stretch to capture the Miami open golf tournament from Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., by a single stroke one year ago today. Sammy Snead, holder of the Canadian championship, tied for seventh place.

N.H.L. STARS

(By The Canadian Press.)

Gordie Drillon and Pep Kelly, Toronto, both picked up three goals in a pair of week-end victories over New York Americans.

Nels Stewart, Ameks, scored his team's only goal and his third in as many straight games when Americans lost Saturday to Toronto.

Tiny Thompson, Detroit, and Dave Kerr, Rangers, goaled perfectly to hang up shutouts as Red Wings and Rangers played to a scoreless overtime draw.

Mack Abbe Sets New Half-Mile Winter Record

TORONTO, Dec. 18.—Mack Abbe, fleet New Cork pacer, established a new half-mile record for winter racing at Dufferin Park on Saturday, winning the third heat of the Class A free-for-all in the fine time of 1 01½. As Dufferin Park is one of the few places where winter racing is held, the mark can be considered a North American record. Mack Abbe's time, according to harness officials, is surpassed in Ontario only by the half-mile Billy Direct (1.55), the world champion pacer, set up at Stratford last summer in winning the Canadian championship. Billy Direct's effort on that occasion was 1.00¼.

Mack Abbe's splendid comeback in the third heat followed two rather disappointing trips previously in which he finished fifth to Ail Grattan in the first dash and fourth to Victor Lee in the second event.

Laurel Watts, the good Kingston trotter, won two heats in Class B, taking the first event in 2.14¼. John Dean and Reta Bars were disqualified in the third heat for beating the starting barrier. Archdale Grattan was disqualified in the Class D event for the same infringement. All races on Saturday were started with the McNamara barrier and it resulted in quicker starts and a much more pleasing show.

Racing will continue on Christmas Day and the following Tuesday to allow horsemen to spend Saturday and Sunday at home.

Marathon Runner Is Killed In Crash

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fred J. (Pat) Dengis, 37, national champion marathon runner, and Richard Henry Sohn, 21-year-old pilot, were killed Sunday in an aeroplane crash.

Samuel Shamanski, who witnessed the crash, said the motor quit when the plane was about 200 feet off the ground. The plane was banked sharply to avoid a clump of trees, then nosed over and plunged into a field. Both victims were employees of the Glenn L. Martin Company, aeroplane manufacturers.

Dengis was national and Pan-American champion at the marathan distance 26 miles, 395 yards—and set a record for the run when he won the national championship for the third consecutive time at Yonkers in November. He had won thirteen of his last fifteen starts. He was on the United States Olympic team in 1936. Sohn was from Lebanon, Pa.

COAT FROM LAST WAR

Sam Snead Wins

With a total of 271 for 72 holes Sam Snead captured the 1939 Miami open tournament. Snead beat Jug McSpaden by two points.

Sam Snead Wins Miami Title

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 18.—(AP). — Sam Snead, who said he still didn't feel "in the pink," headed back home to-day for a physical overhauling, after limping four times around the course in 271 strokes, just nine under par, to win $2,500 top prize in the Miami open.

Two strokes off the pace going into the final round, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro hit his stride yesterday and tied the course record with a six below par 64 and breezed home two shots in front of Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Boston.

"I'm still not feeling exactly up to snuff," grinned Snear, who had been out of tournament competition for more than a month.

"I want to have my teeth checked over, and I might not be able to go to the coast for the western circuit. I may be able to join the caravan again when it comes back to Texas."

Several months ago Snead suffered a pain in his back. After an examination three teeth were extracted and he felt better. He said that he might have another tooth or two out.

"I hope to be in better form when I get back into competition," he said.

Stanley Horne, Montreal stylist who was among the leaders in the opening round, ran into trouble in the last lap and carded a 75 for a 72-hole total of 289.

Johnny Vander Meer Voted Year's Big Disappointment

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP).— The most resounding "flop" in sports for 1939, the sports editors of the United States decided to-day, was strictly a toss-up between the collapse of Johnny Vander Meer's double-not pitching arm and the gridiron woes of Northwestern's Wildcats.

Voting in the Associated Press' ninth annual poll of the year's biggest disappointment, the sports editors came up with an exact point tie in trying to discover which nose-dived more. Vander Meer was voted the No. 1 upset on 11 of the 74 ballots and Northwestern drew the top spot on nine, but on a point basis—three for a first place selection, two for second and one for third—they were deadlocked at 37 points each.

Vander Meer, after shattering all pitching records in 1938 with two straight no-run, no-hit performances as a rookie with Cincinnati Reds, and winding up with 15 freshman victories, ran into a combination of the sophomore jinx and an assortment of ailments this year. He finished the season with only five victories and nine setbacks, and tossed only eight complete games.

Northwestern's well-publicized Bill De Correvont and Company was hailed as a sure-fire hit in Big 10 football circles, with championship possibilities. Yet, the Wildcats turned out to be wid only at the dinner table, won only three of their eight games and were blanked in four.

Canadien Cog

Playing a sound defensive game for Canadiens, one of the N.H.L.'s early season surprise teams, is Doug Young, ABOVE, who has been one of the interwoven reasons for the team's excellent showing. After many years of good work for Detroit Red Wings, Young was released at the start of the present season and soon had signed with the Montreal team.

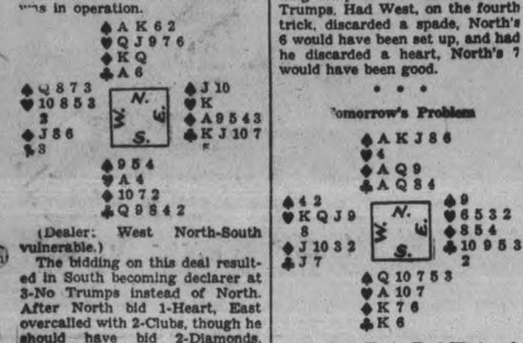
"The Authority on Authorities"

GUARDING THREE SUITS

THERE IS no limit to the number of different kinds of squeeze plays which can occur, and the variations of them. One of the most interesting types is that on which a defender has to take his choice of discards from among three suits, any one of which will be fatal to his cause. Such a squeeze may come so early that neither the declarer nor the defender knows until later that it was in operation.



(Dealer: West North-South vulnerable.)

The bidding on this deal resulted in South becoming declarer at 3-No Trumps instead of North. After North bid 1-Heart, East overcalled with 2-Clubs, though he should have bid 2-Diamonds. When North then bid 2-Spades, East passed and South bid 2-No Trumps, which his partner took to game.

West led his club to the ace, the 6 fell to the king, the jack to the queen and the 9 to the 10, setting up South's 8. West, having discarded the heart 2 and spade 3, now chose a diamond, which settled his hash.

Followed then the diamond ace, diamond king, spade ace and the heart queen to the singleton king and ace. The club 8, diamond 10, heart 9 and Jack and the spade king completed the hand for 4-No Trumps. Had West, on the fourth trick, discarded a spade, North's 6 would have been set up, and had he discarded a heart, North's 7 would have been good.

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, (Via Radio Telephone), Dec. 18 — (AP). — The Ketchikan Chronicle today received its first radio telephone news dispatch as the Federal Alaska Communication system opened its radiophone circuit linking Juneau, Ketchikan and Seattle. The dispatch, telephones by the Seattle Bureau of the Associated Press, was from Montevideo, reporting developments of the British-German naval engagement.

German Sailors Killed Naval Battle Buried

Members of the crew of the Nazi pocket battleship Graf Spee are shown here as they carried 36 of their dead comrades to their graves at Montevideo. A platoon of Nazi sailors fired a volley over the graves of their dead comrades and then hastened back to their ship to continue making it ready for a dash to the open sea. A squadron of British warships awaited any attempt made by the Graf Spee to break free. This picture was transmitted by radio and phonephoto.

Tables Are Loaded With Poultry With Prices Holding Firm On Farmers' Market On Saturday

Decisive Battle

Svanvik, Norway (Near the Finnish Border), Dec. 18 (AP) A POSSIBLY decisive battle in northern Finland appeared likely today near Pitkajaervi, 20 miles south of here, as motorized Russian troops rolled south.

The Finns were reported to have occupied new defence lines near Pitkavjaervi, close to the Norwegian-Finnish frontier, after their retreat southwest from Salmijaervi.

Motorized Russian troops began moving from Borisgleb to Salmijaervi during the night—some reports said they were in 100 trucks — and today Russian tanks were seen coming down the mountain slopes from Kuvermoerkii. Three Russian bombers circled overhead.

You remember the prize turkey that Scrooge sent the boy to the poultry shop to buy on Christmas morning—"the one as big as me", and you remember, too, how Dickens described it. "It was a turkey. He never could have stood upon his legs that bird. They would have snapped off in a minute like sticks of sealing wax."

There were many turkeys of that calibre on the market here Saturday and there were many geese, too, of the kind that Scrooge thought he saw served up at the Bob Cratchits when the spirit of Christmas Present had him in tow; "There never was such a goose."

It was the second last Saturday before Christmas and there was a Yuletide atmosphere all over the place. The early morning snow that started the day off in real Christmas dressing did not last very long but even the spring-like temperature could not drive out the festival feeling inspired by the huge attendance and the abundance of Christmas poultry.

Poultry Abundant

In the upstairs market there were no vacant spaces at the tables and piles of turkeys, geese and chickens, with a smaller offering of ducks faced the hordes of customers. Turkeys ran along at a fairly even pace all morning. The prices did not waver much from the 22 to 25 cents pound range, the hen birds commanding the higher figure and there were some beauties offered. The standard price for geese was 22 cents a pound, although there were some sales at a cent or two lower and some fortunate vendors of superior quality birds probably got that much over the standard price. Chickens showed no change over last week's prices. 18 cents was the popular figure, with 20 cents paid for birds of the highest quality. The price asked for ducks was the same as for geese, 22 cents the prevailing quotation.

Other prices in the basket section were eggs at 28 to 30 cents with pullet eggs selling for 25 cents and butter at 29 and 30 cents.

Christmas Trees

Signs of Christmas on the outdoor market were not hard to find. Right in the centre of the square was a green oasis of Christmas trees, where Noble Tate, R.R. 2, Peterborough was offering well formed spruces and balsams for an average price of 25 cents each. They were cut in the Rockcroft area, he told a reporter.

"Buster" Brown of Burleigh Falls supplied another Yuletide note with his supply of evergreens and bittersweet, much in demand for Christmas decorating. "We get the green stuff in the swamps near Burleigh" he said "and the only name I know for it is evergreen. It will stay green all winter".

A pitch man furnished more Christmas atmosphere. He was offering for sale a toy that he said was a little different, a pair of Charleston dancers operated by means of a thread and manipulated into a jitter bug demonstration that the most ardent local "hep cat" could not hope to equal.

Few Price Changes

Price levels showed little change Saturday in regard to apples and vegetables. Potatoes clung around the $1.00 mark for 75 pound bags Hilliard Laing, Fraserville was asking 90 cents and $1.00 a bag for White Stars and that was about the usual quotation. M. Butler R.R. 3, quoted carrots at 15 cents, Onions 25 cents and parsnips at 20 cents a six-quart basket. He had some excellent cabbage at five cents a head or six for a quarter. B. Carroll, Port Hope wanted 25 cents a basket for russets and Spy apples and 30 cents for McIntosh Reds. He had white beans at five cents a pint.

Pleasant View Gardens, Bowmanville, were featuring pears in their Saturday display. The price was 25 cents per basket for Keifers and 35 cents for Anjos. H. F. Doig had Dooley potatoes at $1.00 per bag and onions, carrots and beets at 25 cents a basket. Savoy cabbage were going at five cents each.

Nearly Sold Out

George Mullen reported that he was practically sold out of pork at 11 o'clock. He was asking 14-16 cents a pound with heavy pork offered at 11 and 13 cents. "It has been a good morning," he remarked to The Examiner. R. Bradfield had beef for which the price was 12 and 14 cents a pound.

The woodmen were on hand in numbers. Among those from a distance who had body hardwood at $7.50 a cord were W. M. Doxsee, Coe Hill. Max Wilson, Buckhorn, W. Shearer, Lakehurst and M. W. Shearer, Hall's Bridge. A load of good-looking elm, marked 100 feet, was offered for $7.

"Haven't sold one yet," an Indian who had baskets for sale announced sadly. He was offering the biggest in his collection, a capacions clothes basket for a dollar.

I. Little of Kendal, had a plentiful supply of honey in various sizes of containers, the price ranging from 35 cents fora four-pound tin of the amber honey up to 90 cents for eight pounds of the white variety.

Ranch Mink Sale Prices Ease 30 pc

MONTREAL, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Annual four-day sale of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Company, Limited, concluded here yesterday with about 1,550 wild mink pelts and the remainder of 46,000 ranch mink pelts going to the block.

Ninety per cent of the wild mink lot was sold at an average price of about 10 per cent lower than the 1938 average. A decline of approximately 30 per cent over last year's average was registered in ranch mink prices with about 70 per cent of the 46,000 pelts being sold.

Onl previous days, 22,000 silver fox, 1,310 white fox and 3,124 Alaska sealskins were offered with prices generally down about 12 to 3 3per cent over bids in last December's sale. More than half the Alaskan pelts were sold in their first appearance on a Canadian market.

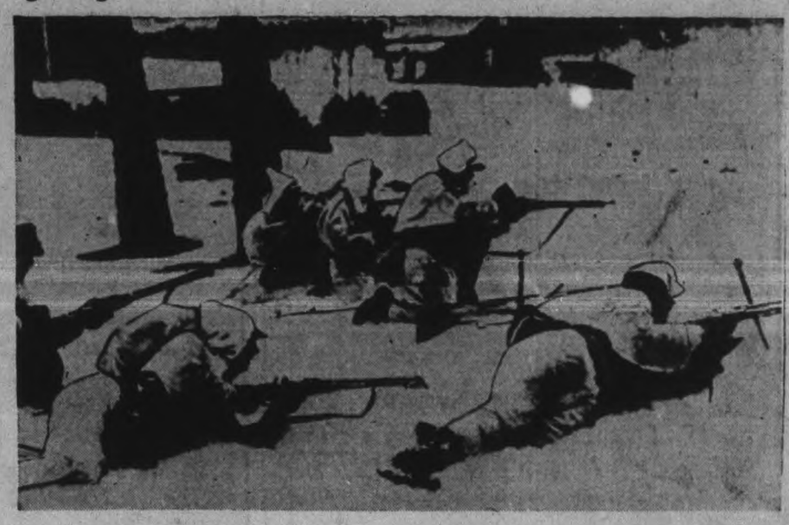
Prices for silver fox pelts ranged from $28.61 each for selected quarter to three-quarter silvers to an average of $6.21 for the low grade pelts.

Official reports of the sale will not be released for some time.

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP).—Silvery fox skins touched a high of $40.50 an daveraged $16.91 in the Hudson's Bay Company fur sale here this week. There were 5,271 silvery skins sold.

For the other classifications, the average and top prices were: 83 dark and slightly silvery, $9.57 and $18.25; 342 quarter silvery, $12.35 and $22.70; 2,159 half silvery, $15.58 and $31.60; 4,001 three-quarter silvery, $16.02 and $37.83; 1,510 inferior $7.34 and $12.24.

Fighting Finns Near The Arctic Circle



Clad in white to make them less conspicuous against the snow-covered tundras of northern Finland, these hardy Finnish troops crouched in the snow are real bad news for Soviet Red Army invaders. Trained to manoeuvre on skiis, these warriors make effective use of an 8-pound machine gun, rapid fire pistols and hunting knives. They swoop down on Red Army patrols and cut them to pieces whenever opportunity presents itself. Men like these are credited with slowing up the Red Army war machine to a crawl in the Petsamo area. This is one of the first photos to reach New York from northern Finland. It was transmitted from there by phonephoto.

Finnish Defense Is Led By Baron Who Beat The Reds

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—(CP).—Twenty years ago the name of Baron Field Marshal Carl Gustaf Emil Mannerheim made headlines and with Finland and Russia once more in conflict, the redoubtable Baron is again in the news.

The first great war was three years old when Finland proclaimed her independence in December, 1917. Almost immediately, the well-organized Social Democrats of Finland moved to set up a Soviet regime like the one in Russia. Their Red Guard captured many important cities, including Helsingfors, the capital.

At this juncture, Baron Mannerheim became the leader of a counter-revolution. Scion of one of the important Finnish noble families, Mannerheim had served 30 years in the Imperial Russian Army. His Great War service as a cavalry general included periods on the Polish, Galivian Bukovinian and Bessarabian fronts. At the outbreak of the Russian revolution in 1917, he returned to Finland. In January, 1918, the Finnish Diet, with the Socialist deputies excluded, authorized the organization of a White force to fight the Red Guards. Mannerheim was appointed commander-in-chief.

When Germany Helped

Germany gave Mannerheim important aid in the form of munitions and an expeditionary force of 12,000 men under General Rudiger von der Glotz. In four months of serious fighting, Mannerheim and von der Glotz broke the resistance of the Red Guard and entered Helsingfors in triumph. Finnish sources say 2,000 people were executed before White supremacy was established. The Britannica says 15,000.

The Germans then foisted a German Prince on Finland as King. The Diet elected him to office but he never took over and finally in December, 1918, Mannerheim became regent.

He organized a force of 100,000 into a "Skyddkorps" to maintain parliament. At the same time he offered to join the British interventionists against the Russian Bolsheviks in return for the city of Petrograd (now Leningrad). His offer was refused. Nevertheless, a Finnish army attacked Petrograd without success.

Under the constitution adopted in June 1919, declaring Finland to be a republic, the parliament chose its first president and passed over Mannerheim. He retired to private life.

Today he is back in harness as the aged head of the Finnish Defence Council which directs Finland's army of 300,000 men, of a total population of 8,670,000.

GETS HIS PAY BACK

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 18—(CP).—It looked like an unhappy Christmas for William L. Martin, telegraphy company clerk, when he lost his Christmas pay envelope containing $32. Newspapers publicized his plight, and today, all the money had been restored to him.

George Ozard found $10 near the railway express office, and the remaining $22 was picked up a short distance away by Jack Turner.

Dominion Aims To Have Her Army Free From T.B.

OTTAWA, Dec. 18 — (CP). — Canada is assembling a tuberculosis-free army as far as medical science and skill permit.

As a result of measures taken to keep tuberculosis out of the Canadian active service force and to ensure the general fitness of the men, it is expected the toll of sickness in Canadian forces will be considerably less in this war than in the last, assuming they serve under similar conditions.

Lt.-Col. R. M. Gorssline, director-general of medical services, refuses to make any definite predictions on the point but says the the resources of medical science are in use to ensure the fitness of Canadian soldiers and to guard them against illess.

Private medical practitioners, who have seen the way the army is putting recruits through medical tests, are impressed with the health prospects of the units being assembled and prepared for overseas service.

The X-ray is proving a powerful aid in keeping tuberculosis out. After mobilization of the active service force a re-examination of all men was ordered and this included a chest X-ray.

A number of cases of tuberculosis which did not show up on the first physical examination were found. Some quite advanced active cases were among them. They were not many but they were enough to justify the X-ray test many times over.

..Early Detections Necessary

For the individual soldier the early detection of a tubercular condition probably means saving his life. He is at once discharged from the army and obtains suitable treatment, whereas if his condition were not detected he would probably suffer the full ravages of the disease under military conditions.

From the military point of view the benefit is elimination of the risk of infection. Soldiers in barracks live close together. Sometimes 100 sleep in one room. Most are at the most subsceptible age for tuberculosis, between the ages of 18 and 25. One active case in a battalion at the start might easily mean 50 more before a year passes.

The cost of the X-ray chest examination is just $2 per man. If a civilian went to a private doctor for the same examination the cost would be $10.

The cost of peering into the chests of the 60,000 odd men in the active service force will therefore be something over $120,000. If only 100 men are kept out of hospital and off the pension rolls as a result the country will save the cost several times over.

When a soldier is found with tuberculosis public health authorities in his home community are notified. They can then investigate his family and his associates and perhaps locate and obtain treatment for other persons who in the ordinary course of events might continue spreading the disease.

Essex Tobacco Crop Sale Gets Started

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Dec. 18. — (CP)—The marketing of Essex County's 5,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco started yesterday.

Buyers started early, paying visits to growers of the $1,000,000 crop and buying is expected to be active until the end of the week, at least. After that, if activity slackens here, representatives of purchasing firms will return to the Simcoe district to fill out their requirements.

In Leamington, the marketing is hailed as the fore-runner of winter prosperity. About 1,000 workers are waiting to go to work, after the buying season, in the town's two processing factories.

Although the factories are generally expected to open for business next Monday, there is a possibility that they may remain closed until after Christmas. In Kingsville, several hundred factory workers already have started, although only one of that town's three factories is operating at full capacity.

Reports from all sections of the garden county indicate that the crop in the old tobacco belt is good, in spite of climatic handicaps encountered during the season. The new belt, larger than the Essex county area, is centred around Simcoe.

Rush Point Ladies Busy Making Quilt

HAVELOCK, Dec. 18—(ENS).—Working for Red Cross purposes, the newly organized Women's Association of Rush Point United church assembled on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Darwin Moore. The meeting which was well attended, was conducted by the president, Mrs. E. Curtis.

The members were busy throughout the afternoon making quilt blocks. Several pairs of socks were handed in and more wool distributed by the convener, Mrs. Ross Hart. It was decided to take up collections which will be donated to the Red Cross fund.

Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. MacDonald. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ross Hart on January 11.

FAIRMOUNT

Allen Family Are Guests Of Honor

FAIRMOUNT, Dec. 18—(ENS). — A very pleasant evening was spent at the Allen home on Tuesday by several of the friends from Fairmount and Springville.

Percy Sweeting presented Betty with a compact and Stanley and Morley with a bill-fold apiece. G. F. Hooton read the address referring to the loss they were to sustain in the community Young People's Union and church in which they were members for over fifteen years. The best wishes of the community are extended to them as they leave for Newcastle in the near future.

Y.P.U. Officers

The Y.P.U. was held on Wednesday evening with Mrs. H. M. S. McBain in charge. After the worship service, conducted by Betty Allin, the Christian culture convener, Jean Dainard gave a solo assisted by Mrs. T. W. McIndoo, on the piano.

Miss H. A. Staples of Springville was guest speaker and gave a travelogue of the Maritime provinces, Maine and the World's Fair in New York.

At the close of the speaking the nominating committee reported the following officers for the year: President, F. R. McIndoo; secretary, Roger Hanbidge; treasurer, Norman Earle; citizenship conveners, H. McArthur, Roy Ballantyne; christian culture, C. S. Morgan, K. Friends "Surprise" Marjorie Jamieson

HAVELOCK, Dec. 18.—(ENS). — A delightful "surprise party" for Miss Marjorie Jamieson on the occasion of her 18th birthday was staged by a group of her young friends who assembled completely unexpected at her home on Thursday evening.

Impromptu entertainment included games, singing, and dancing and a most enjoyable time was had. The guest of honour was presented with a "surprise gift' during the program, the presentation being made by Miss Retta Southward and Mr. Wallace Buchanan on behalf of the others present.

Among those present were: Misses Marguerite Little, Jean Rogers, Phyllis Parcells, Marion Kennedy, Dorothy Toms, Leota Brisbin, and Retta Southward, and Messrs. George Rigby, Jim Watson, Stephen Deline, Ted Yeo, Bob Cross, Bill Hubble, Bill Mathison and Wallace Buchanan.

Coal Head Passes

TORONTO, Dec. 18—(CP).—Harold Simpson, 41, president and manager of the Simpson Coal Company and prominent Conservative, died today at his home after a year's illness.

Mr. Simpson successfully managed the election campaign of Goldie Elgie, M.L.A. for Toronto Woodbine-Greenwood, in 1937. In 1935 he managed the campaign of Denton Massey, M.P., for Toronto Greenwood.

As Graf Spee Buried Her Dead In Common Grave In Montevideo

While the naval battle off the coast of South America was still the favorite topic of conversation throughout the world, the 36 crew members killed aboard the German pocket battleship Graf Spee were laid to rest in a common grave in Montevideo. Here is the scene at the graveside as German officers and five of the British merchantmen who were prisoners aboard the Graf Spee during the battle paid final honor to the dead. Meanwhile the government of Uruguay announced that the Graf Spee was given 72 hours grace to repair her wounds and leave Uruguayan territarial waters. This picture was transmitted via radio and phonephoto.

Graf Sinking Forced Says Skipper

Deed Unjustifiable Uruguayans Claim Of Raider

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 19.—(AP). —The Admiral Graf Spee, to-day a smouldering hulk in the muddy river Plata Estuary, was described by its commander, Captain Hans Langsdorff, as a chemeleon of the seas, which used a fake smokestack and other "trimmings" during its raiding career.

As for the sinking his own ship, he said: "I took a decision which was really forced upon me."

Oil and other inflammables on the Admiral Graf Spee continued to smoulder to-day. Naval men said they probably would burn 48 hours more. Then Uruguayan and Argentine authorities must decide what to do with the bulk, 10,000 tons of wreckage in the navigation channel of the River Plata Estuary.

An Argentine naval plane and a Uruguayan coast guard boat are keeping watch where the twisted superstructure rises above the water.

No Justification.

The Uruguayan foreign ministry said there was no "possible" justification for the Germans blowing up their ship, rather than go out to face the waiting British warships again.

Foreign Ministed Alberto Guani replied in a formal communique to German charges that Uruguay was responsible for the Admiral Graf Spee's destruction by forcing it to leave port, or be interned. He said Uruguay had acted at every step in conformity with the Hague convention (concerning belligerent warships).

He said Captain Langsdorff had requested a 15-day stay to make repairs, but that the Uruguayan commission which surveyed the ship's damages recommended the 72-hour limit which was set.

It was said the Government might issue a "white paper" detailing its actions and answering the German charges.

Foreign naval attaches said the Admiral Graf Spee had suffered severe damages to its fighting ability or it would not have fled the smaller British ships. One naval officer

Steering Wrecked, But One Gun Still Firing Plucky Exeter Sticks With Spee Long As Skipper Can Make Cruiser Steam

LONDON, Dec. 19. —(CP)—An eyewitnesses account of last Wednesdays battle between the British cruiser Exeter and the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee made public by the Admiralty today disclosed that the Exeter thought she was fighting the Admiral Scheer, a sistership of the Graf Spee.

The account, forwarded by "one of His Majesty's Colonial Governors," said the Graf Spee opened fire at a range of about 12½ miles.

Shots Fell Short

"The first salvo from the Germans' 11-inch guns fell short, the second fell directly astern, the third and fourth missed, but the fifth scored a hit and the seventh a direct hit.

"The impact of a shell on the forward turrett killed outright eight of a crew of 15 marines and made havoc of the bridge immediately above. The Captain, however, was unscathed.

"The Exeter closed, receiving three or four more hits from 11-inch shells and was coming under fire from the Graf Spee's 5.9-inch guns.

Only One Big Gun

"She returned shot for shot until only one eight-inch gun could be fired, and that by way of hand.

"Numerous shells which fell alongside riddled the ship's side, and the upper works on the steering gear were damaged just after 7 o'clock (in the morning), and for the following 45 minutes the captain steered the boat by compass from the after control, just forward of the mainmast, through a chain of some 10 sailors.

"The directions were conveyed from man to man to the after steering wheel and the engine room until the ship was no longer serviceable as a fighting unit and fell out of action."

Full Speed in 20 Minutes

By this time the smaller British cruisers Achilles and Ajax, with only six-inch guns, had entered the running battle and by nightfall had chased the Admiral Graf Spee into the harbor at Montevideo, where she was blown up by her command Sunday night. The Exeter had lost 61 killed and 23 wounded. Casualties on the other two vessels brought the British list to 72 dead and 31 wounded. The Germans suffered 36 dead and 60 wounded.

In the battle, according to the Admiralty's account to-day, fires broke out aboard the Exeter, but were controlled by men throwing burning materials into the sea and by fire-fighting below decks.

Chased Into Harbor

Two hours normally are required to get the Exeter up to full speed, the Admiralty said, but on this occasion the engine room "achieved the impossible" in 20 minutes.

"Of the heroism of the wounded much might be related," the account said. "As an example of the way in which they bore their fate, one man with both legs shot off said he was 'not doing too badly under somewhat adverse circumstances.' He died on shore last night."

Allies Decide To Give Finns Help

Chamberlain Backs Decision Of War Council

PARIS, Dec. 19 — (AP). — The Allied Supreme War Council was reported to-day to have decided to give all moral and material aid possible to Finland, without weakening their own war with Germany.

It was understood the main subject under consideration at the three-hour meeting was the possibility of giving effective aid to the Finns in their stand against Russia.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, who has been in France inspecting British troops, attended the meeting.

The meeting was held in the French War Ministry.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, who has just finished a tour of inspection of the British Expeditionary Force, was Premier Daladier's guest at dinner last night.

Earlier the Allied High Command's communique said of war operations: "Nothing important to report."

Last night's communique reported a sharp engagement in the Vosges Mountains "between one of our reconnoitring parties and German units."

It said some prisoners, including two officers, were taken.

Western France was sent to underground shelters early to-day by an air raid alarm. The alarm, which lasted an hour and 13 minutes, ended without incident.

A communique disclosed that those attending the war council included Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax, Sir Alexander Cadogan, Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs; Lord Chatfield, Defence Coordination Minister, and General Sir Edmund Ironside, Chief of the Imperial Staff.

The communique said the council "ordered necessary measures to reinforce the means of action which the Franco-British collaboration has at its disposal in the diplomatic field as well as the military."

Finns Bag 2 Of 7 Reds In Raid On Helsingfors

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 19.—(AP)—At least two Soviet bombers and possibly more were downed today during an air raid in which 11 bombs were dropped on a Helsingfors suburb without damage.

Seven Russian planes roared over Helsingfors, hiding behind cloudbanks from volleys of anti-aircraft fire.

They disappeared to the northwest, and later only three were sighted returning.

The bombs dropped harmlessly in fields outside suburban Malmi.

When the air raid sirens sounded, residents of the capital poured quickly from restaurants and stores into shelters. Within three minutes the streets were cleared except for air raid wardens, soldiers and an occasional straggler.

The all-clear signal was sounded at 12:18 p.m. (5:18 a.m. EST). Two minutes later the streets were crowded again. Peddlers of silvered evergreen branches were back at their posts. Department stores were thronged with Christmas shoppers, and the normal wartime tempo of life in the capital was resumed.

Fighting Sons Of Canada Reach Britain

Planes, Main Fleet Act Convoy For 1st Contingent

By GILLIS PURCELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

WITH THE CANADIAN ACTIVE SERVICE FORCE SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 19 — (CP Cable).—Young Canada marched today into the heart of war-worried England brandishing their rifles and shouting "Whoopee"—product of an enthusiastic press that visioned the first Canadian contingent as striding right out of the stanzas of "Our Lady of the Snows."

To its newspapers throughout the provinces the Press Association described the first Dominion troops as "broncho bills who have crossed the wild prairies, lumbermen from the backwoods of Canada, fishermen from the Newfoundland banks and men from the lonely little post of Aklavik on the Artic Ocean."

As any Canadian knows, such a description is purely an imaginative effort, but in this case the correspondent may be forgiven for being carried away by the happy flood of enthusiasm of the cheering troops who almost leaped the ship's rails so as to get a footing for a real, full-chested yell.

One writer said: "It sent a thrill

Liberals Win 2 East Ridings, Lose Saskatoon

(By the Canadian Press.)

In three by-elections yesterday, the Liberals retained two Montreal seats and lost Saskatoon riding to a new political organization — the United Reform Party.

The government's victory in Montreal St. James and Montreal Jacques Cartier by substantial margins did not surprise political circles in Ottawa but the United Reform win in Saskatoon was considered an upset. The decision in the Saskatchewan riding marked the first loss suffered by the Liberals of seats won in the 1935 general election when the Conservatives were swept out of office.

In Jacques Cartier, Elphege Marier, Liberal, defeated Edgar Guerard, Nationalist, and Albert Lacombe, Independent liberal. The new member, who fills the vacancy created by the death of Vital Mal-

Use Torpedo To Sink 185-Tonner

Five Machine Gunned And Bombed, Four Reach Port

LONDON, Dec. 19—(CP) — Captain David Sutherland of the 185-ton British fishing trawler Active today reported his ship was sunk by an "aerial torpedo" fired by one of several German warplanes raiding shipping off the British coast. Four other small ships were attacked.

One of the Active's crew was missing and three of the 373-ton British trawler Etruria's crew were killed.

Yesterday the authorities reported the loss of three trawlers to German bombing planes, bringing the total for the past two days to four. The losses included the New Choice, 198 tons; Pearl, 198 tons, and Campagnus, 270 tons.

Many British trawlers have been pressed into service by the Admiralty as mine sweepers.

The Etruria did not sink, but was towed to a Scottish port badly damaged.

Seven Bombs Missed.

Captain Sutherland said: "An aerial torpedo landed in the water beside us and hit under the waterline. Seven bombs aimed at us fell into the sea."

The trawler Carbineer II rescued the Active's crew.

The crews of the two trawlers said 15 bombs were dropped in half an hour by circling German planes which also sprayed the trawlers' decks with machine-gun fire.

One bomb went through the deck of the Etruria, but a bulkhead kept her afloat.

The trawlers Inverneil and Fort Rose were attacked but reached port safely. A fifth ship was reported damaged and was being towed into port.

50 of Crew Missing

LONDON, Dec. 19 (CP) — The sinking of the British steamship City of Kobe, 4,373 tons, in the North Sea was disclosed today with the landing of 18 survivors at an east coast port. They expressed belief their ship had been torpedoed.

Survivors said the City of Kobe had been subjected to a bomb and machine-gun attack from raiding planes Sunday, the day before she sank.

Empire Training Classes Open In Spring

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP) — Now that the British Empire's Air Fighting College has been suitably endowed by conclusion of financial agreements among the Governments of Britain, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, machinery has been set in motion to open classes in the spring.

With the financial details of the $600,000,000, three year British Commonwealth Air Training plan settled, airports must be laid out, hangars, shops, barracks and office buildings erected, and thousands must be trained so they might instruct the young men from Canada, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Newfoundland in the art of aerial war.

Some contracts have been already let, others are pending. An idea of the magnitude of organization was given last night by a summary of the agreement. The official summary failed to give an idea of how many air pilots, observers, gunners and wireless operators would be trained in the new Canadian schools, but the schools will be manned by some 40,000 instructors, administrators and maintenance men.

10,000 Pilots a Year.

Unofficially it has been estimated that at least 10,000 pilots a year will receive training in Canada, together with some 6,000 air observers and about 7,500 air gunners.

According to the program, there will be 13 elementary flying schools, 16 advanced or service training schools, 10 air observer schools, 10 bombing and gunnery schools, two air navigation schools and four wireless schools, not to mention training schools for instructors in the various branches of the curriculum.

Youth Shot Dead Girl Wounded On Lonely Road

KAMSACK, Sask., Dec. 19—(CP). —Ambushed as they walked home from a school meeting, William Savinkoff, 22-year-old farm youth, was shot to death and Mary Demiass, 17, was critically wounded early today.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police, working with a trained dog from Yorkton, are searching the Stoney Creek district 12 miles south of here for Wasyl Resenasoff, named, police say, by Miss Demiass from her hospital bed as the man who fired the shots.

Two operations were performed on the girl in an effort to save her life, but little hope is held that she will recover.

After being shot in the arm and upper abdomen, Miss Demiass walked half a mile to the home of relatives, who drove her to hospital.

Savinkoff and Miss Demiass were walking home from a school meeting and social after midnight when the killer made his attack. They were half a mile from the school when a shot rang out and Savinkoff fell. Another shot struck the girl in the arm and the third bullet hit her as she screamed and ran down the road.

British Barracks Comforts Surprise For Canadians Arriving With First Division

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Dec. 19.—(CP Cable.)—The military camp where the troops of Canada's first contingent established themselves today was tangled in what jocularly was termed "a scene of intense military confusion."

On all sides were soldiers, newly arrived from the Dominion and looking eagerly forward to the day when they can take their place—for the second time within a generation—with the forces of the Empire in the battle against Germany.

Within a few days their battle dress and all-penerating smile will be known for miles around the sleepy countryside. And in the same time the camp will settle down to a daily routine of considerably less leisure than the troops have been enjoying since they left Canada scarcely bore than a week ago.

They spent their time exploring modern baracks that are a far cry from the rough and ready huts that housed their fathers in the training days of the last war.

The up-to-date barracks weren't quite what these youngsters had expected, though they had heard a lot about improvements and innovations in the barrack life of the British Tommy. They saw steam-heated barracks, wash basins with hot and cold running water, mirrors, showers, bath tubs.

There even were receptacles for old razor blades. There were spring beds—not mere bunks—complete with pillows, mattresses and three blankets, conveniences that prompted many a young private to exclaim: "Gee, it's swell."

The Canadians found a use for the razor-blade disposal receptacles. For they had come fully equipped, even down to the Canadian army issue of razor blades. Each man, outfitted in the new streamlined battledress of the British soldier, had his rifle, his bulging knapsack, his gas mask. Within three months they may be in France.

The First Contingent of the Canadian Active Service Corps took the district by surprise when they marched in yesterday, less than 15 hours after landing at a Scottish port Sunday. The men were tried after a railway journey in day coaches loaded with war equipment and their arrival was almost quiet after the stirring scenes of a noisy debarkation.

There was an air of determination about the men. All knew a grim job lay ahead. Some were in the last war and they knew it would not be a "joy-ride." One sergeant from New Brunswick said:—

"I know what war is. I was only 19 when I went to France in the last war. They can't tell me this is a joy ride. I hope that we teach Jerry his lesson. He will never be allowed to beat back into a position so that he can bully and threaten any longer."

Canadians Sail Aboard Luxury Liners

HALIFAX, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Canada's soldiers travel in style when they go to war.

Palatial liners recruited from the luxury trade carried the men of the first division overseas, and in just about the same style to which peacetime ocean travellers were accustomed.

They left here December 10 and their safe arrival in the United Kingdom was announced late yesterday.

Before leaving this port khaki-clad troops roamed the corridors or strolled about the decks where those who could afford ocean crossings used to parade. Sumptuous ships' furnishings—luxurious chairs and other fittings and fine oil paintings—formed a strange background for men used to life in barracks.

Where first-class passengers used to take their ease, soldiers sat about tables drinking beer or soft drinks, singing and swapping yarns. Big salons had been transformed into canteens capable of accommodating hundreds and, with close to 2,000 men aboard each ship, business was brisk.

Finest Ships Used.

Some of the finest ships of the Empire's merchant fleets were pressed into service to carry the Canadians.

They didn't look much like the bright pleasure craft of the old days. Coats of gray or black paint obliterated color and gleaming metalwork. Portholes were painted over. The promenade decks were enclosed.

The job of getting the men aboard the ships was accomplished with efficiency and speed. Some of the units spent no more than 15 minutes on Halifax soil after leaving their train. Then they were on board.

Soldiers greeted the arrival at the ships in different ways. Some swung up the gangplank roaring cheers, others sang—"It's a Long Way to Tipperary," "Alouette" and other old favorites.

Some from the inland provinces, who had never seen ships of such dimensions, gaped in amazement as they looked up the mountainous side of the vessels looming over them.

"What a blinking canoe!" one soldier gasped.

Boxer Arrested In Toronto For Nazi Murder

TORONTO, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Ernest Kehler, alias Haas, 24-year-old amateur boxer of Winnipeg, arrested here last night, was held today for New York police who arrived in Toronto carrying a warrant charging him with the murder Dec. 6 in Brooklyn of Walter Engelberg, secretary of the German consulate in New York.

It was stated the Kehler admitted beating the 42-year-old consulate secretary to death in his Brooklyn home.

Police here said the case had no international or political implications. Kehler had been an occasional visitor at the Engelberg home.

Engelberg's body, beaten terribly, the face bashed in, was found in his home Dec. 6. So savage was the beating that police believed the motive must have been mad personal vengeance.

Captain Frank Bals, Brooklyn detective, and Detective M. Gaughren of New York city police, were here to take Kehler back to New York for trial.

Captain Bals quoted Kehler as saying the motive of the crime was "resentment and anger over improper advances." He had met Engelberg while in New York to attend the World's Fair.

Went to Boxing Bouts

Kehler said Engelberg bought him food after they struck by a friendship at amateur boxing bouts in Jamaica, L.I., late in September. The friendship continued for several weeks.

Bals quoted the Winnipeg boxer as confessing that he struck Engelberg six or seven times with some blunt instrument. He then went for a walk, later taking a subway to Times Square and boarding a bus for Scranton, Pa.

By begging on the streets there, Kehler scraped up enough money for bus fare to Buffalo and he repeated the procedure there and in Niagara Falls, finally arriving in Toronto last night.

New York police had information he was expected here, and that he was travelling by bus. He was arrested by Lieut. Maurice Gaughran

Spee Did Raiding Once As Renown

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 19—(AP)—Captain Hans Langsdorff told the Associated Press yesterday that the raider Graf Spee, while preying on Allied merchant shipping, once disguised herself as the British battle cruiser Renown.

On this occasion, the German Commander said, the pocket battleship went to the length of adding an artificial stack and changing her superstructure in the most obvious details to resemble the 32,000-ton British warship.

"At that, maybe, the joke was on us—perhaps we fooled nobody," said the Captain, who Sunday choose to explode and sink the Graf Spee outside Montevideo Harbor rather than have her interned or shot to pieces by British cruisers.

"You realize, of course, that these things are really ruses imposed by war," the captain said.

The Graf Spee roved both the North and South Atlantic, he added, and even made a foray into the Indian Ocean in search of enemy merchant vessels.

"Of course, in these wanderings we were disguised a bit."

He explained that camouflage frequently was used to make the pocket battleship's enemies mistake her for one of her sister ships, the Deutschland or the Admiral Scheer.

"One time we changed our name and actually passed for the Admiral Scheer," the captain said.

Water Shortage Holds Serious

TORONTO, Dec. 19.—(CP)—The water shortage, accentuated by continued dry weather, continued serious again during the last week according to the weekly crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

In the Peterborough and Halton district the scarcity necessitated drawing water to farms. With little rain and almost no snow to replenish them many wells in both districts were either very low or dry.

Cattle, hog and poultry prices held steady in all sections.

In Northern Ontario the recent falls of snow created a market for horses as farmers began to haul from the bush.

Throughout the province the continued mild weather has made it possible for farmer to continue plowing long after the usual date.

Southern Ontario reported that considerable quantities of hay are moving to United States markets, with the price running in the neighborhood of $10 in the mow.

In the Sudbury district potatoes were reported moving slowly with prices remaining at $1-$1.25 a bag.

44 Of Her Fastest Fighters Are Sold By U.S. To Finland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. —(AP) —Officials disclosed today that 44 high-speed fighting planes being manufactured for the United States navy will be sold to Finland.

The army and navy joint aeronautical board approved the sale after a navy report that immediate delivery of the craft to the navy was not imperative and that an improved model was available.

The planes, being manufactured by the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation, Long Island City, N. Y., were designed for use both on land or to operate from an aircraft carrier. They were said to be superiod in many respects to the bulk of the navy and army planes already in service in the United States, and to the fighting craft sold to France.

Finnish officials meanwhile are negotiating for the purchase in the United States of more than 50,000 masks, machine guns and small arms ammunition, as well as non-military supplies of all kinds to be financed by $10,000,000 credits advanced by the Government.

Verse Of Scripture Announces Transport As Warships Bring Back Lost Troops

By GILLIS PURCELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

AT SEA with the Canadian Active Service Force, Dec. 19—(CP).—(Delayed). — The Silent Navy had its little joke today and everyone laughed about it.

Four nights ago in a heavy Atlantic fog one of the transports strayed from the convoy. In the morning two destroyers vanished astern to scout for the absentee.

The next day, no word.

Yesterday morning two specks appeared on the horizon astern as the convoy almost marked time. Then this message from the naval vessel alongside in charge of the convoy—sent in Morse "Blinker," in straight code for every signaller or Morse reader to understand.

"Read Luke 15:vi."

A rush to the Bible in the ship's library found the verse which says: "Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep which was lost."

Last Minute News Flashes

LONDON—(AP)—British authorities stated today that 21 German planes were destroyed in 51 engagements over British land or coastal waters during October and November. "Not one British fighter has been shot down in the United Kingdom since the outbreak of war." In all 51 engagements, it said, only one British pilot was wounded. German casualties in these engagements represented nearly half of the attacking forces.

Shot Ends Monk's Fighting Leaves Him War Hero

PARIS, Dec. 19.—(CP-Havas). —A trappist monk who left his monastery for a few brief weeks to win the Croix De Guerre and membership in the Legion of Honor by heroism at the front will regain the silence of his religious order, minus one knee-cap but with his duty fulfilled, it was disclosed to-day.

Nazis Lose 12 R.A.F. Seven In Air Scrap

Best Week Of This, Or Last War Says Churchill

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(CP) — With fierce acceleration of war at sea and in the air, Britons have been warned by Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, that "rough and violent times lie ahead."

The full scope of aerial and naval combat was brought home with the disclosure that the greatest air battle of the war was fought yesterday over the German coast and Mr. Churchill's declaration that "a considerable portion" of Germany's cruiser strength was put out of action last week.

Great Britain announced these successes against the German navy within the past week:—

Scuttled after entrapment by British cruisers—the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

Sunk in the North Sea—one Nazi submarine and one cruiser of the 6000-ton Koln class (The Koln, Karlsrhue, or Konigsberg).

Crippled by torpedoes in the North Sea—the 6,000-ton cruiser Leipzig and the 10,000-ton cruiser Bluecher, or her sister-ship, the Admiral Hipper.

The Air Ministry announced 12 of about 24 German fighting planes were shot down and seven British bombers "unaccounted for" after a battle over Heligoland Bight, German North Sea naval base.

The British airmen had gone there looking for German warships at sea, but found only planes in action.

(Germans claimed 34 of 44 attacking British planes were shot down).

Raider Sinks 6 Ships.

Also reported were German air attacks on fishing boats off the East coast, six of which were sunk.

Britons also learned from Mr. Churchill last night that the First Canadian Active Service Force contingent had landed for a period of intensive training on British soil be-

BARBER SHOPS REMAINING OPEN WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON THIS WEEK

French Coup

Paris, Dec. 19 (AP)

MILITARY dispatches today disclosed that a French patrol had made a daring daylight raid several miles within German lines on the western front, defeating a Nazi detachment and carrying off its four officers.

The French account said that about noon the patrol left its advance post in the heart of the Voges Forest, at the northeastern end of the western front, and slipped quietly past German positions, one after another, until they met the German detachment. The Germans opened fire.

A sharp running engagement developed as the soldiers took cover behind trees and the boulders which dot the forest.

French reports said the raiding party made its way safely back through the German positions, bringing the German prisoners.

Cruiser Chases Freighter Into U.S. Port

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 19—(AP)— United States coast guard headquarters reported today an oil freighter, believed to be German, was entering the harbor at Port Everglades apparently with a British cruiser in pursuit.

Lieut. J. W. Malin, executive officer of the coast guard base, said he had kept the two vessels under observation since midmorning. Shortly after noon, he left in a coast guard boat to establish their identity.

The oil freighter, whose name was not visible, was seen to break out its quarantine flag as it approached the harbor.

2 Gun Crews Killed

Naval circles also reported two complete gun crews of 14 men were killed when British shells struck secondary batteries of 5.9-inch guns.

Argentina was forced into a leading role in the aftermath of the battle when Captain Langsdorff brought most of his crew of 1,000-odd to Buenos Aires after the sinking. Despite the German contention that they are "shipwrecked seamen," government officials indicated internment is their likely fate.

Langsdorff and his officers were guests of the Argentine port officials and later held at the arsenal and the government's immigration detention quarters.

Uruguay also had an interment problem. Naval officials said the Tacoma, which followed the Admiral Graf Spee out of port and picked up many of the crew, was subject to interment.

Interning Tacoma

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 19.—(AP)— The Uruguayan government today took a step toward interment of the German supply ship Tacoma, which carried oil supplies intended for the ill-fated pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee before a battle with three British cruisers sent her to her doom.

Government vessels escorted the Tacoma from an outer harbor anchorage into the inner basin where she must pass between two narrow breakwaters and under the guns of a Uruguayan warship to reach the sea.

Officials said detention of the vessel was not final interment for duration of the war, but was "a step in that direction."

The Tacoma's captain is under technical arrest for violating a rule against movement of merchant ships when the Graf Spee sailed out to be scuttled.

DAILY WAR SUMMARY

(By Canadian Press.)

As the first contingent of Canadian troops arrived safely in England during the week-end, the Royal Air Force pressed its offensive against German air and naval base, possibly to lessen any threat of attacks on troopships.

The Nazi campaign against British shipping is approaching a crucial stage and the great goal would be to damage or sink a vessel carrying soldiers. So British raids on Germany's island and coastal bases are designed to prevent German mine-laying along British coasts.

The toll of mines on British and neutral ships continues to mount and the German Air Force which lays many of the mines turned its weapons against British mine-sweeping craft.

As usual in the case of important air engagements in the war to date the official versions from London and Berlin on yesterday's big air battle near Heligoland differ widely although both agree it was the biggest air engagement yet.

British Meet Strong Force of German Planes

Apparently a large group of British aircraft took part in the raid and were met by a strong force of German fighting planes. The first official announcement from London said 12 German fighters were shot down and seven British bombers were unaccounted for.

The first announcement from Berlin claimed 34 British bombers were shot down and only one German aircraft was lost. The British statement described this as an exaggerated account both as to the number of aircraft involved and casualties.

The fact that an engagement of such proportions took place, however, is an indication of the lengths the opposing forces are going in order to bring the German mine-laying campaign to a decisive issue.

On the one hand the Nazis are doing everything possible to maintain and draw tighter the chain of explosives around British shores, while the Royal Air Force is out to smash the mine-laying operations at their bases.

War Bulletins

LONDON.— (CP)— Thirteen survivors of the sunken Norwegian steamer Glitrefjell, 1,568 tons, were landed today at a Scottish port and asserted they believed their ship had been torpedoed. The captain and four seamen were killed and seven of the survivors wounded. The survivors were rescued by a Greek vessel after nine hours in open boats.

LONDON. — (CP) — Four British airmen who took part in the air battle over Heligoland yesterday and were picked up at sea today by a naval trawler and brought to a northeast port. The fliers came down at sea beacuse of lack of fuel and were in a collapsible boat when rescued.

LONDON.—(CP)—A German warplane was reported to have flown north of the Shetland Islands today and to have been pursued by British fighting planes.

ESJBERG, Denmark. — (AP) — Strong detonations were heard at the Danish border near the German air base on the Island of Sylt at 6 a.m. (12 midnight EST) today. There was speculation whether British bombers were making a new raid. (Sylt was bombed last week, London sources reported, and an air battle between British and German planes was fought yesterday at near-by Heligoland.)

Six Reds Downed

STOCKHOLM. — (CP-Havas) — The Swedish Central News Agency, Tidningarnas Telegrambyra, reported today that six Soviet bombers were shot down during an air raid against the Finnish port of Viborg (Viipuri).

VATICAN CITY.— (AP)— Pope Pius XII was reported in Vatican circles today to be planning an important address—probably dealing with war—for his customary Christmas Eve audience for the College of Cardinals.

LONDON—(CP-Havas)—The first death of a member of the British expeditionary forces while on active service in France was announced today. Lieut. Peter Milward of Stinchombe, Gloucestershire, died of wounds December 16, it was disclosed.

OTTAWA.—(CP)—The Canadian Legion is adequately equipped to extend the full benefit of its organization to members of Canada's new naval, land and air forces and at the same time maintain its usual service work on behalf of veterans of the first Great War, General Secretary J. R. Bowler said last night following a meeting of the Legion's Dominion sub-executive council.

HONG KONG.—(AP)—A Chinese army spokesman declared today units harassing the Japanese in Honan Province were fighting the Japanese garrison in streets of the provincial capital, Kaifeng. The action, he said, was part of a widespread, coordinated attack on Japanese bases and communication lines during a Japanese troop replacement program, but was not a general drive.

$100,000 Gift.

NEW YORK—(AP). — Herbert Hoover, chairman of the Finnish relief fund, today cabled $100,000 to Prime Minister Histo Ryti of Finland for immediate relief of suffering non-combatants. The money, taken from the week's receipts, is to be used for civilian rehabilitation only.

OTTAWA—(CP).—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former Canadian Prime Minister, expressed himself today as immensely pleased with the safe arrival of the Canadian troops in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Bennett reached Ottawa this morning from Calgary. He said he would remain here until Thursday and then go to Toronto to address the Empire Club. After a stay in Sackville, N.B., the former Prime Minister will return to England.

ROME—(CP-Havas). — The war "has heightened the significance of the anti-Comintern pact and its reason for existence," Eiji Amau, the new Japanese Ambassador, said here today. The bond between Japan and Italy, Amau said, does not rest upon mere material considerations, but upon the higher aims of common purpose, which he defined as the "establishment o a new order based on justice and morality."

Truck Plunges Down 12-Foot Embankment Driver Is Able To Bring It Back Onto Road

HASTINGS, Dec. 19 (ENS). — Tom Wannamaker, cream truck driver of Havelock, is probably wondering today how he came out of a veritable death trap unscathed on Monday morning after his truck had plunged down an almost vertical twelve foot bank. Gathering cream cans on a side road off the Cobourg Road, he attempted to apply the brakes going down a hill when one of the front wheels locked. The truck broke through three guard rails near the farm of Mathew Waddell and sped angleways for about thirty-five feet down the embankment.

Reaching the bottom, the truck was upright and no damage was done. He manceuvered the truck through fields and back again to the road without spilling a can. Cause of the occurrence was attributed to faulty hydraulic brakes. William Whitred, who arrived a few minutes after the near accident, said he could not explain how it was possible to plunge down the bank without injury to truck or driver.

Collision Sends 7 To Hospital

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 19.—(CP)—Seven persons were admitted to hospital here today, five of them seriously injured, as the result of a head-on crash on Highway No. 10 several miles south of Orangeville. A truck travelling north driven by John Gillan of Woodbridge was in collision with a southbound car driven by Wesley Warner of Conn.

Passengers in the car were Mrs. W. Warner, Ralph Blythe and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greer, all of Conn, Ont. Percy Kitchen, Clareville, was a passenger in the truck.

Both vehicles were badly damaged. Seven other cars skidded on the icy highway and went into the ditch to avoid the accident. Workmen were sanding the hills at the time.

Finns Lose Tilt In North, Retreat South

COPENHAGEN, Dec. 19 (AP)— A motorized Soviet Russian army rolled south along Finland's Arctic highway, it was reported today, on the heels of retreating Finnish forces.

Advices reaching Copenhagen were that the Finns lost a battle yesterday near Pitkajaervi, about 53 miles southwest of the Arctic port of Petsamo, on the Pasvik river separating northernmost Finland from a narrow speck of Norwegian territory.

An official Moscow report that Pitkajaervi itself had been captured had not been confirmed by Finnish sources, but observers at Norwegian border points said the Finns were burning buildings, apparently in preparation for abandoning the town.

The Kirkenes correspondent of the newspaper Politikens said the Russian vanguard was nearing Grensefors — southernmost border station in south Varanger—and was likely to pass that point before night.

This would place Russian troops for more than 100 miles along Norway's northernmost frontier.

A more serious threat to the Finns was seen in an unconfirmed report in Stockholm that the Red army had broken through the Kuolajaervi front in central Finland and reached Keminjaervi, linked by rail to Tornio on the Gulf of Bothnia.

Should the Russian army reach Rovaniemi, 50 miles to the east where highways and connecting railways run to the Swedish border, Helsingfors' land communications with Sweden would be cut off.

New Russian losses continued, however, and it was reported the Finns retreated only where they were greatly outnumbered.

Boxer Arrested

of the New York police, and Detective John Nimmo of the Toronto police at the bus station.

Captain Bals told newspapermen at noon today that Kehler had not yet signed a confession but had admitted his guilt and was expected to sign as soon as the confession could be prepared.

Woman Gives Clue

In New York, John J. Ryan, assistant Chief Police Inspector, said a woman unwittingly led to Kehler's arrest.

The woman went to a Brooklyn department store to buy an electric train and other toys. While she was being waited on she talked with a sales girl about the Engelberg case and mentioned Kehler's name, and the fact that she was going to Toronto.

The sales girl notified the store management. Police were called and the woman was trailed.

Used Fist First.

In his statement to Captain Bals, Kehler is quoted as saying he struck Engelberg the first time with his fist. After that he struck him several times with an instrument.

Police said they could not find the instrument used in the Engelberg home and are not certain what it was.

After he had hit the consulate secretary "several times" about the face and head, Kehler told police, he found blood on his hands and wiped the blood on a nightshirt.

When Engelberg's body was found it was clothed in a nightshirt. Another nightshirt with bloody handprints on it was found in the house. Fingerprints taken from this garment are understood to form an important part of the police case against Kehler.

It is said that he refused to talk about the case at first, but after Captain Bals informed him of certain facts in the possession of police he decided to make a "clean breast of it."

"I feel relieved," he is reported to have said, after admitting guilt.

Lieutenant Gaughrin had been in Toronto since last Tuesday working on the case. He said he believed Kehler must have just arrived in the city when he was arrested.

Planning A Party Discussed By Club

WARSAW, Dec. 19.—(ENS)—The Busy Bee club met at the home of Mrs. George Weller on Saturday afternoon, with eighteen members present.

Miss Lila Matthews read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer, Miss M. Clysdale, gave a splendid financial report. The roll call was answered by each girl giving suggestions for sandwich spreads.

The leader discussed the planning of a party, giving some useful and splendid hints and planning the party, games and decorations.

Group 2 demonstrated the making of open face sandwiches and prepared and served afternoon tea, in a very capable manner. Miss Dora Payne acting as hostess for the group.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Violent fluctuations at Chicago shot wheat futures prices back and forth along an irregular path on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. New seasonal highs and two-cent losses were scored before quotations finished the erratic session ¼ to ¼ lower, December at 87, May 90⅛ to ⅛, and July 91⅛ to ¼ cents.

All rye futures prices as well as May and July barley hit new seasonal highs in the coarse grain pit, while excellent buying in oats was credited to mills. The mill support in oats boosted values of that commodity more than two cents at top levels. Cash wheat operations continued dull.

Children's Coughs Quickly Relieved

It is hard to keep the children from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly clad; have on too much clothing and get overheated and cool off too suddenly; they get their feet wet; kick off the bed clothes at night. The mother cannot watch them all the time, so what is she going to do?

Mothers should never neglect the child's cough or cold, but on its inception should procure a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss.

Janetville W.A. Elects Mrs. Burn, Head

JANETVILLE, Dec. 19—(ENS).—The election of officers for the new year was a feature of the December meeting of the Women's Association which was held in the United Church on Wednesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. R. J. Burn in the chair.

After the opening exercises the treasurer, Mrs. Albert Heaslip, gave a splendid resume of the year's financial activities. The total receipts amounted to $598.31 and after all expenses had been paid including a donation of $300 to the church board a balance remains of $148.

Mrs. Andrew McGill, Mrs. A. Twigger and Miss Bessie Howe sent cards of thanks for fruit and flowers received during illness.

A vote of appreciation was extended from the meeting of the Y.P.U. for their generous donation of new curtains for the windows of the Sunday School.

Mrs. James Howe offered her home for the January meeting and Mrs. M. Armstrong and Mrs. A. Johnston were appointed to arrange the program.

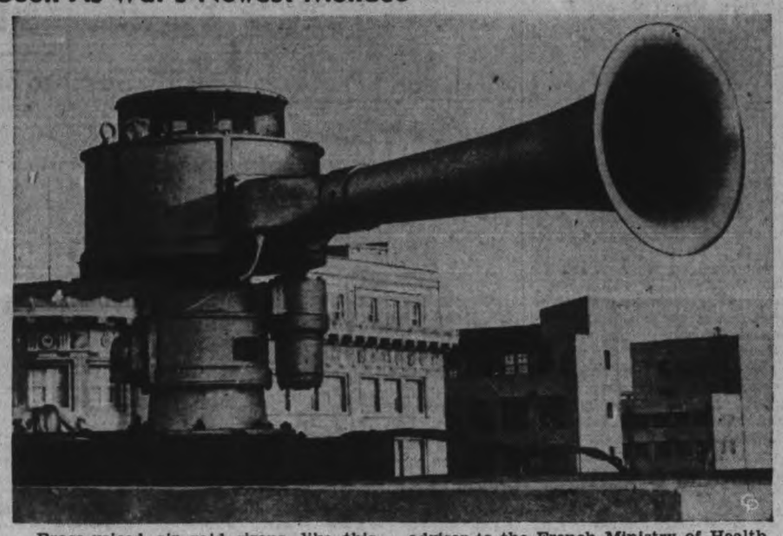
Rev. Mervin Bury presided for the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. R. J. Burn; vice president, Mrs. S. E. Bradburn; secretary, Mrs. P. Hamilton; assistant secretary, Mrs. W. Leslie; treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Magee; pianists, Mrs. F. Joblin; assistant pianist, Mrs. M. Armstrong; church committee, Mrs. S. E. Bradburn, Mrs. Leslie, Mrs. A. Johnston, Mrs. McDowell, Mrs. M. Armstrong; parsonage committee, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. B. Heaslip, Mrs. S. Stinson, Mrs. W. G. Bradburn, Mrs. J. R. Magee, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. A. Heaslip; flower committee, Mrs. Brunt, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. A. McGill; visiting committee, Mrs. M. Bury, Mrs. J. Thornton, Mrs. R. G. Bradburn, Mrs. W. Sanderson and Mrs. A. Grandy.

A vote of thanks to the retiring officers especially Mrs. A. Heaslip, who has served as treasurer for eight years, was voiced by Mrs. M. Armstrong and Mrs. S. Bradburn.

Miss Ada Morgan presided for the following program: Hymn, Silent Night; short prayers, Mrs. S. Stinson, Mrs. H. Blatherwick and Mrs. Magee; reading, "The Inn Keeper Makes Excuses," by Mrs. (Rev.) Bury; scripture lesson on Christmas story, Mrs. S. E. Bradburn; vocal duet, "While the Angels Sing," Mrs. Frank Joblin and Mrs. M. Armstrong, accompanied by Miss Bessie Howe; paper, Christian since Jesus' Birth, by Mrs. E. A. Bradburn.

The meeting closed with another Christmas hymn and prayer by Miss Morgan.

Seen As War's Newest Menace



Brass-voiced air raid sirens, like this one in a French city, are blamed by Dr. Edward Toulouse, president of the French League of Mental Hygiene, for a rise in mental disorders. Dr. Toulouse, technical adviser to the French Ministry of Health, advocates softer-voiced air raid alarms lest France becomes a nation of citizens afflicted with dangerous nervous disorders. He says the effects of the present sirens are worse than bombing.

Finn Union Shows How Homeland Stands, Showers Down $1,000 For Relief In 1 Day

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—(AP).—It was the first time Jack Pollard, native of Finland and secretary-treasurer of the Garage Washers' and Polishers' Union Local 272, had a chance to do something for his countrymen.

He was very modest about it—but officials of the Finnish Relief Fund, Incorporated, were amazed. Pollard appeared at fund headquarters to ask whether he and his union could do anything.

Officials didn't know. There were 18,000 notices of a Wewnesday mass meeting that should go out as soon as possible. Perhaps—

Pollard said he would be back. In a half hour he returned, leading 75 ment from his union. At midnight, the notices were ready for the mails.

The next day, Pollard was back. He started pulling currency from his pocket until he had $1,000 heaped on a table.

"Give me five boxes ($100 each) and 1,000 50-cent tickets for the meeting."

Had he really sold that many tickets? No, but he would, because that money had to be repaid.

Next day he was back again. He had taken orders for 450 more 50-cent tickets and two more $100 boxes.

To-day, he wanted licenses for 100 men to wear sandwich signs and for 300 more to distribute handbills advertising the meeting. He had printed all the bills at his own expense—and he had given the fund $100 from his personal funds.

"I haven't tried to get many contributions yet," he said. "I thought I'd wait until they 'fire the gun' Wednesday night. Then, with things systematized, I'll really go to work."

Havelock Mission Has Fine Concert

HAVELOCK, Dec. 19 — (ENS). — Children and parents crowded the Havelock Gospel Mission Hall to capacity on Friday evening as the Sunday school pupils held their annual Christmas festival. Decorated most effectively for the occasion, with a brightly illuminated evergreen tree occupying a prominent position, the hall itself truly represented the Yuletide season. Gaiety was predominant throughout the evening, with an especially exuberant display of joy from the assembled children as jolly old Santa Clause appeared in the final moments. A large pile of gifts quickly disappeared as St. Nick distributed them to their respective owners, and was then on his way again.

Prizes for attendance were also given to the following members of the Sunday school: Martha Chard, Ruth Peters, Beulah Chase, Shirley Goheen, Iva Newell, Lois Chase, Evelyn Goheen, Gladys Chase, Jean Peters, Audrey Newell, Marie Rowat, Grace Rowat, Donna Rowat, Ross Goheen, Vernon Goheen, Ross Southward, Gordon Southward, Graham Rowat, Jackie Rowat, Jimmie Chase, Jackie Southward, Everett Warner, Allan Goheen and Winston Goheen.

Mr. W. A. McFarlane acted as chairman for the program, while Miss V. Venables officiated as pianist for many of the musical numbers. Included on the program were the following numbers: Dialogue, Ruby Warner and Grace Rowat; recitation, "Bethlehem," Shirley Goheen; chorus, "C Stands for Children' recitation, "What Shall I Give Him," Beulah Chase; chorus, "Christ's Birthday," Evelyn Goheen; acrostic, "Christmas"; dialogue, "The Christmas Story", Martha Chard; carol, "Ke Three Kings," Ross Goheen, Ross and Gordon Southwarti; dialogue, "The Christmas Quest," Gordon Southward, Winston Goheen; guitar selection, Madeline Ninstead; dialogue, "The Shepherds," Ruth Wilson, Allan and Ross Goheen, Ross Southward dialogue, "The Child and the Shepherd," Ruth Peters and Vernon Goheen; carol, 'God Rest You Merry Gentlemen,' Donglas Wright; recitation, im Hoard; recitation, 'Why?' Donna Rowat; chorus, 'Two Little Eyes,' primary department; carol, 'No Room in the Inn,' Ruby Warner, Lois Chase; closing hymn 'While Shepherds Watched.'

Young's Point Ladies Hold Social Rally

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 19 — (ENS).—The ladies of the Red Cross met at the home of Mrs. P. Stenner for a social evening, with three guests from Lakefield, Mrs. Stuart, Mrs. Gilman and Mrs. Grills also present.

The evening was spent in a social manner and also a (touch and take) table, at which $6.50 was realized.

The Red Cross ladies had an exhibition, the articles which they were sending to the Polish children, also a very nice quilt which they had made.

At the close of the gathering the ladies of the committee in charge served a delightful lunch. There were twenty-six ladies present.

How To Stop War

Washington, Dec. 19 (CP)

THE Associated Press today quotes official sources as saying that last spring Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the United States treasury, offered a plan to prevent a war by "buying up virtually all the war materials in the world."

It was dropped because Harry White, director of monetary research, estimated it would cost more than $100,000,000 a month to buy enough copper, cotton, oil, etc., to handicap belligerents.

The Morgenthau plan was a sidelight on various government preparations to control fluctuations in security markets in case of war.

Havelock Holds Its Own On Year's Work

HAVELOCK, Dec. 19—(ENS). — A brief survey of the past year's work was given by Reeve Ernest W. Seeney as he addressed the members of the Havelock municipal council at the conclusion of their last regular session, held Friday evening in the local chamber. Present for the meeting were Councillors E. J. Leeson, E. Chiles, James Wilde and James Ketchen, with Reeve Seeney presiding.

Thanking the council for their co-operation throughout the past twelve months, Reeve Seeney remarked that despite a rather bad winter in which the expenses had been considerably higher than usual, a measure of thriftiness throughout the summer had been adopted, by which the village will conclude in approximately the same financial condition as last year. Reeve Seeney defintely stated that he would be a candidate for the reeveship if he was again nominated for that office.

A communication from Garnet D. C. Morton, certified general accountant of Tweed, in connection with the proposed unification of municipal accounting systems was read and ordered held over till the January meetin gto be dealt with by the new council.

By-law No. 436 providing regulations for licensing the sale of milk and cream within the village and by-law No. 437 regulating licenses to sell bread, both passed. The notable change in both is that the licenses will henceforth be good only for the year in which they are issued, and also that the license fee must be paid within thirty days after the business has been inspected.

Deputy returning officers and poll clerks for the election, if such is necessary, were appointed as follows: Poll No. 1, Mrs. R. Jones, D.R.O.; Mrs. A. Williams, poll clerk. Poll No. 2, Mr. Wesley Stillman, D.R.O.; Mrs. E. Johnson, poll clerk.

The following accounts were passed and ordered paid on motion of Councillors Chiles and Leeson: Ontario Rock Co., rock dust, streets, $3.24; Jas. Ketchen, 15 council meetings, $37.50; E. J. Leeson, 15 council meetings, $37.50; E. Chiles, 15 council meetings, $37.50; James Wilde, 14 council meetings, $35.00; E. W. Seeney, 15 council meetings, $37.50; H. B. Puffer, bal. sal. postage, ref. typewriters, $114.50; Grant & Loucks, electrical supplies, $23.10; Thos. Paige, work Christmas decorations, $7.50; Hubble Hardware, supplies hall and streets, $2.90; W. J. Akins, December salary, $50.00; G. W. Chiles, town hall supplies, 90c.

Cheese Patrons Are Divided On Question Of Making Cheese On Sunday At Stanwood

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19 (ENS) —District Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray complimented cheesemaker C. McKeown and patrons of the Stanwood Cheese and Butter Company on the splendid report of their year's production, which showed only fourteen boxes out of a total of 75,925 pounds produced graded under first grade. Most of the first grade cheese had received a score of 93, declared Mr. Murray, who urged the company to avail itself of the aid offered by the Federal Department of Agriculture which will pay one-half the cost of installation of new hoops and presses. He paid tribute to the company's secretary, T. H. Rowe, who has been serving in that capacity since 1903. Though Mr. Rowe declared his reluctance to carry on for another year, he agreed to do so when patrons agreed unanimously to ask for no cheques provided a semi-monthly payment was instituted. Murray Petherick declined to act as auditor for another term, and after some discussion the matter of replacing him was left with the directors.

President Chester Irwin, who was re-elected for the 1940 term called upon J. D. Mills of Campbellford, who addressed the patrons, comparing the superior position of the agriculturist in Canada to those in European nations. He thought much better times were ahead for the farmer.

During the business period discussion revealed that patrons were divided on the need for Sunday cheese making. The following were elected directors: Ed. Anderson, J. Rowe, William Rowe, William Rylott, and H. T. Rutherford.

The financial statement read by the secretary indicated a total of 903,530 pounds of milk had been delivered to the factory. Total amount of cheese was 79,925 pounds and whey cream 2,021 pounds. Total money received from sale of cheese at an average price of 13c was $10,350.88, of which patrons received $8,479.96. Average pounds of milk per pound of cheese 11.9; average pirce received per pound butter fat 29.9.

In The Days Of Grenville

What should the commander of the Graf Spee have done when he put out to sea? According to British naval standards he should never have sunk his own vessel. In that fine old phrase of England it is one of those things which "isn't done."

When the German navy was rounded up by the British near the close of the previous war it was impounded at Scapa Flow, and only a janitor crew left on board. The plot for sinking the whole outfit was successfully carried out, and the janitor crews made their escape in small boats, but were rounded up by the British. There was a typical address made by Vice-Admiral Sir Sydney Freemantle on that occasion. He had the crews taken to internment camps and prior to that had them lined up under bayonet guard while he addressed these words to German Admiral von Reuter:

"I would like to express to you my indignation at the deed which you have perpetrated, and which was that of a traitor...It is not the first occasion on which the Germans have violated all the decent laws and rules of the seas. We have had on many occasions to regret the fact of having to fight a nation which takes no notice of civilized laws on the high seas."

So that was the opinion of one old sea dog and even if the von Reuter gentleman had been rather thick in the skull we believe he could readily enough have caught the general drift of the remarks which were directed to him.

If one cares to go back to the year 1591 there is a good parallel to consider, that of Sir Richard Grenville and his flagship Revenge. A fleet of 16 vessels set out to head off the Spanish treasure fleet of 53 galleons. Scurvy and sickness had played havoc with the British seamen at the Azores, so Admiral Howard's fleet took the men on board and put out to sea. Sir Richard Grenville's flagship "Revenge" was unable to follow, and was cut off, following which Grenville decided to pass through the Spanish line. There was discussion, and Tennyson tells the story of that discussion well in the plea of some of the crew: "Sink her, split her in twain; fall into the hands of God, not into the hands of Spain!"

Sir Richard thought differently. He was not at the moment considering falling into the hands of Spain, and for 15 hours his 150 men fought against the combined attack of 5,000 Spaniards. Sir Richard himself was mortally wounded, but in respect to his courage he was moved to the flagship of the Spanish fleet where he died shortly after. Of the 150 seamen only 20 survived. Of course Sir Richard Grenville died in 1591 and Adolf Hitler who gave the order to sink the Graf Spee may never have heard of him.

Perhaps Adolf Knows

Always is there something else which has to be settled. The Germans themselves settled what was to be done with the Graf Spee, and they settled also that the officers and crew were to be taken off before their fine vessel headed toward the bottom, but it remains for others to settle what is going to become of the members of the crew after they put back into Montevideo, Uruguay.

Those splendid men who come under the general classification of authorities on international law are at it already. They are trying to do the settling. There are 1,039 Germans to account for and first advice is that they will be interned, and if they pledge not to take any further part in the war they will be given their liberty.

The one peculiar kink is that the crew entered Montevideo in the first place on a battleship as they had a right to do. If the battleship had been interned the crew would have been held as part of the vessel. But the vessel is there no longer, so the 1,039 Germans leave a separate problem to be considered. If soldiers fleeing in battle enter a neutral land they are interned, but when these German sailors put back into port they were not fleeing from an enemy in war because they had no intention of fighting. They had gone forth to attend to the little ceremony of sinking their own ship.

There is one class in which they might be placed—that of shipwrecked seamen who should be allowed to go on home—if and when they can get home. If they cannot reach home then they are in Uruguay to stay and that nation will probably not take kindly to the prospect of having that number of Germans turned loose and left free to carry on propaganda as they see fit. Uruguay would be much better off if the crew could be shipped home, but the trouble at the moment is that shipping facilities to German ports are rather clumsily dislocated. A sea patrol operated by the Allies has the situation a little too much in hand at the moment. Adolf Hitler gave word to sink the Graf Spee and perhaps he will know what to do with the crew.

Driving a Car

In court at Tweed there was a charge brought against the driver of a car, and in the report of our correspondent it was worded, "driving a car without consideration for other motorists." It is not often that expression is used, but actually it reaches out and covers a good deal of territory.

One can see that sort of driving many times when there is no charge laid in court. The Examiner office is on the corner of Hunter and Water and there is a fair amount of traffic here at any time, and more at noon hour. Often enough when cars stop on the red light it will be noticed that two lines begin to form on both sides of the intersection. Then there are cars parked on each side of the road. And that of course means six rows of cars when the light turns green, and it just can't be done even if the street is fairly broad. The result is that some of those drivers have to ease off while those who can be described as the most urgent manage to break through. Possibly no one driver is in any greater hurry than another; they are all going home and a minute or so in the time of their arrival would make no difference at all. It is here that phrase applies "driving without consideration for other motorists." Give the other driver a little the best of it; do not be too assertive or too important when behind the wheel; do not imagine when you line up behind a red light you are there for the rest of the day because in exactly 35 seconds you will have a chance to move on. If car drivers generally drove "with consideration for other motorists" we dare say there would be few cases reaching court.

Wheat Moving Up

With war over much of the world it was reasonable to anticipate that wheat would move toward higher prices, but it has been slow to make the start.

Today Chicago reports that dollar wheat is again in sight, and the reason is not merely the war, but the prospects. Argentina reports poor weather, and the western United States has been too dry, and those places are always factors in determining future prices of wheat.

Britain is buying wheat as she needs it and paying market prices. It was anticipated some weeks ago that a large order would be placed for Canadian wheat at a price then prevailing, but that was not done. The result is that Canadians will get the benefit of increased prices prevailing in the world market.

The Church Has a Field

Bishop R. J. Renison picked this subject for the Sunday evening service at St. Paul's church in Toronto: "What Is Wrong With the Church?" Perhaps that seems an old topic, worn somewhat threadbare by frequent handling, but Bishop Renison said he had made his selection deliberately in an effort to voice some of the anger, frustration and even contempt which many people felt for the church.

He believed the meanness and quarrelling of Christians themselves came to the front as a major difficulty. Getting into the matter a little deeper the Toronto man said: "Above all the church should be religious and should be a place of worship. Dancing and picture shows should not be used to entice people to church. Man can get these amusements far better outside church doors."

We have not the least idea what a poll of public opinion might reveal on these points, but we have a firm feeling that Bishop Renison was saying something which very much needed saying. A church which is not above all else religious would have a hard enough time trying to explain why it should continue.

The world never scoffs at the man or the church of deep and positive religious convictions, but the world may — and probably does now and then—take time out to do its scoffing as the individual or the church which is seeking to so dilute its convictions that they will prove acceptable to all who seek to be entertained as well as those who seek a place of worship. The two do not mix and there is no particular reason why they should.

Wherein We Are Puzzled

When it comes to putting men in military uniforms there should be a degree of discretion exercised. Take for example the case of Corporal Claude A. Mallett. He is 6 feet 5½ inches in height, and wears boots size 15, and has joined the Canadian Dental Corps in Montreal.

For the moment we are not so much concerned with the height of this remarkable man as with the size of his feet. It was a matter about which no editor would care to speculate; he would need expert advice. That is why we called a man who is in the business and his reply was that the length of the shoe would be 16 inches. What's more he had to do a little reckoning before giving that reply.

Now—the page of the Examiner which you are at present reading is exactly that same width—16 inches. That is, the printed section of it, not including the margins. And we came to the conclusion after looking at a page that the shoe which would stretch clean across it was very large.

Just what a man of such size will do in the Dental Corps we do not know. As a rule the dentists we have encountered in recent times are pleasant fellows who move about quietly and radiate the impression that it isn't going to hurt. In the good old days when historians tell us the dentist used to put his knee on a patient's chest great size of stature might have been an asset, but today it has been changed. The technique is infinitely better, and when the patient has been given a shot in the jaw the dentist can use his screw driver and hammer with impunity. Therefore great size and great feet can hardly be an asset in the business.

Just what a Corporal does in the Dental Corps is something on which we are not very clear. Especially a Corporal who is 6 ft. 5½ inches in height. If the quarters in which his division was stationed were cramped we fear this Corporal would take more than his share of available space. If it were his duty to stand to one side and hand things to the dentist we fear he would be somewhat in the way. We realize our knowledge of such matters is limited; perhaps so limited that we should say nothing about it. We can visualize a man of such proportions shoving great pieces of wood or iron about, or doing the work of two or three people along with the engineers, but we cannot well fit him in with dental work or a dental corps. Possibly it would be better to refer a matter of this kind to Walter Thompson, the Minister of Information.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The way in which Christmas trees are being cut is a fair example of deforestation.

Commander of the Graf Spee picked a bad time and place for a Sunday afternoon stroll.

Man in Montreal is protesting a doctor's bill for $1,000, and possibly the man is right enough in expecting that he should have seen a great deal of fancy work done for that amount.

When we are trying to properly interpret what people may or may not say during a war, it might be well to mention that two members of the British parliament suggested it was time to talk peace with Hitler.

Hon. Gordon Conant says it is very disturbing to hear of cases where an individual accused of drunk driving has been released. It would be well if that disturbed feeling was transmitted to those responsible for the release.

A former school teacher was found guilty of having tossed a bag of dynamite into the house of another teacher with whom he had been having an unsuccessful romance. The result was a sentence of fifty years in prison. By that time the teacher will be 85 years of age, and may find it a little difficult to take up the day's work as many boundary lines will have changed in the interval.

GIFT OF LOVE

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Alfalfa has a well-made plan, by which she might impress her man, the scheme she understands; she'd buy no gift from any store, she'd tried and failed in that before, she'd make one with her hands.

¶ A sleeveless jacket made of wool, the kind a man delights to pull, she'd knit the thing herself; 'twould show she thought a lot of him, to keep cold blasts from off his skin, concerned about his health.

¶ At work like that she's kind of slow, and so she started weeks ago, she bought the wool in hanks; 'twould take a lot of work she knew, but well worth while when she was through, if he would look his thanks.

¶ Alfalfa felt a vague surprise, she really didn't know his size, nor could she ask him that; she knew the size of boots he wore, for she presented socks before, she likewise knew his hat.

¶ Alfalfa has a lot of pride, ambition's not to be denied, in that way she is tough; of wool she had an awful lot, and so Alfalfa bravely thought, she'd make it big enough.

¶ Her brother saw the thing she'd done, he laughed as though 'twere lots of fun, his comedy was coarse; if boy friend couldn't wear the thing, he'd gladly use it till the spring—and put it on his horse.

This Business Of Getting On With The War

(By S. J. P. in the Belfast Daily Telegraph)

"WHY don't they get on with it?" is natural enough, perhaps, as a query concerning this strange war, even among people whose minds recoil from slaughter—one of the inevitable consequences of getting on with it.

War is a thing of action, and if a certain impatience about Anglo-French inaction is forming as an undercurrent in the national mind, already overwrought, nobody need wonder.

But he is a wise man who learns by the experience of others. There are two modern instances in which governments or generals in charge of the conduct of campaigns allowed their better judgment to be overruled by an impatient public or what was believed to be an impatient public.

Let us see what happened in each. We have not far to travel backwards along the historical corridor until we reach the first of these. The year was 1896.

In February of that year an Italian army of 25,000 men, 10,000 of whom were European and the rest native troops under white officers, lay in the Abyssinian highlands. Its commander was General Baratieri.

A FEW MILES to the west of them lay a black host whose numerical strength has never been known with accuracy, but which must have numbered at least 100,000 to 120,000 men—a host of fierce swordsmen, riflemen, and spearmen thrown up from the depths of Africa. At its head was King Menelek.

Now Baratieri knew that the "Big Fact" was food. Generals are practical men and have many things to think of besides bombs and bayonets. This Italian general knew that, hard as it was for him to feed his men, it was far harder for his opponents, with their rudimentary supply service, to subsist.

All he had to do was to sit tight. In a few weeks the Ethiopians must either break up, when he could attack them in detail, or they must advance and attack him, when all the advantage would be on his side because he was well entrenched.

But the Italian public was growing impatient. The Italian equivalent of "Why doesn't he get on with it?" arose in increasing volume. It reached the ears of the Government and they, timid men fearing for their places, pressed the Premier, Crispi.

So Crispi telegraphed to Baratieri to get on with the war—to do something spectacular. The general replied, representing the position. But those at home set him down as unenterprising. Without telling him, they ordered General Baldissera to sail at once and take over the command.

FRIENDS of Baratieri in Italy were not long in telling the general that he was to be superseded and that his successor was already on the way.

For a while the general wavered. Then, against his better judgment, he did some wishful thinking by lending an ear to a false rumor that the enemy army was dissolving. He broke up his fortified camp and advanced to attack King Menelek, which was the very thing that dusky monarch wanted, for he was, in fact, on the point of breaking up his army.

The rest was tragedy. The Italians became separated in the mountain country and their three brigades were surrounded in turn by the Ethiopian hordes and cut to pieces. Of the 17,000 who marched to battle, over 10,000 were killed or captured. Baratieri himself survived, but practically all his higher officers perished.

No attempt was made at the time to reverse the grim verdict of that battle—the Battle of Adowa. But the desire to avenge it was one of the chief factors which, in our own time, led Mussolini to attack Abyssinia.

THIS AFFAIR of Adowa was forty odd years ago. Let us hark back another forty years and we come to an instance not so very different in character—one which, moreover, affects us more closely, since it was the British public that was directly concerned in it.

In 1854 the Russian Bear, as represented by his Imperial Majesty the Czar Nicholas I., was laying its great paws upon Europe, or so it appeared to the people of England. A Russian army had advanced to the Danube and threatened Constantinople.

The Turks, always a doughty people, were putting up a splendid fight against the Czar's men. England and France decided to support the Turks; war was declared upon Russia, and a joint expeditionary force sent to Varna.

But when the Anglo-French army reached Varna, the show, so to speak, was over. The Turks had won the day, and the Russians, further threatened by Austria, had been hustled back to their own country.

The finest British Army that had ever gone overseas lay inactive at Varna; cholera began among the men. The best course would have been to call the war off and distribute the army among its peace stations again.

But this did not suit the French Emperor, Napoleon III, at all. He had his name to make, and would not entertain the idea of his French troops returning home without battle honors. Unhappily this attitude was helped by the outcry that arose in this country to "teach the Russians a lesson."

ENGLAND had not been at war in Europe for forty years; the country was now keyed up to the idea, and a strong section of public opinion felt it would be "let down" if, after all the preparations and all the display of might, there was not a victory or two to round off the picture. A demand arose for the army to be sent on across the Black Sea to attack Sevastopol, in the Crimea. There was no need for this new adventure.

The disastrous war which followed is a matter of history. The four decades of peace had been four decades of neglect of the army; the supply system was chaotic, and thousands of brave men died needlessly from want of the simple necessities that would have saved them. The hospital services were a scandal, retrieved only by the heroic work of Florence Nightingale.

Had it not been for the fact that the Russian organization was even worse, the British and French armies must have perished to a man, or at least been grievously defeated. And it was all needless.

Letter To The Editor

10TH CONCESSSION

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Frost on the window pane this morning left a lacy trail of delicate design. Still no big snow storm.

This afternoon while out for a walk along the tenth concession saw a neighbor with his son filling big cans with water from the creek. The long dry spell has dried their water supply. Visited the school near by for a few minutes. They have a beautiful array of bird pictures, life size. Something very interesting about a school room. It is not until you are older that you really appreciate how much you owe to your teachers and the school system.

I often take this walk in the evening. Passing the big red house called "Hill View" you climb the hill gradually, hardly realizing how high it is, until at the hill top a sweeping view meets the eye. I have often stood at dusk and noticed the high hills in every direction. Facing west you see the church and cemetery of old St. John's Anglican Church to the right. In front of you a long hill stretches right up the Tenth directly west. Just beyond the school is the cross-roads. To the left the road leads to the village of Cavan and on to Millbrook. High hills rise in this direction too. And to turn around and face east, the road running by Howden's gate makes a steep incline, on top of which is Howson's residence, overlooking the countryside.

At night as cars come from all directions a peculiar effect is seen. The light of the car looks like a big star as it comes to the top of the hill. An ideal place for winter sports. Now with all those people coming up from Toronto to ski this winter, wouldn't it be just like it, if not a single snow flake fell.

When I lived in Michigan, we were simply buried in snow all winter as a rule from November first to the middle of April. One winter the nearby town of Petoskey planned an elaborate winter sports' program. Everybody bought snappy sports clothes, and reds and blues and greens colored the landscape. People became quite expert with skates, snowshoes and skis. They invited all their friends from around and Grand Rapids was going to bring a special train. What happened? Sure, you have guessed it. It started to rain, and not a speck of snow remained by the date set for the sports. What is more contrary than the weather, unless it is, a woman. I am afraid even grandfather would agree to that.

While waiting to hear the telephone ring, for friends to call that they will soon be along to pick me up to go to the dance in the Parish Hall, I have written this note. A fine floor, good orchestra, and nice lunch—all for a quarter, brings a fine crowd of happy young people, to dance in good surroundings for a few hours, at Ida.

Christmas is getting near. A big pudding, and a small pudding of "Ye old English plum pudding" variety hangs in the well room, and two large fruit cakes are in the pantry, as a preliminary to preparations.

Wishing all connected with your good paper a very Merry Christmas.

Yours very truly,
LILLIE G. MALONE.
Tenth Con., Cavan.

• Allies Will Have Air Supremacy

THE British Air Minister, Sir Kingsley Wood, has told the House of Commons that the "mere numerical" output of planes in Britain is now more than twice what it was a year ago. The statement has been supplemented by estimates from Washington that British aircraft factories are producing warplanes at the rate of more than one an hour or well over 1,000 per month. Estimates of French production are almost impossible to obtain, but it can be taken for granted that, while much less than the British, it is considerable. Moreover, it is important to remember that British production will eventually go higher, possibly to 2,000 planes a month.

In forming estimates of the total air strength with which the Allies will eventually be able to confront the Germans, says Kingston Whig-Standard, the capacity of the American aircraft industry is of major importance. In this case the official figures of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America are available. In these the present capacity of the industry's present rate of expansion the American production is expected within a year to reach 23,000 planes and 36,000 engines.

By no means all of these American planes will be warplanes, however, and not all of the warplanes will be available for purchase by Britain and France. The United States Government will need a large number of them for its own air force, and private and commercial aviation will need ordinary planes.

But the ability of the American aircraft industry to expand would appear to be almost without limit. At the present time there are forty-five airplane factories and thirteen airplane engine factories in the United States. Only about half the airplane factories and only three of the engine factories are now turning out products suitable for war use, but if the demand arose there is little doubt that all the American factories could be turned to warplanes and warplane engine production.

The Allies are thus likely to have at their disposal in the course of time anything up to three or four thousand new planes a month, while as the war continues Germany will find it exceedingly difficult to turn out from 1,500 to 2,000 in the same period. Figures such as these are possibly giving Adolf Hitler a sleepless night or two.

JUDGE BY RESULTS

WE HEAR a great deal these days about the distress of the German people, of their dissatisfaction with Hitler and his associates and of the general unwillingness of the German powers that be to launch a major offensive. All this talk is soothing to the ears of a great many people. However, we'll know all about this sort of thing when results show themselves. We'll say that Germans are distressed economically when their armies are short-rationed and we'll admit Hitler's unpopularity when the German people who elected him to his office, and who have supported him in that office practically depose him and those who go at his beck and call no longer heed his Jovian nod. So far as we see, Hitler is very much in the saddle in Germany and the German people are satisfied with the way things are going. Meanwhile, it is up to us and our Allies to have but one slogan—"On with the war and with all that aids its successful prosecution." Wishful thinking is poor war material.—Exeter Times-Advocate.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else....

I will mention the lovingkindnesses of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses....

Doubtless thou are our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer; thy name is from everlasting.—Isa. xiv, 18; lxiii, 7, 16.

"I'm sorry, Dorothy, that I brought you here," he said, "this is hardly a play for a girl of your age."

"Oh, that's all right, Dad. It'll probably liven up a bit before the end."

Remember When—

Ernie Schaaf pounded out a 10-round decision over Maxie Baer, later world heavyweight champion, in his first fight at New York nine years ago today. Three years later Schaff was pounded unmercifully by giant Primo Carnera at New York and was carried to his corner while 20,000 fans yelled "fake." He died in hospital four days later.

GORING SUBS FOR HITLER

LONDON—(CP).—British radio listeners were enthused over the performance of the "man who played Hitler" in a B.B.C. play. After the program it was revealed the actor was a Goring—Marius Goring, 28.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

Only the other day, the writer remarked on Bill Dinneen, ex-ump in the big leagues, being mentioned as a possibility for baseball's Hall of Fame. Since then we've seen a hockey program of the Syracuse Stars and note that Dinneen—who has friends in Peter's borough—has been named president of the puck club in Syracuse. The Stars are at present in second place in the five-team western section of the International League, so the veteran William, who retired not long ago as dean of American Ball League officials, hasn't a bad spot. Not that he needs any oughday—not Bill, begorrah! .The big bird who used to blast defiant diamondeers right back into their dugouts—and we've seen him do it—has enough greenbacks to paper a huge barn inside and out. Yes, and give it another coat of yellowbacks!

A ski item from Kingston: "J. A. Fisher of Toronto visited Kingston this week and made inquiries about skiing here, wanting those interested in the fascinating sport to form a ski club. He is vice-chairman of the central district of the Ontario ski zone council. Jerry Duffus of Peterborough is chairman of the eastern zone, which would include Kingston. Fisher said that the Peterborough chairman would do everything possible to help organize a club here and invited any interested in the sport to write for information." Evidently, Peterborough skiers are doing plenty of pioneering and missionary work around and about for their favorite sport.

Wait Till Next Week

Christmas has quite a bearing on sports here, especially hockey. Probably bowling, too. Not only have folks little time for games the week before Xmas because of shopping, but many have social engagements due to the season and others may be working overtime. Which would affect puck players and also fans—hence the gates, which would be unthinkable! And it is a well known fact that minor hockey loops rarely, if ever, commence play before the turkey has been demolished on account of their teams hang back awaiting to see if certain prospective players will dig a pair of skates or stick or similar ice equipment out of the hanging stocking. Yes, indeed, winter sports in this town travel in low gear till after Christmas.

In just a week and a half the boys of Bella Villa will be here to open the 1939-40 O.H.A. intermediate "A" season with the Petes. Skipper Ed Thomas has lined up a better bunch of Redmen than a year ago, and the team is now in the VanHorne Cup semi-finals in Kingston. Watt is going great guns again in goal, with the vetern Speedy St. Louis starring on the back fence alongside one Filion from Trenton. Two smart Jackson brothers are on the first line with a guy named Windsor from Prescott. Subs include Hastie, an ex-Oshawa star, Gow from around Kingston, Yates from Prescott, two Storms brothers of Belleville and some gee wearing the monicker of Pownal. In a recent win o'er Queen's, St. Louis—who can play ball and fight as well as play hockey—was listed as the game's star; so the evergreen Speedy, getting a bit worn atop the noggin, must be still stepping fast.

With Gobs Of Swish

With all the gang on deck, the Petes had another good workout last night in Oshawa, swishing up and down the big ice surface in speedy style. As the forwards find their condish better and better, they turn in some effective back-checking. Shorty Roberts, as well as Ray Harding, was on hand again to take a turn in the nets—and he knows the goalie job okay. The players decided against accepting a bid to go to Owen Sound for an exhibition tussle with Red Creighton and his buddies this Friday night. On account of it is too long a trip for some of the fellows who have to go to work on Saturday morn. Guess the guarantee of expenses by the Trappers wasn't foo high, either. The Petes stage another practice next Tuesday night in Oshawa — unless there's ice here—and then start their season Dec. 29th.

* * * * * *

There was an executive meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club here last night to deal with general business. The appointment of Archie Weir as coach of the junior "B" Colts was oficially confirmed, and matter of rent for the rink dealt with and necessary repairs to the arena dressing-rooms for the teams decided upon. 'Twas reported that the draw ducats were going fairly good but not just pouring lucre into the club coffers—probably due to Christmas—but another short drive will be put on to raise dough for pre-seasonal expenses, and the prize draw will be held at the Petes' second home game.

Gifts Ahead Of Time

Larry O'Connor, Cobourg's fine athlete, was awarded the Norton Crow memorial cup the other day for being Canada's outstanding athlete and sportsman. At same presentation banquet, Percy Bond of Peterborough, prexy of the Central Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C., was presented with a silver tray as a token of appreciation for his work in this department. Mr. Bond—who is a past president of the O.H.A.—made the trophy presentation to O'Connor, the latter intimating he was a long way from being pensioned off yet in the field of athletics.

High school cage schedules for the Lakeshore grouping of Central Ontario—it's the C.O.S.S.A. winter competition — have been released. In the senior boys' section are P.C.I., Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa and Bowmanville. Junior boys' division comprises Peterborough, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Lindsay and Cobourg. Peterborough is not represented in the junior girls' schedule, but P.C.I. has a senior gals' team in with Port Hope, Lindsay, Bowmanville and Cobourg. The three local cage squads swing into action in Port Hope on Jan. 5th, opening then at home on Jan. 12th. The lists run till around March the middle.

Y Gym Lasses Gain Win Over Debs

After trailing through most of the second half, 'Y' Gym scored three times in quick succession near the end to gain a close 13-11 decision over Queker Debs and continue at the top of the Ladies' Basketball League in a lone game at the Y. W. C. A. last night. They held a 7-6 edge of halft time, and after the Debs rallied to go into the lead, Ruth Dalliday scored three field goals giving 'Y' Gym a one point edge in the second stanza. The Debs had most of the play in the last period but didn't take advantage of their scoring chances, nullifying a good passing attack.

Ruth Dalliday continued well in advance of the rest of the league in scoring, counting nine points to lead 'Y' Gym in scoring, with R. Farr heading the losers with 8 in a good showing. The teams:—

Quaker Debs:— R. Farr, B. Frizzelle, H. White, B. Fenner, H. Grant, J. Metcalfe, G. Allen, D. Gibbs, A. Laing, D. Smith.

'Y' Gym—R. Dalliday, L. Wesley, B. DeMaio, S. Florence, S. Zacks, B. Flynn, R. Sullivan, I. Young, S. Zakos, B. Pemeroy, F. Craig.

Baseball's Arduous Chores – play in Summer, This In Fall

What do they do in the off-season? Baseball players have a variety of ways in which they spend their time when they're not playing ball—even as you and I—and here are some major league stars seen during the past few weeks at their fall pursuits. TOP LEFT is Babe Dahlgren, the Yankees' Fancy Dan at first base, busy in the wood-working shop in the basement of his home. He dabbles in gadgets of various kinds. Getting ready to bowl over a few ducks at the UPPER RIGHT is none other than Babe Ruth, who hasn't played ball for some time now, but is still Mr. Baseball to thousands of juvenile fans. LOWER LEFT shows Larry French, Chicago Cub pitcher, who got into the news last summer by appealing to the club president for more work. A former player, now an umpire, George Pipgras is the fourth member of this quartet, shown before the start of a hunting trip with his dog.

Connie Mack At 76 Refuses To Discuss Retirement From Managing Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Connie Mack has selected his son, Earle, to succeed him eventually as manager of the Mack baseball fortunes.

"But," he chuckles, "he'll be wearing long, gray whiskers before I go."

After two nearly fatal illnesses and the longest active career of anyone in organized baseball, Connie at 76 still refuses to discuss retirement from the presidency and managership of Philadelphia Athletics.

But he's thinking of the "day when," and Earle, now 47, has been chosen to take over when "Dad" lays down the reins.

"I look forward to a winning team next year," Mack declares optimistically as he sits these wintry days in his Shibe Park office. "Rather a winning team than a pennant winner, for if you have a winning team you always have a chance to capture the pennant."

LES MISERABLES

(Wail—To the Tune of "Trees")

My heart with sudden pity fills
When I behold the barren hills,
And think of all those folks with skiis,
Just waiting for the hills to freeze.

Their noses pressed against the pane,
They gaze upon the bare terrain,
Upon whose bosom snow has lain,
But won't, apparently, again.

I think that I shall never see
A sight so lonely as a ski;
A ski that should, by rights, be pressed
Against the earth's sweet snowy breast.

But which, alas, since early fall,
Has leaned against the closet wall;
Which lifts its curling toe to pray,
And looks at overshoes all day.
And though I think I'll never be
An ardent skiing devotee,
I grieve for those who wail with woe,
"If only God would make it snow."
—"Rochester."

Woe is us! The only consolation being that it has taken a ninety-nine year record to deprive us of skiing so far this year. However, we have a heavy date with the snowman for this Saturday and he hadn't better let us down. Will be contacting you through this column late on.

The chalet is about finished now so plans can be formulated for that Open House blow-out during New Years. We'll have ourselves a time, snow or no snow. In any event, there is still lots of work to do on the downhill and various trails which will replace skiing should the worst happen.

Membership campaign ended officially on Saturday night but as yet we have no report as to who won those two prizes. We have a lot of new members this year as well as most of the previous year and on the whole, the results are most gratifying. Team workers' returns or individual fees would be paid to the treasurer, Jack Richardson, Peterborough Canoe Company or at 299 Frederick avenue, phone 6889.

Smythe Ready Renew Feud With Art Ross Of Bruins

BOSTON, Dec. 19. —(AP)—Manager Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs served notice today that he is ready to resume his National Hockey League feud with Art Ross, Boston Bruins pilot, by inserting the following paid advertisement in a Boston morning newspaper:—

"Attention hockey fans! If you're tired of seeing the kind of hockey the Boston Bruins are playing, come to the Garden tonight (Tuesday) and see a real hockey club, the Toronto Maple Leafs."

Smythe said that last Thursday's tie game with the Bruins in Toronto was the inspiration of his unusual action.

"That was a perfect exhibition of how to drive the customers away in droves, he said. "Everybody calls the Bruins the Stanley Cup champions. Why can't they play like champions then, both on the road and at home. And you may say for me that the New York Rangers are in the same boat as the Bruins when it comes to playing sleep-producing hockey on the road. They've played seven ties already. Our club doesn't know what a tie is unless we're forced into it the way the Bruins forced us the other night."

PRO PUCK PERSONALITIES

BILL THOMS
Chicago Black Hawks

A near-veteran, playing his eighth season of N.H.L. hockey, is Bill Thoms, centre with Chicago Black Hawks. He plays between a newcomer, Doug Bentley, and a veteran of longer service than himself, Mush March. Bill spent the first six and a half seasons of his major puck career with Toronto Maple Leafs before going to the Hawks in mid-season of the campaign before the current one in a trade for Doc Romnes, since shifted to Americans. Born at Newmarket, Ont., 29 years ago come next March. Weighs less than 170 pounds, but was well on his way to an "iron-man" record with the Leafs, with whom he didn't miss a game until not long before he was traded. Played better than 360 consecutive games. Began puck career with Newmarket Juniors, later with junior and senior teams in Toronto. Turned pro and played part of 1932-33 with Syracuse before the Leafs brought him up. Has scored 74 goals and been credited with 103 assists — a total of 177 points—during his stay in the National league, his best season being 1935-36 when he accumulated 38 points to finish in a tie for fourth place in the scoring race. Twenty-three of his points were goals, giving him a tie with Charlie Conacher for leadership in actual scoring. He's a fast skater, good checker and packs a hard shot for opposing goalies to contend with.

CLASS "D" RACE ON THE DUFFERIN TRACK FULL OF EXCITEMENT

Heat, Wagers Called Off Dufferin Track

TORONTO, Dec. 19. — The harness racing program at Dufferin Park Monday afternoon was enlivened and also marred by the third heat of the Class "D" event being declared "no heat" and all wagers being called off.

There were three different heat winners, one being unofficial, in this race. Brown Gratton of Robert Preston's London stable, piloted by Hughes, which won the first heat on Saturday, also took the fourth and extra heat after finishing third behind Archdale Grattan of the Abbott Stables, Weston, in the second trip.

The mixup occurred in the washed-out third heat, Monday's second heat, after Berry Direct, driven by Niles, and Archdale Grattan, reined by Rowntree, became entangled about seventy yards from the finish wire. Considerable commotion was created by the judges' decision of "no heat. All bets off," as the folks who had wagered on Berry Direct at 10 to 1 did not like the verdict. When the horses went a fourth heat, Baron Grattan got down in front with Archdale Grattan third.

The final heat of Class "C" on Monday saw Albert E. Grattan win by a nose from Mart Harkaway after Lee Oliver had been in front most of the way. In the final two heats of Class "F", Pine Ridge Lady, making her first start of the season, captured the first one at odds of 8 to 1, and Phalla, a trotter that sold as favorite on Saturday, took the remaining heat at 3 to 1. In the two heats of Class "E" Monday, Rosabelle Lee, a 2-to-1 shot, and Jody Signal, at 10 to 1, were winners.

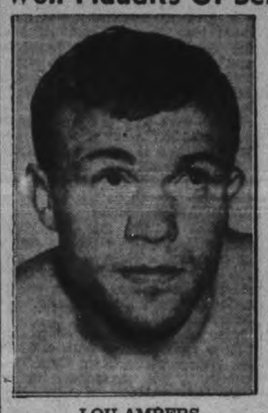
Won Plaudits Of Scribes For 1939 Comebacks



LOU AMBERS

LEFTY GROVE

TONY GALENTO

Polled by the Associated Press, as is customary around this time every year, sports writers in United States voted these three athletes 1939's No. 1, 2 and 3 comebacks, reading in the usual LEFT to RIGHT order. Ambers topped the list because of his return bout with Henry Armstrong in which he regained the lightweight crown he had lost previously; Grove was next for his fine pitching for Boston Red Sox, for whom he won 15 games, after it looked as if his arm was "dead" for good at the close of the 1938 campaign; and Galento took third for bouncing back into the boxing picture after years of obscurity. You're entitled to your own opinions as to the various athletic comebacks, however, remember.

Boston Southpaw Leads American In Earned Runs

As might be expected with the hitting in the American League slightly off in 1939, the sum total of pitching was fractionally better than during the previous year. In 1939 the earned run average for the league was 4.59, whereas in 1938 the figure was 4.79.

Although there is obviously a marked advantage in the won-and-lost percentages in working for a slugging, high-scoring, winning team, the won-and-lost standing and the earned-run tables for the league in 1939 showed remarkable consistency.

For example, Bob Grove, the veteran Boston southpaw, was the tops in the earned-run table among the regulars, with a mark of 2.54 for 23 games. Over the stretch he won 15 and lost only 4 for a .789 winning percentage, which placed him fourth among all the pitches in the won-and-lost column.

This was the ninth time in his career that Grove has led the pitchers with the lowest earned-run average, and the seventh time he has allowed less than 3.00 earned runs per nine-inning game. Grove has pitched a total of 285 complete games in the American league since he started with the "A's" in 1925. He has won 286 games in 15 years, the highest number of wins for any pitcher still active in the big show.

Close by Grove was another veteran ace, Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox who had a great year on the slab in 1939, winning 14 and losing 6 with an earned-run average of 2.76. From the last 4 innings on June 11 to the first inning on July 23 against New York, Lyons pitched through 42 consecutive innings without granting a base on balls.

Preceding each of these stars in the lists were new Yankee wonders, young Marius Russo having the league's best earned-run record of 2.41 with 8 wins and 3 losses, while sandwiched between Grove and Lyons was Steve Sundra with 2.75 earned-run percentage while winning eleven and losing only one. This was the No. 1 rating in the percentage column. Sundra had a perfect record with eleven straight victories before he left Boston on September 30 in the last game he pitched during the season.

Bobby Feller

Just below Lyons in earned runs came the sensational young fireballer Bobby Feller of Cleveland with an earned-run record of 2.85 and a won-and-lost record of 24 and 9. Feller's victory total was the highest in the circuit. At one stretch Feller struck out 36 Detroit Bengals in three games—ten on April 21, 13 on April 29, and 13 more on June 27 before his spell was broken on July 3 when only two Tigers went out via the strikeout route.

Next in line to Feller stood the great competitor, strong-hearted Red Ruffing, Yankees, whose earned-run average was 2.94 for 28 games, 21 of which he captured and 7 of which he dropped. On May 25, Ruffing won his 200th major league victory with a 5-to-2 decision over the Detroit Tigers. This made him the fifth hurler still active in the big leagues to reach that total. Ruffing has won 20 or more games for the past four years, with 20 in 1936 and 1937, and 21 in 1938 and 1939.

There were only two other 20-game hurlers in the league in 1939—Emil Leonard of Washington who won 20 and lost 8 while turning in an earned-run figure of 3.55, and curiously enough right beside him in the earned-run standing with a record of 3.58 was Buck Newson, who worked for both St. Louis and Detroit, winning 20 and losing 11.

Newsom struck out 192 men during the season, which was the second high to the excellent total of 246 registered by Feller of the Indians. Feller and Newsom were also the one-two strikeout kings of the league in 1938 when the former breezed 240 batsmen and the latter 226.

Won 13, Lost 3

Third high in the pitching percentages in 1939, following Luther Thomas of the Athletics with 7 and 1, was Atley Donald of New York who won 13 and lost 3 for a .813 percentage. His earned run record was 3.71. Donald set a new record during the season for a first-year slabster when he triumphed in his first twelve straight struggles, winning his first dozen starts from May 9 to July 25 for the best consecutive winning streak for any pitcher. Detroit beat him on Aug. 2.

Clint Brown, the Chicago relief ace, set a new major league record by pitching 61 incimplete games, eclipsing the record of 59 incomplete games set by Garland Braxton of Washington in 1927.

Another White Sox star, John Dungan Rigney, defeated the St. Louis Browns in the first night game in the history of Comiskey Park in Chicago on August 14 for his seventh straight victory and his tenth win of the season. Rigney went on to win four more, making it eleven straight before Detroit dropped him on Sept. 10.

Feller topped the league in passes with 142, followed by John Kramer of St. Louis with 127. Newsom issued 126 free grants. The year before Feller was high in walks with 208, followed by Newsom with 192.

Feller pitched the most innings, 297, while Newsom faced the most batsman, 1,120. The most hits were made off Leonard, 273; followed by Newsom with 272, and then Kramer with 269. Nelson Potter of the Athletics gave up the most runs, 163. Feller led the league in wild pitches with 14, while Howard Mills of the Browns hit the most men, with 8. Vernon Kennedy, who was switched from Detroit to St. Louis, was the heaviest loser of the season with 20 defeats, as against 9 victories. The previous season at Detroit he won 12 and lost 9.

High man in the earnedrun columns was Jake Wade of Boston with a record of 7.45 in 24 games.

In the complete-game tabulations Feller and Newsom were tied at the top, both finishing 24 of the contests they started. Ruffing of the Yankees was two behind them, followed by Leonard of Washington with 21 complete jobs. In 1938 Newsom was out in front all by himself with 31 full games. Newsom had the most starts in 1939 with 37, while Feller was started in 35 games.

Lee Ross of the Athletics was knocked out the most times, being removed in 22 contests.

Feller and Ruffing were tied for the lead in shutouts with 4 each. Feller also contributed two 1-hit performance, 3 three-hit games, and 2 four-hit exhibitions. His brace of one hitters were the only ones of the year. No no-hit games were recorded.

The season saw 13 pitchers appearing with 2 or more clubs.

Baba, War Driver Boxer to Step Out

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Bob Gregory, 27, English wrestler, said last night he would file suit after Christmas to divorce Baba, 22-year-old daughter of the white Rajah of Sarawak, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke. Sir Charles is head of a British protectorate in North Borneo. The couple married in 1937.

"She left me early in June," said Gregory, "and when she wrote me first that she was financially unable to come home, I sent her money. She said she is going to stay in London until the war is over, driving an ambulance."

Out for Christmas

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP). — John DeGruchy, "Father of Canadian Football," who has been ill for many week in St. Joseph's Hospital here, has convalesced to the point where he will be able to go home for Christmas, it was announced today.

He was anxious to go home for the holiday and his medical advisors have decided that he may be moved.

Smaller cities of England want their mail flown to their airports.

Leafs GoGunning For Bruins In Their Den

TORONTO, Dec. 19.—(CP)—Trailing teams of the National Hockey League will step aside tonight while the first four clubs in the standing engage in two of the most important combats of the season to date.

Toronto Maple Leafs, leading the league by two points over Boston, will tackle the Bruins in Boston while New York Rangers strive to hold third place at home against Montreal Canadiens, who trail them by only one point.

In the Leafs' first invasion of this season, the world champion Bruins whipped them 6-2. Tonight Wally Stanowski, sensational rookie who was injured early in the campaign, will return to the Toronto lineup. At the same time it is rumored that Eddie Shore, defensive backbone of the Bruins, will be missing again because of his business obligations in Springfield, Mass.

The Rangers, after going eight games without a defeat, can step into a tie for second position if the Bruins lose to Toronto. But the Canadiens, smarting from a 4-2 defeat they accepted from the Rangers at Montreal Saturday, will be gunning to return to their early winning ways after losing three of their last four games.

THE SPORTS ROUND-UP

By CHARLES DUNKLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer. (Pinchitting for Eddie Brietz).

CHICAGO, Dec. 19. —(AP) — Investigation of "fake" fight charges by Harry Thomas—charges that he agreed to lay down to Max Schmeling and Tony Galento—is getting hotter than a constable's pistol.... A Chicago sportsman, thus far unnamed, may be dragged into the mess provided the case gets into court....He is the undisclosed fourth person, present in a hotel room at the time Thomas says the alleged deal for his flops were made at a conference between Nate Lewis, his manager, and Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling and Galento.

Thomas in a substantiating affidavit, obtained 15 days after his original charge was published, contended that the promoter of one of the bouts knew it was to be faked and that the latter's only concern was that he wanted Thomas to look good....

In case you're interested, that highly touted Tennessee line will be back intact next Fall, almost .... The only loss by study Jim Rike, centre....The other six first string stalwart are juniors.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, will meet Judge W. G. Branham, head of the minor leaguers, here Friday in an attempt to work out a reasonable plan for the farm system fostered by the majors league clubs. The minors are praying for a more sympathetic policy from Landis.

Canada's Sons

through one's body to watch these hardy 'tough guys' marching on England's soil."

Continuous Cheering.

It has been one round of cheering since the Canadians landed at a west coast port crowded with an array of warships and camouflaged, armed ocean-going transports such as these ports have never seen before.

Not to be missed is a quaint description, no doubt embellished by the censor, of Toronto troops boasting of their home town:

"From one ship would come chanted in some strange tone letters spelling out a Canadian place name and ending with the name itself sung in short sharp notes. From another would come a different name, half-recited, half-sung. It was their way of telling the people ashore the names of the cities from which they came."

Those hometown yells baffle the English but not one fraction as much as the blackout baffles the Canucks. After two nights' experience trying to find their way around barking their shins, stumbling against sandbags and getting lost, the lads from the nine Provinces decided to get torches—flashlights, of course—if they can get them, or staw at home of an evening.

Gifts Pour In.

As the boys settle into camp on the second da yafter their arrival from a week's holiday afloat, the generosity of the old country folk is apparent. At debarkation men and women flung cigarettes and tobacco to the boys. Here at camp, the nearby townspeople are interested and extremely considerate. Invitations for Christmas dinner are flowing in by the hundreds to Canada House.

Probably within three months the Canadian troops will be ready to move to France, though this depends entirely on their training, their equipment and developments on the Western front. Meantime, they will be working intensively with the reminder of their Commander, Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, in mind that they "carry an obligation of honor to live up to the proud traditions established by the Canadian Corps."

The presence of a Quebec regiment of French-Canadians has been productive of considerable comment. General McNaughton told interviewers Sunday he was proud of the French section of the population, well represented both in units and on the staff.

Dominions Secretary Anthony Eden said, "Whether you are English of French-speaking Canadians" Britain will never forget.

The unfortunate handling of the release of the news of arrival created some annoyances. After receiving assurances the stories were to be released Wednesday morning newspapermen were shocked to find the First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill, announcing the arrival in his speech Monday night.

The result was that the story was released and the censors were flooded with hundreds of stories for approval before their dispatch, and a colossal mixup was inevitable. There were numerous newspaper criticisms of the handling of such an important announcement.

A flood of publicity has been given Bernard Gregson, of St. Stephen, N.B., as the first Canadian to step ashore. In the meantime the spotlight passes over G. Pearson, an artillery driver of London, Ont., who was the first to step aboard the transport vessel as the troops embarked at the Canadian port.

The mystery surrounding the convoy which sailed into port Sunday escorted by warplanes brought hundreds of curious to the docks. Such was the secrecy surrounding the passage of the huge fleet of vessels across the Atlantic that its identity was not known until persons standing on the quayside saw the Canadian emblems on the soldiers aboard.

It was long afte rthe sun-tanned troops from the senior dominion had disembarked and started for their barracks somewhere in England that the news of the convoy's arrival was spread across the nation.

"God Bless You" Shouts Crowd

Cries of "Hello, Canada," "Welcome boys," and "God bless you," rose from the astonished crowd as the Canadians filed down the gangplanks onto the dock. The Canadi ns cheered and sang as they came ashore.

In a small, cobblestone enclosure near the dockside the men lined up as the officers of the contingent were received by an official welcoming comittee. Heading the group were Anthony Eden, the Dominions Secretary, Hon. Vincent Massey, the Canadian High Commissioner, Brigadier-General L. D. Crerar, military adviser to the Canadian government's representative at the recent empire conversations, Colonel Price Montague of Winnipeg and staff officers from the British war office and admiralty.

A message from the King, delivered by Lieut.-General Sir Charles Grant, officer commanding the Scottish command, said "The British army will be proud to have as comrades-in-arms the successors of those who came from Canada in the Great War and fought with a heroism that has never been forgotten."

General McNaughton told newspapermen that the troops had travelled across the ocean in comfort and with a feeling of safety under protection of a grand convoy.

"I'm proud of the men under my command," he said. "There's nothing of the death or glory fiction about this great army which has been raised in Canada. We look upon it as an unpleasant job which has got to be done to free the world from the threat to all that civilization means to us."

One of the men put it more simply. "Where the hell is Hitler?" he shouted as he disembarked.

Mr. Eden, who visited one of the transports, quoted a group of men as saying they had a "dandy time" during their voyage.

"I take it they thoroughly enjoyed themselves," he remarked. "They certainly looked extremely fit and well."

And they did. The young Canadians revelled in the thrills and luxury of their journey. Most of them were seeing the Atlantic for the first time and they wondered at the size of great, camouflaged transports and the massive naval escort.

Very Few Sea Sick.

Not one in a hundred of the boys was sea sick. There was little to do aboard the big transport liners and they spent much of their time appeasing young appetites sharpened by the sea air. The water all the way across was as smooth as a mill pond.

Physical training was provided to keep the soldiers in trim during the days at sea. Concerts and moving pictures provided entertainment at night.

Although lifebelts were worn continuously, respirators were kept in readiness and lights were blacked out as the vessels of the convoy knifed through the Atlantic waters at night, there was nothing of the grimness of war in the attitude of the men.

Atop the mast of the convoy leader fluttered the new Canadian headquarters flag, a white ensign bearing the Union Jack, the Maple Leaf, and the Fleur de Lis.

The flag had been dedicated before the troops embarked at Halifax in a solemn ceremony aboard one of the transport liners. First, General McNaughton received a message from Hon. Norman Rogers, the Defence Minister, wishing the troops "God-speed in your high endeavor and safe return when your task is done."

Then came the farewell message from Prime Minister McKenzie King. "You go, each one of you, through the prompting of your own heart, at the dictate of your own conscience, so that Canada may take her place at the side of Britain and France....Yours is a great crusade."

The General's reply expressed "Faith that the efforts of the British Commonwealth of our great Ally, of these who are here from Canada and those who will follow, will in the end prevail."

Confident of Reserves.

The General spoke of the effort on the home front as well as that of the forces overseas. "Our exacting requirements as regards organization have been met in full and we are assured that we may draw our weapons as we need them from the abundant reserves of the United Kingdom until such time as our Canadian industry will give us a secure base beyond the reach of enemy interference."

After the messages had been read and the flag dedicated, the officers present bowed their heads in prayer.

There were no tearful leave-takings at the waters edge as the troops embarked. Goodbyes were said before the men came to this port and only officers and dock workers were on hand as they filed up the gangplanks onto the great, grey vessels.

The time of departure had been a closely-guarded secret. For three days the men had been boarding the vessels, some of them formerly luxury liners.

Staffing all these establishments will require 2,686 officers, 30,366 airmen of other ranks, 4,929 civilians, and 1,022 works maintenance personnel.

There will be thousands of airplanes, spare engines and spare parts required, as well as photographic and bombing equipment and machine guns for training. The United Kingdom will supply most of the material needed, and many planes the British purchased in the United States will remain in Canada as school equipment.

Clubs To Boost Output

Long before the war started, the Royal Canadian Air Force and the 23 clubs of the Canadian Flying Clubs Association reached an agreement for preliminary training of R.C.A.F. recruits by club instructors and on club machine. While there has been no announcement as to how many military pilots have been thus trained, the clubs have been turning out pilots at the rate of 1,500 a year, and it was announced yesterday they could double that rate immediately with existing facilities and turn out 6,000 pilots a year within a short time if the Dominion Government wishes them to do so.

Air Vice Marshal G. M. Croil likely will be in charge of the Empire Air Training plan, Lord Riverdale, head of the British air mission said Monday as he left for England.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Penham of the Royal Air Force will remain in Ottawa in an advisory capacity, Lord Riverdale stated.

As chief of the air staff, Air Vice Marshal Croil is directly responsible to Defence Minister Rogers for administration and control of the Royal Canadian Air Force. He is 46, has had a long military career extending back to 1915 and has served in the infantry, Royal Flying Corps, the Royal Air Force and the Royal R.C.A.F.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King wired his congratulations to both candidates and in identical telegrams said the decision of the electorate "materially strengthened the hand of the government in its administration of the country's affairs at this critical time."

Pastor Is Victor.

The Saskatoon seat was won by Rev. W. G. Brown, a former Moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, defeating M. P. Hayes, Liberal. It will be the first time the new United Reform Party has been represented in parliament. The death of Dr. A. M. Young created the vacancy.

Liberals now hold 176 seats, Conservatives 39, Soc. Creditors 15, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation seven, Independent two, United Farmers of Ontario-Labor one, United Reform one, and four are vacant in the 245-seat House.

The remaining vacant seats are in Prince, P.E.I., Drummond-Arthabasca, Bonaventure and Kinderaley. A vote will be held January 8 in Prince and Finance Minister Ralston is expected to be given an acclamation as the Liberal member. The government has not set any date for the other contests.

fore going to the Western front.

The First Lord of the Admiralty disclosed the Canadian troops had been escorted across the Atlantic by "our main battle fleet."

Mr. Churchill's broadcast dealt primarily with entrapment of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee and her subsequent scuttling at Montevideo. He cited the battleship's alternatives of internment, or "coming out to fight and going down in battle which would have been honorable for her."

The German Way.

However, he added:—

"She discovered a third alternative. She came out not to fight, but to sink herself in the fairway of a neutral state from which she had received such shelter and succor as international law prescribes."

Turning to the struggle for control of the North Sea, the First Lord said British submarines had had "the best week I can remember in this, or the last war."

Then he described the exploits of the submarines Salmon and Ursula, credited with putting out of action three German cruisers, sinking at least one. To the Salmon's credit also was the sinking of a German submarine, earlier in the week.

Mr. Churchill said the Salmon last Thursday sighted the German fleet "proceeding to sea on one of its rare excursions" and fired six torpedoes at a cruiser squadron escorting German battleships.

A previous Admiralty announcement identified the battleships as the Scharnhorst and Gneisenua and one of the two 10-ton sisterships of sunken pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee—the Deutschland, or the Admiral Scheer. The cruisers were said to have included the 10,000-ton Admiral Hipper and Bluecher and the 6,000-ton Leipzig.

Mr. Churchill said torpedoes hit two of the cruisers, including the 6,000-ton vessel.

Out of Action Months

"These cruisers may have been able to limp home, although that is by no means certain in the case of one of them, and when they have reached home they will be out of action for many a long month," Mr. Churchill said.

Also on Thursday, the submarine Ursula reported she sank a 6,000-ton cruiser of the Koln class, "although it was surrounded by no fewer than six German destroyers," the First Lord added.

"This, a considerable proportion of the total German cruiser strength was put out of action in a single week. And that, the same week in which on almost the other side of the globe the pocket battleship Graf Spee met her inglorious end.

"Many vexatious tasks lie before the Royal Navy and before its comrades in the Merchant Navy, and as I always warn you, rough and violent times lie ahead.

"But everything that has happened since the beginning of this war could give the nation confidence that in the end difficulties will be surmounted, the problems solved and duty done."

PETERBOROUGH FIRST IN CITIES OVER 20,000 IN TAX PAYMENTS

Only Two Cities Have Better Payment Record

Of all the cities in Ontario in excess of 20,000 population, Peterborough stood first last year in point of the percentage of payment of current taxes.

And of all urban centres in the province its statistical position in payment of taxes was exceeded only by Galt and Woodstock.

That, however, was for 1938. The treasury department at the city hall is now concerned about the percentage of the 1939 payment when the books are closed for the turning over of the page into 1940.

Percentage of taxes paid is one of the cornerstones of municipal credit and an evidence of the financial soundness of the community.

It is an asset directly relating to and depending on all the citizens, not only in achieving that position but also in the possible results that may fflow from it.

For example, if some industrial firm was lookin gfor a factory location it is bound to be interested in the city's percentage of taxes paid in the current year, and indication of the people's ability to pay their obligations to the municipality, and generally a sign of civic strength.

Why Wait Until 1940?

Mayor Hamilton and City Treasurer Shaver were discussing this aspect of the city's finances this morning, and it may be that an appeal will be made to the loyalty of ratepayers urging all citizens who can do so to make a special effort to pay outstanding taxes for 1939 before the year ends.

Here is one way the situation appeared to them in this brief table of recent statistics of the percentage of tax collections for the last three years:

1937	89.4 %
1938	90.41
1939	????

Mr. Shaver expressed some doubt as to whether the payment of taxes due this year will be equal to 90.41 per cent of 1938.

"Collection of taxes in the years in which they were due dropped to 83.35 per cent in 1933," Mr. Shaver said. "That was at the peak of the depression. Since then Peterborough's position has been steadily improving until last year we hit 90.41 per cent."

That effort placed Peterborough ahead of all cities in the province with a population of 20,000 or more.

Now, the question at the city hall this morning was simply this,—can Peterborough repeat for 1939, and retain the position it has held this year.

Some taxpayers let the settlement of their accounts with the city run into the new year, deferring until then payments that probably could have just as conveniently been made in December, and thereby becoming credited to the current year's collection.

Official opinion this morning was that "it could be done," the peak of last year could at least be equalled if citizens who can make last minute tax payments will do so in the spirit of civic loyalty that will make an effort to keep Peterborough out in front.

Germany sent more than 20,000 piano accordions to the United States in the last year.

Obituary

MRS. THOMAS SMILEY.

The death of Mrs. Thomas Smiley occurred on Monday at her residence at 112 Hunter Street East.

Mrs. Smiley was a member of Mark Street United Church and an ardent worker in its missionary society. She was widely known here and had a wide circle of friends. She was born in Lanark County, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moore.

Surviving is her husband, Thomas Smiley, and one sister, Miss F. Moore of Hamilton.

The remains are resting at the Funeral Home of A. Comstock & Sons, 305 Water Street, until Wednesday at noon. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Mark Street United Church, Rev. E. W. Rowland officiating. Interment will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Team, Wagon Struck By Car

Vincent Strain, driver of a team of horses, had a narrow escape from injury on the Chemong road Monday afternoon when the wagon on which he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Hickey, Rubidge street.

Strain, driver for James Young, R.R. 2, escaped unhurt but a wheel was knocked off the wagon by the impact. It was the second occasion on which a wagon belonging to Young had been struck by an automobile on the same hill.

The accident happened when Hickey who was driving toward Peterborough met a northbound car driven by Herb. Hamlin, Smith township. In attempting to pass Hickey's car came into contact with the rear of the horse-drawn vehicle.

A Second Accident

Soon after Traffic Officers Broughton and McClure had investigated that accident they had another traffic mishaps to deal with when William Sanderson of Omemee in turning off the Chemong Road to take the road to Lindsay hit a tree on the side of the highway. He missed the obstacle by inches with the front of the automobile but the rearend slid around and crashed into the tree, causing considerable damage to the vehicle.

Sanderson was not hurt and the three girl students who were passengers in his car also escaped uninjured.

Lindsay Asks For Airfield

LINDSAY, Dec. 19 (ENS).—Mayor Claxton announced to-day that officials from the Department of National Defence would visit Lindsay within a week to inspect local sites with a view to the establishment of an air field near this town. The Mayor headed a deputation which visited Ottawa a few days ago. He reports that the local group placed the local situation before the Department, and received with much courtesy. Sites were examined and options secured so that something definite could be secured. "The Council is putting forth every effort to get an air field for Lindsay, and we are optimistic of success," said Mayor Claxton.

Mayor Claxton has issued a proclamation proclaiming Tuesday, December 26, Boxing Day.

Thursday Been Set Final Mailing Date

To assure delivery by Christmas, letters and parcels to local destination must be mailed by Thursday night, Postmaster Charles Lacheur said. Otherwise in the crush of work they may be held over until the day after Christmas. For delivery in points in Ontario and Quebec by Christmas letters and parcels must be shipped by Wednesday night.

A special service this year is the air-mail delivery. Mr. Lacheur said that a great many people are using this new medium of sending parcels and greeting cards at a later date than is otherwise possible. Parcels may also be sent marked special delivery, at a later date than would be possible otherwise. Such parcels, or letters, are sent out by messenger immediately on arrival in the city of their destination.

Band Of Lions Club Pays A "Dividend"

The Lions Club gave a Christmas party at the Kawartha Club last night for that promising creation of theirs, the Lions Boys' Band, and received in return the intangible reward of hearing the boys play several numbers with a smoothness and precision that demonstrated substantial progress in music for the comparatively short time this junior organization has been in existence.

The band is now composed of twenty-nine boys, twenty-six of whom were present at the delightfully informal dinner, and it had already reached the stage of experience in which four of its original players have been attracted to two other local groups. The loss of this quartette was something of a setback, but it had to be taken in stride. Two new boys from Lakefield, Albert and Ramsay Hopkins, are only beginners, and it is related of them as an example of their interest that they generally have to "hitch hike" to band practice and home again.

Gift To Leader

The boys presented their leader, Will Forde, with an address expressing their appreciation of his teaching and direction, read by Bernard Hamlin, and Don Dorsett presented him with a Christmas gift of a pair of winter gloves.

Mr. Forde's work was also recognized by the Club in a short address by Jack Armitage and the presentation of a cheque by Errol Clarke, president of the Lions. And on behalf of the Club, Max Swanston presented each of the boys with a gift souvenir of what was virtually their first Christmas party.

"The Club is proud of you boys and the way you are holding together and studying," Mr. Swanston said, "and we want you to feel proud of yourselves, and to build up that spirit of comradeship that will keep you going along the road of accomplishment. It is not an easy thing to get a boys' band together, but all we are asking of you is to be prompt and regular in attending the practices, study your music and your instruments, and do your best to carry out the instructions of Mr. Forde. We feel that you are doing that, and we hope you are going to make advancement this winter. The Club also appreciates the interest shown by your fathers, especially in the practical work they did in fixing up the new practice room."

Leader's Appreciation

In acknowledging the band's gift Mr. Forde briefly said: 'Thank you very much boys. I hope this feeling will continue in the way we have begun. I'll try to do my part."

And to the Lions he replied: "I am not concerned only about the progress of the boys in their music, although that is our main object. There is the development of the boys themselves. Boys work is a wonderful thing, helping to bring out the best that is in them. There is the musical side to it, and there is also the moral, and I know we shall all be happy in helping the boys to become fine young men."

Jack Marshall conducted a quiz interlude for prizes of four passes to the Regent Theatre won by Arthur Church, Fred Shepherd, Don Pagett and Don Forde. Other numbers were entertaining imitations by Wilfred Galvin and a tap dance by Irvine Parnell, but the band's selections played for the Club audience and the fathers of some of the boys were the feature of the program. They also sang "Silent Night" with accompaniment by Don Forde on his piano accordion, and as an extra "Home On the Range."

The Lions boys' band is already a well knit company of bright youngsters, teenage boys, although several seem hardly to have reached those years. The fact that they have been brought together and overcome the bristling difficulties of learning to play the many instruments, a complete brass section, wood wind group, drums and triangle, is an earnest of what they are likely to acomplish from now on.

It is no secret that when the boys had to vacate their first practice room in the old South Central School, they came close to breaking up. That obstacle was disheartening to everybody, because obviously central headquarters are essential. At that stage the fathers got together, and appealed to the Lions not to give up. They particularly mentioned the new interest the boys had acquired, a helpful, constructive agency for good in the formulative stage of their lives. And the decision of the Club was that they simply would not let go and abandon the youngsters. Noel Rishor, one of the Club members, provided a suitable room in the building at the northeast corner of George and Dalhousie street, and fathers of the boys formed themselves into a helpful auxiliary. The spacious room was equipped for practices, Mr. Forde was enlisted as teacher and director, and so the work has gone on without interruption.

Jack Marshall played the piano accompaniments for several choruses concluding with Auld Lang Syne and O Canada. One of the little evidences of the manner in which the Lions have taken the boys under their wings, even if lions haven't wings, was seen in the assembly in the Kawartha lounge, and the march into the dining hall each of the members accompanied by one of the boys. Dinner was preceded by the singing of God Save the King.

The present members of the band are: Jack Vannest, 20 Park street; Norm Manley, 24 Brown street; Bob Reid, 608 Chamberlain street; Gerald and Don Pagett, 614 Chamberlain street; Bob Menzies, 588 Chamberlain; Gordon Lee, 43 Alfred street.

Menzie McLaren, 200 Antrim street; Fred Shepherd, Alfred street; Albert and Ramsey Hopkins, Lakefield; Hugh Brightman, 269 Reid street; Reg. Burns, 479 Albert street; Joe and Al Caddigan, 282 Edinburgh street; Arthur Church, 227 Edison avenue; B. Crowe, 45 Alfred street.

60 Families Receiving Relief From City Will Require Christmas Baskets This Year

Relief Officer Metheral's customary preparations for the celebration of Christmas in quite a number of homes are falling behind the usual generous response from kind hearted citizens who like to help in making others a little happier.

Mr. Metheral is becoming disturbed about the filling of baskets for approximately sixty families who have not yet been assigned to churches, societies, factories and other organizations.

Perhaps it is this lingering of autumn in the pathway of winter with a consequent absence of snow from the local scene of pine trees and bare fields. Or, because the number of families on relief is fewer than a year ago, there may be an opinion that the Christmas need has declined.

Mr. Metheral told the Examiner today that he is apprehensive of ample provision coming from citizens for sixty Christmas hampers, and for that reason he is making an appeal through the Examiner to citizens for their help with contributions of cash or foodstuffs as soon as possible this week.

Substantial help can be given by citizens telephoning Mr. Metheral and undertaking to supply complete Christmas baskets. It seems a paradox that with generally improved local conditions as reflected by the decrease in the relief roll there should be a greater need for help to make Christmas cheer as generous as last year, but Mr. Metheral told the Examiner that it is a fact.

Gifts Exchanged By Rotarians At Annual Christmas Party

The exchange of Christmas Gifts in the form of toys which afterward found their way to Miss Rachel Young superintendent of the Children's Air Society for distribution among needy children at Yuletide was a feature of the most enjoyable Christmas party staged by the Peterborough Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel at noon Monday. The Rotarians were divided into pairs and the gifts they had brought were handed around and opened amid general merriment.

Thanks to the generosity of Rotarian Chris Graham whose guests the ladies were, the members of the club had their wives with them to participate in the annual party. A complete Christmas menu that included turkey and plum pudding was expertly served as the fitting beginning to an enjoyable program.

Community singing of well-known Christmas carols under the direction of John Smith as song-leader and George Nicholls at the piano followed the repast.

President E. L. Sackville in his opening address expressed appreciation of Rotarian Chris Graham's kindness in having the ladies present as his guests. He also thanked Miss Clarry and her chorus for contributing to the program.

President Sackville said that the thoughts of Rotarians this Christmas went out to club members in other lands where there was not the peace and happiness found in Canada at the present time.

Musical Program.

A double quartette from the choir of Trinity church, under the direction of Miss Mabel F. Clarry, who was at the piano contributed two groups of Christmas songs to the program. The numbers were "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "A Virgin Unspotted", "Lo, How the Rose," "Nativity Song," "I Saw Three Ships" and "Silent Night," and all six were given an effective rendition by the choristers whose singing was greatly appreciated by the Rotarians and their guests. The members of the ensemble were Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Mrs. R. Nicholls, Miss Isobel Duthie, Miss Margaret Wolstenholme, Lloyd Hale, W. E. Wolfe, T. Mitchell and Rotarian Mac Gordon.

Door Prize Winner.

A draw for three door prizes conducted by Rotarian F. C. Paterson, chairman of the program committee for December resulted in the following winners.

First Prize—A ham, donated by Gordon S. Matthews and Ron. McGrath—won by Mrs. Ian McRae.

Second Prize— A cameo broach donated by Stan. C. Warne and won by Mrs. Dobbin, aged mother of Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin whose yearly visit to the annual party is always a feature.

Third Prize— A box of Elizabeth Arden toiletries donated by J. W. McDermid—won by Mrs. Peter Westbye.

Rotarian Ross Dobbin expressed the thanks of Rotary to Past President Chris. Graham for the manner in which the club was looked after in the matter of luncheon meals. 'That is why the Peterborough Club has the reputation of being the best-fed Rotary club" the speaker said in presenting Rotarian Graham with a travelling case as a mark of the appreciaton of the club members.

In reply Rotarian Graham said that it had been a pleasure for his staff and himself to look after the Rotarians and to have the Rotary ladies present for the annual Christmas party.

Rotarian George C. Easton, then announced the exchange of Christmas toys among the Rotarians present and the very happy gathering was brought to a joyous end.

JUST A COMMENT.

Should it come about that the ratepayers decide to carry on with the present Council, one of the aldermen remarked that it would seem advisable to dispense with the vote on the two by-laws. His comment was that nothing but an expression of opinion was obtained from the wine shop question, that it carried no sanction, and as to the pedestrian bridge it could be deferred for a year or the Council might be able to appropriate the money out of the 1940 tax funds and thereby avoid the selling of debentures.

MOVE TO NEW BUILDING

It was reported today that Confederation Life Assurance Company was moving from the Dominion Bank building to the new Rishor building on Charlotte street, already occupied on the ground floor by the A & P store. It was also said that Simpson's were transferring their local headquarters to the same building, occupying the small store adjoining A & P. London Life Company, it was said, will also be a tenant of offices upstairs, and Consolidated Optical Company are also taking an office.

CONDITION UNCHANGED.

Condition of Adelbert Wagar, 253 Wolfe Street, was reported by Nicholls Hospital to be "just about the same" to-day. He was the driver of the truck in which his brother, Gordon Wagar, and another youth, were killed on Friday when struck by a train. Surviving Gordon Wagar are his mother, Mrs. Luella Wagar, Adelbert and Wallace, both at home, and three sisters, Mrs. Fred LaFrance of Wolfe Island, Mrs. Clifford Hunt of Campbellford, and Miss Luella Wagar, at home.

DIVORCE ACTION CONTESTED.

The contested divorce trial of Mrs. Gladys Cox of Peterborough versus Garnet Cox, both of Peterborough, was tried all day today before Mr. Justice Roche in the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario. The case continued at this afternoon's session. Also slated for hearing were two actions against the village of Havelock, brought as a result of alleged falls suffered on icy streets there; also an action, Wood vs. Peterborough; and several divorce actions. Motions were heard yesterday afternoon in reference to three other divorces.

Young Man Goes Beserk; Wrecks Property

Apparently crazed from drink, a young man terrorized a number of folk in the McDonnel street sector Monday night and left a wake of wrecked property before he was taken into custody by police.

The trouble started in the Collegiate Institute building when caretaker Fred Griffith found the young man in the teachers' room upstairs trying to do some telephoning. The caretaker grappled with the intruder and had his glasses broken in the struggle. Then he locked the door of the room and telephoned for the police.

When Constables Piercy and Clarke arrived on the scene, however, they found the bird had flown. He had torn the telephone off the wall and then made his exit through a lavatory window, siding down a drain pipe two storeys to the ground.

Invades Apartment

The next act came in the apartment of Mrs. H. O. Fiske at 204 McDonnel street. There was no one home in the Fiske apartment when the drink-crazed young man found his way into the summer kitchen at the rear and started in to wreck the place. He broke six panes of glass in a kitchen window and then set fire to a mop which he was waving around like a torch when Graeme Falkner who occupied the upstair apartment and heard the commotion came down to investigate, armed with a service revolver and a flashlight. Falkner seized the burning mop from the intruder and chased him out of the back door. Then he put in a call for the police and a second instalment of officers headed for 204 McDonnel street.

A minute or so later Sergt. G. T. Puffer on duty at the police station received a phone call that a drunken man had invaded the residence of Blake Tucker, 195 London street and had refused to leave.

The information was broadcast to the two police cars over the radio and Constable Piercy and Traffic Officer Lloyd A. McClure went to the Tucker home and arrested the young man, after a struggle.

When he was searched at the police station, a copy of Goldsmith's "The Vicar of Wakefield," bearing the name on the front page of the young daughter of Judge Smoke, who is a pupil at the Collegiate Institute was found in his pocket along with a list of examination dates.

This morning John Hill, 25, of Dublin street, was charged before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., with having been drunk Monday night and with causing wilful damage to the Collegiate Institute building and to the apartment of Mrs. Fiske.

He pleaded guilty to all three charges and told the magistrate that he had nothing to say.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., explaining the circumstances in the case, asked for a short remand in order that the amount of damages done might be ascertained. Magistrate Langley remanded the accused until Wednesday morning.

25 Workers Added At Post Office

This year's Christmas mail from Peterborough promises to be one of the heaviest in many years, according to Postmaster Charles Lacheur, who said today that already vast numbers of parcels are on their way through the mails.

An additional 25 workers have been placed on the post office staff here to meet the rush of work—some of them as clerks and some on heavy routes. In all Ontario 8,300 additional workers have been hired. There is every indication that the mail this Christmas will far exceed that which went through the office last year, Mr. Lacheur said.

Royal Tour Film To Be Shown

Peterborough folk are to have an opportunity during the last three days of this week to see the official government pictures of the Royal Tour of Canada and at the same time to assist materially the Canadian Red Cross Society. The remarkable picture is to be shown at the Capitol Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and a substantial slice of the proceeds will be donated to the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross.

The official film of the visit of Their Majesties to Canada early last summer is a wonderful record of that great tour and in the larger cities where it has already been shown it has attracted huge crowds of patrons. It is impossible to view the picture without a keener appreciation, not only of the striking personalities of the King and Queen but of the extent and beauty of Canada for the screen reproduction of the Royal visit takes in every part of the Dominion.

The outstanding features of the trip across Canada have been pictured in a manner that gives the theatre audience a better opportunity to study the details of the pageant than if they had actually been present and the picture is a revelation in the quality of its photography. It is one of those films that no one can afford to miss.

Car Breaks Off 12 Guard Posts

Failing to make the turn from the Chemong Road on to No. 7 Highway, a car driven by Charles Pogue, 34, of Fenelon Falls crashed into a guard fence late Monday night and smashed off more than a dozen posts. The automobile was badly damaged but Pogue escaped uninjured.

He was arrested after the accident by Provincial Traffic Officers Broughton and McClure and this morning before Magistrate O. A. Langley he pleaded not guilty to charges of dangerous and drunken driving.

Pogue asked for an adjournment and as the crown was not ready to go on this morning there was a remand until tomorrow with the understanding that there will then be a further remand for a week. Bail was fixed at $1,000.

Mrs. Lydia Long Observes 93rd Birthday

Mrs. Lydia Long, 93, is confident she'll live to see the day when Hitlerism is wiped out and Britain brings a triumphant conclusion to World War II.

Yesterday Mrs. Long, who lives at 799 George Street, celebrated her 93rd birthday and gave a big party for her friends. Included among the guests were her sisterin-law, Mrs. Jane Hinchcliffe, who will be 91 on on January 27 next, and her brother-in-law, James Long, who is in his 89th year.

The three elderly people came to Canada from Wiltshire, England, 70 years ago. Mrs. Hinchcliffe and Mrs. Long (Then Lydia Turner) came first and made their home in Smith Township where their relatives were early pioneers. James Long came a year later. She married him in Peterborough and they farmed in Harvey Township for a number of years, later moving to Strathcona, Alberta. She came east in 1928, and is making her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jordan. Of eight children born to her, six are living. They are Mrs. Samuel Jordan and William Long, both of Peterborough, and Bert, Art, Mrs. W. Beaumont, and Mrs. A. Turnbull, all of Alberta. Mrs. Turnbull is visiting in Peterborough at the present time, and was at her mother's party yesterday. A nephew is Dr. H. J. Long of Peterborough.

In full possession of all her faculties, Mrs. Long is able to enjoy life still. She has a vivid memory and can recall in minute detail her crossing of the Atlantic Ocean 70 years ago. She can recall, too, the rough trip it was over corduroy roads to Peterborough.

She is fond of motoring, and last summer took a 240-mile trip by automobile. She has never been back to England in all the time she has lived in Canada. Once she planned to go back for a visit, but the World War I. broke out, and she had to cancel her plans.

Doctor, Divorcee Found Slain Following Party

NEW MADRID, Mo., Dec. 19.—(AP).—Investigation of the ice-pick slaying of a wealthy country doctor and a middle-aged divorcee whose body was crammed in the trunk of his automobile proceeded slowly today as officers attempeted to pick up the trail of the couple after they left a party Friday night.

Victims of the mysterious attack were Dr. J. P. Vickery, well-to-do Steele, Mo., physician and landowner, and Mrs. France Murphy, a farm woman, living near Steele. Dr. Vickery was about 60 years old and Mrs. Murphy about 45.

Their bodies, bearing stab wounds and the marks of severe beatings, were discovered Saturday in Dr. Vickery's car, which was hidden from view behind one of the dikes that protect this Missouri "boot-heel" village from Mississippi River floods.

Two felt hats found in the car offered the only clue. The newer one was identified as belonging to Dr. Vickery, but a close relative who visited the scene said he did not recognize the other one.

Coroner L. A. Richards Jr., said the couple had been dead twelve to fifteen hours, which would have placed the hour of the murder at some time after midnight.

Both had been slugged in the face then stabbed numerous times with a sharp instrument, presumed to be an icepick or one of Dr. Vickery's surgical instruments.

There was no sign of a struggle and officers believed they were murdered by robbers, who then drove them to the secluded spot.

DOROTHY DIX

Lovers' Quarrels Often Lead To Years Of Unhappiness When One, In a Fit Of Pique, Marries Another Whom He Does Not Love.

DEAR MISS DIX—Every one claims a girl should keep herself decent and pure for the man she will eventually marry. I have believed this and abided by it, and this is what happened to me: I am 19 and have been engaged to a young man for the last four months. We have had several quarrels during this time, but always made up. A few weeks ago we had a misunderstanding and split up. In his anger he proposed to another girl, but three days before the date of his marriage to her he came to my parents and said that he did not love the girl and would not marry her, that he loved me and wanted to marry me. This was explained to the girl and her parents, but they held him to this engagement to marry her, though he still protest-that he loved me and that he did not want to marry her. But the marriage DID take place and now what have I gained?—A.M.A.

ANSWER:

Probably when a girl is only 19 and in love and her sweetheart has gone off and married another girl in a fit of pique, her poor little brains are so addled and her heart so hurt that she could not be expected to look at any situation dispassionately.

If you could see the whole matter clearly, you would realize that you are the lucky one in this tragic triangle, and that the high-tempered boy and the anxious-to-marry girl are the ones to be pitied. They have wrecked their lives, and if you had wished to avenge yourself upon them you could have planned no crueler punishment than they have brought upon themselves in their marriage. No man can be more miserable than the one who loves one woman and is married to another and who knows that he has brought his unhappy fate upon himself by his own folly. Nor can any woman be more wretched than the one who knows that she has forced a man into marrying her when he loves another woman and did not want to marry her, and who feels in his every look and word and deed the hatred and contempt he has for her.

Such a couple have no chance of making their marriage a success or of it bringing them anything but bitter regret. It seems to me that you made a very fortunate escape in not marrying this young man who must be as weak as water if he let the girl and her parents put over such a deal on him. If he had the backbone of a jellyfish when he came out of his tantrum and realized what he had done, he would have refused to be coerced into taking a wife whom he did not want.

Nor can I see what happiness you could have had in a marriage with a man with whom you were always quarreling even before marriage, and who has a temper that is virtual insanity. You seem to think, though goodness knows why, that your being a good girl was the cause of the boy marrying the other girl because he was angry at you, but that is ridiculous. Your morals had nothing to do with the case. The whole sorry mess is the result of the boy's temper.

And you ask: "What have I gained by keeping myself decent?" To that I answer: Some of the greatest things in the world. Integrity. A clear conscience. Your own self-respect and the respect of all who know you. And when you do find some better man than the one you have lost and marry him, you will not have to live in dread of your husband finding out about your past.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am very much in love with a girl who loves me, but here is the thing that makes me hesitate about marrying her: I have been brought up in a home in which the women were all good housekeepers. My mother and sisters are all good cooks, the house is spotlessly clean and in order, everything in its place. Now this girl I love doesn't seem to care how her home looks. The furniture is always dusty, the rugs always need sweeping, everything is topsy-turvy and no one ever knows where to find anything. If this girl would be just a good, clean housekeeper, she would be the greatest girl in the world, but do you think I will be happy with a girl of this kind, and if I would be ashamed to take anybody home with me?—JAMES.

ANSWER:

Marrying her would be taking a big risk, but, of course, the girl might reform her ways, or you might be so much in love with her that you could shut your eyes to her sloppy housekeeping.

But neither chances are very good, because a girl who has been brought up by a slovenly mother with slovenly habits is pretty sure to think it is a waste of time and effort to sweep under the bed, or hang up clothes. Nor is it likely that the man who has been reared in a spic-and-span home can ever accustom himself to one that looks as if a cyclone had just passed through it. As a matter of fact, men put more stress on neatness and cleanliness than women do. Men are a lot more particular about their collars being clean than women are about their own neckwear being immaculate, and there is no fault that men cannot condone in women easier than they can their being slovenly in their appearance and in their housekeeping.

After all, if there is any happiness in marriage, we must find it in our homes. And so I should certainly advise a man to think long and carefully before he married a girl whose housekeeping would get continually on his nerves.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Would you advise a couple who love children and want them but who can never have any of their own to adopt a baby? If so, where can I get information concerning how to go about it?—MRS. R. J. M.

ANSWER:

I think it a fine and beautiful thing for people whose hearts hunger after children to adopt a baby and give the poor little creature a name and a home and a father's and mother's love. In every city there are orphanages and child-finding societies where you can get all the information you wish on how to go about getting a baby.

DOROTHY DIX.

Trent's Grand Old Man John Lawson Marks Ninety-First Birthday

TRENT RIVER, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The oldest and most highly esteemed resident, John Lawson, reached the advanced age of 91 years Monday, December 18.

Born in Prince Edward county in 1848, he came with his parents to Trent River when eleven years of age and has lived continuously on the same farm, 14th Concession, Seymour township, about a mile east of Trent Bridge. First he lived in a log shanty and helped his father, Isaac J. Lawson, to clear the land.

Mr. Lawson has followed farming all his life and recalls the early days when he had to carry a bag of wheat on his back to the mill, one mile distant, and there make the trip by canoe or row boat to Hastings village (9 miles), where the wheat was ground into flour. The trip in winter was made by ox-cart.

Coarse grain was hand-flailed and taken to Marmora (17 miles) by oxen, taking a whole day to make the journey. The grain was sold to Gilmour and Rathbun Lumber Company for shanty purposes. Mr. Lawson remembers the time they made 1000 pounds of maple sugar one year which sold for 10 cents a pound. All fruit was preserved with maple sugar.

When clearing the land, ashes were saved and leached and boiled into potash which sold from $6 to $7 a hundred. They took quantities to Healey Falls (7 miles) and traded for goods.

Mrs. George Barr has been visiting her brother, M. Gallagher, whose wife is at present in Nicholls Hospital suffering with chronic asthma. Friends here wish for Mrs. Gallagher, a speedy recovery.

Dutch Demand Prisoner Freed

THE HAGUE, Dec. 19.—(AP) — Prime Minister Dirk Jan De Geer disclosed today the Netherlands Government had asked Germany to release a chauffeur seized in a border incident at Venloo November 9 and to return the body of a Netherland army officer slain in the encounter.

The Government "has asked the German government for full satisfaction," he said in reply to a question from a Nazi member of parliament. He made no mention of two Britons abducted by the German Gestapo in the Venloo incident.

Considerable mystery surrounded the Venloo clash until the German Gestapo announced November 22 it had seized two British intelligence officers—Capt. Richard Henry Stevens and Sigismund Payne Best, supposedly in connection with the November 8 bomb attempt on Adolf Hitler's life.

The seizure, according to neutral sources, was made on Netherlands soil.

A Netherlands officer, a lieutenant Klop, assigned to accompany the Britons, was reported killed in the clash and their chauffeur, J. Lemmens, captured.

Women Urged To Promote World Peace

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19. —(ENS)—Refraining from gossip, forgiveness and prayer were the three ways in which women could best contribute towards bringing about peace on earth, according to Mrs. M. E. R. Boudrea who delivered an interesting paper on that subject before members of the Seymour East Women's Institute at the final meeting of the year. A decidedly Christmas atmosphere was created in the home of Mrs. John Rannie where the meeting was held. The living room and entrance halls were all appropriately decorated with evergreen and other seasonable decorations. The president, Mrs. Jesse Locke, presided for the meeting which opened with a short business period during which it was decided the members would call upon the local branch of the Red Cross Society for supplies at the beginning of the new year. Several pairs of sox were handed in at the meeting.

When it was drawn to the attention of members that a family in the neighborhood was in need of assistance arrangements were made to supply them with a Christmas basket. A report of the fall convention which had been slated for the meeting was cancelled and Mrs. Alex Milne gave a short paper on "The Duties of Officers."

Exchange of Gifts

An exchange of home made gifts including such items as hot pan holders, word baskets, aprons and centre pieces was a pleasing feature of the meeting. Others items on the program included a vocal solo by Miss Laura Third, and a period of community singing of Christmas Carols for which Miss Elsie Rannie presided at the piano. Misses Doris Locke and Jean Murray demonstrated packing a week-end bag which was among the projects taken up by the Junior Branch of the Institute.

In her opening remarks on the subject, "How Can Canadian Women Bring About Peace on Earth," Mrs. Boudreau declared it was hard to think of peace on earth when wars were raging all around the world. "I suppose that those of us who profess to be Christians realize that the Christmas Peace is one which the world cannot give or take away. It is only as men come to have the peace of God in their hearts that there is any hope of peace on earth among the nations.

"There are three ways in which women can promote peace. First of these is by refraining from idle gossip. I suppose there is nothing women do that creates more strife than the tales women carry from one to the other. Sometimes these tales are true. More often they are untrue. Even if they are true is it always necessary to repeat the unkind things we hear? Women exercise a great influence on both husbands and children. Children are particularly susceptible to the mother's influence which sometimes includes such traits as envy, spite and snobbishness. We must, if we want real peace, teach our children that it is not what we have but what we are that really counts. It is up to each one of us in our own little homes to work diligently to make this a safe world for our children to grow up in. It can never be anything but what the mothers and wives of men make it. It is, always has been and always will be in the hands of women to make or mar the world."

Natural To Forgive

"Forgiveness is another way to peace. It is not a natural thing to forgive. We need supernatural power to love our enemies. Sometimes, however, it is harder to forgive a friend than an enemy. The deepest hurts always come from those whom we love. Women can and must try to save the world where men have failed even at the risk of being called romantic or scoffed at as a bunch of sentimentalizing women. We must begin working at once on a plan that will promote a lasting peace.

"The third way to promote peace is by prayer which will also help us to carry out the former two ways. If every woman had been faithful in prayer and even yet if every woman would spend fifteen minutes a day in prayer we would not have to worry further about peace. Women are today the chosen servants of God to win victory. Everywhere the record rings with trumpet calls to action—God challenges us to great endeavours. The challenge has been given and if we do not heed we will be called to answer and give an account of our neglect. If we really want peace let us teach our children to love, let us forgive those who have trespassed against us and above all let us pray."

France is demobilizing fathers of more than two children.

Tiny British Submarine Makes Daring Raid On German Fleet

The British Admiralty has announced that the small 540-ton submarine Ursula, LOWER, built for coastal work, made a daring raid on a portion of the German fleet off the mouth of the Elbe River in Heligoland Bight. The Ursula is reported to have sunk a German cruiser of the Koln class, such as the German cruiser Koln, pictured TOP.

Apsley Men's Club Holds War Concert

APSLEY, Dec. 19. —(ENS). —The Men's committee to the War Service Club, of the Apsley district started their activities on Wednesday evening by holding a dance in the Parish Hall. A good crowd enjoyed the evening of dancing to the music of Sid McCauly's orchestra. The sum of $10 was netted for funds to be spent on yarn, etc.

United Church Concert.

The United Church Sunday School held their supper and concert in the St. George's Hall on Friday evening. Afterwards the concert was held as follows:

Chorus by the Sunday School; Dialogue by the Primer Class; Chairman's address by Rev. R. McMullen; Recitations by Betty Lean, Rodger Tucker, M. Tucker; selection by the Choir; recitation by Mary Scott; dialogue, T Mean Trick by Gerald Tucker, Doreen Hales. Warsaw Institute Plans War Work

WARSAW, Dec. 19 (ENS).—Mrs. O. B. McIlvena opened her home to Warsaw Women's Institute on Thursday afternoon when there was a good gathering, including some new members and visitors. The president, Mrs. Thomas Cooper, presided. The president reported that representatives of all church had been interviewed regarding war work, and all are willing that the work done go to headquarters through the Institute, with each organization to gets its full credit. The United Church donated $2.00, Mrs. Wilkinson $1.00, and Mrs. D. Taylor $1.00.

Miss Lois Clysdale gave a splendid report of the W.I. convention in Toronto at which she was delegate.

The Institute will hold an "At Home" in the Town Hall, with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Roland Payne. Mrs. Arthur Payne, Mrs. Luther Payne, Mrs. McIlvena, Mrs. T. Cooper, Mrs. W. Anderson, Vivian Jackson. There was some discussion over catering for the hockey boys' dance. Miss Lenore McIlvena, accompanied on the piano by her mother, sang "Just an old Dusty Trunk in the Garret."

Mrs. Sutton Entertains Institute At Cavan

CAVAN, Dec. 19—(ENS).—Mrs. M. Sutton and her daughter, Miss Josie Sutton were hostesses to the Cavan Women's Institute, at their home in Millbrook on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Donald Tinney being absent, the vice president, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, presided. Fifteen members responded to the roll call whose topic was "A Christmas Dainty". During the business period they arranged to send Christmas cards to the shut-ins and to send cheer to a needy family. All members were requested to leave their contribution of food or clothing with Mrs. K. Braithwaite or Mrs. Lloyd Sutton.

Mrs. E. Ball, a visitor at the meeting read a very interesting paper on "Christmas". Mrs. Kennedy led in community singing. Tickets were sold on a quilt which the institute has made. Lunch was served by Mrs. L. Sutton's Group and a very pleasant social time was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Matchett and Archie visited friends at Mount Horeb on Thursday.

Miss Mary Armstrong, nurse-in-training at Nicholl's hospital, Peterborough is at present in Toronto taking a two month's course at the Sick Children's Hospital, as part of her three year's training.

OMEMEE

Ladies' Aid Holds Pot Luck Supper

OMEMEE, Dec. 19. —(ENS) —The Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's church held an enjoyable social gathering Thursday in the form of a "pot luck" supper.

During the summer and fall a travelling shirt was circulated among the members and their friends, on this shirt patches were sewn containing contributions. At the supper which was held in the church basement Thursday, the patches were judged. First prize for the neatest patch was awarded to Miss Alta Moncrief, second to Mrs. D. Belch. The judges were Mrs. R. M. Patterson, Mrs. G. Ruth and Miss E. Curry.

A generous sum of money was realized.

Fallis Line L.O.L. Names Officers

MILLBROOK, Dec. 19—(ENS).—L. O. L. No. 40, of Fallis Line, which goes back for well over the century mark in continuous history as one of the outstanding Orange Lodges of the East Durham district, has elected the following officers for 1940:

W. M. Brother S. Morton; D. M., Brother Hugh Blair; chaplain, Brother William Lynn; R. S., Brother Wilfrid Fallis; fin. secr., Brother Austin Sutton; treasurer, Brother N. Belch; mashall, Brother Roy Ferren; lecturers, Brothers Clifford Fallis, Leonard Porter; committeemen, Brothers L. Porter, S. Fallis, L. Henderson, John Lunn.

Speeches followed the installation by Worshipful Brother Sweeting, District Master, and among those who spoke was Brother William Blair, of Toronto, Past Master of Nasseau L. O. L. No. 4, who with other brethren from that city motored down for the annual meeting.

The service of lunch completed the evening; L. O. L. No. 40 was instituted on September 15, 1830, hence this was the 109th annual gathering.

Preceptory Officers.

The Royal Black Preceptory, No. 945, elected its officers for another year, the installation ritual being carried through by Sir Knights George Porter, Arthur Holden, and Arthur Ritchie, of Peterborough. The list includes:

Wor. Preceptor, Sir Knight Percy Stinson; Deputy-preceptor, Sir Knight Wilbert Fallis, Registrar, Sir Knight Delbert Olan; financial secretary, Sir Knight N. Belch; chaplain, Sir Knight W. A. O'Brian; censors, Sir Knights Jack Thompson, Normal Earl; lecturers, Sir Knights Francey and Jos. Thorne. standard bearers, Sir Knights Stanley Olan and Herbert Trick; percival, Sir Knight F. Tickner; committeemen, Sir Knights J. H. Paul, Stewart Fallis, I. M. Nattress, H. Blair, V. Sweeting and L. J. Morton. The latter was made an honorary member having to retire from the Preceptor's chair on account of ill health.

After the usual speeches, following installation, all present sat down to an oyster supper, and a social time was enjoyed.

Harwood Youth Fractures Leg

HARWOOD, Dec. 19—(ENS). —While he and a number of boys were playing around a trailer, Fred Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hill, met with a painful accident on Friday evening.

In some way the trailer passed over the boy's leg. Medical attention and X-ray showed that the bone was broken above the ankle and also split toward the knee.

The leg was placed in a cast and he was brought to his home here. It will be necessary for him to remain in bed for at least six weeks.

Car Is Burned

HASTINGS, Dec. 19 (ENS). —Passing motorists reported the burning of a red roadster car on the Warkworth Road about a mile and a half south of Hastings last night about nine o'clock. Flames had completely enveloped the machine and no one was near. It was reported the machine was being delivered by a Campbellford firm to a Hastings buyer.

Southby—Forgie

The marriage took place at Rosedale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, on Saturday afternoon, of Elizabeth Liane, daughter of Captain and Mrs. James Moffat Forgie, Toronto, to Mr. Francis Edward Southby, son of Mr. Richard E. Southby and the late Mrs. Southby of Port Hope. The Rev. J. B. Paulin officiated, and Mr. Carl Tapscott was at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a fir tree green French crepe and brocade dress trimmed with kolinsky, kolinsky hat and corsage of white orchids and lily of the valley. Miss Heather Forgie was her sister's attendant. Her dress was of delphinium blue with matching hat trimmed with fur, and corsage of gardenias. Mr. Herbert K. Long was best man.

A reception followed at the Park Plaza Hotel. Mrs. Forgie received, gowned in beige crepe with cinnamon fox trim, matching hat with ostrich plumes and corsage of bronze orchids. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Bayne Coulthard, was in golden brown crepe trimmed with satin, brown velour hat, and her flowers were a corsage of violets.

Mr. Southby and his bride will live in Port Hope.

Ellsworth—Blezard

A pretty wedding took place in the United Church, Baltimore, at one o'clock, on Saturday, December 16, when Gertrude Blezard, R.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blezard, became the bride of George Ellsworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ellsworth, Millbrook, the Rev. W. A. Smith performing the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with woodwardia ferns and white 'mums, guest pews being marked off with a bow of white satin ribbon in which a 'mum was caught; Miss E. May presided at the organ. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked charming in a jacket frock of white chiffon over matching taffeta, made in floor length and flaring from the hipline; her veil of white silk net reached the skirt hem and was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms; long white lace mittens and matching satin slippers completed the ensemble, her arm bouquet being of sweetheart roses.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mr. Ross Blezard, was matron of honor, and wore a becoming floor-length dress of blue taffeta, with short puffed sleeves, a doll's hat of a matching shade with her dress, gold shoes, and carried an arm bouquet of white 'mums and pink roses.

The bridesmaids were Misses Evelyn Blezard and Helen Ellsworth, sisters of the bride and groom respectively, and were gowned alike in pink taffeta, and carried old-fashioned nosegays of pink carnations and 'mums, tied with a big bow of blue taffeta ribbon; silver slippers completed the becoming ensemble. The groom was attended by Mr. Kenneth Mortor of Garden Hill.

Following the ceremony at the church a reception, attended by more than fifty guests, was held at the Lakeview House, Cobourg; Mrs. Ellsworth and Mrs. Blezard receiving with the bridal party, the former wearing royal blue crepe, navy felt hat, and corsage of roses, and the groom's mother wearing black crepe with matching hat, and corsage of roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth left by motor for their wedding trip to Toronto and points west, the bride choosing for travelling a dress of cerise chiffon over taffeta, black, fur-trimmed coat, with matching hat and accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Lindsay.

Kawartha Club House Staff And Greensmen Have Holiday

The club house staff and greensmen of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club held their annual get-together in the club house Saturday night. The event is a unique one in that those who usually serve are served by members of the club, acting as kitchen help and waiters.

The evening's program was capably handled by Mr. and Mrs. J. Leeming, club steward and stewardess, and comprised games and motion pictures, followed by dancing. The motion pictures, which were presented by Mr. Brooks of Port Hope, were of events that had taken place on the golf green course this season, and in one scene showed that Joe, the club steward, had at least once in his lifetime swung without hitting the ball.

During the evening, Mrs. J. Cooper contributed a song, and a feature was her duet with Mr. A. F. Inch of the beloved old song, "Annie Laurie." They were accompanied at the piano by Mr. Jack Marshall.

Prizes donated by club members and the club steward were drawn for by Mr. T. F. McRae, who also served as a waiter during supper, which was served by the members of the club. The evening concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Leeming, and the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Among those present were: Mrs. Lois Fleetwood; Mr. and Mrs. J. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. DeVall, Mr. and Mrs. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Perritt, Mrs. Lazuer, Mrs. Morley, Miss P. Morley, Miss F. Chambers, Miss E. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams, Mr. S. Pellow, Miss M. Pellow, Mr. R. Bailey, Mr. J. Dawson, Mr. L. Emery, Mr. N. McConkey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Marshall.

855 Children Are Treated At Yuletide Concert

The temple of the Salvation Army was crowded with throngs of happy children Monday evening for the annual Christmas program of the Sunday School, and holiday treats were handed out to 855 excited youngsters. Adjutant Norman Buckley was chairman, and the entire program was in charge of Sgt.-Major R. C. Braund, ascisted by teachers of the Sunday School.

A scene typical of the meaning of Christmas—camels bearing their owners with gifts for the new-born Christ Child across a desert lit by stars—was strikingly depicted in silver against black by Mrs. S. J. Richardson, and was an impressive background for the giant Christmas tree, brightly lighted, and laden with beautiful gifts.

The concert, presented by the members of the Sunday School, included the following numbers: Primaory, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" (two scenes), assisted by mothers' class; Band of Love, "Swarm of Bees"; Cubs, "The Good Samaritan"; Junior Band, "Selected"; song, "Santa Claus is Coming," Mrs. E. Jones' girls; Guards, "Kitchen Band"; Brownies, "Little Grandmas"; song, "Christ With Us," Miss Irene Jones' boys; Singing Company, "Good King Wenceslas," dramatization; Junior Band "Selected"; Corps Cadets, "Santa Claus—March Past."

Cooking Sale

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19.—(ENS)—The ladies of St. Mary's Parish held a very successful Cooking Sale on Saturday afternoon in the Ferris Block. Feature of the event was the draw for the 12-pound Christmas cake donated by the Sisters of St. Joseph's Convent. Miss Barbara Smith made the draw and the winning ticket was held by Mrs. Stewart Crosson, Front street. Mrs. A. Brunelle was convener of the sale and she was very capably assisted by Mrs. P. Corkery, Miss Frances Lynch, Mrs. O. Brahoney, Mrs. Russell Long, Mrs. Vincent Farrell and Mrs. P. J. Kelly.

Staff Honored

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19.—The staff of the Holywood Theatre and Villa Trent Tourist Camp together with friends were guests of A. Rappaport at a pre-Christmas dinner on Sunday evening. The affair is an annual one supplied by the theatre manager who each year endeavours to show his appreciation for the good will of his employees. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herd and family; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sperry, Mr. and Mrs. H. McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Don Keir, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Peeling, Mr. and Mrs. Berthold MacPherson, and Miss Betty Shaw.

Do You Know?

As soon as rugs show signs of wear, trim off the worn or frayed places and rebind with carpet binding. The edges of small or bedroom rugs often can be "button-holed" with heavy woolen yarn in a matching or contrasting color.

When cutlets, fish, rissoles and so on are to be coated with egg and bread crubs, a little olive oil should be beaten up with the egg. It improves the dressing and helps to bind the crumbs.

We Noticed

. . . That the latest decorative feminine beauty fad for holiday gaiety is, it appears, painted hair. Hair painted red, green, blue—or pink and blue if you wish—to match the trimming on the evening gown or the sandals.

. . . But that's not all—another new fashion for evening is to hang a Christmas tree ornament on the crowning glory! Tiny Christmas tree Santa Clauses are tucked into clusters of curls. One or more—especially three — vari-colored Christmas tree balls are fastened on to the hairdo.

. . . To give added glamour to painted hair, it may be sprinkled with metallic powder. Thus a pink painted head can be made to sparkle with silver—just the thing for that pink tulle frock embroidered in silver! The hair can be combed and rearranged after painting.

. . . Doing his Christmas shopping in most serious fashion—a very young man whose turquoise blue snow-suit and cap exactly matched the curling ostrich feather tucked into the crown of his mother's sealskin hat.

. . . Shopping for mother, and evidently keeping their small budget balanced with difficulty, were two young girls who couldn't choose between a cellophane-wrapped bath towel (very sensible, of course!), and an alluringly-scented bath powder in a pretty box—let's hope the latter won!

. . . Don't forget a sprig of holly for your coat or muff when you're buying bright lights and sparkling gadgets for the Christmas tree—or simply break off a sprig of the tree itself—it makes you look "in the spirit."

Russia reports it has sown 76 varieties of winter wheat this year.

Simple lines, designed to bring out the best in your figure, are most important this season. This dress has smart tucking at the waist and becoming fullness at the shoulders, just where it is most flattering. Not only is this style chic and wearable but it is also easy to make. A gay contrasting jacket and slimming tie-belt give it that added punch we like in our best clothes. The jacket might be of velveteen or a light weight woollen for added warmth on very cold days.

Style No. 2973 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material for dress; 1⅜ yards for bolero and sash.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, December 20.

A lively day, with affairs moving briskly into new channels or into fresh environs, is indicated by the ruling transits. Changes of a not too radical nature may be advisable, especially in the development of out-of-the-ordinary things, such as inventions or novelties, or in the application of progressive ideas to old matters or systems. The new way of doing things may give stimulus to certain stagnations or static situations. Dare to be original. Concern about an elderly woman seems probable.

Those whose birthday it is are under the promise of a year which will give scope to the demonstration of original tactics or talents, with innovation, progressive and fresh ideas shattering congested situations or putting "fresh blood" into crystallized projects. Audacity and initiative may prove lucrative, even though rather startling or unprecedented. Be careful to safeguard the well-being of some elderly feminine connection.

A child born on this day may be very enterprising, productive, and progressive, with talents enabling it to wrest static matters from frustrating ruts. It may be independent in thought and action, with bold new ideas and methods.

Only American and Chinese-produced movies are being shown in Hong Kong.

DIED

BARRONS, George William. — On December 19, 1939, George William Barrons, age 64 years. Service Thursday, December 21, 1939; leaving home, in Belmont Township, Peterborough County, at 1 o'clock, proceeding to Free Methodist Church at Cordova, for service at 1.30. Interment Maple Grove Cemetery, Havelock, Ont.

SMILEY, Mrs. Evangeline.—In Peterborough, on Monday, December 18, Evangeline Moore, widow of the late Thomas Smiley. Remains resting at the Funeral Home of A. Comstock and Sons, 305 Water Street, until Wednesday noon. Funeral from Mark Street United Church, on Wednesday, December 20, at 2 p.m. Interment Little Lake Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

SUCEE.—In loving remembrance of our dear mother, Mrs. Richard Sucee, who departed this life, three years ago today, December 19, 1936.

She is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Ever remembered by her daughter and family, Mrs. Alfred Yeatman.

SUCEE.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Jane Sucee, who passed away three years ago, December 19, 1936.

The face we loved is now laid low,
Her loving voice is still,
The hand so often clasped in mine
Now lies in death's cold chill.
Our lips cannot tell how we loved her,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say;
God only knows how we miss her
As we battle along life's way.
Her willing hands are now at rest;
We have kissed her noble brow,
And in our aching hearts we know
We have no mother now.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near us
Though your are dead, three years today.

—Sadly missed by daughter and son-in-law, Stella and Tom Sarginson.

GRAHAM.—In memory of my beloved wife, Saddie Marshall, who passed away two years ago today.

Brighter, fairer far than living,
With no trace of woe or pain.
Robed in everlasting beauty,
Shall I see thee once again.
Ever near us, tho' unseen,
Her dear immortal spirit tread;
For all this boundless Universe
In life—there are no dead.
God give us grace and strength,
Our faith and hope renew,
For you will not return to us,
But we will go to you.

—Sadly missed by Husband and Sisters.

WILSON. — In loving memory of Bessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, of 532 Sherbrooke street, who passed away December 19, 1938.

Just when her life was brightest,
Just when her years were best,
She was called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest.

—Ever remembered by Father, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

"The Authority on Authorities"

A BUST INDICATED

IT IS astonishing to note how much can be learned sometimes about a player's hand, even though he never makes a bid on it. The other three players at the table may say so much about their holdings that a blind kibitzer, listening to the calls of the other three, can tell that nothing is left over for the poor chap.

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East having passed, South opened this deal with 1-Spade. West doubled and North bid 3-Spades. South then called 4-Spades, North 4-No Trumps (Blackwood), South 5-Diamonds to show his one Ace, North 5-No Trumps, South 6-Hearts to show his two kings and North 7-Spades.

A man who had been kibitzing the game was looking out of the window during the bidding of this hand, but heard the auction. Knowing West as a fairly sound player who had something for his double, he was prepared to wager that East did not have a single card higher than a jack. Actually, he did not have one that high. Needless to say, the contract was made without difficulty.

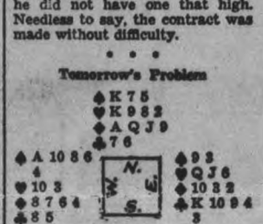
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

With the heart 10 led against South's 6-No Trumps, how should he play for the contract?

Seymour Taxes All Paid But For $3,000

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19. — (ENS)—The gravel roads in the township of Seymour are equally as good as those in any other part of the province declared Reeve R. W. Innes at the statutory meeting of the township council held here Friday noon. All members of the council were present at the meeting at which the largest payroll of the year $26,672.00 was passed.

Tax collector William Fisher addressed council briefly stating all but $3,000 of the $35,412.00 on the roll, had been collected. He stated that a considerable portion of this balance would be in before the end of the year. Payments made to date are approximately the same as those turned in a year ago.

A letter from the chief engineer of Muncipal Roads pointing out that the annual conference of county engineers and township road superintendants usually held in Toronto in February of each year had been cancelled in view of general conditions, was filed. Council also received a letter from the district municipal engineer drawing attention to the fact that signs must be erected in the township where it is wished to lower the speed from the 50 mile an hour limit. A by-law designating the position of the signs must first be submitted to the Motor Vehicles Branch for approval it was stated. This communication came as a result of councils action in limiting the speed on No. 30 highway through the unincorporated village of Trent River.

A by-law providing for the annual municipal elections for the year 1940 was passed designating the Masonic Temple as the place where the annual nomination meeting would be held on December 22nd. The following places were designated as polling booths with the names following indicating the D.R.O. and Poll Clerk. 1. West's Schoolhouse, John Locke, Garnet Curle. 2—Connelly's School, Robert McCulloch, Charles O'Sullivan. 3—English Line School, Ernest Craighead, Ernest Mitchell. 4—Lamb's Hall, Mennie—Jas. A. Stewart, H. B. Atkinson. 5—Sentinel Orange Hall—Alfred Barnum, Lorne Barnum. 6—Orange Hall, Stanwood—William Allan, Charles Lawrence. 7 — Mrs. Runciman's Store, Meyersburg—Walter Scott, James Goacher. 8—Mrs. A. Wight's Store, Trent River—John Ruttan; Thos. J. Brown. Rent allowance for polling booths was placed at $4.00 and salary for Deputy Returning officers and Poll Clerks was set at $4.00 and $2.00 respectively.

The following accounts were passed: Jesse Locke, S.S. 1, $673.97; Roy Southworth, S.S. 2, $474.15; Reg. McCulloch, S.S. No. 3, $333.10; Marcus Curle, S.S. 4, $879.57; Harry Grills, S.S. Match Now Part Of Auto Equipment For Londoners

Ingenious Londoners have gotten around the rationing of gasoline in England by instaling coal-burning, gas-producing units on their automobiles. A pretty Londoner, TOP, directs a coal-dealer to deposit his "black diamonds" in the container on the back of her car. With a hundredweight of coal in the container, the driver lights the fire, BOTTOM, and after a short wait she is off, sans gasoline.

Mount Pleasant W.A. To Join Unit Of The Red Cross

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 19. — (ENS.)—Mrs. B. Morden was hostess to the members of the Women's Association of the United church for their annual meeting held at her home on Wednesday afternoon with an attendance of thirteen members and nine visitors.

A splendid paper was given by Mrs. H. H. Lowes, basing her remarks on the Scripture reading, "The birth of Jesus."

Eight members answered the roll with "A Promise."

The members decided to discontinue the "travelling basket." Seventeen holiday calendars were brought to the meeting revealing the sum of $25.50 with three not yet returned. It was the unanimous decision to continue with the calendars for the coming year with the president, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. M. Jones and Mrs. A. Tully as a committee to make the calendars, with Mrs. I. Lowe to purchase the material.

The recording secretary, Mrs. Norman Fee, gave a report of the year's activities, The financial secretary, Mrs. W. H. Lowes, gave a complete report of the receipts and expenditures, showing a balance of $6.46, commencing the past year with the total receipts amounting to $150.56, expenses $60.66 with a balance of $89.60, plus $25.50 calendar donations. The treasurer, Mrs. L. McKoney's report showed $115.10 on hand.

Rev. W. E. Honey spoke a few words, complimenting the members on the success of the past year, before taking the chair for the election of officers for 1940, which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Thos. Graham; vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Lowes; recording secretary, Mrs. N. Fee; financial secretary, Mrs. W. H. Lowes; treasurer, Mrs. Hubert Lowes; corresponding secretary, Mrs. D. Lowe; devotional committee, Mrs. T. Brenton, Mrs. A. Tully, Mrs. G. Shield; representative on official board, Mrs. H. Jamieson; sick committee, Mrs. T. Jamieson, Mrs. J. Boyd, Mrs. M. Jones; parsonage committee, Mrs. N. Fee, Mrs. H. Jamieson; M. and M. Fund committee, Mrs. A .Tully, Mrs. G. Shield; pianist, Mrs. C. Best; assistant, Mrs. T. Jamieson.

Organize Red Cross Unit.

Mrs. Ira Lowe, convener for Red Cross work in Mount Pleasant area, asked that a Red Cross unit be organized to work under the Millbrook society, to include the members of the W.A. and the W.I. and also any other ladies in the community who wished to help with knitting or sewing for the Red Cross. She explained that the material for pneumonia jackets, etc., also the yarn for knitting scarfs, socks, sleeveless sweaters, etc., would be available at her home, where it would be delivered and articles returned to headquarters. Mrs. Thomas Graham was elected president and Mrs. T. E. Morden secretary of the Mount Pleasant Red Cross unit.

The hostess served a dainty lunch during the social half hour.

Pneumonia Takes Heywood Broun

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 — (AP). — Heywood Broun, 51, columnist and president of the American Newspaper Guild, died to-day.

Broun died in hospital, where he was taken last Thursday night when pneumonia developed from a heavy cold.

The illness induced a heart attack, but for a time he seemed to rally. Early to-day his condition became worse and as the hours passed he showed no signs of improving. At 8 a.m., his temperature was 105.2 degrees.. He had been unconscious much of the time.

From the start, Broun, an incorrigible optimist, had treated his illness with his customary good nature, devoting one of his last columns to a whimsical discussion of the advice of a physician who had told him to seek rest in Florida.

Broun, a native of Brooklyn, studied for a time at Harvard and entered newspaper work in 1908 as a reporter on the New York Morning Telegraph. In 1912 he went to the New York Tribune as sports editor. Later he became the paper's dramatic critic. He was the Tribune's war correspondent with the American Expeditionary Forces in France in 1917.

He went to the New York World in 1921 and began his daily column "It Seems to Me." In 1927 he quit the paper after a disagreement with Ralph Pulitzer growing out of the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

Broun went to the Telegram, which later bought the World. Last week he transferred to the New York Post as columnist. His first and last column in that newspaper appeared on Friday.

Broun is survived by his mother, Mrs. Heywood Cox Broun; his widow, the former Mrs. Connie Dooley, whom he married in 1935, and a son, Heywood Hale Broun.

Broun joined the Roman Catholic Church last summer.

Concert Of S.S. No. 13 Given In Zion Hall

ZION, Dec. 19—(ENS).—The pupils of S.S. 13 presented their annual Christmas entertainment in Zion Hall on Wednesday evening, to a good crowd of parents and friends. In addition to the pupils' program, Rev. Mr. Kelly of Lakefield told the story of "Scrooge's Christmas."

Acting as chairman was F. Graystock, who, after a few remarks, announced the following program: recitation, Dorothy Jackson; chorus of three songs, by entire school; dance and chorus of welcome by Audrey Sucee, Louise Jackson, Doreen Graystock, Dorothy Jackson, Arthur Lancashire and Bobbie Stewart; recitation, Joe Stewart; "A Doll's Lullaby" by Audrey Watkin's, Louise Jackson, Doreen Graystock, Audrey Sucee and Dorothy Jackson; all the school children took part in the little play "Red Riding Hood" with Barbara Stewart as narrator; recitation by Joe Stewart; two songs from the motion picture "Wizard of Oz" were sung by the pupils followed by a skit in which Doreen Graystock and John Sucee took part. Six girls of the school sang and acted "The Six Little Milk Maids"; Louise Jackson gave a recitation, "If I Could Knit"; a humorous pantomine in which there was some shadow play, was given by John Sucee, Gordon McAdam, Barbara, Joe, and Bobbie Stewart; Doreen Graystock a recitation; four little girls sang "Old Christmas Dolls" and Audrey Watkins brought the program to a close with her recitation "The Christmas Tree."

Miss Charlton expressed her appreciation to all who had helped her in preparing the concert and decorating the hall, to Mr. R. B. Harle who played all the accompaniments and to Mr. Kelly and wished everyone the season's greetings.

Santa Claus arrived in all his glory, amid confusion and laughter to distribute the gifts from the well loaded tree to the group of expectant and happy children. The singing of "God Save the King" completed the evening and everyone was happy.

Warns Against Profiteering

A policeman in Calcutta, India, accompanied by a youth who beats a drum to herald his approach, announces, as he goes through the markets, that profiteers will be arrested. On December 12, more than 100 persons were injured when police opened fire against a huge demonstration protesting alleged profiteering among Jubbulpore, India, merchants.

Carleton-York Regiment Fought Fenians

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Dec. 19. — (CP)—Members of the Carleton-York regiment who are going overseas as part of the first Canadian Division are determined to uphold the traditions of the militia which made history in this New Brunswick border district almost a century ago.

The regiment originated in the Home Guards, organized in 1865 after the American Civil War to defend their land against a threatened Fenian invasion from the United States. These early infantrymen made such a show of strength that the disbanded Irish-American soldiers, who were reported massing on the border, failed to carry out their attack.

The well-equipped soldiers of today at the regiment's training camp are a far cry from the infantrymen of 1865. The Home Guards made their own uniforms from red flannel. The government supplied only the muskets and powder. Local historians say that some of the men were armed only with pitchforks.

These modern soldiers wear stream-lined battle dress. Their arms include the Bren gun, the last word in infantry equipment.

Officers Join Other Units

After the Home Guards of York and Carleton counties had served their purpose they were disbanded and formed into a county militia. Their officers and non-commissioned officers were attached for training to British Imperial regiments then stationed at Fredericton.

At that time New Brunswick was ruled by a Governor sent out from England. Immediately after Confederation in 1867, the two units of county militia were formed into the Carleton Light Infantry and the York Regiment.

Three years ago these two regiments were amalgated to form the Carleton-York regiment.

The encampment's isolated position on an island in the Saint John River makes it easy to guard. The only approach is from a bridge which spans the St. John River. There sentries are posted to challenge every visitor.

CAMPBELLFORD

Guild Sponsors Rummage Sale

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 19. — (ENS)—Christ Church Parish Guild sponsored a very successful rummage and cooking sale in the parish hall Thursday afternoon. There were only two booths used at the sale which was designed particularly as a means of disposing of old clothes.

The president, Mrs. S. Hopping, was very pleased with the success of the affair and announced the money would be turned over to the general church fund.

Assisting at the cooking table were Mrs. H. Pryke and Mrs. A. Hollings while at the rummage sale Miss E. Bedford, Miss Gertrude Maynard and Mrs. Chapman were in charge. Others who assisted during the afternoon were Mrs. T. D. Gault and Mrs. Nelson Lloyd.

Appreciation for the energetic leadership she has given the I.O.D.E. Bemmerside Chapter during the past year was manifested by members at their meeting held Thursday evening when they returned Mrs. G. A. Ironside as regent for a second term. The affair also took the form of a pot luck supper and birthday celebration in honor of the regent.

A lovely birthday cake was served as part of the supper and during the evening the vice-regent, Miss Hazel Atkinson, presented Mrs. Ironside with a beautiful lace table cloth. Miss Atkinson spoke briefly commending the regent for her untiring efforts during the past year when the work done by the organization has been so greatly increased by the war.

There were thirty-five present during the evening which was slated as a sewing meeting.

Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol was convener of the nominating committee and Miss Hazel Atkinson had charge of the nominations.

Officers were elected as follows: Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside; 1st vice-regent, Miss Hazel Atkinson; 2nd vice-regent, Mrs. George Hawthorne; treasurer, Miss K. Bygott; secretary, Mrs. P. M. Locke; standard bearer, Mrs. Norman Brown.

Great Trail Breaker

Amherst, N.S., Dec. 19 (CP)

THE LAST THING a person would expect to see in a Canadian town in winter-time is an elephant, but it's a daily sight here. The elephant — Lindy—is owned by Captain J. Schultz, a circus man. Lindy eases through snow drifts as though he were as much at home as in his native Africa. Captain Schultz has been using the elephant to break trails over snow covered roads.
